"The apostle had got up and addressed the men, though I knew nothing about it. After praising God he said: "What do certain men mean by worrying me about my family and saying false things about them? By Allah, I know only good of them, and they say these things of a man of whom I know naught but good, who never enters a house of mine but in my company."

"The greatest offenders were Abdullah b. Ubayy among the Khazraj and Mistah and Hamna d. Jahsh, for the reason that her sister Zaynab d. Jahsh was one of the apostle's wives and only she could rival me in his favour. As for Zaynab, Allah protected her by her religion and she spoke nothing but good. But Hamna spread the report far and wide opposing me (Tabari: rivalling me) for the sake of her sister, and I suffered (Or 'she [Zaynab] suffered'.) much from that.

"When the apostle made this speech Usayd b. Hudayr said: "If they are of Aus let us rid you of them; and if they are of the Khazraj give us your orders, for they ought to have their heads cut off." Sad b. Ubada got up —before that he had been thought a pious man— and said, "By Allah, you lie. They shall not be beheaded. You would not have said this had you not known that they were of Khazraj. Had they been your own people you would not have said it." Usayd answered, "Liar yourself! You are a disaffected person arguing on behalf of the disaffected." (Koran Sura 4.107) Feeling ran so high that there was almost fighting between these two clans of Aus and Khazraj. The apostle left and came in to see me. He called Ali and Usama b. Zayd and asked their advice. Usama spoke highly of me and said "They are your family (Care is taken to avoid the use of Aisha's name.) and we and you know only good of them, and this is a lie and a falsehood.

As for Ali he said: "Women are plentiful, and you can easily change one for another. Ask the slave girl, for she will tell you the truth." So the apostle called Burayra to ask her, and Ali got up and gave her a violent beating, saying, "Tell the apostle the truth," to which she replied, "I know only good of her. The only fault I have to find with Aisha is that when I am kneading dough and tell her to watch it she neglects it and falls asleep and the sheep (Tabari: 'pet lamb') comes and eats it!"

"Then the apostle came in to me. My parents and a woman of the Ansar were with me and both of us were weeping. He sat down and after praising God he said, "Aisha, you know what people say about you. Fear God and if you have done wrong as men say then repent towards God, for He accepts repentance from His slaves." As he said this my tears ceased and I could not feel them. I waited for my parents to answer the apostle but they said nothing. By Allah I thought myself too insignificant for God to send down concerning me a Koran which could be read in the mosques and used in prayer, but I was hoping that the apostle would see something in a dream by which God would clear away the lie from me, because He knew my innocence, or that there would be some communication. As for a Koran coming down about me by Allah I thought far too little of myself for that.

When I saw that my parents would not speak I asked them why, and they replied that they did not know what to answer, and by Allah I do not know a household which suffered as did the family of Abu Bakr in those days. When they remained silent my weeping broke out afresh and then I said: "Never will I repent towards God of what you mention. By Allah, I know that if I were to confess what men say of me, God knowing that I am innocent of it, I should admit what did not happen; and if I denied what they said you would not believe me." Then I racked my brains for the name of Jacob and could not remember it, so I said, "I will say what the father of Joseph said: 'My duty is to show becoming patience and God's aid is to be asked against what you describe (Koran 12.18).'"

And, by God, the apostle had not moved from where he was sitting when there came over him from God what used to come over him and he was wrapped in his garment and a leather cushion was put under his head. As for me, when I saw this I felt no fear or alarm, for I knew that I was innocent and that God would not treat me unjustly. As for my parents, as soon as the apostle recovered I thought that they would die from fear that confirmation would come from God of what men had said. Then the apostle recovered and sat up and there fell from him as it were drops of water on a winter day, and he began to wipe the sweat from his brow, saying, "Good news, Aisha! God has sent down (word) about your innocence." I said, "Praise be to God," and he went out to the men and addressed them and recited to them what God had sent down concerning that (Tabari: "me"). Then he gave orders about Mistah b. Uthatha and Hassan b. Thabit and Hamna d. Jahsh who were the most explicit in their slander and they were flogged with the prescribed number of stripes (i.e. eighty).

"My father Ishaq b. Yasar told me from some of the men of B. al-Najjar that the wife of Abu Ayyub Khalid b. Zayd said to him, "Have you heard what people are saying about Aisha?" "Certainly, but it is a lie," he said. "Would you do such a thing?" (sc. what Aisha was accused of.) She answered "No, by Allah, I would not." He said, "Well, Aisha is a better woman than you."

Aisha continued: When the Koran came down with the mention of those of the slanderers who repeated what the liars had said, God said: 'Those who bring the lie are a band among you. Do not regard it as a bad thing for you; nay it is good for you. Every man of them will get what he has earned from the sin, and he who had the greater share therein will have a painful punishment,' (Koran 24.11) meaning Hassan b. Thabit and his companions who said what they said (741).

Then God said, "Why did not the believing men and women when you heard it think good of themselves? i.e. say what Abu Ayyub and his wife said. Then He said, "When you welcomed it with your tongues and spoke with your mouths that of which you had no knowledge you thought it a light thing, yet with God it is grave."

When this came down about Aisha and about those who spoke about her, Abu Bakr who used to make an allowance to Mistah because he was of his kin and needy said, 'Never will I give anything to Mistah again, nor will I ever help him in any way after what he said about Aisha and brought evil on us.' She continued: 'So God sent down concerning that "And let not those who possess dignity and ease among you swear not to give to kinsmen and the poor and those who emigrate for God's sake. Let them forgive and show forbearance. Do you not wish that God should forgive you? And God is forgiving, merciful"' (742).

Abu Bakr said, 'Yes, by Allah, I want God to forgive me,' so he continued the allowance that he was accustomed to give to Mistah, saying, I will never withdraw it from him.'

Then Safwan b. al-Muattal met Hassan b. Thabit with a sword when he heard what he was saying about him, for Hassan had also uttered some verse alluding to him and the Arabs of Mudar who had accepted Islam:

The vagabond immigrants have become powerful and numerous

And Ibnul-Furaya has become solitary in the land. (Here in a bad sense. He is speaking of himself submerged in a sea of refugees.)

As good as bereaved is the mother of the man I fight Or caught in the claws of a lion.

The man I kill will not be paid for By money or by blood.

When the wind blows in the north and the sea rides high

And bespatters the shore with foam Tis no more violent than I when you see me in a rage Devastating as a cloud of hail.

As for Quraysh, I will never make peace with them Until they leave error for righteousness

And abandon al-Lat and al-Uzza

And all bow down to the One, The Eternal,

And testify that what the apostle said to them is true, And faithfully fulfil the solemn oath with God. (The language is reminiscent of the Koran. The point of the reference to Safwan is not clear to me.)

Safwan met him and smote him with his sword, saying according to what Yaqub b. Utba told me:

Here's the edge of my sword for you!

When you lampoon a man like me you do not get a poem in return!

Mohammed b. Ibrahim b. al-Harith al-Taymi told me that Thabit b. Qays b. al-Shammas leapt upon Safwan when he smote Hassan and tied his hands to his neck and took him to the quarter of (the) B. al-Harith b. al-Khazraj. Abdullah b. Rawaha met him and asked what had happened, and he said: 'Do I surprise you? He smote Hassan with the sword and by Allah he must have killed him.' Abdullah asked if the apostle knew about what he had done, and when he said that he did not he told him that he had been very daring and that he must free the man. He did so. Then they came to the apostle and told him of the affair and he summoned Hassan and Safwan. The latter said, 'He insulted and satirized me and rage so overcame me that I smote him.' The apostle said to Hassan, 'Do you look with an evil eye on my people because God has guided them to Islam?' He added, 'Be charitable about what has befallen you.' Hassan said, 'It is yours, O apostle' (743).

The same informant told me that the apostle gave him in compensation Bir Ha, today the castle of (the) B. Hudayla in Medina. It was a property belonging to Abu Talha b. Sahl which he had given as alms to the apostle who gave it to Hassan for his blow. He also gave him Sirin a Copt (Coptic = Egyptian Christian) slavegirl, and she bore him Abdul-Rahman.

Aisha used to say, 'Questions were asked about Ibnul-Muattal and they found that he was impotent; he never touched women. He was killed as a martyr after this.'

Hassan b. Thabit said, excusing himself for what he had said about Aisha:

Chaste, keeping to her house, above suspicion, Never thinking of reviling innocent women;

A noble woman of the clan of Luayy b. Ghalib, Seekers of honour whose glory passes not away.

Pure, God having purified her nature

And cleansed her from all evil and falsehood.

If I said what you allege that I said

Let not my hands perform their office.

How could I, with my lifelong affection and support For the family of the apostle who lends splendour to all gatherings,

His rank so high above all others that

The highest leap would fall short of it?
What has been said will not hold
But is the word of one who would slander me (744).

A Muslim said about the flogging of Hassan and his companions for slandering Aisha (745):

Hassan, Hamna, and Mistah tasted what they deserved
For uttering unseemly slander;
They slandered with ill-founded accusations their prophet's wife;
They angered the Lord of the glorious throne and were chastised.
They injured God's apostle through her
And were made a public and lasting disgrace.
Lashes rained upon them like Raindrops falling from the highest clouds.

THE AFFAIR OF AL-HUDAYBIYA, 6 A.H. THE WILLING HOMAGE AND THE PEACE BETWEEN THE APOSTLE AND SUHAYL B. AMR

Then the apostle stayed in Medina during the months of Ramadan and Shawwal and went out on the little pilgrimage in Dhul-Qada with no intention of making war (746). He called together the Arabs and neighbouring Bedouin to march with him, fearing that Quraysh would oppose him with arms or prevent him from visiting the temple, as they actually did. Many of the Arabs held back from him, and he went out with the emigrants and Ansar and such of the Arabs as stuck to him. He took the sacrificial victims with him and donned the pilgrim garb so that all would know that he did not intend war and that his purpose was to visit the temple and to venerate it.

Mohammed b. Muslim b. Shihab al-Zuhri from Urwa b. al-Zubayr from Miswar b. Makhrama and Marwan b. al-Hakam told me: The apostle went out in the year of al-rudaybiya with peaceful intent meaning to visit the temple, and took with him seventy camels for sacrifice. There were seven hundred men so that each camel was on behalf of ten men. Jabir b. Abdullah, so I have heard, used to say, 'We, the men of al-Hudaybiya, were fourteen hundred.'

Al-Zuhri continued: When the apostle was in Ufsan, Bishr b. Sufyan al-Kabi met him (747) and said: 'There are Quraysh who have heard of your coming and have come out with their milch-camels and have put on leopards' skins*, and have encamped at Dhu Tuwa swearing that you will never enter Mecca in defiance of them. (* This passage and 744, line 5. imply that leopard skins were actually worn. The language in Hamdsa 82.13 and Mufad. 640.6 appears to be figurative. For milch-camels some substitute 'women and children'.) This man Khalid b. al-Walid is with their cavalry which they have sent in advance to Kuraul-Ghamim (A wadi about 8 miles / 12 km from Ufsan.)

The apostle said: Alas, Quraysh, war has devoured them! What harm would they have suffered if they had left me and the rest of the Arabs to go our own ways? If they should kill me that is what they desire, and if God should give me the victory over them they would enter Islam in flocks.

If they do not do that they will fight while they have the strength, so what are Quraysh thinking of? By Allah, I will not cease to fight for the mission with which God has entrusted me until He makes it victorious or I perish.' Then he said, 'Who will take us out by a way in which we shall not meet them?'

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that a man of Aslam volunteered to do so and he took them by a rugged, rocky track between passes which was very hard on the Muslims, and when they emerged from it on to the easy ground at the end of the wadi the apostle said to the men, 'Say, We ask God's forgiveness and we repent towards Him.' They did so and he said, 'That is the "putting away" (Mm is said to mean 'take away our sins'. Cf. Suras 2.55 and 7.161) that was enjoined on the children of Israel; but they did not say the words.'

The apostle ordered the force to turn to the right through the salty growth (Hamd here may be a place-name, but the place of this name in Yaq. ii. 339 is much too far away from Mecca.) on the road which leads by the pass of al-Murar to the declivity of al-Hudaybiya below Mecca. They did so, and when the Quraysh cavalry saw from the dust of the army that they had turned aside from their path they returned at a gallop to Quraysh. The apostle went as far as the pass of al-Murar and when his camel knelt and the men said, 'The camel will not get up,' he said: It has not refused and such is not its nature, but the One who restrained the elephant from Mecca is keeping it back. Today whatever condition Quraysh make in which they ask me to show kindness to kindred I shall agree to.' Then he told the people to dismount. They objected that there was no water there by which they could halt, so he took an arrow from his quiver and gave it to one of his companions and he took it down into one of the waterholes and prodded the middle of it and the water rose until the men's camels were satisfied with drinking and lay down there.

One of the B. Aslam told me that the man who went into the hole with the apostle's arrow was Najiya b. Jundub b. Umayr b. Yamar b. Darim b. Amr b. Waila b. Sahm b. Mazin b. Salaman b. Aslam b. Afsa b. Abu Haritha who drove the apostle's camels to sacrifice (748).

A traditionist alleged to me that al-Bara b. Azib used to say that it was he who went down with the apostle's arrow, and God knows which it was. The Aslam quoted verses from the lines which Najiya made. We think that it was he who went down with the arrow. Aslam allege that a slave-girl of the Ansar came up with her bucket while Najiya was in the well supplying the people with water and said:

O you down below, my bucket is here.
I can hear all our men who wish you good cheer
Praising the one who draws water here (749).

Najiya said as he was in the hole getting the water:

The Yamani slave-girl knows
That I am Najiya down below getting water.
Many a wide bloody wound I have made
In the breasts of advancing foes.

In his tradition al-Zuhri said: When the apostle had rested Budayl b. Warqa' al-Khuzai came to him with some men of Khuzaa and asked him 'what he had come for. He told them that he had not come for war but to go on pilgrimage and venerate the sacred precincts. Then he said to them what he had said to Bishr b. Sufyan. Then they returned to (the) Quraysh and told them what they had heard; but they suspected them and spoke roughly to them, saying, 'He may have come not wanting war but by Allah he shall never come in here against our will, nor shall the Arabs ever say that we have allowed it.'

Khuzaa were the apostle's confidants, both their Muslims and their polytheists. They kept him informed of everything that happened in Mecca. Then Quraysh sent Mikraz b. Hafs b. al-Akhayf brother of (the) B. Amir b. LuAyy to him. When he saw him approaching the apostle said, 'This is a treacherous fellow!' When he came up and spoke to him the apostle gave him the same reply as he had given Budayl and his companions, and he returned and told the Quraysh what the apostle had said.

Then they sent to him al-Hulays b. Alqama or Ibn Zabban, who was at that time chief of the black troops, being one of (the) B. al-Harith b. Abdu Manat b. Kinana. When he saw him the apostle said, 'This is one of the devout people, so send the sacrificial animals to meet him so that he can see them! When he saw them going past him from the side of the wadi with their festive collars round their necks and how they had eaten their hair* because they had been so long kept back from the place of sacrifice, he went back to (the) Quraysh and did not come to the apostle, so greatly was he impressed by what he had seen. When he told them that, they said, 'Sit down! You are only a Bedouin, utterly ignorant.' (It is just possible that aubur is the plural of aubur, a bitter salty herb with thorns (hamida).

In that case it would support the rendering of tfamd on p. 741.)

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that this enraged al-Hulays, who said: 'You men of (the) Quraysh, it was not for this that we made an alliance and agreement with you. Is a man who comes to do honour to God's house to be excluded from it? By him who holds my life in his hand, either you let Mohammed do what he has come to do or I shall take away the black troops to the last man.' They said, 'Be quiet, Hulays! until we obtain for ourselves acceptable terms.'

In his narrative al-Zuhri said: Then they sent Urwa b. Masud al-Thaqafi to the apostle and he said: 'You men of (the) Quraysh, I have seen the harshness and rude words with which you have received those you sent to Mohammed when they returned to you. You know that you are the father and I am the son—for Urwa was the son of SubayA d. Abdu Shams—I heard of what befell you and I collected those of my people who obeyed me; then I came to you to help you.' They agreed and said that they did not suspect him. So he came to the apostle and sat before him and said:

'Mohammed, have you collected a mixed people together and then brought them to your own people to destroy them? Quraysh have come out with their milch-camels* clad in leopard skins swearing that you shall never enter Mecca by force. By God I think I see you deserted by these people (here) tomorrow.' Now Abu Bakr was sitting behind the apostle and he said, 'Suck al-Lat's nipples! Should we desert him?' He asked who had spoken, and when he heard it was Ibn Abu Quhafa he said, 'By Allah, did I not owe you a favour I would pay you back for that, but now we are quits.' Then he began to take hold of the apostle's beard as he talked to him. Al-Mughira b. Shuba was standing by the apostle's head clad in mail and he began to hit his hand as he held the apostle's beard saying, 'Take your hand away from the apostle's face before you lose it.' Urwa said, 'Confound you, how rough and rude you are!' The apostle smiled and when Urwa asked who the man was he told him that it was his brother's son, al-Mughira b. Shuba and he said, 'O wretch, it was only yesterday that I washed your dirty parts!' (750).

The apostle told him what he had told the others, namely that he had not come out for war. He got up from the apostle's presence having seen how his companions treated him. Whenever he performed his ablutions they ran to get the water he had used; if he spat they ran to it; if a hair of his head fell they ran to pick it up. So he returned to (the) Quraysh and said, 'I have been to Chosroes in his kingdom, and Caesar in his kingdom and the Negus in his kingdom, but never have I seen a king among a people like Mohammed among his companions. I have seen a people who will never abandon him for any reason, so form your own opinion.'

A traditionist told me that the apostle called Khirash b. Umayya al-Khuzai and sent him to (the) Quraysh in Mecca, mounting him on one of his camels called al-Thalayb to tell their chiefs from him what he had come for. They hamstrung the apostle's camel and wanted to kill the man, but the black troops protected him and let him go his way so that he came back to the apostle.

One whom I do not suspect from Ikrima client of Ibn Abbas from the latter told me that (the) Quraysh had sent forty or fifty men with orders to surround the apostle's camp and get hold of one of his companions for them, but they were caught and brought to the apostle, who forgave them and let them go their way. They had attacked the camp with stones and arrows. Then he called Umar to send him to Mecca with the same message, but Umar told him that he feared for his life with (the) Quraysh, because there were none of (the) B. Adiy b. Kab in Mecca to protect him, and (the) Quraysh knew of his enmity and his rough treatment of them. He recommended that a man more prized there than himself should be sent, namely Uthman. The apostle summoned Uthman and sent him to Abu Sufyan and the chiefs of (the) Quraysh to tell them that he had not come for war but merely to visit the house and to venerate its sanctity.

As Uthman entered or was about to enter Mecca Aban b. Said b. al-As met him and carried him in front of him. Then he gave him his protection until he could convey the apostle's message to them. Having heard what Uthman had to say, they said: 'If you want to go round the temple, go round it.' He said that he could not do so until Mohammed did so, and Quraysh kept him a prisoner with them. The apostle and the Muslims were informed that Uthman had been killed.

THE WILLING HOMAGE

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that when the apostle heard that Uthman had been killed he said that they would not leave until they fought the enemy, and he summoned the men to give their undertaking. The pledge of al-Ridwan took place under a tree. Men used to say that the apostle took their pledge unto death. Jabir b. Abdullah used to say that the apostle did not take their pledge unto death, but rather their undertaking that they would not run away. Not one of the Muslims who were present failed to give his hand except al-Jadd b. Qays, brother of (the) B. Salima. Jabir used to say: 'By Allah, I can almost see him now sticking to his camel's side cringing as he tried to hide himself from the men.' Then the apostle heard that the news about Uthman was false (751).

THE ARMISTICE

Al-Zuhri said: Then Quraysh sent Suhayl b. Amr brother of B. Amir b. Luayy to the apostle with instructions to make peace with him on condition that he went back this year, so that none of the Arabs could say that he made a forcible entry. When the apostle saw him coming he said, 'The people want to make peace seeing that they have sent this man.' After a long discussion peace was made and nothing remained but to write an agreement. Umar jumped up and went to Abu Bakr saying, 'Is he not God's apostle, and are we not Muslims, and are they not polytheists?' to which Abu Bakr agreed, and he went on: 'Then why should we agree to what is demeaning to our religion?' He replied, 'Stick to what he says, for I testify that he is God's apostle.' Umar said, 'And so do I.' Then he went to the apostle and put the same questions to which the apostle answered, 'I am God's slave and His apostle. I will not go against His commandment and He will not make me the loser.' Umar used to say, 'I have not ceased giving alms and fasting and praying and freeing slaves because of what I did that day out of fear for what I had said, when I hoped that (my plan) would be better.'

Then the apostle summoned Ali and told him to write in the name of Allah the Compassionate, the Merciful' (This is a phrase.' Suhayl said I do not recognise this; but write "In thy name, O Allah." The apostle told him to write the latter and he did so. Then he said: 'Write "This is what Mohammed, the apostle of God has agreed with Suhayl b. Amr."' Suhayl said, 'If I witnessed that you were God's apostle I would not have fought you. Write your own name and the name of your father.' The apostle said: 'Write "This is what Mohammed b. Abdullah has agreed with Suhayl b. Amr: they have agreed to lay aside war for ten years during which men can be safe and refrain from hostilities on condition that if anyone comes to Mohammed without the permission of his guardian he will return him to them; and if anyone of those with Mohammed comes to (the) Quraysh they will not return him to him. We will not show enmity one to another and there shall be no secret reservation or bad faith. He who wishes to enter into a bond and agreement with Mohammed may do so and he who wishes to enter into a bond and agreement with Quraysh may do so." Here Khuzaa leapt up and said, 'We are in a bond and agreement with Mohammed,' and (the) B. Bakr leapt up and said the same with regard to (the) Quraysh, adding 'You must retire from us this year and not enter Mecca against our will, and next year we will make way for you and you can enter it with your companions, and stay there three nights. You may carry a rider's weapons, the swords in their sheaths. You can bring in nothing more.'

While the apostle and Suhayl were writing the document, suddenly Abu Jandal b. Suhayl appeared walking in fetters, having escaped to the apostle. The apostle's companions had gone out without any doubt of occupying Mecca because of the vision which the apostle had seen, and when they saw the negotiations for peace and a withdrawal going on and what the apostle had taken on himself they felt depressed almost to the point of death. When Suhayl saw Abu Jandal he got up and hit him in the face and took hold of his collar, saying, 'Mohammed, the agreement between us was concluded before this man came to you.' He replied, 'You are right.' He began to pull him roughly by his collar and to drag him away to return him to Quraysh, while Abu Jandal shrieked at the top of his voice, 'Am I to be returned to the polytheists that they may entice me from my religion O Muslims?' and that increased the people's dejection. The apostle said, 'O Abu Jandal, be patient and control yourself, for God will provide relief and a means of escape for you and those of you who are helpless. We have made peace with them and we and they have invoked God in our agreement and we cannot deal falsely with them.' Umar jumped up and walked alongside Abu Jandal saying, 'Be patient for they are only polytheists; the blood of one of them is but the blood of a dog,' and he brought the hilt of his sword close up to him. Umar used to say, 'I hoped that he would take the sword and kill his father with it, but the man spared his father and so the matter ended.'

When the apostle had finished the document he summoned representatives of the Muslims and polytheists to witness to the peace, namely Abu Bakr, Umar, and Abdul-Rahman b. Auf, Abdullah b. Suhayl b. Amr, and Sad b. Abu Waqqas, Mahmud b. Maslama, Mikraz b. Hafs who was a polytheist at the time, and Ali who was the writer of the document.

The apostle was encamped in the profane country, and he used to pray in the sacred area. When the peace was concluded he slaughtered his victims and sat down and shaved his head. I have heard that it was Khirash b. Umayya b. al-Fadl al-Khuzai who shaved him then. When the men saw what the apostle had done they leapt up and did the same.

Abdullah b. Abu Najih from Mujahid from Ibn Abbas told me, 'Some men shaved their heads on the day of al-Hudaybiya while others cut their hair.' The apostle said, 'May God have mercy on the shavers.' They said, 'The cutters, too, O apostle?' Three times they had to put this question until finally he added 'And the cutters.' When they asked him why he had repeatedly confined the invocation of God's mercy to the shavers he replied, 'Because they did not doubt.'

The same authorities told me that the apostle sacrificed in the year of al-Hudaybiya among his victims a camel belonging to Abu Jahl which had a silver nose-ring, thus enraging the polytheists.

Zuhri continued: The apostle then went on his way back and when he was half-way back the sura al-Fath came down: 'We have given you a plain victory that God may forgive you your past sin and the sin which is to come and may complete his favour upon you and guide you on an upright path (Koran 48).' Then the account goes on about him and his companions until he comes to mention the oath of allegiance and He said: 'Those who swear allegiance to you really swear allegiance to God, the hand of God being above their hands; so he who breaks his oath breaks it to his own hurt; while he who is faithful to what he has covenanted with God, to him will He give a great reward.'

Then He mentioned the Bedouin who held back from him. Then He said when he urged them to take the field with him and they procrastinated, 'The Bedouin who were left behind will say to you: Our possessions and our families preoccupied us!' Then follows an account of them until the words 'Those who were left behind will say when you go out to capture spoil, Let us follow you, wishing to change what God has said. Say, You shall not follow us. Thus has God said beforehand.' Then follows an account of them and how it was explained to them that they must fight a people of great prowess.

Abdullah b. Abu Najih from Ata b. Abu Rabah from Ibn Abbas said (That means) Persia. One whom I do not suspect from al-Zuhri told me that A people of great prowess' meant Hanifa with the arch-liar.

Then He said: 'God was pleased with the believers when they swore allegiance to you under the tree and He knew what was in their hearts, and He sent down the Sakina* upon them and rewarded them with a recent victory and much spoil which they will take. God is mighty, wise. God has promised you much spoil which you will capture and has given you this in advance, and kept men's hands from you, that it may be a sign to the believers and that He may guide you on an upright path, and other (things) which you have not been able to get. God encompasses them, and God is almighty.' (* This is (1st) a genuine Arabic word meaning 'tranquillity', 'calm'; and (2nd) a borrowing from the Hebrew shekinah, possibly through the medium of Syriac-Aramaic. A summary of what has been said about it with a bibliography is given by A. Jeffery. Foreign Vocabulary of the Koran 174)

Then He mentioned how He had kept him away from battle after the victory over them, meaning those He had kept from him. Then He said: 'He it is who has kept their hands from you and your hands from them in the vale of Mecca, after He had given you victory over them. God is a seer of what you do.' Then He said: 'They are those who disbelieved and debarred you from the sacred mosque and the offering from reaching its goal' (752). And had it not been for the believing men and women whom you did not know lest you should tread them under foot and thus incur guilt for them unwittingly.' Ma ana means A fine', i.e. lest you should suffer loss for them unwittingly and pay its bloodwit; as for real guilt he did not fear it on their account (753).

Then he said, 'When those who disbelieve had set in their hearts zealotry, the zealotry of paganism,' i.e. Suhayl b. Amr when he scorned to write in the name of Allah the Compassionate the Merciful' and that Mohammed is God's apostle. Then He said 'God sent down His sakina upon His apostle and the believers and imposed on them the word of piety, for they were meet and worthy of it,' i.e. the declaration of God's unity, the witness that there is no God but Allah and that Mohammed is His slave and His apostle.

Then He said: 'God has fulfilled the vision to His apostle in truth. You shall enter the sacred mosque if God will, safely with heads shaved and hair cut short fearing not. For He knows what you do not know,' i.e. the vision which the apostle saw that he would enter Mecca safely without fear. He says 'with your heads shaved and hair cut short' along with him without fear, for He knows what you do not know of that, and more than that He has wrought a near victory, the peace of al-Hudaybiya.

No previous victory in Islam was greater than this. There was nothing but battle when men met; but when there was an armistice and war was abolished and men met in safety and consulted together none talked about Islam intelligently without entering it. In those two years double as many or more than double as many entered Islam as ever before (754).

THE CASE OF THOSE LEFT HELPLESS AFTER THE PEACE

When the apostle arrived in Medina Abu Basir Utba b. Asid b. Jariya, one of those imprisoned in Mecca, came to him. Azhar d. Abdu Auf b. Abd b. al-Harith b. Zuhra and al-Akhnas b. Shariq b. Amr b. Wahb al-Thaqafi wrote to the apostle about him, and they sent a man of B. Amir b. Luayy with a freed slave of theirs. When they came to the apostle with the letter he said, 'You know the undertaking we gave these people and it ill becomes us that treachery should enter our religion. God will bring relief and a way of escape to those helpless like you, so go back to your people.' He said, 'Would you return me to the polytheists who will seduce me from my religion?' He said, 'Go, for God will bring relief and a way of escape for you and the helpless ones with you.' So he went with them as far as Dhul-Hulayfa (About six or seven miles / 10 km from Medina.) where he and the two men sat against a wall. Abu Basir said, 'Is your sword sharp, O brother of B. Amir?' When he said that it was he said that he would like to look at it. 'Look at it if you want to,' he replied. Abu Basir unsheathed it and dealt him a blow that killed him. The freedman ran off to the apostle who was sitting in the mosque, and when the apostle saw him coming he said, 'This man has seen something frightful.' When he came up the apostle said, 'What's the matter, woe to you!' He said: 'Your man has killed my man,' and almost at once Abu Basir came up girt with the sword, and standing by the apostle he said, 'Your obligation is over and God has removed it from you. You duly handed me over to the men and I have protected myself in my religion lest I should be seduced therein or scoffed at.' The apostle said, 'Woe is his mother, he would have kindled a war had there been others with him (Or, 'The firebrand! Would that others had been with him!').'

Then Abu Basir went off until he halted at al-Is in the region of Dhul-Marwa by the sea-shore on the road which Quraysh were accustomed to take to Syria. The Muslims who were confined in Mecca heard what the apostle had said of Abu Basir so they went out to join him in al-Is. About seventy men attached themselves to him, and they so harried (the) Quraysh, killing everyone they could get hold of and cutting to pieces every caravan that passed them, that Quraysh wrote to the apostle begging him by the ties of kinship to take these men in, for they had no use for them; so the apostle took them in and they came to him in Medina (755).

When Suhayl heard that Abu Basir had killed his Amiri guard he leant his back against the Kaaba and swore that he would not remove it until this man's bloodwit was paid. Abu Sufyan b. Harb said, 'By God, this is sheer folly. It will not be paid.' Three times he said it.

Mauhab b. Riyah Abu Unays, an ally of B. Zuhra, said (756):

A brief word from Suhayl reached me
And woke me from my sleep.
If you wish to reproach me
Then reproach me, for you are not far from me.
Would you threaten me when Abdu Manaf is round me

With Makhzum? Alas, whom are you attacking?
If you put me to the test you will not find me
A weak support in grave misfortunes.
I can rival in birth the best of my people.
When the weak are ill-treated I protect them.
They defend the heights of Mecca without doubt
As far as the valleys and the wadi sides
With every blood mare and fiery horse

Grown thin from long fighting.
Maadd know they have in al-Khayf (A place in Mina.)
A pavilion of glory exalted high.

Abdullah b. al-Zibara answered him:

Mauhab has become like a poor donkey
Braying in a village as he passes through it.
A man like you cannot attack Suhayl.
Vain is your effort. Whom are you attacking?
Shut up, you son of a blacksmith,
And stop talking nonsense in the land.
Do not mention the blame of Abu Yazid.
There's a great difference between oceans and puddles.

THE WOMEN WHO EMIGRATED AFTER THE ARMISTICE

Umm Kulthum d. Uqba b. Abu Muayt migrated to the apostle during this period. Her two brothers Umara and al-Walid sons of Uqba came and asked the apostle to return her to them in accordance with the agreement between him and (the) Quraysh at Hdaybiya, but he would not. God forbade it.

Al-Zuhri from Urwa b. al-Zubayr told me: I came in to him as he was writing a letter to Ibn Abu Hunayda, the friend of al-Walid b. Abdul-Malik who had written to ask him about the word of God: 'O you who believe, when believing women come to you as emigrants test them. God knows best about their faith. If you know that they are believers do not send them back to the unbelievers. They are not lawful to them nor vice versa. And give them (the unbelievers) what they have spent on them. It is no sin for you to marry them when you have given them their dues, and hold not to the ties of unbelieving women' (Koran 60.10) (757). Ask for what you have spent and let them ask for what they have spent. That is the judgement of Allah who judges between you. God is a knower, wise.'

Urwa b. al-Zubayr wrote to him: The apostle made peace with (the) Quraysh on the day of al-Hudaybiya on condition that he should return to them those who came without the permission of their guardians. (* He was the principal authority on apostolic tradition. His father was a cousin of the prophet, his mother Asma was a daughter of Abu Bakr, and his brother was a candidate for the caliphate, and he was closely associated with Aisha, who was his aunt. He was born in 645 A.D. [23 A.H.] and died in 716 A.D. [94 A.H.].) But when women migrated to the apostle and to Islam God refused to allow them to be returned to the polytheists if they had been tested by the test of Islam, and they knew that they came only out of desire for Islam, and He ordered that their dowries should be returned to (the) Quraysh if their women were withheld from them if they returned to the Muslims the dowries of the women they had withheld from them. 'That is the judgement of God which He judges between you, and Allah is knowing, wise.' So the apostle withheld the women and returned the men, and he asked what God ordered him to ask of the dowries of the women who were withheld from them, and that they should return what was due if the other side did the same. Had it not been for this judgement of God's the apostle would have returned the women as he returned the men. And had it not been for the armistice and covenant between them on the day of al-Hudaybiya he would have kept the women and not returned the dowries, for that is what he used to do with the Muslim women who came to him before the covenant.

I asked al-Zuhri about this passage: And if any of your wives have gone to the unbelievers and you have your turn of triumph, then give those whose wives have gone the like of what they spent, and fear Allah in whom you believe.' He said, 'If one of you loses his family to the unbelievers and a woman does not come to you you may take for her the like of what they take from you, then compensate them from any booty that you secure. When this verse came down, 'O you who believe when believing women come to you as emigrants,' as far as the words 'And hold not to the cords of disbelieving women' it referred to Umar's divorcing his wife Qurayba d. Abu Umayya b. al-Mughira. Muawiya b. Abu Sufyan married her afterwards while they were both polytheists in Mecca; and Umm Kulthum the Khuzaita woman d. Jarwal mother of Ubaydullah b. Umar whom Abu Jahm b. Hudhayfa b. Ghanim a man of Umar's people married while they both were polytheists (758).

THE EXPEDITION TO KHAYBAR, 629 A.D. / 7 A.H.

After his return from al-Hudaybiya the apostle stayed in Medina during Dhul-Hijja and part of al-Muharram, the polytheists superintending the pilgrimage. Then he marched against Khaybar (759).

Mohammed b. Ibrahim b. al-Harith al-Taymi from Abul-Haytham b. Nasr b. Duhr al-Aslami from his father who said that he heard the apostle as he journeyed say to Amir b. al-Akwa who was the uncle of Salama b. Amr b. al-Akwa who was named Sinan: 'Dismount, Ibn al-Akwa, and chant one of your camel-songs for us'; so he got down and recited this rough rhyme:

But for Allah we should not have been guided Nor given alms nor prayed.
If people treat us unjustly
And if they wish to seduce us we resist.
Send down Sakina upon us
And make our feet firm when we meet our enemies.

The apostle said, 'May God have mercy on you!' Umar said, 'You have made his death inevitable, O apostle of God. Would that you had let us enjoy him longer.' He was killed at Khaybar as a martyr. I have heard that his sword turned upon him as he was fighting and gave him such a grievous wound that he died of it. The Muslims were in doubt as to whether he died a martyr, saying that he had died by his own weapon. But his nephew Salama b. Amr b. al-Akwa asked the apostle about it, telling him what men were saying, and he said, 'Certainly he is a martyr,' and he and the Muslims prayed over him.

One whom I do not suspect told me from Ata b. Abu Marwan al-Aslami from his father from Abu Muattib b. Amr that when the apostle looked down on Khaybar he told his companions, among whom I was one, to stop. Then he said:

'O God, Lord of the heavens and what they overshadow
And Lord of the lands and what they make to grow
And Lord of the devils and what into error they throw
And Lord of the winds and what they winnow,

We ask Thee for the good of this town and the good of its people and the good of what is in it, and we take refuge in Thee from its evil and the evil of its people and the evil that is in it. Forward in the name of Allah.' He used to say that of every town he entered.

One whom I do not suspect told me from Anas b. Malik: When the apostle raided a people he waited until the morning. If he heard a call to prayer* he held back; if he did not hear it he attacked. (* This is the usual meaning of adhan, but probably here a more general term is indicated: A call to get up and work'.) We came to Khaybar by night, and the apostle passed the night there; and when morning came he did not hear the call to prayer*, so he rode and we rode with him, and I rode behind Abu Talha with my foot touching the apostle's foot. We met the workers of Khaybar coming out in the morning with their spades and baskets. When they saw the apostle and the army they cried, 'Mohammed with his force,' and turned tail and fled. The apostle said, Allah akbar! Khaybar is destroyed. When we arrive in a people's square it is a bad morning for those who have been warned.' Harun told us from Humayd from Anas similarly.

When the apostle marched from Medina to Khaybar he went by way of Isr (A mountain between Medina and Wadil-Fur.), and a mosque was built for him there; then by way of al-Sahba (An evening's journey from Khaybar.). Then he went forward with the army until he halted in a wadi called al-Raji, halting between the men of Khaybar and Ghatafan so as to prevent the latter reinforcing Khaybar, for they were on their side against the apostle.

I have heard that when Ghatafan heard about the apostle's attack on Khaybar they gathered together and marched out to help the Jews against him; but after a day's journey, hearing a rumour about their property and families, they thought that they had been attacked during their absence, so they went back on their tracks and left the way to Khaybar open to the apostle.

The apostle seized the property piece by piece and conquered the forts one by one as he came to them. The first to fall was the fort of Naim; there Mahmud b. Maslama was killed by a millstone which was thrown on him from it; then al-Qamus the fort of B. Abul-Huqayq. The apostle took captives from them among whom was Safiya d. Huyayy b. Akhtab who had been the wife of Kinana b. al-Rabi b. Abul-Huqayq, and two cousins of hers. The apostle chose Safiya for himself.

Dihya b. Khalifa al-Kalbi had asked the apostle for Safiya, and when he chose her for himself he gave him her two cousins. The women of Khaybar were distributed among the Muslims. The Muslims ate the meat of the domestic donkeys and the apostle got up and forbade the people to do a number of things which he enumerated.

Abdullah b. Amr b. Damra al-Fazari told me from Abdullah b. Abu Salit from his father: The apostle's prohibition of the flesh of domestic donkeys reached us as the pots were boiling with it, so we turned them upside down.

Abdullah b. Abu Najih told me from Makhul that the apostle prohibited four things that day: carnal intercourse with pregnant women who were captured; eating the flesh of domestic donkeys; eating any carnivorous animal; and selling booty before it had been duly allotted.

Sallam b. Kirkira told me from Amr b. Dinar from Jabir b. Abdullah al-Ansari (Jabir had not been present at Khaybar) that when the apostle forbade the flesh of donkeys he allowed them to eat horseflesh.

Yazid b. Abu Habib told me from Abu Marzuq client of Tujib from Hanash al-Sanani: With Ruwayfi b. Thabit al-Ansari we attacked the Maghrib, and one of its towns called Jirba (An island near Qabis.) was conquered. A man arose as a preacher and said, "Let me tell you what I heard the apostle say on the day of Khaybar. He got up among us and said It is not lawful for a man who believes in Allah and the last day to mingle his seed with another man's (meaning to approach carnally a pregnant woman among the captives), nor is it lawful for him to take her until he has made sure that she is in a state of cleanness; nor is it lawful for him to sell booty until it has been properly divided; nor is it lawful for him to ride an animal belonging to the booty of the Muslims with the intention of returning it to the pool when he has worn it out; nor is it lawful for him to wear a garment belonging to the booty of the Muslims with the intention of returning it to the pool when he has reduced it to rags."

Yazid b. Abdullah b. Qusayt told me that he was told from Ubada b. al-Samit: On the day of Khaybar the apostle forbade us to buy or sell gold ore for gold coin or silver ore for silver coin. He said, 'Buy gold ore with silver coin and silver ore with gold coin.' Then the apostle began to take the forts and the property one by one.

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that one of Aslam told him that (the) B. Sahm of Aslam came to the apostle and complained that they had fought and got nothing and found nothing with the apostle which he could give them. He said: !O God, You know their condition and that they have no strength, and that I have nothing to give them, so conquer for them the wealthiest of the enemy's forts with the richest food.' The following day God conquered the fort of al-Sab b. Muadh which contained the richest food in Khaybar.

When the apostle had conquered some of their forts and got possession of some of their property he came to their two forts al-Watlh and al-Sulalim, the last to be taken, and the apostle besieged them for some ten nights Abdullah b. Sahl b. Abdul-Rahman b. Sahl, brother of (the) B. Haritha, told me from Jabir b. Abdullah: Marhab the Jew came out from their fort carrying his weapons and saying:

Khaybar knows that I am Marhab,
An experienced warrior armed from head to foot,
Now piercing, now slashing,
As when lions advance in their rage.
The hardened warrior gives way before my onslaught;
My hima" cannot be approached.
(* The sacred territory of an idol or a sanctuary and so any place that a man is bound to protect from violation.)

With these words he challenged all to single combat and Kab b. Malik answered him thus:

Khaybar knows that I am Kab,
The smoother of difficulties, bold and dour.
When war is stirred up another follows.
I carry a sharp sword that glitters like lightning—
We will tread you down till the strong are humbled;
We will make you pay till the spoil is divided—
In the hand of a warrior sans reproche (The obvious break in the sense is corrected in Ibn Hisham's version. 'Lightning' (aqiq) in 1.4 may mean A jewel!.) (761).

The apostle said, 'Who will deal with this fellow?' Mohammed b. Maslama said that he would, for he was bound to take revenge on the man who had killed his brother the day before. The apostle told him to go and prayed Allah to help him. When they approached the one the other an old tree with soft wood (Said by Lane, 2051c, to be the Asclepias gigantia or great swallow-wort.) lay between them and they began to hide behind it. Each took shelter from the other. When one hid behind the tree the other slashed at it with his sword so that the intervening branches were cut away (Tabari's text 1576 is clearer here.) and they came face to face. The tree remained bereft of its branches like a man standing upright. Then Marhab attacked Mohammed b. Maslama and struck him. He took the blow on his shield and the sword bit into it and remained fast. Mohammed then gave Marhab a fatal wound.

After Marhab's death his brother Yasir came out with his challenge:

(Tabari 1578: Khaybar knows that I am Yasir,
Fully armed, a doughty warrior.
As when lions advance at a rush
The enemy give way before my onslaught.)

Hisham b. Urwa alleged that al-Zubayr b. al-Awwam went out to fight Yasir. His mother Safiya d. Abdul-Mujtalib said, 'Will he kill my son, O apostle?' He replied, 'Nay, your son will kill him, if God will.' So al-Zubayr went out saying:

(Tabari: Khaybar know that I am Zabbar,
Chief of a people no cowardly runaways,
The son of those who defend their glory, the son of princes.

O Yasir, let not all the unbelievers deceive you,
For all of them are like a slowly moving mirage).

When the two met al-Zubayr killed Yasir.

Hisham b. Urwa told me that it was said to al-Zubayr, 'By God, you must have had a sharp sword that day,' to which he replied that it was not sharp, but he used it with great force.

Burayda b. Sufyan b. Farwa al-Aslami told me from his father Sufyan from Salama b. Amr b. al-Akwa: The apostle sent Abu Bakr with his banner (762) against one of the forts of Khaybar. He fought but returned having suffered losses and not taken it. On the morrow he sent Umar and the same thing happened. The apostle said, 'Tomorrow I will give the flag to a man who loves Allah and his apostle. Allah will conquer it by his means; he is no runaway.' So he called Ali who was suffering from ophthalmia at the time and spat in his eye, saying, 'Take this flag and go with it until God gives victory through you.' So Ali went off with it, gasping as he hurried, while we followed behind in his tracks until he stuck the flag in a pile of rocks under the fort. A Jew looked at him from the top of the fort and asked who he was, and when he told him he said, 'You have won, by what was revealed to Moses!' (Apparently the Jew takes the name Ali as an omen when he .ay. Alautum.) or words to that effect. He did not return until God had conquered by his hands.

Abdullah b. al-Hasan told me from one of his family from Abu Raff, freed slave of the apostle: We went with Ali when the apostle sent him with his flag and when he got near the fort the garrison came out and he fought them. A Jew struck him so that his shield fell from his hand, so Ali laid hold of a door by the fort and used it as a shield. He kept it in his hand as he fought until God gave victory, throwing it away when all was over. I can see myself with seven others trying to turn that door over, but we could not.

Burayda b. Sufyan al-Aslami told me from one of (the) B. Salima from Abul-Yasar Kab b. Amr: We were with the apostle one evening at Khaybar when along came some sheep belonging to a Jew, making for their fort while we were besieging them. The apostle asked who would get this food for us and Abul-Yasar volunteered to go. He said, I went out running like an ostrich, and when the apostle saw me coming back he said "O God, may we long enjoy him." I had overtaken the flock as the first sheep entered the fort and I seized the two last and carried them off under my arms, bringing them back at a run as though I carried nothing until I cast them down before the apostle. They were duly killed and eaten. Abul-Yasar was the last of the apostle's companions to die. Whenever he told this story he used to weep, saying, 'They did enjoy me a long time; indeed I am the last of them.'

When the apostle had conquered al-Qamus the fort of the B. Abul-Huqayq, Safiya d. Huyayy b. Aktyab was brought to him along with another woman.

Bilal who was bringing them led them past the Jews who were slain; and when the woman who was with Safiya saw them she shrieked and slapped her face and poured dust on her head. When the apostle saw her he said, 'Take this she-devil away from me.' He gave orders that Safiya was to be put behind him and threw his mantle over her, so that the Muslims knew that he had chosen her for himself. I have heard that the apostle said to Bilal when he saw this Jewess behaving in that way, 'Had you no compassion, Bilal, when you brought two women past their dead husbands?' Now Safiya had seen in a dream when she was the wife of Kinana b. al-Rabi b. Abul-Huqayq that the moon would fall into her lap. When she told her husband he said, 'This simply means that you covet the king of the Hijaz, Mohammed.' He gave her such a blow in the face that he blacked her eye! When she was brought to the apostle the mark was still there, and when he asked the cause of it she told him this story.

THE REST OF THE AFFAIR OF KHAYBAR

Kinana b. al-Rabi, who had the custody of the treasure of (the) B. al-Nadir, was brought to the apostle who asked him about it. He denied that he knew where it was. A Jew came (Tabari 1582: was brought) to the apostle and said that he had seen Kinana going round a certain ruin every morning early. When the apostle said to Kinana, 'Do you know that if we find you have it I shall kill you?' he said Yes. The apostle gave orders that the ruin was to be excavated and some of the treasure was found. When he asked him about the rest he refused to produce it, so the apostle gave orders to al-Zubayr b. al-Awwam, 'Torture him until you extract what he has,' so he kindled a fire with flint and steel on his chest until he was nearly dead. Then the apostle delivered him to Mohammed b. Maslama and he struck off his head, in revenge for his brother Mahmud.

[See Baladhuri, p.25. He quotes Abdullah b. Abu Bakr as Ibn Ishaq's authority: The apostle besieged the people of Khaybar in their two forts al-Watih and al-Sulalim until when they could hold out no longer they asked him* to let them go, and spare their lives, and he did so. Now the apostle had taken possession of all their property—al-Shaqq, Nata, and al-Katiba and all their forts—except what appertained to these two.] When the people of Fadak heard of what had happened they sent to the apostle asking him to let them go and to spare their lives and they would leave him their property, and he did so. The one who acted as intermediary was Muhayyisa b. Masud, brother of (the) B. Haritha.' When the people of Khaybar surrendered on these conditions they asked the apostle to employ them on the property with half share in the produce, saying, 'We know more about it than you and we are better farmers.' The apostle agreed to this arrangement on the condition that If we wish to expel you we will expel you.' He made a similar arrangement with the men of Fadak. So Khaybar became the prey of the Muslims, while Fadak was the personal property of the apostle because they had not driven horses or camels against it (Cf. Koran 17.66, i.e. captured it by force of arms.).

When the apostle had rested Zaynab d. al-Harith, the wife of Sallam b. Mishkam prepared for him a roast lamb, having first inquired what joint he preferred. When she learned that it was the shoulder she put a lot of poison in it and poisoned the whole lamb. Then she brought it in and placed it before him. He took hold of the shoulder and chewed a morsel of it but he did not swallow it. Bishr b. al-Bara b. Marur who was with him took some of it as the apostle had done, but he swallowed it, while the apostle spat it out, saying, This bone tells me that it is poisoned. Then he called for the woman and she confessed, and when he asked her what had induced her to do this she answered: 'You know what you have done to my people. I said to myself, if he is a king I shall ease myself of him and if he is a prophet he will be informed (of what I have done).' So the apostle let her off. Bishr died from what he had eaten.

Marwan b. Uthman b. Abu Said b. al-Mualla told me: The apostle had said in his illness of which he was to die when Uram Bishr d. al-Bara came to visit him, 'O Uram Bishr, this is the time in which I feel a deadly pain from what I ate with your brother at Khaybar.' The Muslims considered that the apostle died as a martyr in addition to the prophetic office with which God had honoured him.

Having finished with Khaybar, the apostle went to Wadil-Qura and besieged its people for some nights, then he left to return to Medina.

Thaur b Zayd told me from Salim, freed slave of Abdullah b. Muti from Abu Hurayra, who said: When we left Khaybar to go to Wadil-Qura with the apostle we halted there in the evening as the sun was setting. The apostle had a slave which Rifaa b. Zayd al-Judhami, of the dan al-Dubaybi, had given him (763). He was laying down the apostle's saddle when suddenly a random arrow hit him and killed him. We congratulated him on paradise, but the apostle said, 'Certainly not. His cloak is even now burning on him in Hell. He had surreptitiously stolen it on the day of Khaybar from the spoil of the Muslims.' One of his companions heard this and came to him saying, I took two sandal thongs.' He said, Two thongs of fire will be cut for you like them.'

One I do not suspect told me from Abdullah b. Mughaffal al-Muzani: I took a bag of lard from the booty of Khaybar and carried it off on my shoulder to my companions, when the man who had been put over the spoil (loot) met me and laid hold of the end of it, saying, "Hi! This we must divide among the Muslims." I said that I would not give him it and he began to try and pull the bag away from me. The apostle saw what was happening and laughed. Then he said to the officer in charge of the spoil "Let him have it, confound you," so he let go of it and I went off to my companions and we ate it.'

When the apostle married Safiya in Khaybar or on the way, she having been beautified and combed, and got in a fit state for the apostle by Umm Sulaym d. Milhan mother of Anas b. Malik, the apostle passed the night with her in a tent of his. Abu Ayyub, Khalid b. Zayd brother of (the) B. al-Najjar passed the night girt with his sword, guarding the apostle and going round the tent until in the morning the apostle saw him there and asked him what he meant by his action. He replied, I was afraid for you with this woman for you have killed her father, her husband, and her people, and till recently she was in unbelief, so I was afraid for you on her account.' They allege that the apostle said 'O God, preserve Abu Ayyub as he spent the night preserving me.'

Al-Zuhri told me from Said b. al-Musayyab: When the apostle left Khaybar and was on the way he said towards the end of the night: 'Who will watch over us till the dawn so that we may sleep?' Bilal volunteered to do so, so all lay down and slept. Bilal got up and prayed as long as God willed that he should; then he propped himself against his camel, and there was the dawn as he was looking at it, and his eyes were heavy and he slept. The first thing to wake the others was the feel of the sun. The apostle was the first to wake up and he asked Bilal what he had done to them. He said that the same thing had happened to him as had happened to the apostle, and he admitted that he was right. Then the apostle let himself be taken a short distance; then he made his camel kneel, and he and the men performed their ablutions. Then he ordered Bilal to call to prayer, and the apostle led them in prayer. Having finished he went to them and said, If you forget your prayers, pray them when you remember them, for God has said, "Perform prayer for My remembrance (Koran 20.14)."

I have heard that the apostle gave Ibn Luqaym al-Abi the hens and domestic animals which were in Khaybar. The conquest took place in Safar. Ibn Luqaym said:

Naja was stormed by the apostle's squadron
Fully armed, powerful, and strong.
It was certain of humiliation when it was split up
With the men of Aslam and Ghifar in its midst.
They attacked (the) B. Amr b. Zura in the morning
And Shaqq's people met a day of gloom.
They trailed their cloaks* in their plains (*Wüstenfeld's reading 'They made the cocks run' may be right.)
Every fort had a man of Abdu-Ashhal or (the) B. al-Najjar
Busy with their horses,
And Emigrants who had displayed their badges
Above their helms, never thinking of flight.
I knew that Mohammed would conquer
And would stay there many Safars.

The Jews in the fighting that day
Opened their eyes in the dust (764). (The glassy eyes of the dead are meant. The reading ama ima l-ansar with farra understood as 'fled' seems much inferior.)

Some Muslim women were with the apostle at Khaybar, and the apostle allowed them a small portion of the booty. He did not give them a definite share.

Sulayman b. Suhaym told me from Umayya b. Abul-Salt from a woman of (the) B. Ghifar whom he named to me: She said, I came to the apostle with some women of (the) B. Ghifar and we told the apostle, as he was going to Khaybar, that we wanted to go with him where he went, to tend the wounded and to help the Muslims as far as we could. He told us to go with God's blessing, and so we went with him. I was a young girl and the apostle took me on the back of his saddle. When the apostle dismounted for morning prayer and I got off the back of his saddle, lo, some of my blood was on it. It was the first time that this had happened to me. I rushed to the camel in my shame. When the apostle saw my distress and the blood he guessed the reason and told me to cleanse myself; then to take water and put some salt in it, and then to wash the back of the saddle and go back to my mount.'

She added: 'When the apostle conquered Khaybar he gave us a small part of the booty. He took this necklace which you see on my neck and gave it to me and hung it round my neck with his own hand, and by God it will never leave me.' It was on her neck until she died when she gave instructions that it was to be buried with her. She never cleansed herself but she put salt in the purifying water, and gave instructions that it should be put in the water with which she was washed when she was dead. The names of the Muslims who met martyrdom at Khaybar are: of (the) Quraysh of the clan of (the) B. Umayya b. Abdu Shams of their allies: Rabia b. Aktham b. Sakhbara b. Amr, and Rifaa b. Amir b. Ghanm b. Dudan b. Asad, and Thaqif b. Amr and Rifaa b. Masruh. Of (the) B. Asad b. Abdul-Uzza: Abdullah b. al-Hubayb (765). Of the Ansar of (the) B. Salima: Bishr b. al-Bara b. Marur who died of the mutton with which the apostle was poisoned, and Fudayl b. al-Numan, 2 men. Of B. Zurayq: Masud b. Sad b. Qays b. Khalada b. Amir b. Zurayq. Of Aus of (the) B. Abdul-Ashhal: Mahmud b. Maslama b. Khalid b. Adiy b. Majdaa b. Haritha b. al-Harith, an ally of theirs from B. Haritha. Of (the) B. Amr b. Auf: Abu Payyah b. Thabit b. al-Numan b. Umayya b. Imruul-Qays b. Thalaba b. Amr b. Auf; al-Harith b. Hatib; Urwa b. Murra b. Suraqa; Aus b. al-Qaid; Unayf b. Habib; Thabit b. Athla, and Talha. Of (the) B. Ghifar: Umara b. Uqba, shot by an arrow. Of Aslam: Amir b. al-Akwa, and al-Aswad the shepherd whose name was Aslam (766).

Of those who found martyrdom at Khaybar according to what Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri said was Masud b. Rabia, an ally of (the) B. Zuhra from al-Qara; and from the Ansar of (the) B. Amr b. Auf, Aus b. Qatada.

THE AFFAIR OF AL-ASWAD THE SHEPHERD

According to what I have heard al-Aswad came to the apostle with his flock of sheep as he was besieging Khaybar. He was the hired servant of a Jew there. He asked the apostle to explain Islam to him, and when he did so he accepted it, for the apostle never thought too little of anyone to invite him to accept Islam. Having become a Muslim he told the apostle that he was the hired servant of the owner of the sheep which were entrusted to his care, and what was he to do with them? He told him to hit them in the face and they would go back to their owner. So al-Aswad got up and took a handful of pebbles and threw them in their faces, saying, 'Go back to your master, for I will look after you no more.' They went off in a body as though someone were driving them, until they went into the fort. Afterwards he advanced to the fort with the Muslims and was struck by a stone and killed, never having prayed a single prayer. He was brought to the apostle and laid behind him and covered by his shepherd's cloak. The apostle, who was accompanied by a number of his companions, turned towards him and then turned away. When they asked him why, he said, 'He has with him now his two wives from the dark-eyed houris.' Abdullah b. Abu Najih told me that he was told that, when a martyr is slain, his two wives from the dark-eyed houris pet him, wiping the dust from his face, saying the while, 'May God put dust on the face of the man who put dust on your face, and slay him who slew you!'

THE AFFAIR OF AL-HAJJAJ B. ILAT AL-SULAMI

When Khaybar had been conquered al-Hajjaj b. Ilat al-Sulami of the clan al-Bahz said to the apostle, I have money with my wife Umm Shayba d. Abu Talha—when they had lived together he had a son called Murid by her—and money scattered among the Meccan merchants, so give me permission to go and get it. Having got his permission he said, I must tell lies, O apostle. He said, 'Tell them.' Al-Hajjaj said, 'When I came to Mecca I found in the pass of al-Bayda (The pass of al-Tanim in Mecca.) some men of Quraysh trying to get news and asking how the apostle fared because they had heard that he had gone to Khaybar. They knew that it was the principal town of the Hijaz in fertility, fortifications, and population, and they were searching for news and interrogating passing riders. They did not know that I was a Muslim and when they saw me they said, "It is al-Hajjaj b. Ilat. He is sure to have news. Tell us, O Abu Mohammed, for we have heard that the highwayman has gone to Khaybar which is the town of the Jews and the garden of the Hijaz." I said, "I have heard that and I have some news that will please you." They came up eagerly on either side of my camel, saying, "Out with it, Hajjaj!" I said, "He has suffered a defeat such as you have never heard of and his companions have been slaughtered; you have never heard the like, and Mohammed has been captured." The men of Khaybar said, "We will not kill him until we send him to the Meccans and let them kill him among themselves in revenge for their men whom he has killed." They got up and shouted in Mecca, "Here's news for you! You have only to wait for this fellow Mohammed to be sent to you to be killed in your midst." I said, "Help me to collect my money in Mecca and to get in the money owed to me, for I want to go to Khaybar to get hold of the fugitives from Mohammed and his companions (The word fall, for which I.H. quotes the variant fay, 'spoil', may possibly mean the same thing: more often it means a defeated force. Perhaps we could render 'to get some advantage from the defeat of Mohammed and his companions') before the merchants get there" (767). They got up and collected my money for me quicker than I could have supposed possible. I went to my wife and asked her for the money which she had by her, telling her that I should probably go to Khaybar and seize the opportunity to buy before the merchants got there first. When Abbas heard the news and heard about me he came and stood at my side as I was in one of the merchants' tents, asking about the news which I had brought. I asked him if he could keep a secret if I entrusted it to him. He said he could, and I said, "Then wait until I can meet you privately, for I am collecting my money as you see, so leave me (Tabari 1587: and he left me) until I have finished"; and so, when I had collected everything I had in Mecca and decided to leave, I met Abbas and said, "Keep my story secret for three nights, then say what you will for I am afraid of being pursued." When he said that he would, I said, "I left your brother's son married to the daughter of their king, meaning Safiya, and Khaybar has been conquered and all that is in it removed and become the property of Mohammed and his companions." He said, "What are you saying, Hajjaj?" I said, "Yes, by Allah, but keep my secret. I have become a Muslim and have come only to get my money fearing that I may be deprived of it. When three nights have passed publish the news as you will." When the third day came Abbas put on a robe of his and scented himself and took his stick, and went to the Kaaba and went round it. When the people saw him they said, "O Abul-Fadl, this is indeed steadfastness in a great misfortune!" He answered, "By no means, by Allah by whom you swear, Mohammed has conquered Khaybar and was left married to the daughter of their king. He has seized all that they possess and it is now his property and the property of his companions." They asked, "Who brought you this news?" He said, "The man who brought you your news. He came in to you as a Muslim and has taken his money and gone off to join Mohammed and his companions and to be with him." They said "O men of Allah, the enemy of Allah has escaped. Had we known we would have dealt with him." Almost at once the true news reached them. Among the verses about the day of Khaybar are the following from Hassan b. Thabit:

How badly the Khaybaris fought
To preserve their crops and dates!
They disliked the thought of death and so their preserve became a spoil
And they behaved like miserable cowards.
Would they flee from death?
The death of the starved is not seemly*.
(* These sarcastic six lines show clearly the cynic attitude of Arabs towards hard-working farmers and their wish to protect their work. Instead, Arabs have viewed looting, pillaging, and killing people as honourable activity.)

Hassan also said, excusing Ayman b. Umm Ayman b. Ubayd who had stayed behind from Khaybar (he was of the B. Auf b. al-Khazraj. His mother Umm Ayman was a freed slave of the apostle, the mother of Usama b. Zayd who was thus brother to Ayman by his mother):

At the time when Ayman's mother said to him
You are a coward and were not with the horsemen of Khaybar
Ayman was no coward, but his horse
Was sick from drinking fermented barley-water.
Had it not been for the state of his horse
He would have fought with them as a horseman with his right hand.
What stopped him was the behaviour of his horse
And what had happened to it seemed to him more serious (768).

Najjiya b. Jundub al-Aslami said:

O servants of Allah, why do you prize
What is nothing but food and drink
When Paradise has amazing joy?

He also said:

I am Ibn Jundub to one who does not know me.
How many an adversary when I charged turned aside.
He perished in the feeding-place of vultures and jackals (769).

THE ACCOUNT OF THE DIVISION OF THE SPOIL OF KHAYBAR

When the spoil of Khaybar was divided, al-Shaqq and Nata fell to the Muslims while al-Katiba was divided into five sections: God's fifth; the prophet's share (Tabari: fifth); the share of kindred, orphans, the poor (Tabari 1588: and wayfarers); maintenance of the prophet's wives; and maintenance of the men who acted as intermediaries in the peace negotiations with the men of Fadak. To Muhayyisa, who was one of these men, the apostle gave thirty loads of barley and thirty loads of dates. Khaybar was apportioned among the men of al-Hudaybiya without regard to whether they were present at Khaybar or not. Only Jabir b. Abdullah b. Amr b. Haram was absent and the apostle gave him the same share as the others. Its two wadis, al-Surayr and Khass, formed the territory into which Khaybar was divided. Nata and al-Shaqq formed 18 shares of which Nata formed 5 and al-Shaqq 13. These two places were divided into 1,800 shares.

The number of the companions among whom Khaybar was divided was 1,800 with shares for horse and foot; 1,400 men and 200 horses; every horse got two shares and his rider one; every footman got one share. There was a chief over every allotment for every 100 men, i.e. 18 blocks of shares (770).

The chiefs were Ali; al-Zubayr b. al-Awwam; Talha b. Ubaydullah; Umar; Abdul-Rahman; Asim b. Adiy; Usayd b. Hudayr. Then the share of al-Harith b. al-Khazraj; then the share in Naim; then the share of B. Bayada, B. Ubayd, B. Haram of (the) B. Salima, and Ubayd 'of the shares' (771), (the) Saida, Ghifar and Aslam, (the) al-Najjar, Haritha, and Aus.

The first lot in Nata fell to al-Zubayr, namely al-Khau, and al-Surayr followed it; the second to the B. Bayada; the third to Usayd; the fourth to (the) B. al-Harith; the fifth in Naim to (the) B. Auf b. al-Khazraj and Muzayna and their partners. In it Mahmud b. Maslama was killed. So much for Nata.

Then they went down to al-Shaqq: the first lot fell to Asim b. Adiy brother of B. al-Ajlan and with it the apostle's share; then the shares of Abdul-Rahman, Saida, al-Najjar, Ali, Talha, Ghifar and Aslam, Umar, Salama b. Ubayd and (the) B. Haram, Haritha, Ubayd 'of the shares'; then the share of Aus which was the share of al-Lafif to which Juhayna and the rest of the Arabs who were at Khaybar was joined; opposite it was the apostle's share which he got with Asim's share*.

[* This complicated and unsystematic account can be understood thus: the 18,000 shares were divided into 18 which were allotted

- (a) to the chief distributors, viz. Ali, al-Zubayr, Talha, Umar, Abdul-Rahman, Asim and Usayd: 7
- (b) to tribal shareholders, viz. al-Harith b. al-Khazraj, B. Bayada, B. Ubayd, B. Haram, B. Saida, B. Ghifar and Aslam, B. al-Najjar, B. Haritha, B. Aus, and other elements: 9
- (c) By the name of the property itself, Naim: 1
- (d) By the name of the owner Ubayd, who bought up the shares: 1 Total 18]

Then the apostle distributed al-Katiba which is Wadi Khass between his kindred and wives and to other men and women. He gave his daughter Fatima 200 loads; Ali 100; Usima b. Zayd 200 and 50 loads of dates; Aisha 200; Abu Bakr 100; Aqil b. Abu Talib 140; B. Jafar 50; Rabia b. al-Harith 100; al-Salt b. Makhrama and his two sons 100, 40 of them for al-Salt himself; Abu Nabiqah 50; Rukana b. Abdu Yazid 50; Qays b. Makhrama 30; his brother Abul-Qasim 40; the daughters of Ubayda b. al-Harith and the daughter of al-Husayn b. al-Harith 100; the B. Ubayd b. Abdu Yazid 60; Ibn Aus b. Makhrama 30; Mistah b. Uthatha and Ibn Ilyas 50; Umm Rumaytha 40; Nuaym b. Hind 30; Buhayna d. al-Harith 30; Ujayr b. Abdu Yazid 30; Umm Hakim d. al-Zubayr b. Abdul-776 Muttalib 30; Jumana d. Abu Talib 30; Ibn al-Arqam 50; Abdul-Rahman b. Abu Bakr 40; Hamna d. Jahsh 30; Ummul-Zubayr 40; Dubaa d. al-Zubayr 40; Ibn Abu Khunaysh 30; Umm Talib 40; Abu Basra 20; Numayla al-Kalbi 50; Abdullah b. Wahb and his two daughters 90 of which 40 were for his two sons; Umm Habib d. Jahsh 30; Malku* b. Abda 30; and to his own wives 700 (772). (*Proper names with final waw written out instead of nunation are common in Nabataean and Palmyrene inscriptions, but are rarely met with in classical Arabic.)

In the Name of Allah the Compassionate the Merciful. A memorandum of what Mohammed the apostle of Allah gave his wives from the wheat of Khaybar. He distributed to them 180 loads. He gave his daughter Fatima 85, Usama b. Zayd 40, al-Miqdad b. al-Aswad 15, Umm Rumaytha 5. Uthman b. Affan was witness and Abbas wrote the document.

Salih b. Kaysan told me from Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba b. Masud: The only dispositions that the apostle made at his death were three: He bequeathed to the Rahawls land which produced a hundred loads in Khaybar, to the Dariyis, the Sabais, and the Asharis the same. He also gave instructions that the mission of Usama b. Zayd b. Haritha should be carried through (The reading of Wüstenfeld's tanfil should be corrected to tanfidh with C. See Musa b. Uqba, Nos. 13 and 14.) and that two religions should not be allowed to remain in the peninsula of the Arabs (It means that absolute supremacy of Islam, and the consequent annihilation of anyone else, has been the goal.).

THE AFFAIR OF FADAK

When the apostle had finished with Khaybar, God struck terror to the hearts of the men of Fadak when they heard what the apostle had done to the men of Khaybar. They sent to him an offer of peace on condition that they should keep half of their produce. Their messengers came to him in Khaybar or on the road (The reading of Wüstenfeld's bil-Taif should be corrected to bil-tariq with the Manuscripts and Tabari.) or after he came to Medina, and he accepted their terms. Thus Fadak became his private property, because it had not been attacked by horse or camel (See: Koran 7.66 and supra, p. 764 of Wüstenfeld's text.).

THE NAMES OF THE DARIYUN

They were B. al-Dar b. Hani b. Habib b. Numara b. Lakhm who had come to the apostle from Syria, namely, Tamim b. Aus and Nuaym his brother, Yazid b. Qays, and Arafa b. Malik whom the apostle named Abdul-Rahman (773), arid his brother Murran b. Malik, and Fakih b. Numan, Jabala b. Malik, and Abu Hind b. Barr and his brother al-Tayyib whom the apostle named Abdullah.

According to what Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me the apostle used to send to Khaybar Abdullah b. Rawaha to act as assessor between the Muslims and the Jews. When he made his assessment they would say, 'You have wronged us,' and he would say, 'If you wish it is yours and if you like it is ours,' and the Jews would say, 'On this (foundation) Heaven and earth stand (This is a characteristically Jewish expression and if one compares the Arabic bihadha qamat . . . al-ard with Pirqe Abhuth 1.19 'on three things the world stands (qaim): on justice, truth, and peace' one can hardly doubt that Abdullah b. Abu Bakr has preserved an accurate account of what took place.). But Abdullah acted as assessor for one year only before he was killed at Muta. After him Jabbar b. Sakhr b. Umayya b. Khansa' brother of (the) B. Salima took over the work. All went well and the Muslims found no fault in their behaviour until they attacked Abdullah b. Sahl brother of (the) B. Haritha and killed him in violation of their agreement with the apostle, and the apostle and the Muslims suspected them on that account.

Al-Zuhri and Bushayr b. Yasar told me from Sahl b. Abu Hathma: Abdullah b. Sahl was killed in Khaybar. He had gone there with friends of his to take away the dates and was found in a pool with his neck broken, having been thrown there. So they took him and buried him and then came to the apostle and told him about the affair. His brother Abdul-Rahman came to him accompanied by his two cousins Huwayyisa and Muhayyisa the sons of Masud. Now Abdul-Rahman was the youngest of them and the avenger of blood and a prominent man among his people and when he spoke before his two cousins the apostle said, 'The eldest first, the eldest first!' (774) and he became silent. The two cousins then spoke and he spoke after them. They told the apostle of the killing of their relative and he said, 'Can you name the killer, then swear fifty oaths against him that we should deliver him up to you?' They said that they could not swear to what they did not know. He said, 'If they swear fifty oaths that they did not kill him and do not know the slayer, will they be free from the guilt of his blood?' They answered, 'We cannot accept the oaths of Jews. Their infidelity is so great that they would swear falsely.' The apostle paid the bloodwit of a hundred she-camels from his own property. Sahl said, 'By Allah, I shall not forget a young red camel who kicked me as I was leading her.' (Sahl is the transmitter of the story. The avenger of blood was Abdul-Rahman b. Sahl.)

Mohammed b. Ibrahim b. al-Harith al-Taymi told me from Abdul-Rahman b. Bujayd b. Qayzl brother of (the) B. Haritha. Mohammed b. Ibrahim said: 'By God, Sahl did not know more than he, but he was the elder. He said to him, 'By Allah, the affair was not thus but Sahl misunderstood. The apostle did not say "Swear to something you have no knowledge of," but he wrote to the Jews of Khaybar when the Ansar spoke to him: "A dead man has been found among your dwellings. Pay his bloodwit." The Jews wrote back swearing by Allah that they had not killed him and did not know who had, so the apostle paid the blood-money.'

Amr b. Shuayb told me the same story as Abdul-Rahman except that he said, 'Pay the blood-money or be prepared for war.'

I asked Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri, (This incident is reported by al-Baladhuri from Ibn Ishaq via al-Bakkai in an abbreviated form. There is no significant difference.) 'How was it that the apostle gave the Jews of Khaybar their palms when he gave them on a tax basis? Did he assign that to them until he was taken or did he give them them for some other necessary reason?' He told me that the apostle took Khaybar by force after fighting and Khaybar was part of what God gave to him as booty. The apostle divided it into five parts and distributed it among the Muslims, and after the fighting the population surrendered on condition that they should migrate. The apostle called them and said that if they wished he would let them have the property on condition that they worked it and the produce was equally divided between both parties and he would leave them there as long as God let them stay. They accepted the terms and used to work the property on those conditions. The apostle used to send Abdullah b. Rawaha and he would divide the produce and make a just assessment. When God took away His prophet, Abu Bakr continued the arrangement until his death, and so did Umar for the beginning of his amirate. Then he heard that the apostle had said in his last illness, 'Two religions shall not remain together in the peninsula of the Arabs' and he made inquiries until he got confirmation. Then he sent to the Jews saying, 'God has given permission for you to emigrate,' quoting the apostle's words. If anyone has an agreement with the apostle let him bring it to me and I will carry it out; he who has no such agreement let him get ready to emigrate.' Thus Umar expelled those who had no agreement with the apostle.

Nafi client of Abdullah b. Umar told me from Abdullah b. Umar: With al-Zubayr and al-Miqdad b. al-Aswad I went out to our property in Khaybar to inspect it, and when we got there we separated to see to our individual affairs. In the night I was attacked as I was asleep on my bed and my arms were dislocated at the elbows. In the morning I called my companions to my aid and when they came and asked me who had done this I had to say that I did not know. They reset my arms and then took me to Umar who said, 'This is the work of the Jews.' Then he got up and addressed those present saying that the apostle had arranged with the Jews of Khaybar that we could expel them if we wished; that they had attacked Abdullah b. Umar and dislocated his arms, as they had heard, in addition to their attack on the Ansari previously. There was no doubt that they were the authors of these outrages because there was no other enemy on the spot.

Therefore if anyone had property in Khaybar he should go to it, for he was on the point of expelling the Jews. And he did expel them.

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me from Abdullah b. Maknaf brother of (the) B. Haritha: When Umar expelled the Jews from Khaybar he rode with the Muhajirin and Ansar and Jabbar b. Sakhr b. Umayya b. Khansa brother of (the) B. Salima who was the assessor and accountant of the Medinans and Yazid b. Thabit; and these two divided Khaybar among its owners according to the original agreement of the lots.

Umar divided Wadil-Qura into share*: one each to Uthman, Abdul-Rahman, Amr b. Abu Salama, Amir b. Abu Rabia, Amr b. Suraqa, Ushaym (775), Muayyib and Abdullah b. al-Aqam; two shares each to Abdullah and Ubaydullah; one share each to the son of Abdullah b. Jahsh, Ibnul-Bukayr, Mutamir, Zayd b. Thabit, Ubayy b. Kab, Muadh b. Afra, Abu Talha and Hasan, Jabbar b. Sakhr, Jabir b. Abdullah b. Riab, Malik b. Sasaa, Jabir b. Abdullah b. Amr, the son of Hudayr, the son of Sad b. Muadh, Salama b. Salama, Abdul-Rahman b. Thabit, Abu Sharik, Abu Abs b. Jabr, Mohammed b. Maslama and Ubada b. Tariq (776); half a share each to Jabr b. Atik and the two sons of al-Harith b. Qays; one share to Ibn Hazama. Such is our information about the allocation of Khaybar and Wadil-Qura (777).

(* Khafer. Ibn Hisham [note 777] says that the word means 'share'. My colleague, Dr. R. B. Sergeant, Le Mutton, lxvi, 1953, p. 130, writes of the Hadramaut: 'The main bund or channel leading the flood water from the wadi to the fields is called khatar [plural: khatur], a word known to Ibn Hisham, Sira, p. 780.' If Ibn Ishaq meant Irrigation channel', as is very probable, then the channels would mark out the limits of each man's property or 'share'. It is difficult to escape the conclusion that such an unusual word was used in a technical sense. It is not astonishing that a word of external origin should be used in this context because the Arabs of the Hijaz in this epoch looked down on agriculture, and most of the terms they used were borrowed from their neighbours.)

THE RETURN OF THOSE WHO HAD MIGRATED TO ABYSSINIA (Ethiopia) (778)

These are the names of the prophet's companions who stayed in Abyssinia (Ethiopia) until he sent Amr b. Umayya al-Damri to the Negus to fetch them back in two boats and who ultimately rejoined him in Khaybar after al-Hudaybiya (The genealogies I have drastically shortened. Full details have already been given.):

From (the) B. Hashim: Jafar b. Abu Talib with his wife Asma d. Umayy; and his son Abdullah who was born to him in Abyssinia. Jafar was killed at Muta in Syria when acting as the apostle's amir (commander, general).

From (the) B. Abdu Shams: Khalid b. Said b. al-As b. Umayya with his wife Umayna d. Khalaf b. Asad (779); his two children Said and Ama begotten in Abyssinia (Khalid was killed at Marj al-Suffar, a place in Damascus, Syria, in the caliphate of Abu Bakr); his brother Amr whose wife, Fatima d. Safwan b. Umayya b. Muharrith al-Kinani, died in Abyssinia (Ethiopia). Amr was killed at Ajnadayn in Syria during the caliphate of Abu Bakr).

With reference to Amr b. Said his father Said b. al-As b. Umayya Abu Uhayha said:

O Amr, I wish that I knew about you whether

When you carry arms when your arms have grown strong

Will you leave your people's affairs in such disorder
As will disclose the rage they retain in their breasts?

With reference to Amr and Khalid, their brother Aban said when the former had become Muslims, and their father Sald had died in al-Zurayba in the region of Taif:

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

Would that a dead man in Zurayba could see What Amr and Khalid are falsely introducing into religion!

They obeyed the commands of women concerning us
And assisted the very enemies we were fighting.

Khalid answered him and said:

I do not insult my brother's honour since he is my brother

Though he does not refrain from evil words.

When affairs went ill with him he said,

'Would that a man dead in Zurayba would rise from the grave!'

Leave the dead in peace, for he has gone his way,

And deal with the man at hand who has more need of you.

And Muayqib b. Abu Fatima who became Umar's guardian of the public purse; he belonged to the family of Said b. al-As; and Abu Musa al-Ashari Abdullah b. Qays, an ally of the family of Utba b. Rabia b. Abdu Shams. 4.

From (the) B. Asad b. Abdul-Uzza: Al-Aswad b. Naufal. 1.

From (the) B. Abdul-Dar: Jahm b. Qays with his two sons Amr and Khuzayma. His wife Umm Harmala d. Abdul-Aswad (she died in Abyssinia) with her two children. 1.

From (the) B. Zuhra b. Kilab: Amir b. Abu Waqqas and Utba b. Masud an ally of theirs from Hudhayl. 2.

From (the) B. Taym b. Murra: Al-Harith b. Khalid whose wife Rayta d. al-Harith b. Jubayla died in Abyssinia 1.

From (the) B. Jumah b. Amr: Uthman b. Rabia b. Uthban. 1.

From (the) B. Sahn b. Amr: Mahmiya b. al Jaz, an ally of theirs from B. Zubayd. The apostle put him in charge of the fifts of the Muslims. 1.

From (the) B. Adiy b. Kab: Mamar b. Abdullah. 1.

From (the) B. Amir: Abu Hatib b. Amr; Malik b. Rabia with his wife Amra d. al-Sadl b. Waqdan. 2.

From (the) B. al-Harith b. Fihri: Al-Harith b. Abdu Qays. 1.

The widows of those who had died in Abyssinia were also brought in the two boats.

The total number of the men whom the Negus sent in the two boats with Amr b. Umayya was 16.

Of those who migrated to Abyssinia and did not return until after Badr and the Negus did not send in the two boats to the apostle; and those who came afterwards and those who died in Abyssinia were:

From (the) B. Umayya b. Abdu Shams: Ubaydullah b. Jahsh, an ally from Asad of Khuzayma with his wife Umm Habiba d. Abu Sufyan and his daughter Habiba from whom Abu Sufyan's daughter got her kunya, her own name being Ramla. Ubaydullah had migrated with the Muslims, but when he got to Abyssinia he turned Christian and died there as such having abandoned Islam. The apostle afterwards married his wife.

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr from Urwa told me about Ubaydullah's turning Christian and said: When he passed by the apostle's companions he used to say, 'Our eyes are opened but yours veiled,' i.e. We can see clearly but you are only trying to see: you cannot yet see clearly, the metaphor being taken from a puppy who tries to open its eyes and flutters them before he can do so, i.e. We have opened our eyes and we see, but you have not opened your eyes to see though you are trying to do so.

And Qays b. Abdullah of (the) B. Asad b. Khuzayma who was father of Umayya d. Qays who was with Umm Habiba, and his wife Baraka d. Yasar, the freed slave of Abu Sufyan. They were the two foster-mothers of Ubaydullah b. Jahsh and Umm Habiba d. Abu Sufyan. They took them with them when he migrated to Abyssinia (Ethiopia). 2 men.

From (the) B. Asad b. Abdul-Uzza: Yazid b. Zamaa who was killed a martyr with the apostle at Hunayn; and Amr b. Umayya b. al-Harith who died in Abyssinia. 2 men.

From (the) B. Abdul-Dar: Abul-Rum b. Umayr and Firas b. al-Nadr. 2.

From (the) B. Zuhra b. Kilab: Al-Muttalib b. Azhar with his wife Ramla d. Abu Auf b. Pubayra who died in Abyssinia. She bore him there Abdullah b. al-Muttalib. It was said that he was the first man in Islam to inherit his father's property. 1.

From (the) B. Taym b. Murra: Amr b. Uthman who was killed at Qadisiya with Sad b. Abu Waqqas. 1.

From (the) B. Makhzum b. Yaqa: Habbar b. Sufyan b. Abdul-Asad killed at Ajnadayn in Abu Bakr's caliphate; and his brother Abdullah killed in the year of al-Yarmuk in Umar's caliphate. (There is doubt as to whether he was killed there or not); and Hisham b. Abu Hudhayfa. 3.

From (the) B. Jumah b. Amr: Hapb b. al-Harith and his two sons Mohammed and al-Harith with his wife Fatima d. al-Mujallal. Hatib died in Abyssinia as a Muslim and his wife and his two sons came in one of the boats; and his brother Hattab with his wife Fukayha d. Yasar. He died there as a Muslim and his wife Fukayha came in one of the boats; and Sufyan b. Mamar b. Habib and his two sons Junada and Jabir with their mother Hasana, and their half-brother by their mother Shurahbil b. Hasana. Sufyan and his two sons Junada and Jabir died in the caliphate of Umar. 6.

From B. Sahn b. Amr: Abdullah b. al-Harith who died in Abyssinia; and Qays b. Hudhafa; and Abu Qays b. al-Harith who was killed at al-Yamama in the caliphate of Abu Bakr; and Abdullah b. Hudhafa who was the apostle's envoy to Chosroes; and al-Harith b. al-Harith b. Qays; and Mamar b. al-Harith; and Bishr b. al-Harith and a son of his mother from (the) B. Tamim called Said b. Amr who was killed at Ajnadayn in the caliphate of Abu Bakr; and Said b. al-Harith who was killed in the year of al-Yarmuk in the caliphate of Umar; and al-Saib b. al-Harith who was wounded at al-Taif with the apostle and killed in the battle of Fihl (In Syria. Cf. Yaq. 853.) in the caliphate of Umar—others say in the fight at Khaybar; and Umayr b. Riab who was killed at Ayn al-Tamr with Khalid b. al-Walid when he came from al-Yamama in the caliphate of Abu Bakr. 11 men.

From (the) B. Adiy b. Kab: Urwa b. Abdul-Uzza who died in Abyssinia; and Adiy b. Nadla who also died there. 2.

Adiy had a son called al-Numan who returned with the Muslims. In the caliphate of Umar he was put over Maysan in the district of Basra.

He composed some verses:

Has al-Hasna (Or 'the beauty.) not heard that her husband in Maysan

Is drinking from glasses and jars?

If I wished, the chief men of the city would sing to me

And dancing-girls pirouette on tiptoe.

If you are my friend, give me a drink in the largest cup,

Do not give me the smallest half broken!

Perhaps the commander of the faithful will take it amiss

That we're drinking together in a tumbledown castle!

When Umar heard of these verses he said: 'He's right, by God, I do take it amiss! Anyone who sees him can tell him that I have deposed him.'

After his deposition he came to Umar and pleaded that he had never acted in the way that his verses implied, but that he was a poet who wrote in their exaggerated way. Umar replied that as long as he lived he would never act as his governor after having used such words.

From (the) B. Amir b. Ghalib: Salit b. Amr who was the apostle's envoy to Haudha b. Ali al-Hanafi in al-Yamama. 1.

From (the) B. al-Harith b. Fihri: Uthman b. Abdu Ghanm; and Sad b. Abdu Qays; and Iyad b. Zuhayr. 3.

The total number of those who were not at Badr and did not come to the apostle in Mecca, and those who came afterwards, and those whom the Negus (Ethiopian emperor) did not send in the two boats was 34 men.

The names of those who died in Abyssinia and their children were:

Of their children: Musa b. al-Harith b. Khalid b. Sakhr b. Amir from (the) B. Taym b. Murra. 1 man.

The total number of women who migrated to Abyssinia, those who came back and those who died there was 16 women besides their daughters whom they bore there who came back and who died there and who went along with them:

From (the) B. Adly b. Kab: Layla d. Abu Hathma b. Ghanim.

From (the) B. Amir b. Luayy: Sauda d. Zamaa b. Qays; and Sahla d. Suhayl b. Amr and his daughter al-Mujallal; and Amra d. al-Sadi b. Waqdan; and Umm Kulthum d. Suhayl b. Amr.

THE FULFILLED PILGRIMAGE, 1 A.H. 7

When the apostle returned from Khaybar to Medina he stayed there from the first Rabi until Shawwal, sending out raiding parties and expeditions. Then in Dhul-Qada—the month in which the polytheists had prevented him from pilgrimage—he went out to make the 'fulfilled pilgrimage' (780) in place of the Umra (Lit. 'to visit a populated place', is an Islamic pilgrimage to Mecca that can be undertaken at any time of the year, in contrast to the Hajj, which has specific dates according to the Islamic lunar calendar.) from which they had excluded him. Those Muslims who had been excluded with him went out in 629 A.D. / 7 A.H., and when the Meccans heard of it they got out of his way. Quraysh said among themselves, 'Mohammed and his companions are in destitution, want, and privation.'

A man I have no reason to suspect told me that Ibn Abbas said: 'They gathered at the door of the assembly house to look at him and his companions, and when the apostle entered the mosque he threw the end of his cloak over his left shoulder leaving his right upper arm free. Then he said:

"God have mercy on a man who shows them today that he is strong."

Then he kissed (istalama means to embrace with outstretched arms; to stroke with the hand; and to kiss.) the stone, and went out trotting as did his companions until when the temple concealed him from them and he had kissed the southern corner he walked to kiss the black stone. Then he trotted similarly three circuits and walked the rest.' Ibn Abbas used to say, 'People used to think that this practice was not incumbent on them because the apostle only did it for this clan of Quraysh because of what he had heard about them until when he made the farewell pilgrimage he adhered to it (Here, for falazimaha, Tabari has faramalaha.) and the sunna carried it on.'

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that when the apostle entered Mecca on that pilgrimage Abdullah b. Rawaha was holding the halter of his camel and saying:

Get out of his way, you unbelievers, make way (Tabari: adds a spurious hemistich [half line of a verse] which destroys the balance of the poem.)

Every good thing goes with His apostle.

O Lord I believe in his word,

I know God's truth in accepting it.

We will fight you about its interpretation (Ibn Hisham's comment is cogent. S. says the occasion of the poem was Siffin: in other words it belongs to Shiite polemic.)

As we have fought you about its revelation
With strokes that will remove heads from shoulders
And make friend unmindful of friend (781).

Aban b. Salih and Abdullah b. Abu Najih from Ata b. Abu Rabah and Mujahid Abul-Hajjaj from Ibn Abbas told me that the apostle married Maymuna d. al-Harith in that journey of his when he was haram. Al-Abbas b. Abdul-Muttalib married him to her (This is a tradition which is a bone of contention among Muslim lawyers. Cf. J. Schacht, The Origins of Mohammedan Jurisprudence, Oxford, 1950, p. 153) (782).

The apostle remained three days in Mecca. Huwayjib b. Abdul-Uzza b. Abu Qays b. Abdu Wudd b. Nasr b. Malik b. Hishl with a few (the) Quraysh came to him on the third day because Quraysh had entrusted him with the duty of sending the apostle out of Mecca. They said: 'Your time is up, so get out from us.' The apostle answered: 'How would it harm you if you were to let me stay and I gave a wedding feast among you and we prepared food and you came too?' They replied, 'We do not need your food, so get out.' So the apostle went out and left Abu Rafi his client in charge of Maymuna until he brought her to him in Sarif (place near al-Tanim.). (Tabari: The apostle ordered them to change the [normal] sacrificial animal and did so himself. Camels were hard to come by so he allowed them to offer oxen.) The apostle consummated his marriage with her there, and then went on to Medina in Dhul-Hijja (783).

THE RAID ON MUTA IN 8 A.H.

He remained there for the rest of Dhul-Hijja, while the polytheists supervised the pilgrimage, and throughout al-Muharram and Safar and the two Rabis. In Jumadal-Ola he sent to Syria his force which met with disaster in Muta.

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr from Urwa b. al-Zubayr said: The apostle sent his expedition to Muta in Jumadal-Ula in the year 8 (630 A.D.) and put Zayd b. Haritha in command; if Zayd were slain then Jafar b. Abu Talib was to take command, and if he were killed then Abdullah b. Rawaha. The expedition got ready to the number of 3,000 and prepared to start. When they were about to set off they bade farewell to the apostle's chiefs and saluted them. When Abdullah b. Rawaha took his leave of the chiefs he wept and when they asked him the reason he said, 'By God, it is not that I love the world and am inordinately attached to you, but I heard the apostle read a verse from God's book in which he mentioned hell: "There is not one of you but shall come to it; that is a determined decree of your Lord (Koran 19.72)," and I do not know how I can return after I have been to it.' The Muslims said, 'God be with you and protect you and bring you back to us safe and sound.' Abdullah said:

But I ask the Merciful's pardon
And a wide open wound discharging blood,
Or a deadly lance-thrust from a zealous warrior
That will pierce the bowels and liver;
So that men will say when they pass my grave,
'God guide him, fine raider that he was, he did well!'

Then, when the people were about to start, Abdullah came to the apostle to bid him farewell and said:

May God confirm the good things He gave you
As he confirmed them to Moses with victory. (The dubious syntax and faulty rhyme in these lines is rightly corrected by Ibn Hisham.)
I perceived goodness in you by a natural gift.
God knows that I can see deeply.

You are the apostle and he who is deprived of his gifts
And the sight of him has no real worth (784).

Then the people marched forth, the apostle accompanying them until he said farewell and returned. Abdullah said:

May peace remain on the best companion and friend,
The man I said good-bye to amid the palms.

They went on their way as far as Maan in Syria where they heard that (the Roman emperor) Heraclius had come down to Maab in the Balqa with (a huge army of) 100,000 Greeks joined by 100,000 men from Lakhm and Judham and al-Qayn and Bahra and Bali commanded by a man of Bali of Irasha called Malik b. Zafila.

When the Muslims heard this they spent two nights at Maan pondering what to do. They were in favour of writing to the apostle to tell him of the enemy's numbers; if he sent reinforcements well and good, otherwise they would await his orders. Abdullah b. Rawaha encouraged the men saying, 'Men, what you dislike is that which you have come out in search of, viz. martyrdom. We are not fighting the enemy with numbers, or strength or multitude, but we are confronting (Tabari: fighting) them with this religion with which God has honoured us. So come on! Both prospects are fine: victory or martyrdom.' The men said, 'By God, Ibn Rawaha is right.' So they went forward and Abdullah said concerning their holding back:

We urged on our horses from Aja and Far (Two mountains of Tayyi).
Their bellies gorged with the grass they had eaten.

We gave them as shoes the smooth hard ground,
Its surface smooth as leather.

They stayed two nights at MaAn;
After their rest they were full of spirit.
We went forward, our horses given free rein,
The hot wind blowing in their nostrils.
I swear that we will come to Maab
Though Arabs and Greeks be there.
We arranged their bridles and they came furiously,
Their dust arose in streamers
With an army whose helmets as their points appeared
Seemed to shine like stars.
The woman who enjoys life our spears divorced.
She can remarry or remain a widow (785).

Then the army went forward, and Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that he was told that Zayd b. Arqam said: I was an orphan child of Abdullah b. Rawaha and he took me with him on this expedition riding on the back of his saddle, and as he journeyed by night I heard him reciting these verses of his (He addresses his camel.):

When you have brought me and carried my gear
A four nights' journey from the swampy ground,
Then enjoy life and bear no blame
And may I never return to my people at home. (And when)

The Muslims have gone and left me
In Syria where I wish to be,
And a near relative of mine in God,
Though no blood relation, has brought you back,
There I shall not care for fruit that depends on rain
Or palms whose roots are watered by man.
I wept on hearing these words and he flicked me with his whip and said,

'Why worry, wretched fellow, if God grants me martyrdom and you return firmly in the saddle?' Then in one of his rajaz poems he said:

O Zayd, Zayd of the swift lean camels,
Long is the night you have been led, so dismount.

The people went forward until when they were on the borders of the Balqa the Greek and Arab forces of Heraclius met them in a village called Masharif. When the enemy approached, the Muslims withdrew to a village called Muta. There the forces met and the Muslims made their dispositions, putting over the right wing Qutba b. Qatada of the B. Udhra, and over the left wing an Ansari called Ubaya b. Malik (786).

When fighting began Zayd b. Haritha fought holding the apostle's standard, until he died from loss of blood among the spears of the enemy. Then Jafar took it and fought with it until when the battle hemmed him in he jumped off his roan (a horse that has a reddish-brown colour.) and hamstrung her and fought till he was killed. Jafar was the first man in Islam to hamstring his horse (to hamstring a horse means to bind the two forelegs at the height of the knees together so that it cannot run away.).

Yahya b. Abbad b. Abdullah b. al-Zubayr from his father who said, 'My foster-father, who was of the B. Murra b. Auf, and was in the Muta raid said, "I seem to see Jafar when he got off his sorrel and hamstrung her and then fought until he was killed as he said:

Welcome Paradise so near,
Sweet and cool to drink its cheer.
Greeks will soon have much to fear
Infidels, of descent unclear
When we meet their necks I shall shear (meaning: 'cut').'" (787)

Yahya b. Abbad on the same authority told me that when Jafar was killed Abdullah b. Rawaha took the standard and advanced with it riding his horse. He had to put pressure on himself as he felt reluctant to go forward. Then he said:

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

I swear, my soul, you shall come to the battle;
You shall fight or be made to fight.
Though men shout and scream aloud,
Why should you spurn Paradise?
Long have you been at ease.
You are nothing but a drop in a worn-out skin!

He also said:

O soul, if you are not killed you will die.
This is the fate of death which you suffer (There is a play on the words here.)
You have been given what you hoped for.

If you do what those two did you will have been guided aright meaning his two companions Zayd and Jafar. Then he dismounted and a cousin of his came up with a meat bone, saying, 'Strengthen yourself with this, for you have met in these battles of yours difficult days.' He took it and ate a little. Then he heard the sounds of confusion in the force and threw it away, saying, 'And you are still living?' He seized his sword and died fighting. Then Thabit b. Aqram took the standard. He was brother of (the) B. al-Ajlan. He called on the Muslims to rally round one man, and when they wanted to rally to him he demurred and they rallied to Khalid b. al-Walid. When he took the standard he tried to keep the enemy off and to avoid an engagement (Some Manuscripts have wakhasha bihim 'took precautions for their safety', a reading which is supported by 798.10, and may well be right.). Then he retreated and the enemy turned aside from him until he got away with the men.

According to what I have been told, when the army was smitten the apostle said: 'Zayd took the standard and fought with it until he was killed as a martyr; then Jafar took it and fought until he was killed as a martyr.' Then he was silent until the faces of the Ansar fell and they thought that something disastrous had happened to Abdullah b. Rawaha. Then he said: 'Abdullah took it and fought by it until he was killed as a martyr. I saw in a vision that they were carried up to me in Paradise upon beds of gold. I saw Abdullah's bed turning away from the beds of the other two, and when I asked why, I was told that they had gone on but he hesitated before he went forward.'

(Tabari 1617: Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that when the news of Jafar's death reached the apostle he said, 'Jafar went by yesterday with a company of angels making for Bisha in the Yaman. He had two wings whose forefeathers were stained with blood.')

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr from Umm Isa al-Khuzaiya from Umm Jafar d. Mohammed b. Jafar b. Abu Talib from her grandmother Asma d. Umays said: When Jafar and his companions were killed, the apostle came in to me when I had just tanned forty skins (788) and kneaded my dough and washed and oiled and cleaned my children. He asked me to bring him Jafar's sons and when I did so he smelt them and his eyes filled with tears. I asked him whether he had heard bad news about Jafar and his companions, and he said that he had and that they had been killed that day. I got up and cried aloud and the women gathered to me. The apostle went out to his family saying, 'Do not neglect Jafar's family so as not to provide them with food, for they are occupied with the disaster that has happened to their head.' (A reference to the practice of sending cooked food to a bereaved family to provide a meal for the mourners and their visitors.)

Abdul-Rahman b. al-Qasim b. Mohammed told me from his father from Aisha the prophet's wife who said: When news of Jafar's death came we saw sorrow on the apostle's face. A man went to him and said, 'The women trouble us and disturb us.' He told him to go back and quieten them. He went but came back again saying the same words. Aisha here commented, 'Meddling often injures the meddler.' The apostle said, 'Go and tell them to be quiet, and if they refuse throw dust in their mouths.' Aisha added: I said to myself,

God curse you, for you have neither spared yourself the indignity of a snub nor are you able to do what the apostle said. I knew he could not throw dust in their mouths.'

Qutba b. Qatada al-Udhri who was over the right wing had attacked Malik b. Zafila (Tabari; leader of the mixed Arabs) and killed him, and said:

I pierced Ibn Zafila b. al-Irash with a spear
Which went through him and then broke.

I gave his neck a blow

So that he bent like a bough of mimosa (any of the various tropical plants, shrubs and trees having clusters of flowers that are very sensitive to touch and light.)

We led off the wives of his cousins

On the day of Raquqayn as sheep (789).

A kahina of Hadas who heard about the advance of the apostle's army had said to her people who were a clan called B. Ghanm:

I warn you of a proud people

Who are hostile in their gaze.

They lead their horses in single file

And shed turgid (noble and pompous) blood.

They took heed to her words and separated themselves from Lakhm. Afterwards Hadas remained a large and prosperous tribe. Those who took part in the war that day, the B. Thalaba a clan of Hadas, remained insignificant. When Khalid went off with the men he took the homeward road.

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr told me from Urwa b. al-Zubayr that when they got near Medina the apostle and the Muslims met them and the boys came running while the apostle came with the people on his beast. He said, 'Take the boys and carry them and give me Jafar's son.' They gave him Abdullah and he took him and carried him in front of him. The men began to throw dirt at the army, saying, 'You runaways, you fled in the way of God!' The apostle said, 'They are not runaways but come-again if God will.'

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me from Amir b. Abdullah b. al-Zubayr from one of the family of al-Harith b. Hisham who were his maternal uncles, from Umm Salama the prophet's wife who said to the wife of Salama b. Hisham b. al-As b. al-Mughira, 'Why is it that I do not see Salama at prayers with the apostle with the rest of the Muslims?' She replied, 'By God, he cannot go out. Whenever he goes out the men call out "Runaway! You ran away when in the path of God!" until he has taken to sitting in his house and not going out at all.'

Qays b. al-Musahhar al-Yamuri composed the following verses in which he made excuses for what he and the other men did that day and shows how Khalid took precautions for their safety and got away with them:

By God, I never cease to blame myself for stopping
When the horses were leaping forward (The readings vary: qai'a leaping; naia lifting up their heads; qabia panting.) with bolting eyes.

I stopped there neither asking help nor acting decisively

Nor protecting those for whom death was decreed.

However, I did but imitate Khalid

And Khalid has no equal in the army.

My heart was moved for Jafar in Muta

When an arrow was no good to an archer.

And he linked up their two wings to us

Muhajirs not polytheists nor unarmed.

Thus Qays made clear in his verses the facts which people dispute, namely that the army kept their distance and were afraid of death, and established the fact that Khalid and his men avoided battle (790).

Among the lamentations over the apostle's companions who died at Muta are the lines of Hassan b. Thabit:

A miserable night I had in Yathrib,

Anxiety that robbed me of sleep when others slept soundly.

At the thought of a friend my tears ran fast.

(Memory is off the cause of weeping.

Nay, the loss of a friend is a calamity,

And how many a noble soul is afflicted and endures patiently.)

I saw the best of the believers follow one another to death,

Though some held back behind them. (This is banal. The Divan, xxi, 'for I had been kept back with those who were left behind' is better.)

May God receive the slain at Muta who went one after another.

Among them Jafar now borne on wings,

And Zayd and Abdullah when they too followed

When the cords of death were active

On the day they went on with the believers,

The fortunate radiant one leading them to death.

Bright as the full moon—of Hashim's sons,

Haughty against wrong, daringly bold,

He fought till he fell unpillowed

On the battlefield, a broken shaft in his body.

He has his reward with the martyrs,

Gardens and green spreading trees.

We saw in Jafar a man loyal to Mohammed,

One who gave decisive orders.

May there ever be in Islam of Hashim's line

Pillars of strength and an endless source of pride;

In Islam they are a mountain and the people round them

Are rocks piled up to a mount majestic and lofty.

Splendid leaders: of them Jafar and his brother Ali

And of them Ahmad the chosen one.

And Hamza and al-Abbas and Aqil

And the sap of the wood from which he was squeezed

(In popular language: a chip of the old block.)'

By them relief comes in every hard dusty fight

Whenever men are in a tight corner.

They are the friends of God Who sent down His wisdom to them

And among them is the purified bringer of the Book
(All this reads like Alide propaganda.)

Kab b. Malik said:

While the eyes of others slept my eye shed tears

Like the dripping of a faulty water-skin.

In the night when sorrows came upon me

WTien I was not sobbing (Or, reading ahinnu 'yearning' or 'moaning'.) I turned restlessly on my couch.

Grief came repeatedly and I passed the night

As though I had to shepherd Ursa (Bear) and Pisces (Fishes) (i.e. he watched the stars in their passage across the sky while others slept. A cliché.)

'Twas (it was) as though between my ribs and bowels

A burning piercing pain afflicted me,

Sorrowing for those who one after another

Were left lying that day in Muta.

God bless them, the heroes,

And may plenteous rains refresh their bones!

They forced themselves for God's sake

To ignore the fear of death and cowardly failure.

They went in front of the Muslims

Like stallion foals, clad in long mail

When they were led by Jafar and his flag

In front of their leader, and what a fine leader.

Until the ranks were breached and Jafar

Where the ranks were trapped lay prostrate.

The moon lost its radiance at his death,

The sun eclipsed and wellnigh dark.

A chief of high lineage from Hashim,

In lofty eminence and authority immovable,

A people by whom God protected His servants,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

To them was sent down the revealed book.
They excelled other tribes in glory and honour
And their enlightened minds covered up the ignorance of others.
They would not embark on a vicious enterprise,
You could see their speaker deciding justly.

They met their end when they went their way
And I with the survivors am left to life's sorrows.
Three men were sent forward and advanced
To death's loathed pool of blood.

Of B. Mazin b. al-Najjar, Suraqa b. Amr b. Atiya b.
Khansa' (791).

THE CAUSES THAT LED TO THE OCCUPATION OF MECCA, 8 A.H.

After he had sent his force to Muta the apostle stayed in Medina during the latter Jumada and Rajab. Then the B. Bakr b. Abdu Manat b. Kinana attacked Khuzaa while they were at a well of theirs in the lower region of Mecca called al-Watir. The cause of the quarrel was that a man of (the) B. al-Hadrami called Malik b. Abbad—the Hadrami being at that time allies of al-Aswad b. Razn—had gone out on a trading journey; and when he reached the middle of the Khuzaa country they attacked and killed him and took his possessions. So (the) B. Bakr attacked a man of Khuzaa and killed him; and just before Islam Khuzaa attacked the sons of al-Aswad b. Razn al-Dili who were the most prominent chiefs of (the) B. Kinana—Salma, Kulthum, and Dhuyab—and killed them in Arafa at the boundary stones of the sacred area.

One of the B. al-Dil told me that B. al-Aswad during the pagan era were paid double bloodwit because of their position among them, while they only got a single bloodwit.

While B. Bakr and Khuzaa were thus at enmity Islam intervened and occupied men's minds. When the peace of Hudaibiya was concluded between the apostle and Quraysh one of the conditions—according to what al-Zuhri told me from Urwa b. al-Zubayr from al-Miswar
b. Makhrama and Marwan b. al-Hakam and other traditionists—was that anyone who wanted to enter into a treaty relationship with either party could do so; the B. Bakr joined Quraysh and Khuzaa joined the apostle. When the armistice was established B. al-Dil of B. Bakr took advantage of it against Khuzaa in their desire to revenge themselves on them for the sons of Aswad whom they had killed. So Naufal b.
Muawiyah al-Dili, who was their leader at the time, went out with the B. al-Dil, though all the B. Bakr did not follow him, and attacked Khuzaa by night while they were at al Watir their well, killing one of their men. Both parties fell back and continued the fight.
Quraysh helped B. Bakr with weapons and some of them fought with them secretly under cover of the night until they drove Khuzaa into the sacred area.
When they reached it the B. Bakr said, 'O Naufal, we are in the sacred area. Remember your God, remember your God!' He replied in blasphemous words that he had no god that day. 'Take your revenge, ye sons of Bakr. By my life, if you used to steal in the sacred area, will you not take vengeance in it?' Now on the night they attacked them in al-Watir they killed a man called Munabbih who had gone out with one of his tribesmen called Tamim b. Asad. Munabbih had a weak hear and he told Tamim to escape for he was good as dead whether they killed him or let him go, for his heart had given out. So Tamim made off and escaped and Munabbih was overtaken and killed.

When Khuzaa entered Mecca they took refuge in the house of Budayl b. Warqa and the house of a freed slave of theirs called Rafi.

Tamim in excusing himself for running away from Munabbih said:

When I saw the B. Nufatha had advanced Covering every plain and hill,
Rock and upland, no one else in sight,
Leading their swift wide-nostrilled horses
And I remembered the old blood feud between us,
A legacy of years gone by;
And I smelt the odour of death coming from them
And feared the stroke of a sharp sword
And knew that they would leave him they smote
Meat for mother lions and carrion for crows,
I set my feet firmly not fearing stumbling
And threw my garments on the bare ground.
I ran—no wild ass strong, lean-flanked, ran as I ran.
She may blame me, but had she been there
Her disapproval would have been urine wetting her.
Men well know that I did not leave Munabbih willingly.
Ask my companions (if you do not believe me) (792).

Al-Akhzar b. Lut al-Dili describing the fight between Kinana and Khuzaa said:

Have not the most distant Ahabish (Possibly the Abyssinians / Ethiopians are meant.) heard
That we repulsed (the) B. Kab in impotent disgrace?
(with arrows snapped off near the feathered end'.)
We made them keep to the dwelling of the slave Rafi'
And they were confined helpless with Budayl
In the house of a low person who accepts humiliation
After we had slaked our vengeance on them with the sword.

We held them there for many a day
Until from every pass we charged down on them.
We slaughtered them like goats,
We were like lions racing to get our teeth in them.
They had wronged us and behaved as enemies
And were the first to shed blood at the sacred boundary.

When they pursued them with their vanguard in the wadi's bend

They were like young ostriches in full flight'.
(* Fathur is a place in Najd as A.Dh. says; but unless the action referred to occurred before they reached the haram it is hard to see what the combatants were doing. As fathur means the contingent that leads the pursuit of a fleeing enemy it is to be preferred here to W.'s 'dthur.)

Budayl b. Abdu Manat b. Salama b. Amr b. al-Ajabb who was called Budayl b. Imm Asra-m answered him thus:

May those people lose one another who boast Since we left them no chief to call them to assembly save Nafil.

Was it for fear of a people you scorn
That you went past al-Watir fearful, never to return?
Every day we give to others to pay bloodwit for those they have killed

While we take no help in paying our bloodwit.
We came to your home in al-Talaa (A well belonging to B. Kinana. The second hemistich is a reference to the proverb 'The sword comes before recrimination'.),
Our swords silenced all complaints.
From Bayd and Itwad (Places belonging to Kinana.)
to the slopes of Radwa

We held off the attacks of horsemen.
On the day of al-Ghamim (Between Mecca and Medina.) Ubays ran away.
We terrified him with a doughty leader.

Was it because the mother of one of you defecated in her house in her trepidation

While you were leaping about that we met no opposition?

By God's house you lie, you did not fight
But we left you in utter confusion (793).

When Quraysh and B. Bakr had combined against Khuzaa and killed some of them, thereby breaking their covenanted word with the apostle in violating Khuzaa who were in treaty with him, Amr b. Salim al-Khuzai of the clan of B. Kab went to the apostle in Medina. (This led to the conquest of Mecca.) He stood by him as he was sitting among the men in the mosque and said:

O Lord, I come to remind Mohammed
Of the old alliance between our fathers.
You are sons for whom we provided the mother,
Then we made peace* and have not changed our minds.

(* S. insists on this meaning for aslamnd, despite the last verse, on the ground that Khuzaa had not yet become Muslims. The poem is a later invention and the natural translation 'Then we became Muslims' is to be preferred.)

Help us, now God guide you,
And call God's servants to our aid.
Among them the apostle of God prepared for war
(Or, reading taharrada, 'enraged').

When he is wronged his face becomes black with anger

With a great army foaming like the sea.
Verily Quraysh have broken their promise to you,
They have violated their pledged word,
And they set men to watch out for me in Kada (A place on the heights above Mecca.).

They claim that I can get no one to help us
And they but a miserable few.
They attacked us at night in al-Watir
And killed us as we performed the ritual prayers (794).

The apostle said, 'May you be helped O Amr b.
Salim!' (Or perhaps nusirta here means 'You shall be helped'.) Then as a cloud appeared in the sky he said,
'This cloud will provide help for the B. Kab.'

Then Budayl b. Warqa came with a number of Khuzaa to the apostle in Medina and told him of their misfortune and how Quraysh had helped (the) B. Bakr against them. Having done so they returned to Mecca.
The apostle said, I think you will see Abu Sufyan coming to strengthen the agreement and to ask for more time.' When Budayl and his companions had got as far as Usfan (Two days' journey on the road from Mecca to Medina.) they met Abu Sufyan who had been sent by Quraysh to strengthen the agreement with the apostle and to ask for an extension, for they were afraid of the consequences of what they had done. Abu Sufyan asked Budayl whence he had come because he suspected him of having visited the apostle. He replied that he had come along the shore and the bottom of this valley with the Khuzaa, and denied that he had been to Mohammed. When Budayl had gone off to Mecca Abu Sufyan said, 'If Budayl came to Medina he will have given his camels dates to eat there,' so he went to where the camels had knelt and split up their dung and looked at the stones. 'By God, I swear Budayl has come from Mohammed,' he said.

Having arrived at Medina he went in to his daughter Umm Habiba, and as he went to sit on the apostle's carpet she folded it up so that he could not sit on it.
'My dear daughter,' he said, I hardly know if you think that the carpet is too good for me or that I am too good for the carpet!' She replied: 'It is the apostle's carpet and you are an unclean polytheist. I do not want you to sit on the apostle's carpet.' 'By God,' he said, 'since you left me you have gone to the bad.' Then he went to the apostle, who would not speak to him;

he then went to Abu Bakr and asked him to speak to the apostle for him; he refused to do so. Then he went to Umar who said, 'Should I intercede for you with the apostle! If I had only an ant I would fight you with it.' Then he went in to see Ali with whom was Fatima the apostle's daughter who had with her Ali's little son Hasan crawling in front of her. He appealed to Ali on the ground of their close relationship to intercede with the apostle so that he would not have to return disappointed; but he answered that if the apostle had determined on a thing it was useless for anyone to talk to him about it; so he turned to Fatima and said, 'O daughter of Mohammed, will you let your little son here act as a protector between men so that he may become lord of the Arabs for ever?' She replied that her little boy was not old enough to undertake such a task and in any case none could give protection against God's apostle. He then asked for Ali's advice in the desperate situation. He said, I do not see anything that can really help you, but you are the chief of B. Kinana, so get up and grant protection between men and then go back home.' When he asked if he thought that that would do any good he replied that he did not, but that he could see nothing else. Thereupon Abu Sufyan got up in the mosque and said, 'O men, I grant protection between men.' He then mounted his camel and rode off to (the) Quraysh who asked for his news. He said that Mohammed would not speak to him, that he got no good from Abu Quhafa's son, and that he found Umar an implacable enemy (795). He had found Ali the most helpful and he had done what he recommended, though he did not know whether it would do any good. He told them what he had done and when they asked whether Mohammed had endorsed his words, he had to admit that he had not. They complained that Ali had made a fool of him and that his pronouncement was valueless, and he said that he could find nothing else to do or say.

The apostle ordered preparations to be made for a foray and Abu Bakr came in to see his daughter Aisha as she was moving some of the apostle's equipment. He asked if the apostle had ordered her to get things ready, and she said that he had, and that her father had better get ready also. She told him that she did not know where the troops were going. Later the apostle informed the men that he was going to Mecca and ordered them to make careful preparations. He said, 'O God, take eyes and ears (i.e. reports from travellers and others who have seen the Muslims assembling.) from Quraysh so that we may take them by surprise in their land,' and the men got themselves ready.

Hassan b. Thabit, inciting the men and mentioning the killing of the men of Khuzaa, said:

It pained me though I did not see in Mecca's valley
The men of Banu Kab with their heads cut off
By men who had not drawn their swords

And the many dead who were left unburied (He means that the Quraysh were really responsible for the death of these men in the sacred territory. This is implied in the v.l. in the Diwan which has qatla bi-haqqin.)

Would that I knew if my help with its biting satire (Hassan was no fighter. He relied on his tongue to hurt the enemy.)

Would injure Suhayl b. Amr, and Safwan
That old camel who groans from his arse.

This is the time for war—its girths are tightened (War is compared to a camel.)

Do not feel safe from us, son of Umm Mujalid,
When its pure milk is extracted and its teeth are crooked.

Do not be disappointed, for our swords
Will open the door to death (796).

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr from Urwa b. al-Zubayr and another of our traditionists said that when the apostle decided to go to Mecca Hatib b. Abu Baltaa wrote a letter to Quraysh telling them that the apostle intended to come at them. He gave it to a woman whom Mohammed b. Jafar alleged was from Muzayna while my other informant said she was Sara, a freed woman of one of the B. Abdul-Muttalib. He paid her some money to carry it to Quraysh. She put the letter on her head and then plaited her locks over it and went off. The apostle received news from heaven of Hatib's action and sent Ali and al-Zubayr b. al-Awwam with instructions to go after her. They overtook her in al-Khulayqa of (the) B. Abu Ahmad. They made her dismount and searched her baggage but found nothing. Ali swore that the apostle could not be mistaken nor could they, and that if she did not produce the letter they would strip her. When she saw that he was in earnest she told him to turn aside, and then she let down her locks and drew out the letter and gave it to him and he took it to the apostle. The apostle summoned Hatib and asked him what induced him to act thus. He replied that he believed in God and His apostle and had never ceased to do so, but that he was not a man of standing among (the) Quraysh and he had a son and a family there and that he had to deal prudently with them for their sakes. Umar wanted to cut off his head as a hypocrite but the apostle said, 'How do you know, Umar; perhaps God looked favourably on those who were at Badr and said, "Do as you please, for I have forgiven you."' Then God sent down concerning Hatib: 'O you who believe, choose not My enemies and yours as friends so as to show them kindness' as far as the words 'You have a good example in Abraham and those with him when they said to their people: We are quit of you and what you worship beside God; we renounce you and between us and you enmity and hatred will ever endure until you believe in God alone (Koran 60.1-4).'

Mohammed b. Muslim b. Shihab al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba b. Masud from Abdullah b. Abbas told me: Then the apostle went on his journey and put over Medina Abu Ruhm Kulthum b. Husayn b. Utba b. Khalaf al-Ghifari. He went out on the 10th of Ramadan and he and the army fasted until when he reached al-Kudayd between Ufan and Amaj he broke his fast. He went on until he came to Marr al-Zahran with 10,000 Muslims; Sulaym numbered 700 and some say 1,000; and Muzayna 1,000; and in every tribe there was a considerable number and Islam. The Muhajirs and Helpers went as one man; not one stayed behind.

When the apostle had reached Marr al-Zahran Quraysh were completely ignorant of the fact and did not even know what he was doing. On those nights Abu Sufyan b. Harb and Hakim b. Hizam and Budayl b. Warqa went out searching for news by eye or ear when al-Abbas had met the apostle in the way (797).

Abu Sufyan b. al-Harith b. Abdul-Muttalib and Abdullah b. Abu Umayya b. al-Mughira had met the apostle also in Niqul-Uqab between Mecca and Medina and tried to get in to him. Umm Salama spoke to him about them, calling them his cousin and his brother-in-law. He replied: I have no use for them. As for my cousin he has wounded my pride; and as for my aunt's son and my brother-in-law he spoke insultingly of me in Mecca.' When this was conveyed to them Abu Sufyan who had his little son with him said, 'By God, he must let me in or I will take this little boy of mine and we will wander through the land until we die of hunger and thirst.' When he heard this the apostle felt sorry for them and let them come in and they accepted Islam. Abu Sufyan recited the following verses about his Islam in which he' excused himself for what had gone before:

By thy life when I carried a banner
To give al-Lat's cavalry the victory over Mohammed
I was like one going astray in the darkness of the night,

But now I am led on the right track.

I could not guide myself, and he who with God overcame me

Was he whom I had driven away with all my might.
I used to do all I could to keep men from Mohammed
And I was called a relative of his, though I did not claim the relation.

They are what they are. He who does not hold with them

Though he be a man of sense is blamed and given the lie.

I wanted to be on good terms with them (Muslims)
But I could not join them while I was not guided.

Say to Thaqif I do not want to fight them;
Say, too, 'Threaten somebody else!'

I was not in the army that attacked Amir,
I had no part with hand or tongue.

'Twas (it was) tribes that came from a distant land,
Strangers from Saham and Surdad (798).

They allege that when he recited his words 'He who with God overcame me was he whom I had driven away with all my might' the apostle punched him in the chest and said, 'You did indeed!'

When the apostle camped at Marr al-Zahran Abbas said (Tabari 1630 f. following Yunus's version of Ibn Ishaq has a slightly longer text. Only significant differences will be noted.), Alas, (the) Quraysh, if the apostle enters Mecca by force before they come and ask for protection that will be the end of (the) Quraysh for ever.' I sat upon the apostle's white mule and went out on it until I came to the arak trees, thinking that I might find some woodcutters or milkers or someone who could go to Mecca and tell them where the apostle was so that they could come out and ask for safety before he entered the town by assault. As I was going along with this intent suddenly I heard the sound of Abu Sufyan (Tabari: and Hakim b. Hazam) and Budayl talking together. Abu Sufyan was saying, I have never seen such fires and such a camp before.' Budayl was saying, 'These, by God, are (the fires of) KhuzaA which war has kindled.' Abu Sufyan was saying, 'Khuzaa are too poor and few to have fires and camps like these.' I recognized his voice and called to him and he recognised my voice. I told him that the apostle was here with his army and expressed concern for him and for (the) Quraysh: If he takes you he will behead you, so ride on the back of this mule so that I can take you to him and ask for you his protection.' So he rode behind me and his two companions returned. Whenever we passed a Muslim fire we were challenged, and when they saw the apostle's mule with me riding it they said it was the prophet's uncle riding his mule until I passed by Ulnar's fire. He challenged me and got up and came to me, and when he saw Abu Sufyan on the back of the beast he cried: Abu Sufyan, the enemy of God! Thanks be to God who has delivered you up without agreement or word.' Then he ran towards the apostle and I made the mule gallop, and the mule won by the distance a slow beast will outrun a slow man. I dismounted and went in to the apostle and Umar came in saying the same words and adding, 'Let me take off his head.' I told the apostle that I had promised him my protection; then I sat by him and took hold of his head and said, 'By God, none shall talk confidentially to him this night without my being present'; and when Umar continued to remonstrate I said, 'Gently, Umar! If he had been one of the B. Adiy b. Kab you would not have said this; but you know that he is one of the B. Abdu Manaf.' He replied, 'Gently, Abbas! for by God your Islam the day you accepted it was dearer to me than the Islam of al-Khattab would have been had he become a Muslim. One thing I surely know is that your Islam was dearer to the apostle than my father's would have been.' The apostle told me to take him away to my quarters and bring him back in the morning. He stayed the night with me "and I took him in to see the apostle early in the morning and when he saw him he said, is it not time that you should recognise that there is no God but Allah?' He answered, 'You are dearer to me than father and mother. How great is your clemency, honour, and kindness! By God, I thought that had there been another God with God he would have continued to help me.'

He said: 'Woe to you, Abu Sufyan, is it not time that you recognise am God's apostle?' He answered, As to that I still have some doubt.' I said to him, 'Submit (surrender) and testify that there is no God but Allah and that Mohammed is the apostle of God before you lose your head,' so he did so. I pointed out to the apostle that Abu Sufyan was a man who liked to have some cause for pride and asked him to do something for him. He said, 'He who enters Abu Sufyan's house is safe, and he who locks his door is safe, and he who enters the mosque is safe.' When he went off to go back the apostle told me to detain him in the narrow part of the wadi where the mountain projected (Lit. At the nose of the mountain.) so that God's armies would pass by and he would see them; so I went and detained him where the prophet had ordered.

The squadrons passed him with their standards, and he asked who they were. When I said Sulaym he would say, 'What have I to do with Sulaym and so with Muzayna until all had passed, he asking the same question and making the same response to the reply. Finally the apostle passed with his greenish-black squadron (799) in which were Muhajirs and Ansar whose eyes alone were visible because of their armour. He said, 'Good heavens, Abbas, who are these?' and when I told him he said that none could withstand them. 'By God, O Abu Fadl, the authority of your brother's son has become great.' I told him that it was due to his prophetic office, and he said that in that case he had nothing to say against it.

I told him to hurry to his people. When he came to them he cried at the top of his voice: 'O Quraysh, this is Mohammed who has come to you with a force you cannot resist. He who enters Abu Sufyan's house is safe.' Hind d. Utba went up to him, and seizing his moustaches cried, 'Kill this fat greasy bladder of lard! What a rotten protector of the people!' He said, 'Woe to you, don't let this woman deceive you, for you cannot resist what has come. He who enters Abu Sufyan's house will be safe.' 'God slay you,' they said, 'what good will your house be to us?' (i.e. it could not provide cover for them all.) He added, And he who shuts his door upon himself will be safe and he who enters the mosque will be safe.' Thereupon the people dispersed to their houses and the mosque.

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that when the apostle came to Dhu Tuwa he halted on his beast turbaned with a piece of red Yamani cloth and that he lowered his head in submission to God, when he saw how God had honoured him with victory, so that his beard almost touched the middle of the saddle.

Yahya b. Abbad b. Abdullah b. al-Zubayr from his father from his grandmother Asma d. Abu Bakr said: When the apostle stopped in Dhu Tuwa Abu Quhafa said to a daughter of his, one of his youngest children, 'Take me up to Abu Qubays,' for his sight had almost gone. When they got there he asked her what she could see and she told him "a mass of black." "Those are the horses," he said. Then she told him that she could see a man running up and down in front of them and he said that that was the adjutant, meaning the man who carries and transmits the orders to the cavalry. Then she said, 'By God, the black mass has spread.* He said, In that case the cavalry have been released, so bring me quickly to my house.' She took him down and the cavalry encountered him before he could get to his house. The girl had a silver necklace and a man who met her tore it from her neck. When the apostle came in and entered the mosque Abu Bakr came leading his father. On seeing him the apostle said, 'Why did you not leave the old man in his house so that I could come to him there?' Abu Bakr replied that it was more fitting that he should come to him than vice versa. He made him sit before him and stroked his chest and asked him to accept Islam and he did so. When Abu Bakr brought his father in his head was as white as edelweiss (German for 'noble white', that is a small Alpine flowering plant having very bright white flowers.), and the apostle told them to dye it.

Then Abu Bakr got up and taking his sister's hand said, I ask in the name of God and Islam for my sister's necklace' and none answered him, and he said, 'Sister, regard your necklace as taken by God (and look to Him to requite you) for there is not much honesty among people nowadays.'

Abdullah b. Abu Najih told me that the apostle divided his force at Dhu Tuwa ordering al-Zubayr b. al-Awwam to go in with some of the men from Kuda. Al-Zubayr commanded the left wing; Sad b. Ubada he ordered to go in with some of the men from Kada'.

Some traditionists allege that when Sad started off he said,

Today is a day of war,
Sanctuary is no more, and one of the muhajirs (800) heard him and told the apostle that it was to be feared that he would resort to violence. The apostle ordered Ali to go after him and take the flag from him and enter with it himself.

Abdullah b. Abu Najih in his story told me that the apostle ordered Khalid to enter from al-Lit, the lower part of Mecca, with some men. Khalid was in command of the right wing with Aslam, Sulaym, Ghifar, Muzayna, Juhayna, and other Arab tribes. Abu Ubayda b. al-Jarrah advanced with the troops pouring into Mecca in front of the apostle who entered from Adhakhir (Yaquf knows nothing of this place, but it is mentioned frequently by al-Azraqi, Mecca, 1352, ii. 232 ff. as a pass near Mecca.) until he halted above Mecca and his tent was pitched there.

Abdullah b. Abu Najih and Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that Safwan b. Umayya and Ikrima b. Abu Jahl and Suhayl b. Amr had collected some men in al-Khandama (Not mentioned by Yaquf. Azr. i. 146 says it is a peak on Abu Qubaya.) to fight. Himas b. Qays b. Khalid brother of (the) B. Bakr was sharpening his sword before the apostle entered Mecca, and his wife asked him why he was doing so. When he told her it was for Mohammed and his companions she said that she did not think that it would do them any harm. He answered that he hoped to give her one of them as a slave and said:

I have no excuse if today they advance.
Here is my weapon, a long-bladed lance,
A two-edged sword in their faces will dance!

Then he went to al-Khandama with Safwan, Suhayl, and Ikrima and when the Muslims under Khalid arrived a skirmish* followed in which Kurz b. Jabir, one of the B. Muharib b. Fihir, and Khunays b. Khalid b. Rabia b. Asram, an ally of (the) B. Munqidh, who were in Khalid's cavalry, were killed. They had taken a road of their own apart from Khalid and were killed together. Khunays was killed first and Kurz put him between his feet and fought in his defence until he was slain, saving meanwhile:

Safra of the B. Fihir knows
The pure of face and heart
That I fight today in defence of Abu Sakhr.

Khunays was sumamed Abu Sakhr (80 1).

Salama b. al-Mayla, one of Khalid's horsemen, was killed, and the polytheists lost about 12 or 13 men; then they took to flight. Himas ran off and went into his house and told his wife to bolt the door. When she asked what had become of his former words he said:

If you had witnessed the battle of Khandama
When Safwan and Ikrima fled
And Abu Yazid was standing like a pillar*
And the Muslims met them with their swords

Which cut through arms and skulls,
Only confused cries being heard
Behind us their cries and groans,
You would not have uttered the least word of blame (802)

(* This explanation of mutima is based on S.'s statement that elsewhere Ibn Ishaq says that such is the meaning. The alternative A widow left with fatherless children' is supported by Azraqi, 47 kalajuzil-mutima (quoted by Theodor Nöldeke, Glos. 103 and Tabari's kal-matama.)

The apostle had instructed his commanders when they entered Mecca only to fight those who resisted them, except a small number who were to be killed even if they were found beneath the curtains of the Kaaba. Among them was Abdullah b. Sad, brother of the B. Amir b. Luayy. The reason he ordered him to be killed was that he had been a Muslim and used to write down revelation; then he apostatized and returned to (the) Quraysh and fled to Uthman b. Affan whose foster-brother he was. The latter hid him until he brought him to the apostle after the situation in Mecca was tranquil, and asked that he might be granted immunity. They allege that the apostle remained silent for a long time till finally he said yes. When Uthman had left he said to his companions who were sitting around him, I kept silent so that one of you might get up and strike off his head! One of the Ansar said, 'Then why did you not give me a sign, O apostle of God?' He answered that a prophet does not kill by pointing (803).

Another was Abdullah b. Khatal of (the) B. Taym b. Ghalib. He had become a Muslim and the apostle sent him to collect the poor tax in company with one of the Ansar. He had with him a freed slave who served him. (He was a Muslim.) When they halted he ordered the latter to kill a goat for him and prepare some food, and went to sleep. When he woke up the man had done nothing, so he attacked and killed him and apostatized. He had two singing-girls Fartana and her friend who used to sing satirical songs about the apostle, so he ordered that they should be killed with him. Another was al-Huwayrith b. Nuqaydh b. Wahb b. Abd b. Qusayy, one of those who used to insult him in Mecca (804).

Another was Miqyas b. Hubaba (W. Dubaba. On p. 728 he writes Subaba which may well be right in spite of C. which follows the Qamus.) because he had killed an Ansari who had killed his brother accidentally, and returned to Quraysh as a polytheist. And Sara, freed slave of one of the B. Abdul-Muttalib; and Ikrima b. Abu Jahl. Sara had insulted him in Mecca. As for Ikrima, he fled to the Yaman. His wife Umm Hakim d. al-Harith b. Hisham became a Muslim and asked immunity for him and the apostle gave it. She went to the Yaman in search of him and brought him to the apostle and he accepted Islam. (Tabari 1640: Ikrima used to relate, according to what they say, that what turned him to Islam when he had gone to the Yaman was that he had determined to cross the sea to Abyssinia and when he found a ship the master said, 'O servant of God, you cannot travel in my ship until you acknowledge that God is one and disavow any rival to Him, for I fear that if you do not do so we should perish.' When I asked if none but such persons was allowed to travel in his ship he replied, 'Yes, and he must be sincere.' So I thought: Why should I leave Mohammed when this is what he has brought us? Truly our God on the sea is our God on the dry land. Thereupon I recognised Islam and it entered into my heart.) Abdullah b. Khatal was killed by Said b. Hurayth al-Makhzumi and Abu Barza al-Aslami acting together. Miqyas was killed by Numayla b. Abdullah, one of his own people. Miqyas's sister said of his killing:

By my life, Numayla shamed his people

And distressed the winter guests when he slew Miqyas.

Whoever has seen a man like Miqyas

Who provided food for young mothers in hard times.

As for Ibn Khatal's two singing-girls, one was killed and the other ran away until the apostle, asked for immunity, gave it her. Similarly Sara, who lived until in the time of Umar a mounted soldier trod her down in the valley of Mecca and killed her. Al-Huwayrith was killed by Ali.

Said b. Abu Hind from Abu Murra, freed slave of Aqil b. Abu Talib, told me that Umm Hani d. Abu Talib said: When the apostle halted in the upper part of Mecca two of my brothers-in-law from (the) B. Makhzum fled to me. (She was the wife of Hubayra b. Abu Wahb al-Makhzumi.) Ali came in swearing that he would kill them, so I bolted the door of my house on them and went to the apostle and found him washing in a large bowl in which was the remains of dough while his daughter Fatima was screening him with his garment. When he had washed he took his garment and wrapped himself in it and prayed eight bendings of the morning prayer.

Then he came forward and welcomed me and asked me why I had come. When I told him about the two men and AH he said: 'We give protection to whomsoever you give protection and we give safety to those you protect. He must not kill them' (805).

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Abu Thaur from Safiya d. Shayba told me that the apostle after arriving in Mecca when the populace had settled down went to the temple and encompassed it seven times on his camel touching the black stone with a stick which he had in his hand. This done he summoned Uthman b. Talha and took the key of the Kaaba from him, and when the door was opened for him he went in. There he found a dove made of wood. He broke it in his hands and threw it away. Then he stood by the door of the Kaaba while the men in the mosque gathered to him (Other explanations given for the word istakaffa are 'fixed their gaze on' and 'surrounded').

[Aqr. i. 70; Ibn Ishaq: from Abdullah b. Abu Bakr from Ali b. Abdullah b. Abbas: The apostle entered Mecca on the day of the conquest and it contained idols which Iblis (A parallel tradition on the authority of I. Abbas via al-Zuhri simply says that the idols were strengthened by lead.) had strengthened with lead. The apostle was standing by them with a stick in his hand, saying, 'The truth has come and falsehood has passed away; verily falsehood is sure to pass away' (Sura 17. 82). Then he pointed at them with his stick and they collapsed on their backs one after the other.

When the apostle prayed the noon prayer on the day of the conquest he ordered that all the idols which were round the Kaaba should be collected and burned with fire and broken up. Fadala b. al-Mulawwih al-Laythi said commemorating the day of the conquest:

Had you seen Mohammed and his troops

The day the idols were smashed when he entered,
You would have seen God's light become manifest
And darkness covering the face of idolatry.]

[Aqr. 107 Ibn Ishaq: from Hakim b. Abbad b. Hanif and other traditionists: (The) Quraysh had put pictures in the Kaaba including two of Jesus son of Mary and Mary (on both of whom be peace!). Ibn Shihab said: Asma d. Shaqr said that a woman of Ghassan joined in the pilgrimage of the Arabs and when she saw the picture of Mary in the Kaaba she said, 'My father and my mother be your ransom! You are surely an Arab woman!' The apostle ordered that the pictures should be erased except those of Jesus and Mary. Apparently Ibn Hisham has cut out what Ibn Ishaq wrote and adopted the later tradition that all the pictures were obliterated. A more detailed account of these pictures will be found in Aqr. 104-6.]

A traditionist (Tabari: here names the informant as Umar b. Musab al-Wajih from Qatada al-Sadusi.) told me that the apostle stood at the door of the Kaaba and said: 'There is no God but Allah alone; He has no associate. He has made good His promise and helped His servant. He has put to flight the confederates alone. Every claim of privilege (Especially inherited authority.) or blood or property are abolished by me except the custody of the temple and the watering of the pilgrims. The unintentionally slain in a quasi-intentional way by club or whip, (i.e. manslaughter.) for him the bloodwit is most severe: a hundred camels, forty of them to be pregnant. O Quraysh, God has taken from you the haughtiness of paganism and its veneration of ancestors. Man springs from Adam and Adam sprang from dust.' Then he read to them this verse: 'O men, We created you from male and female and made you into peoples and tribes that you may know one another: of a truth the most noble of you in God's sight is the most pious' to the end of the passage (Koran 49.13.). Then he added, 'O Quraysh, what do you think that I am about to do with you?' They replied, 'Good. You are a noble brother, son of a noble brother.' He said, 'Go your way for you are the freed ones.'

[Tabari, pp. 1642 (ult.) to 1644. 13.: Thus the apostle let them go though God had given him power over their lives and they were his spoil. For this reason the Meccans were called 'the freed ones'. Then the populace gathered together in Mecca to do homage to the apostle in Islam. As I have heard, he sat (waiting) for them on al-Safa while Umar remained below him imposing conditions on the people who paid homage to the apostle promising to hear and obey God and His apostle to the best of their ability. This applied to the men; when they had finished he dealt with the women. Among the Quraysh women who came was Hind d. Utba who came veiled and disguised because of what she had done especially in regard to Hamza, for she was afraid that the apostle would punish her. According to what I heard, when they approached him he asked if they gave their word not to associate anything with God, and Hind said, 'By God, you lay on us something that you have not laid on the men and we will carry it out.' He said, 'And you shall not steal.' She said, 'By God, I used to take a little of Abu Sufyan's money and I do not know whether that is lawful for me or not.' Abu Sufyan who was present when she said this told her that so far as the past was concerned it was lawful. The apostle said, 'Then you are Hind d. Utba?' and she said I am; forgive me what is past and God will forgive you.' He said, 'And do not commit adultery.' She answered, 'Does a free woman commit adultery, O apostle of God?' He said, 'And you shall not kill your children.' She said, 'I brought them up when they were little and you killed them on the day of Badr when they were grown up, so you are the one to know about them!' Umar laughed immoderately at her reply. He said, 'You shall not invent slanderous tales.' She said, 'By God, slander is disgraceful, but it is sometimes better to ignore it.' He said, 'You shall not disobey me in carrying out orders to do good.' She said, 'We should not have sat all this time if we wanted to disobey you in such orders.' The apostle said to Umar, 'Accept their troth,' and he asked God's forgiveness for them while Umar accepted their homage on his behalf. The apostle never used to take the women's hands; he did not touch a woman nor did one touch him except one whom God had made lawful to him or was one of his harim. Ibn Ishaq from Abban b. Salih said that the women's homage according to what some traditionists had told him was in this wise: a vessel containing water was put in front of the apostle and when he laid the conditions upon them and they accepted them he plunged his hand into the vessel and then withdrew it and the women did the same. Then after that he would impose conditions on them and when they accepted them he said, 'Go, I have accepted your homage,' and added nothing further.]

Then the apostle sat in the mosque and Ali came to him with the key of the Kaaba in his hand asking him to grant his family the right of guarding the temple as well as the watering of the pilgrims, but the apostle called for Uthman b. Talha and said, 'Here is your key; today is a day of good faith' (806).

Said b. Abu Sandar al-Aslami from one of his tribesmen said: We had with us a brave man called Ahmar Basan (Or Ihmarra Basan. A strange nickname. 'Red in power', 'Ruddybold', or the like.). When he slept he snored so loudly that everyone knew where he was. When he spent the night with his clan he slept apart. If the clan was attacked at night they would call his name and he would leap up like a lion and nothing could withstand him. It happened that a party of raiders from Hudhayl came, making for the people at their water; and when they drew near Ibn al-Athwa' al-Hudhall told them not to hurry him until he had looked round; for if Ahmar was among the group there was no way to get at them. He snored so loudly that one could tell where he was. So he listened and when he heard his snoring he walked up to him and thrust his sword into his breast pressing on it so that he killed him. Then they rushed upon the party who cried Ahmar! But they had no Ahmar.

On the morrow of the conquest of Mecca Ibn al-Athwa came into Mecca to look round and find out what the situation was. Now he was still a polytheist, and Khuzaa saw and recognized him, and they surrounded him as he was at the side of one of the walls of Mecca, saying, 'Are you the man who killed Ahmar?' 'Yes', he said, 'And what about it?' Thereupon Khirash b. Umayya advanced on him with drawn sword saying, 'Get away from the man.' We supposed that he wanted to get the people away from him; but when we drew away he ran at him and thrust his sword in his belly. By God, I can almost see him now with his entrails flowing forth from his belly and his eyes two mere slits in his head the while he said, 'Have you done it, you men of Khuzaa?' until he collapsed and fell. The apostle said, 'Stop this killing, Khuzaa; there has been too much killing even if there were profit in it. I will pay the bloodwit for the man you have killed.'

Abdul-Rahman b. Harmala al-Aslami from Said b. al-Musayyib told me that when the apostle heard what Khirash had done he said, 'Khirash is too prone to kill,' thereby rebuking him.

Said b. Abu Said al-Maqburi from Abu Shurayh al-Khuzai said: When Amr b. al-Zubayr (S. here points out that this is a mistake on the part of Ibn Hisham and that the man was Amr b. Said b. al-As b. Umayya; that the mistake is due either to Ibn Hisham or to al-Bakkai; and that the true tradition is given by Yunus.) came to Mecca to fight his brother Abdullah, I came to him and said, 'Listen! When we were with the apostle the day after the conquest of Mecca, Khuzaa attacked a man of Hudhayl and killed him, he being a polytheist. The apostle arose and addressed us, saying, "God made Mecca holy the day He created heaven and earth, and it is the holy of holies until the resurrection day. It is not lawful for anyone who believes in God and the last day to shed blood therein, nor to cut down trees therein. It was not lawful to anyone before me and it will not be lawful to anyone after me. Indeed, it is not lawful for me except at this time because of (God's) anger against its people. Now it has regained its former holiness. Let those here now tell those that are not here. If anyone should say, The apostle killed men in Mecca, say God permitted His apostle to do so but He does not permit you. Refrain from killing, you men of Khuzaa, for there has been too much killing even if there were profit in it. Since you have killed a man I will pay his bloodwit. If anyone is killed after my sojourn here his people have a choice: they can have his killer's life or the blood-money." Then the apostle paid the bloodwit for the man whom Khuzaa had slain.'

Amr replied, 'Be off with you, old man! We know more about its sanctity than you. It does not protect the shedder of blood, nor the man who casts off his allegiance nor him who withholds tax.' Abu Shurayh answered, 'I was there and you were not. The apostle ordered us who were present to tell those who were absent. I have told you and the responsibility now rests with you' (807).

Mohammed b. Jafar from Urwa b. al-Zubayr told me that Safwan b. Umayya went out to Judda to take ship to the Yaman. Umayr b. Wahb told the prophet that Safwan, who was a chief among his people, had fled from him to cast himself into the sea, and asked him to grant him immunity. The prophet agreed to do so, and Umayr asked him for a sign to prove it, and he gave him the turban with which he had entered Mecca. Umayr took it and overtook Safwan just as he was about to embark. He begged him not to commit suicide and produced the token of his safety. Safwan told him to be off and not to speak to him. He replied, 'My parents be your ransom! He is the most virtuous, most pious, most clement, and best of men, your very cousin. His honour is your honour.' He replied, 'I go in fear of my life because of him.' He answered, 'He is too clement and too honourable to kill you.' So he went back with him to the apostle and told him that Umayr had said that he had promised him immunity.

He said that that was true. Safwan asked for two months in which to make up his mind, and he gave him four months (808).

Al-Zuhri told me that Umm Hakim d. al-Harith b. Hisham and Fakhita d. al-Walid (who was married to Safwan, while Umm Hakim's husband was Ikrima b. Abu Jahl) had become Muslims. The latter asked immunity for her husband and the apostle granted it and she joined him in the Yaman and brought him back. When Ikrima and Safwan became Muslims the apostle confirmed their first marriages.

Said b. Abdul-Rahman b. Hassan b. Thabit told me that Hassan directed a single verse and no more at I. al-Zibara who was in Najran at the time (The point is interesting because the Diwan (H. cxlii) adds two more verses which fit the context poorly. It looks almost as though Hassan's grandson knew that they had been grafted on to Hassan's line and resented the impertinence.):

Do not be without a man, hatred of whom
Has made you live in Najran in utmost misery!
When this reached Ibn al-Zibara he went to the apostle and accepted Islam. Then he said:

O apostle of God, my tongue is repairing
The mischief I did when a perishing (sinner)
When I followed Satan in going astray.
(He who turns aside with him must perish.)
My flesh and my bones believe in my Lord.
My heart bears witness that you are the warner.
I will drive the clan of Luayy from you there,
All of them being deceived.

When he became a Muslim he said also:

Cares and anxieties withheld sleep from me
And night pitch black was agitated above me
Because I heard that Ahmad had blamed me;
I passed the night like a man with fever.
O best of those, a swift light-footed
Straight-running camel ever carried,
Forgive me for what I said and did
When I went wandering in error,
What time Sahn gave me most misleading orders,
And Makhzum did the same;
When I supported evil courses
Led by those who erred, whose way was ill omened.
Today my heart believes in the prophet Mohammed.
He who misses this is a loser.
Enmity has passed, its ties are ended;
Kinship and reason call us together.

Forgive my mistakes—my parents be thy ransom,
For you are compassionate having found mercy.
Upon you is the sign of God's knowledge,
A light most bright and a seal imprinted.
After His love He gave you His proof to honour you
And God's proof is great.
I testify that your religion is true
And that you are great among men.
And God testifies that Ahmad is the chosen,
The noble one, cynosure of the righteous,
A prince whose lofty house is from Hashim,
Strong from top to bottom (809).

As for Hubayra b. Abu Wahb al-Makhzumi, he lived there until he died an unbeliever. His wife was Umm Hani d. Abu Talib whose name was Hind. When he heard that she had become a Muslim he said:

Does Hind long for you or do you know that she has asked about you?

Thus distance produces many changes.
On a high inaccessible fort in Najran she has banished my sleep.

When night falls her phantom roams abroad.
O that reproacher who wakes me at night and blames me!

She reproaches me by night—may her error err utterly!

Asserting that if I obey my family I shall perish,
But will anything but the loss of her kill me?
But I am of a people who if they do their utmost
They attain their end forthwith.

I protect the rear of my tribe
When they wheel beneath the spear points
And the swords in their hands become like

The sticks boys play with, no shade but the swords.
(This line is an imitation of 1.41 in the Muallaqa of Amr b. Kulthum: "kaanna suyufand mirmd tiaminlum makhariqun biaydi la ibina". Some lexicographers favour a rendering 'knotted rags'. In either case the meaning is that they regarded the swords as mere toys.)

I loathe the envious and their works:

God will provide food for myself and my family.
Words spoken without truth
Are like an arrow without a head.
If you have followed Mohammed's religion
And the ties of kinship draw you to your kin,
Then stay far distant on a high round rock,
Dry dust its only moisture (The poet apostrophises himself.) (810).

The Muslims who were present at the conquest of Mecca numbered 10,000: of (the) B. Sulaym 700 (some say 1,000); of B. Ghifar 400; of Aslam 400; of Muzayna 1,003; and the rest of them were from (the) Quraysh and the Ansar and their allies and parties of Arabs from Tamim and Qays and Asad.

Among the poems about the conquest is the following from Hassan b. Thabit:

From Dhathul-Asabi and al-Jiwa (These places are in Syria; the latter was the camp of al-Harith b. Abu Shamr the Ghassanid whom Hassan used to visit.) to Adhra (One post distant from Damascus)

Traces have disappeared, their camping-ground is empty.

The camps of (the) B. al-Hashas (A clan of the B. Asad tribe.) are a desert Obliterated by wind and rain.

There used always to be a friend there;
Its pastures held choice camels and sheep.
But leave that! Who will rid me of the night vision
Which keeps me from sleep when night's first hours have gone,

Of Shatha (Who this woman was is not certain: some say she was D. Sallam b. Mishkam the Jew; others say a woman of Khuzaa; others someone else.) who fills me with longing

So that my heart cannot be cured of it?

She is like the wine of Bayt Ras (A place in Jordan noted for its wine.)

Mixed with honey and water.
All draughts that could be mentioned
Cannot be compared with that wine.
We blame it for what we do amiss
If we are quarrelsome or insulting to others.
When we drink it we are as kings and lions,
Nothing can keep us from the fray.

May we lose our horses if you do not see them (From this point the poem begins its theme.)

Raising the dust-clouds, their rendezvous Kada.
They tug at the reins turning their necks to one side,
The thirsty lances couched above their shoulders.

As our horses raced along,
The women flapped their veils in their faces.
If you do not oppose us we shall celebrate the Umra,
The conquest will be completed and the covering removed.

But if you do, expect a fight on the day
When God helps those He pleases.
Gabriel, God's messenger, is with us and
The holy spirit has no equal.

God said, I have sent a man
Who speaks the truth if you will profit by experience.

(* Tamattara in this sense is supported by Tabari 1650. life Gloss. 'Rain-besattered', suggested by A.Dh. gives a poor sense unless it is a poetical way of saying that the sides of the horses were covered with foam. The Lisan explains that the women flapped their veils to hinder them. The reading in Diwan and in some Manuscripts yubarinal-asinnata may be right: "they try to catch vip with the points of the lances whose thirsty shafts were couched above their shoulders". The horses could see the lance tips on their right front. Cf. Wüstenfeld 707. 1.5.)

I bear witness to him, so arise (The Diwan has And my people confessed", etc.) confess him truthful.'

But you said, 'We will not and we do not wish to.'
And God said, I have sent an army,
The Ansar accustomed to the fray.'
Every day we get from Maadd (i.e. the Quraysh who were descended from Adnan.)

Cursing, battle, or lampooning.
We will repulse with verses those who lampoon us
And smite (slay) them when war breaks out.
Give Abu Sufyan a message from me,
For what was hidden has become clear,
Namely that our swords have left you a slave,
The heads of the Abdul-Dar mere bondwomen.

You lampooned Mohammed and I answered for him:
There is a reward for that with God.

Would you lampoon him whom you cannot equal?
(The worse of you be a ransom for the better of you!)
You have lampooned the pure blessed hanif,
God's trusted one whose nature is loyalty.

Is he who lampoons God's apostle
And he who praises and helps him equal?
My father, my grandfather, and my honour
Protect Mohammed's honour against you.
My tongue is a sharp sword without a flaw,
My verse a sea which the buckets cannot make turbid

(i.e. however many verses he composes from his inexhaustible stock the well of poesy will not be fouled by bad and ineffectual lines.) (81

1).
Anas b. Zunaym al-Dili apologising to the apostle for what Amr b.

Salim al-Khuzai said about them said:
Was it you by whose orders Maadd was led?
Nay God guided them and said to you, Testify!
No camel ever carried a purer man
More true to his promise than Mohammed;
Swifter to do good, more lavish in giving
When he went forth like a polished Indian sword;
More generous in giving a rich Yamani robe hardly worn

And the horse that was easily first in the race.

Know, O apostle of God, that you will get me
 And that a threat from you is as good as fulfilled.
 Know, O apostle, that you have power
 Over them that dwell in highland and plain.
 Know that the riders, the riders of Uwaymir,
 Are liars which break ever) promise.
 They told the apostle that I satirised him.
 Were it true may my hand never lift a whip!
 I merely said, Woe is the mother of the heroes
 Who were slain in unhappy unlucky days!
 Those not their equal in blood killed them
 And great was my weeping and dismay.
 831 You would break the covenant if you slandered
 Abd b. Abdullah and the daughter of Mahwad.
 Dhuayb and Kulthum and Salma went successively to death,
 So if my eye does not weep let me grieve.
 There is no clan like Salma and his brothers;
 Are kings the same as slaves?
 I have not broken with custom or shed blood.
 Consider, you who know the truth, and act!
 Budayl b. Abdu Manaf b. Umm Asram answered him:
 Anas wept Razn, how loud was his cry.
 He should have wept for Adiy unavenged and destroyed.
 You wept, Abu Abs, because they were blood relations
 That you might have an excuse if none started a war.
 Noble warriors killed them on the day of Khandama
 (A mountain in Mecca.),
 Nufayl and Mabad among them if you inquire.
 If your tears flow for them you will not be blamed
 And if the eye does not weep then be sad (812).
 Bujayr b. Zuhayr b. Abu Sulma said concerning the day of the conquest:
 Muzayna and the Band Khufaf that day Expelled the people of al-Haballaq* from every ravine.
 (I cannot understand this verse. If 'the people of al-Haballaq' were, as S. says, the tribes of Muzayna and Qays, the B. Khufaf being a clan of Sulaym, then we have the extraordinary statement that Muzayna expelled their own tribesmen. We can take 'every ravine' as the subject of the sentence, as C. does, and take nafd in the sense of 'sent out'; but then we must take Muzayna as an accusative and read Bani Kh.
 A.Dh. says that haballaq means 'small sheep' but that Rives little help. What one would expect is some reference to the Mccans, but they were not expelled from the town.)
 We smote them with our sharp swords
 The day the good prophet entered Mecca.
 We came on them with seven hundred from Sulaym
 And a full thousand from Banu Uthman.
 We smote (Lit. 'trod'. For aktafahum some Manuscripts have aknafahum 'their flanks') their shoulders with cut and thrust
 And shot them with our feathered shafts.
 You could hear among the ranks their whisper
 As if the notched end were split from its binding.
 (After long hesitation I have adopted this rendering; but it might be that the poet is thinking of the arrows of the opposing forces passing one another in the air.)
 We went with lances straight levelled
 While our horses wheeled among them.
 We came back plundering as we would
 While they went back discomfited.
 We pledged our faith to the apostle
 In sincere friendship.
 They heard what we said and determined
 To depart from us that day of fear (813).

KHALID'S EXPEDITION AFTER THE CONQUEST TO THE B. JADHIMA OF KINANA AND ALI'S EXPEDITION TO REPAIR KHALID'S ERROR

The apostle sent out troops in the district round Mecca inviting men to God: he did not order them to fight. Among those he sent was Khalid b. al-Walid whom he ordered to go to the lower part of the flat country as a missionary; he did not send him to fight.

 He subdued the B. Jadhima and killed some of them (Tabari's history (1649) is better arranged. It shows that Ibn Ishaq's narrative recorded that the force halted at al-Ghumaysa, a well belonging to Jadhima, and records the latter's killing of Khalid's uncle. Ibn Hisham has disturbed the natural flow of events.) (814).
 Hakim b. Hakim b. Abbad b. Hunayf from Abu Jafar Mohammed b. Ali said: When he took possession of Mecca the apostle sent Khalid forth as a missionary.
 He did not send him to fight. He had with him the Arab tribes of Sulaym b. Mansur and Mudlij b. Murra, and they subdued (the) B. Jadhima b. Amir b. Abdu Manat b. Kinana. When the people saw him they grasped their weapons, and Khalid said, 'Lay down your arms, for everybody has accepted Islam.'
 A traditionist of (the) B. Jadhima who was one of our companions told me: 'When Khalid ordered us to lay down our arms one of our men called Jahdam said,
 "Woe to you, B. Jadhima! This is Khalid. If you lay down your arms you will be bound, and after you have been bound you will be beheaded. By God, I shall never lay down my arms." Some of his people laid hold of him saying "Do you want to shed our blood?
 Everyone else has accepted Islam and laid down their arms; war is over and everybody is safe." They persisted to the point of taking away his arms, and they themselves laid down their arms at Khalid's word.'
 Hakim b. Hakim from Abu Jafar Mohammed b. Ali told me: As soon as they had laid down their arms Khalid ordered their hands to be tied behind their backs and put them to the sword, killing a number of them. When the news reached the apostle he raised his hands to heaven and said, 'O God, I am innocent before Thee of what Khalid has done' (815). Hakim on the same authority told me that the apostle summoned Ali and told him to go to these people and look into the affair, and abolish the practices of the pagan era.
 So Ali went to them with the money the apostle had sent and paid the bloodwit and made good their monetary loss even for a dog's bowl. When all blood and property had been paid for he still had some money over. He asked if any compensation was still due and when they said it was not he gave them the rest of the money on behalf of the apostle in case claims of which neither he nor they knew at the time should arise. Then he returned and reported to the apostle what he had done and he commended him. Then the apostle arose and faced the Qibla and raised his arms so that his armpits could be seen and said: 'O God, I am innocent before Thee of what Khalid has done.'
 This he said three times.
 Some who would excuse Khalid said that he said: I did not fight until Abdullah b. Hudhafa al-Sahmi ordered me to do so and he said, "The apostle has ordered you to fight them because they keep back from Islam" (816).
 Jahdam had said to them when they laid down their arms and he saw what' Khalid was doing with the B.
 Jadhima: 'O you B. Jadhima, the battle is lost. I gave you full warning of the disaster into which you have fallen.' I have heard that Khalid and Abul-Rahman b.
 Auf had words about this. The latter said to him, 'You have done a pagan act in Islam,' to which he replied that he had only avenged Abdul-Rahman's father. He answered that he was a liar because he himself had killed his father's slayer; but Khalid had taken vengeance for his uncle al-Fakih b. al-Mughira so that there was bad feeling between them. Hearing of this the apostle said, 'Gently, Khalid, leave my companions alone, for by God if you had a mountain (Lit. Uhud.)
 of gold and spent it for God's sake you would not approach the merit of my companions.'
 Now al-Fakih b. al-Mughira b. Abdullah b. Umar b.
 Makhzum, and Auf b. Abdu Auf b. Abdul-Harith b.

Zuhra, and Affan b. Abul-As b. Umayya b. Abdu Shams had gone out trading to the Yaman. Affan took his son Uthman and Auf took his son Abdul-Rahman.
 When they returned they carried the money of a man of (the) B. Jadhima b. Amir, who had died in the Yaman, to his heirs. One of their men called Khalid b.
 Hisham claimed it and met them in the Jadhima territory before they could get to the dead man's family. They refused to give it up. A fight for the possession of the money took place during which Auf and al-Fakih were killed, Affan and his son escaping.
 They seized the property of al-Fakih and Auf and took it away and Abdul-Rahman killed Khalid b. Hisham the slayer of his father. Quraysh meditated an attack on (the) B. Jadhima, but they declared that the assault had not been planned by them and that they did not know of it until afterwards. They offered to pay compensation for blood and property and (the) Quraysh agreed, and so war was avoided. One of the B.
 Jadhima said, though some say it was a woman called Salma:
 Had not one tribe said to another. Be Muslims,
 Sulaym, that day, would have met a strong opponent.
 Busr and the men of Jahdam and Murra would have smitten them
 Until they left the camels groaning in pain.
 How many warriors did you see on the day of Ghumaysa'
 Dead, never wounded before, always giving the wounds? (If lam yajrah be read here, the meaning would be: 'Dead, having wounded no one, though they could have done so, had they had the chance.')

(War) made husbandless women remain with the marriagemakers
 And separated the men who were married from their wives (817).

Abbas b. Mirdas answered her; some say it was al-
 Jahhaf b. Hakim al-Sulami:
 Stop this idle talk: sufficient opponent
 Are we always to the hero of the battle.
 Khalid was more to be excused than you
 The day he took the plain way in the affair.
 Helped by God's command driving towards you (Horses) which stumble not going left and right.
 They brought the news of Malik's death in the plain when they went down to it
 Stern visaged showing their teeth in clouds of dust.
 If we have bereaved you, Salma,
 You have left (C. 'you have been left'. In the absence of further information one can only adopt what seems the more probable sense: you were the aggressors when you killed Malik.) men and women to bewail Malik.

Al-Jahhaf b. Hakim al-Sulami said:
 Horses given free rein were with the prophet at Hunayn
 Bleeding from their wounds;
 In Khalid's raid too their hooves
 Galloped in the sacred area.
 We set our faces against the spears
 Faces never given to be slapped.
 I am not one to throw my garments from me (it, to expose himself so as to obtain quarter from his opponent; or. if thiyab here means 'mail', to reduce his weight so that his mount could run away the faster.)
 Whenever a warrior shakes his lance,
 But my colt beneath me bears me To the heights (Perhaps meaning 'to the heights of glory'.) with my sharp sword.

Yaqub b. Utba b. al-Mughira b. al-Akhnas from al-Zuhri from Ibn Abu Hadrad al-Aslami told me: I was with Khalid's cavalry that day when a young man of the B. Jadhima who was about my own age spoke to me. His hands were tied to his neck by an old rope and the women were standing in a group a short distance away. He asked me to take hold of the rope and lead him to the women so that he might say what he had to say and then bring him back and do what we liked with him. I said that that was a small thing to ask and I led him to them. As he stood by them he said,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

'Fare you well, Hubaysya, though life is at an end.'

Tell me when I sought and found you in Halya
Or came on you in al-Khawaniq,
Was I not a lover worthy to be given what he asked,
Who undertook journeys by night and noonday?
I did no wrong when I said when our people were together,
Reward me with love before some misfortune befalls!
Reward me with love before distance divides
And the chief goes off with a dear one thus parted.
For I was never disloyal to our secret troth
And my eye never looked admiringly at another.
When the tribe's troubles distracted me from love
Even then the attraction of love was there (818).

The same authority told me that she said: 'May your life be prolonged seven and ten continuous years and eight thereafter.'
Then I took him away and he was beheaded.

Abu Firas b. Abu Sunbula al-Aslami from some of their shaykhs from one who was present said: She went to him when he was beheaded and bent over him and kept on kissing him until she died at his side.

One of the B. Jadhima said:

God requite Mudlij for the evil they did us
Wherever they go or rest.
They took our goods and divided them;
The spears came at us not once nor twice.
Were it not for the religion of Mohammed's people Their cavalry (Reading with C. khuyul.) would have fled and been driven off.

What hindered them from helping a squadron
Like a swarm of locusts loose and scattered abroad?
If they repent or return to their (right) way
We will not repay them for what the squadron lost.
(Or, reading the passive with Wüstenfeld, 'for the squadron having been led astray'.)

Wahb of the B. Layth answered him:

We called Amir to Islam and the truth.
It is not our fault if Amir turned their backs.
What happened to Amir, confound them, is not our fault
Because their minds were foolish and went astray.

One of the B. Jadhima said:

Congratulate B. Kab on the coming of Khalid and his companions
The morn when the squadrons came on us.
Ibn Khuwaylid showed no desire for revenge.

You would have been content had you not been there.
Our men do not keep their fools from us,
Nor is the malady of the day of al-Ghumaysa cured.

A young man of B. Jadhima who was leading his mother and his two sisters in their flight from Khalid's force said:

Set free your skirts, let your garments trail;
Walk as chaste women who do not quail.
We guard our women, we will not fail.

Young men of B. Jadhima known as B. Musahiq were composing rough verse when they heard of Khalid, and one of them said:

Safra white of flanks whom a man with flocks and camels
Possesses, knows that I will do all a man can do this day.
And another said:

Safra who diverts her husband well knows,
She who eats but a morsel of meat,
That today I will deliver a swift blow
As one leaving the sacred area hits sluggish pregnant camels.

And another said:
No long-maned lion with ponderous paws, Feroocious mien, and tawny whiskers (I prefer this reading to Wüstenfeld's thibal, 'cubs'.), Roaring betwixt jungle and thicket when the morn is cold,
Whose only food is man,
Is bolder than I was that day, I swear.

KHALID'S JOURNEY TO DESTROY AL-UZZA

Then the apostle sent Khalid to al-Uzza which was in Nakhla. It was a temple which this tribe of (the) Quraysh and Kinana and all Mudar used to venerate.
Its guardians and wardens were B. Shayban of (the) B.
Sulaym, allies of (the) B. Hashim. When the Sulami guardian heard of Khalid's coming he hung his sword on her, climbed the mountain on which she stood, and said:

O Uzza, make an annihilating attack on Khalid,
Throw aside your veil and gird up your train.
O Uzza, if you do not kill this man Khalid
Then bear a swift punishment or become a Christian*.
(* For bu see Lane, 270c; ithm can stand both for crime and punishment. Tanassari really means 'become a Muslim', because the speaker at that date saw no difference between the two religions.)

When Khalid arrived he destroyed her and returned to the apostle.

Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b.
Utba b. Masud said: The apostle stayed in Mecca after he had occupied it for fifteen nights, shortening prayers. The occupation of Mecca took place on the 20th Ramadan in 8 A.H.

THE BATTLE OF HUNAYN, 8 A.H.

When Hawazin heard how Cod had given the apostle possession of Mecca, Malik b. Auf al-Nasri collected them together. There assembled to him also all Thaqif and all Nasr and Jusham; and Sad b. Bakr, and a few men from (the) B. Hilal. There were no others present from (the) Qays Aylan. Kab and Kilab of Hawazin kept away and no one of any importance from them was present. Among the B. Jusham was Durayd b. al-Simma, a very old man whose sole remaining use was his valuable advice and his knowledge of war, for he was an experienced leader. Thaqif had two leaders:
Qarib b. al-Aswad b. Masud b. Muattib commanded the Ahlaf, and Dhul-Khimar Subay b. al-Harith b.
Malik and his brother Ahmar commanded the B.
Malik. The general direction of affairs lay with Malik
b. Auf al-Nasri. When he decided to attack the apostle he placed with the men their cattle, wives, and children.
When he halted at Autas the men assembled to him, among them Durayd b. al-Simma in a sort of howdah in which he was carried. As soon as he arrived he inquired what wadi they were in and when he was told that it was Autas he said that it was a fine place for cavalry. 'Not a hill with jagged rocks, nor a plain full of dust; but why do I hear the groaning of camels and the braying of asses, and the crying of children and the bleating of sheep?' They told him that Malik had brought them with the men, and he immediately inquired for him and said, 'O Malik, you have become the chief of your people and this is a day which will be followed by great events.' He then inquired about the cattle and the women and children, and Malik explained that his purpose in bringing them and putting them behind the men was to make them fight to the death in their defence. He made a sound indicative of dismay (Lit. 'said Tchk'; other authorities say it means snapping the fingers.) and said: 'You sheep-tender, do you suppose that anything will turn back a man that runs away? If all goes well nothing will help you but sword and lance; if it goes ill you will be disgraced with your family and property.' Then he asked what had happened to Kab and Kilab; and when he heard that they were not there he said, 'Bravery and force are not here: were it a day of lofty deeds Kab and Kilab would not have stayed away. I wish that you had done what they have done. What clans have you got?'

They told him (the) Amr b. Amir and (the) Auf b.
Amir and he said, 'Those two sprigs of Amir can do0.
no0thing either way. You have done no good, Malik, by sending forward the mainbody, the mainbody of Hawazin, to meet the cavalry. Send them up to the high and inaccessible part of their land and meet the apostates* on horseback. (* The sabi was one who changed his religion; in this case the newly converted Muslims. This treacherous act is called Apostacy'. A muslim who turns his back on Islam [commits apostacy] in order to join another faith is liable to the death penalty according to the Koran and its Sharia law.
This includes also criticising Mohammed, the Koranic scripture, and the policies of any part of Islam itself.
See: The Wars of Apostacy.) If all goes well those behind can join you, and if the battle goes against you you will have saved your families and stock.' Malik answered, 'I will not do it. You are an old dotard. You will either obey me, O Hawazin, or I will lean on my sword until it comes out from my back.' He could not bear Durayd's having any credit in the matter.
Hawazin said that they would obey him and Durayd said, 'This is a day which I did not witness (as a warrior) and did not altogether miss.'

Would that I were young again!
I would ride forward gently
Leading long-haired steeds
Like young antelopes (819).

(Tabari 1657: Durayd was the chief of the B. Jusham and their leader and greatest man, but old age had overtaken him so that he was feeble. His full name was Durayd b. al-Simma b. Bakr b. Alqama b. Judaa b.
Ghaziya b. Jusham b. Muawiya b. Bakr b. Hawazin.
Then Malik said to the men, 'As soon as you see them, break your scabbards and attack them as one man.')

Umayya b. Abdullah b. Amr b. Uthman informed me that he was told that Malik sent out spies who came back with their joints dislocated. When he asked what on earth had happened to them they said, 'We saw white men on piebald horses and immediately we suffered as you see.' And, by God, even that did not turn him back from the course he intended.

When the prophet heard about them he sent Abdullah b. Abu Hadrab al-Aslami to them and ordered him to go among them and stay with them until he learned all about them, and then bring him back the news. Abdullah went and stayed with them until he learned that they had decided to fight the apostle and the dispositions of Hawazin, and then came back to tell the apostle. (Tabari: The apostle called for Umar and told him what Ibn Abu Hadrab had said. Umar said that he was a liar. He replied,
'You may call me a liar, Umar, but for a long time you denied the truth.' Umar said, 'Do you not hear what he says, O apostle?' and the apostle answered, 'You were in error and God guided you, Umar.')

When the apostle decided to go out against Hawazin he was told that Safwan b. Umayya had some armour and weapons, so he sent to him though he was at that time a polytheist, saying, 'Lend us these weapons of yours so that we may fight our enemy tomorrow.' Safwan asked, 'Are you demanding them by force, Mohammed?' He said, 'No, they are a loan and a trust until we return them to you.' He said that in that case there was no objection and he gave him a hundred coats of mail with sufficient arms to go with them. They allege that the apostle asked for transport to carry them and he provided it.

Then the apostle marched with 2,000 Meccans and 10,000 of his companions who had gone out with him when he conquered Mecca, 12,000 in all. The apostle left in charge of Mecca Attab b. Asid b. Abul-Is b.

Umayya b. Abdu Shams to look after the men who had stayed behind.

Then he went forward to meet Hawazin.

Abbas b. Mirdas al-Sulami said:

This year the ghoul of their people has smitten Ril (A tribe of Sulaym. Hawazin and Sulaym were brother tribes. The name Salaym has linguistic connections to the Hebrew name Solomon.)

In the midst of their tents, for the ghoul has many forms.

Alas for the mother of Kilab when the cavalry of Ibn Haudha

And Insan* came on them unopposed. (* A tribe of Qays of the clan of B. Nasr; or from B. Jusham b. Bakr. According to A. Dh. they were a tribe of Hawazin.)

Deny not your kindred, strengthen the bonds with your proteges,

Your cousins are Sad and Duhman (Two sons of Nasr b. Muawiya b. Bakr of Hawazin.)

You will not return them though it is a flagrant disgrace (not to do so),

As long as milk is in the captured camels.

It is a disgrace by whose shame Hadan* has been covered

And Dhu Shaughar and Silwan (* Hadan is a mountain in Najd. Dhu Shaughar and Silwan are wadis. A wadi or wad, is the Arabic term traditionally referring to a valley. In some instances, it may refer to a dry riverbed that contains water only when heavy rain occurs.) flow with it.

It is no better than what Hadhaf roasted

When he said, All roasted wild ass is inedible' (A paraphrase of the somewhat coarse original.)

Hawazin are a good tribe save that they have a Yamani disease (An insulting term for 'being Jewish'): If they are not treacherous they are deceitful.

They have a brother—had they been true to their covenant

And had we reduced them by war they would have been kindly.

Take to Hawazin one and all

A plain message of advice from me.

I think God's apostle will attack you in the morning

With an army extending over all the plain;

Among them your brother Sulaym who will not let you go.

And the Muslims, God's servants, Ghassan.

On his right are the Banu Asad

And the redoubtable Banu Abs and Dhubyān.

The earth almost quaked in fear,

And in the van are Aus and Uthman.

Aus and Uthman are two tribes of Muzayna (820).

Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri from Sinan b. Abu Sinan al-Du'ali from Abu Waqid al-Laythi told me that al-Harith b. Malik said: We went forth with the apostle to Hunayn fresh from paganism. The heathen Quraysh and other Arabs had a great green tree called Dhatu Anwat to which they used to come every year and hang their weapons on it and sacrifice beside it and devote themselves to it for a day. As we were going with the apostle we saw a great lote tree and we called out to the apostle from the sides of the way, 'Make us a tree to hang things on such as they have.' He said, Allah akbar! (Allah is great!) By Him who holds my life in His hand, You have said what Moses' people said to him: "Make us a god even as they have gods." He said, "You are an ignorant people. You would follow the customs of those who were before you (Koran 7.134)."

Asim b. Umar b. Qatada from Abdul-Rahman b. Jabir from his father Jabir b. Abdullah told me: When we approached Wad! Hunayn we came down through a wadi wide and sloping. We were descending gradually in the morning twilight. The enemy had got there before us and had hidden themselves in its bypaths and side tracks and narrow places. They had collected and were fully prepared, and by God we were terrified when, as we were coming down, the squadrons attacked us as one man. The people broke and fled none heeding the other. The apostle withdrew to the right and said, 'Where are you going, men? Come to me. I am God's apostle. I am Mohammed the son of Abdullah.' And not for nothing did the camels bump one into the other. The men ran away except that a number of Muhajirs and Ansar and men of his family remained with the apostle. Of the Muhajirs who stood firm were Abu Bakr and Umar; of his family Ali and al-Abbas and Abu Sufyan b. al-Harith and his son; and al-Fadl b. Abbas, and Rabia b. al-Harith and Usama b. Zayd and Ayman b. Umm Ayman b. Ubayd who was killed that day (821).

There was a man of Hawazin on a red camel carrying a black banner at the end of a long spear leading Hawazin. When he overtook a man he thrust him with his spear. When people moved out of his reach he lifted his spear to those behind him and they went after them.

When the men fled and the rude fellows from Mecca who were with the apostle saw the flight some of them spoke in such a way as to disclose their enmity. Abu Sufyan b. Harb said, 'Their flight will not stop before they get to the sea! He had his divining arrows with him in his quiver. Jabala b. al-Hanbal (linguistically related to 'Hannibal'.) cried (822) (he together with his brother Safwan b. Umayya was a polytheist during the respite which the apostle had given him): 'Surely sorcery is vain today.' Safwan said, 'Shut up! God smash your mouth! I would rather be ruled by a man of Quraysh than a man of Hawazin' (823).

Shayba b. Uthman b. Abu Talha, brother of B. Abdul-Dar, said: I said, Today I will get my revenge on Mohammed (for his father had been killed at Uhud). Today I will kill Mohammed. I went round him to kill him and something happened to stay my purpose so that I could not do it and I knew that he was protected from me.

One of the Meccans told me that when the apostle left Mecca for Hunayn and saw the great number of God's armies that were with him he said, 'We shall not be worsted today for want of numbers.' Some people allege that a man of B. Bakr said this.

Al-Zuhri from Kathir b. al-Abbas from his father told me: I was with the apostle holding the ring of the bride which I had put between the jaws of his white mule. I was a big man with a powerful voice. The apostle was saying when he saw the army in confusion, 'Where are you going, men?' And not one of them paid heed, and he said, 'O Abbas cry loudly, "O Ansar, O comrades of the acacia tree" and they answered "Here we are"; and a man would try to turn his beast and could not do it; and he would take his mail and throw it on its neck, and take his sword and shield and get off his mount and let it go its way and make for the voice until he came to the apostle. Finally a hundred were gathered by him and they went forward and fought. At first the cry was 'To me, Ansar!' and finally 'To me, Khazraj!' They were steadfast in the fight and the apostle standing in his stirrups looked down at the melee (French for 'noisy riotous fight') as they were fighting and said, 'Now the oven is hot.' (Watis, a word play on the name Autas.)

Asim b. Umar b. Qatada from Abdul-Rahman from his father Jabir b. Abdullah said, 'While that man with the Hawazin standard on his camel was doing as he did Ali and one of the Ansar turned aside making for him. Ali came on him from behind and hamstringing his camel and it fell upon its rump; and the Ansari leapt upon him and struck him a blow which sent his foot flying with half his shank and he fell from his saddle. The men went on fighting and, by God, when those who had run away returned they found only prisoners handcuffed with the apostle.

The apostle turned to Abu Sufyan who was one of those who stood firm with the apostle that day and was an excellent Muslim when he accepted the faith, as he was holding on to the back of the saddle of his mule and asked who it was. He replied, I am your mother's son, O apostle of God.' (He was actually his cousin. Mother here stands for grandmother.)

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that the apostle turned and saw Umm Sulaym d. Milhan who was with her husband Abu Talha. She was wearing a striped girdle and was pregnant with her son Abdullah b. Abu Talha.

She had her husband's camel with her and was afraid that it would be too much for her, so she brought its head near to her and put her hand in the nose ring of hair along with the nose rein. After telling the apostle who she was in response to his question she said, 'Kill those who run away from you as you kill those who fight you, for they are worthy of death! The apostle said, 'Rather God will save (me the need), O Umm Sulaym! She had a knife with her and Abu Talha asked why, and she said, I took the knife so that if a polytheist came near me I could rip him up with it!' He said, 'Do you hear what Umm Sulaym al-Rumaysa' says, O apostle?'

When he set out for Hunayn the apostle had joined (the) B. Sulaym to al-Dahhaq b. Sufyan al-Kilabi so that they went along with him. And when the men fled Malik b. Auf said, addressing his horse:

Forward, Muhaj! (The name of his horse.) This is a difficult day

Such as 1 on such as thee turns ever to the fight.

If the front and rear ranks are lost

Still they come band after band,

Squadrons the eyes tire in counting.

I used to thrust with a spear dripping with blood.

When the lurking craven was blamed

I would make a wide gash whence blood gushed audibly;

Blood spurting from its midst,

Sometimes in spouts, sometimes quietly flowing,

The spear shaft broken in it.

O Zayd, O Ibn Hamham, where are you fleeing?

Now teeth are gone, old age has come.

The white long-veiled women know

That I am no tyro (Latin: tiro, meaning: novice or beginner) in such affairs

When the chaste wife is sent out from the curtains. (i.e. when the enemy attack the encampment and the women cannot be protected.)

Malik also said:

Forward, Muhaj! They are fine horsemen.

Do not think that the enemy have gone (824).

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that he was told from Abu Qatada al-Ansari; and one of our companions whom I have no reason to suspect told me from Nafi, client of B. Ghifar Abu Mohammed from Abu Qatada, that the latter said: On the day of Hunayn I saw two men fighting, a Muslim and a polytheist. A friend of the latter was making to help him against the Muslim, so I went up to him and struck off his hand, and he throttled me with the other; and by God he did not let me go until I smelt the reek of blood (825). He had all but killed me and had not loss of blood weakened him he would have done so. But he fell and I struck and killed him, and was too occupied with the fighting to pay any more attention to him. One of the Meccans passed by and stripped him, and when the fighting was over and we had finished with the enemy the apostle said that anyone who had killed a foe could have his spoil. I told the apostle that I had killed a man who was worth stripping and had been too occupied with fighting at the time and that I did not know who had spoiled him. One of the Meccans admitted that I had spoken the truth and that the spoil was in his possession. 'So pay him to his satisfaction on my behalf from his spoil.' Abu Bakr said, 'No, by Allah, he shall not "give him satisfaction" from it. Are you going to make one of God's lions who fought for His religion go shares with you in his prey? Return the spoil of the man he killed to him!' The apostle confirmed Abu Bakr's words, so I took the spoil from him and sold it and bought with the money a small palm-grove. It is the first property I ever held. One I do not suspect told me from Abu Salama from Ishaq b. Abdullah b. Abu Talha from Anas b. Malik: Abu Talha alone took the spoil of twenty men.

My father Ishaq b. Yasar told me that he was told from Jubayr b. Mutim: Before the people fled and men were fighting one another I saw the iike of a black garment coming from heaven until it fell between us and the enemy. I looked, and lo black ants everywhere filled the wadi. I had no doubt that they were the angels. Then the enemy fled.

When God put to flight the polytheists of Hunayn and gave his apostle power over them a Muslim woman said:

Allah's cavalry have beaten Al-Lat's cavalry
And Allah best deserves to hold fast (826).

When Hawazin were put to flight the killing of Thaqif among the B. Malik was severe and seventy of them were killed beneath their flag, among whom were Uthman b. Abdullah b. Rabia b. al-Harith b. Habib. Their flag was with Dhul-Khimar. When he was killed Uthman b. Abdullah took it and fought by it until he was killed.

Amir b. Wahb b. al-Aswad told me that when news of his death reached the apostle he said, 'God curse him! He used to hate (the) Quraysh.'

Yaqub b. Utba b. al-Mughira b. al-Akhnas told me that a young uncircumcised Christian slave was killed with Uthman, and while one of the Ansaris was plundering the slain of Thaqif he stripped the slave to plunder him and found that he was uncircumcised. He called out at the top of his voice, 'Look, you Arabs, God knows that Thaqif are uncircumcised.'

Mughira b. Shuba took hold of his hand, for he was afraid that this report would go out from them among the Arabs, and told him not to say that, for the man concerned was only a Christian slave. Then he began to uncover the slain and showed that they were circumcised.

The flag of the Ahlaf was with Qarib b. al-Aswad, and when the men were routed he leant it against a tree, and he and his cousins and his people fled. Only two men of the Ahlaf were killed and one of the B. Ghiyara called Wahb and another of (the) B. Kubba called al-Julah. When the apostle heard of the killing of al-Julah he said, 'The chief of the young men of Thaqif except Ibn Hunayda has been killed today, meaning by him al-Harith b. Uways.

Abbas b. Mirdas al-Sulami, mentioning Qarib b. al-Aswad and his flight from his father's sons, and Dhul-Khimar and his shutting up his people to death, said:

Who will tell Ghaylan and Urwa from me
(I think one who knows will come to him).
I send to tell you something

Which is different from what you say which will go round

That Mohammed is a man, an apostle to my Lord
Who errs not, neither does he sin.
We have found him a prophet like Moses,
Any who would rival him in goodness must fail.
Evil was the state of the B. Qasiy in Wajj (Qasi is a name of Thaqif and Wajj is a wadi in al-Taif.)

When each one's affairs were decreed.
They lost the day (and every people has a ruler
And fortunes change).
We came on them like lions of the thickets,
The armies of God came openly.
We came at the main body of (the) B. Qasiy
Almost flying at them in our rage.
Had they stayed I swear we would have come at them
With armies and they would not have got away.
We were as lions of Liya (A place near al-Taif.) there until we destroyed them

And al-Nusur (The family of Malik b. Auf al-Nasri.) were forced to surrender.

There was a day before that day at Hunayn which is past

And blood then flowed freely.
In former days there was no battle like this;
Men of long memories have never heard of such.
We slew (the) B. Hutayt in the dust by their flags
While the cavalry turned away.
Dhul-Khimar was not the chief of a people
Who possessed intelligence to blame or disapprove.
He led them on the road to death
As everyone could see.

Those who escaped were choked with terror,
A multitude of them were slain.
The languid man could not help in such a case
Nor he who was too shy and hesitant to attack.
He destroyed them and he perished himself.
They had given him the leadership and the leaders fled.

Banu Auf's horses went at a fair pace
Fed on fresh grass and barley.
But for Qarib and his father's sons
The fields and castles would have been divided,
But they attained prominence
By the lucky advice they were given.
They obeyed Qarib and they had good fortune
And good sense that brought them glory.
If they are guided to Islam they will be found
Leaders of men while time lasts.
If they do not accept it they call
For God's war in which they will have no helper.
As war destroyed the B. Sad
And fate the clan of B. Ghaziya.
The B. Muawiya b. Bakr
Were like a flock of sheep coming bleating to Islam.
We said, 'Be Muslims; we are your brethren,
For our breasts are free from enmity.'
When the people came to us they seemed Blind to hatred after peace had come (827).

When the polytheists were routed they came to al-Taif. Malik b. Auf was with them and others were encamped in Autas. Some of them made for Nakhla, but only the B. Ghiyara of Thaqif. The apostle's cavalry followed those who took the road to Nakhla, but not those who went to the passes.

Rabia b. Rufay b. Uhan b. Thalaba b. Rabia b. Yaru b. Sammal b. Auf b. Imruul-Qays who was called after his mother Ibn Dughunna more often (828) overtook Durayd b. al-Simma and took hold of his camel's halter, thinking that he was a woman because he was in his howdah. And lo, it was a man; he made the camel kneel and it was a very old man—Durayd b. al-Simma. The young man did not know him and Durayd asked him what he wanted and what was his name. He told him and said that he wanted to kill him, and struck him with his sword to no effect. Durayd said, "What a poor weapon your mother has given you! Take this sword of mine that is behind the saddle in the howdah and strike me with that above the spine and below the head, for that is the way I used to strike men. Then when you come to your mother tell her that you have killed Durayd b. al-Simma, for many's the day I have protected your women.' (Maw. 68 quotes two lines of verse attributed to Durayd which may have been in the Maghazi. Cf. Hamasa, 377.)

The B. Sulaym allege that Rabia said, 'When I smote him he fell and exposed himself, and lo his crotch and the inside of his thighs were like paper from riding horses bareback. When Rabia returned to his mother he told her that he had killed him and she said, 'By God, he set free three mothers and grandmothers of yours. Amra d. Durayd said of Rabia's killing him:

In faith I did not fear the army of fate
On Durayd's account in the valley of Sumayra.
God repay the B. Sulaym for him
And may ingratitude rend them for what they have done.

May He give us the blood of their best men to drink
When we lead an army against them.
Many a calamity did you avert from them
When they were at the point of death.
Many a noble woman of theirs did you free
And others you loosed from bonds.
Many a man of Sulaym named you noble
As he died when you had answered his call.
Our reward from them is ingratitude and grief
Which melts our very bones.
May the traces of your cavalry after hard travel
In Dhu Baqar as far as the desert of al-Nuhaq be effaced!

Amra also said:

They said, 'We have killed Durayd.' 'True,' I said,
And my tears flowed down my garment.
Were it not for Him who has conquered all the tribes
Sulaym and Kab would have seen what counsel to follow.

A great army of pungent smell (Accoutrements were often polished with dung.)
Would have attacked them continuously wherever they were (829).

The apostle sent Abu Amir al-Ashari on the track of those who had gone towards Autas and he overtook some of the fugitives. In the skirmishes which followed Abu Amir was killed by an arrow and Abu Musa al-Ashari, his cousin, took the standard. He continued the fight and God gave him the victory and routed the enemy. It is alleged that Salama b. Durayd shot Abu Amir in the knee and the wound proved fatal. He said:

If you ask about me I am Salama,
The son of Samadir to one who asks further.
I smite with my sword the heads of the Muslims.

Samadir was his mother.

The B. Nasr killed many of (the) B. Riab and they allege that Abdullah b. Qays, called b. al-Aura, one of B. Wahb b. RiAb, said to the apostle, '(The) B. Riab have perished,' and they allege that the apostle said, 'O God, make good their losses.'

Malik b. Auf during the flight stopped with some of his horsemen at a pass on the road and told them to wait until the weak ones passed and those in the rear had caught up, and they did so. Malik said of that:

Were it not for two charges on Muhajp
The way would be difficult for the camp followers.
But for the charge of Duhman b. Nasr
At the palms where al-Shadiq (A well in the suburbs of al-Taif.) flows
Ja'far and Banu Hilal would have returned discomfited
Riding two on a camel in their distress (830).

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

Salama b. Durayd who was conducting his wife until he escaped them said:

You would have me forget though you are unhurt
And though you know that day at the foot of al-Azrub

That I protected you and walked behind you
Watching on all sides when to ride would have been a boon,
When every well-trained warrior with flowing locks
Fled from his mother and did not return to his friend (831).

One of our companions told us that the apostle that day passed by a woman whom Khalid b. al-Walid had killed while men had gathered round her. When he heard what had happened he sent word to Khalid and forbade him to kill child, or woman, or hired slave.

One of (the) B. Sad b. Bakr told me that the apostle said that day, If you get hold of Bijad, a man of (the) B. Sad b. Bakr, do not let him escape you,' for he had done great wrong. When the Muslims took him they led him away with his family and with him (Tabari: his sister) al-Shayma d. al-Harith (Tabari: b. Abdullah) b. Abdul-Uzza, foster-sister of the apostle. They treated her roughly as they brought her along and she told the Muslims that she was the foster-sister of the apostle, but they did not believe her until they had brought her to the apostle.

Yazid b. Ubayd al-Sadi told me that when she was brought to the apostle she claimed to be his foster-sister, and when he asked for proof she said, 'The bite you gave me in my back when I carried you at my hip.' The apostle acknowledged the proof and stretched out his robe for her to sit on and treated her kindly. He gave her the choice of living with him in affection and honour or going back to her people with presents, and she chose the latter. The B. Sad allege that he gave her a slave called Makhul and a slave girl; the one married the other and their progeny still exists (832).

The names of those martyred at Hunayn were:

From Quraysh of B. Hashim: Ayman b. Ubayd.

From B. Asad b. Abdul-Uzza: Yazid b. Zamaa b. al-Aswad b. al-Muttalib b. Asad. A horse of his called al-Janah threw him and killed him.

From the Ansar: Suraqa b. al-Harith b. Adiy from B. Ajjlan.

From the AshAryqn: Abu Amir al-Ashari.

The captives of Hunayn were brought to the apostle with their property.

Masud b. Amr al-Ghifari (Tabari: al-Qari) was over the spoils and the apostle ordered that the captives and the animals should be brought to al-Jirana and be kept in ward there.

Bujayr b. Zuhayr b. Abu Sulma said about Hunayn:

But for God and His servant you would have turned back

When fear overwhelmed every coward'
On the slope the day our opponents met us
While the horses galloped at full stretch,
Some running clutching their garments,
Others knocked sideways by hooves and chests.
God honoured us and made our religion victorious
And glorified us in the worship of the Compassionate.

God destroyed them and dispersed them all
And humiliated them in the worship of Satan (833).

Abbas b. Mirdas said about the battle of Hunayn:

By the swift horses on the day of Muzdalifa
And by what the apostle recites from the Book
I liked the punishment Thaqif got yesterday on the side of the valley.

They were the chief of the enemies from Najd
And their killing was sweeter than drink.

We put to flight all the army of (the) B. Qasiy.

The full weight fell on (the) B. Riab.

The tents of Hilal in Autas

Were left covered with dust.

If our horses had met (the) B. Kilab's army

Their women would have got up as the dust arose.

(Sc. 'to wail over the dead.')

We galloped among them from Buss to al-Aural (A place in Jusham country. The Aural are three black mountains near water belonging to Abdullah b. Darim.)

Panting after the spoil

With a loud-voiced army, among them

The apostle's squadron advancing to the fray (834).

Atiya b. Ufayyif al-Nasri answered him:

Does Rifaa boast about Hunayn?

And Abbas son of her who sucks milkless sheep!

For you to boast is like a maid who struts about

In her mistress's robes while the rest of her is bare!

(ihab generally means a hide or skin but can be applied to the skin of a human being.)

Atiya spoke these two verses because of Abbas's vehemence against Hawazin. Rifaa was of Juhayna.

Abbas b. Mirdas also said:

O Seal of the Prophets, you are sen with the truth

With all guidance for the way.

God has built up love upon you

In His creation and named you Mohammed.

Then those who were faithful to your agreement with them,

An army over whom you set al-IPahhak,

A man with sharp weapons as though

When the enemy surrounded him he saw you.*

He attacked those of (his) kith and kin

Seeking only to please God and you.

(* This is what the commentators propose, but the line seems impossibly bad. If we understand dharab to mean 'wound' and treat yaraka as a by-form of araka with hamza softened to ya [cf. Suyuti's Muzhir, Cairo, i. 463] we could render: "A man scarred by weapons, When the enemy surrounded him he was like an arak tree." I owe this suggestion to Dr. Arafat. The arak is a thorny tree. The use of the accusative for the nominative is not without parallel. Cf. Wright ii, 83B.)

I tell you I saw him charging in clouds of dust

Crushing the heads of the polytheists;

Now throttling with bare hands,

Now splitting their skulls with his sharp sword. (C. adds here: "Smiting the heads of the warriors with it, If you had seen as I saw his prowess you would have been satisfied.)

The B. Sulaym (linguistically related to Solomon.) hastened before him

With continual cuts and thrusts at the enemy.

They walked beneath his banner there

Like lions with a haunt they mean to defend.

They did not hope for consideration of kinship

But obedience to their Lord and your love.

These were our doings for which we are renowned.

And our Helper is your Lord.

He said also:

If you saw, O Umm Farwa, our horses

Some led riderless and lame!

The battle had reduced their fitness,

Blood gushed from deep wounds.

Many a woman whom our prowess protected

From the hardship of war so that she (Or 'her people', sirbuha.) had no fear, said,

'There are none like those who came to make an agreement

Which forged an inseparable link with Mohammed.'

A deputation among them Abu Qasan, Huzaba

And Abul-Ghuyuth and Wasi and al-Miqna

And he who led the hundred which brought

The nine hundred to a complete thousand.

(The) Banu Auf and the clan of Mukhashin collected six hundred

And four hundred were brought from Khufaf

There when the prophet was helped by our thousand
He handed us a fluttering standard.

We conquered with his flag and his commission bequeathed (The choice of words brings out the double meaning of 'tying' and making an agreement.)

A glorious life and authority that will not cease.

The day that we formed the prophet's flank

In the vale of Mecca when spears were quivering
'twas (it was)

Our answer to him who called us to our Lord in truth:

We went helmeted and unmailed alike,

With long mail whose mesh David chose

When he weaved iron, and Tubba too.

By Hunayn's two wells we had a train

Which slew the hypocrites—an immovable army.

By us the prophet gained victory; we are the people who

In any emergency inflict loss and do well.

We drove off Hawazin that day with spears.

Our cavalry was submerged in rising dust
When even the prophet feared their bravery, and as they came en masse

The sun all but ceased to shine thereat.

Banu Jusham were summoned and the hordes of Nasr

In the midst while the spears were thrusting

Until the apostle Mohammed said,

'O Banu Sulaym, you have kept your word, now desist.'

We went off and but for us their bravery

Would have injured the believers and they would have kept what they had gained.

He also said:

Mijdal is deserted by its people and Mutali (Mutali is a mountain in Najd, the central region of the Arabian peninsula.)

And the plain of Arik, and its cisterns are empty.

We had homes, O JumI, when all life was pleasant

And the change of abode (One Manuscript has dahri 'time's changes' which is a cliché that is often used by the poets and may well be right here.) brought the tribe together.

Long absence afar has changed my beloved,

But can a happy past ever return?

If you seek the unbelievers I do not blame you,

But I am a helper and follower of the prophet.

The best of embassies I know summoned us to them,

Khuzayma, and al-Marrar and Wasi,

So we came with a thousand of Sulaym finely clad

In armour woven by David.

We hailed him lord at the two mountains of Mecca

And it was to God that we paid homage.

We entered Mecca publicly with the guided one by force of arms,

While the dust arose in all directions.

Sweat covered the backs of the horses

And warm blood from within grew hotter.

On the day of Hunayn when Hawazin came against us

And we could scarcely breathe

We stood steadfast with al-Pahhak;

Struggle and combat did not dismay us.

In front of the apostle a banner fluttered above us

Like the rapid movement of a cloud.

The night that Dahhak b. Sufyan fought with the apostle's sword

And death was near

We defended our brother from our brother. (The point is that he is of the Sulaym who was from the Qays to whom the Hawazin belonged. The line runs:

Aylan—Qays—Khasafa—Ikrima—Mansur, the 'father' of Hawazin and Sulaym. L.H.: The Banu Sad, or Banu Sa'd, was one of the tribes of Arabia during Mohammed's era. The Banu Sad were a subgroup of the larger Hawazin tribal confederation. They were notable for being allies to the polytheist Meccans and warring with the Muslims during Islam's early days. Halima Sadia, Mohammed's wet nurse, belonged to this tribe. Banu Sad were one of the leading tribes in Arabia during Mohammed's era. They had close family relations with Mohammed.)

Had we a choice we would have followed our own kin,

But God's religion is the religion of Mohammed.

We are satisfied with it; it contains guidance and laws.

By it he set our affairs right after we had erred
And none can avert the decree of God.

He also said:

The last link with Umm MuAmmal is broken,
She has changed her mind contrary to her promise;
She had sworn by God she would not break the link,
But she did not keep her word or fulfil her oath.
She is of Banu Khufaf who summer in the vale of al-Aqiq (A wadi [valley] in the Hijaz / Hejaz, in the northwest of the Arabian peninsula.)

And occupy Wajra and Urf in the deserts.
Though Umm Muammal follows the unbelievers
She has made me love her more despite her distance from me.

Someone will tell her that we refuse to do so
And seek only our Lord in alliance;
And that we are on the side of the guide, the prophet Mohammed,

And number a thousand which (number) no (other) tribe reached.

With strong warriors of Sulaym
Who obey his orders to the letter,
Khufaf and Dhakwan and Auf whom you would think

Were black stallions walking among the she-camels
As though our reddish-white mail and helmets (The reading here should be bayda 'helmets', not bida 'swords' as in C. The word is left unpointed in Wüstenfeld. The poet is comparing the chain flaps depending from the helmets to the long ears of lions.)

Clothed long-eared lions which meet one another in their lairs.

By us God's religion is undeniably strong.
We added a like number to the clan that was with him.

When we came to Mecca, our banner
Was like an eagle soaring to dart on its prey (Riding) on horses which gazed upwards.

You would think when they gallop in their bits there is a sound of jinn among them, (This line is difficult. A. Dh. says marawidiha means its pegs or pins [watid] while S. suggests that it means 'where animals pasture', i.e. go to and fro. I am indebted to Dr. W. Arafat for the rendering given above.)

The day we trod down the unbelievers
And found no deviation or turning from the apostle's order.

In a battle mid which the people heard only
Our exhortations to fight and the smashing of skulls
By swords that sent heads flying from their base
And severed the necks of warriors at a blow.
Often have we left the slain cut to pieces
And a widow crying Alas! over her husband.

'Tis (it is) God not man we seek to please;
To Him belongs the seen and the unseen.

He also said:
What ails thine eye painful and sleepless,
Its lash feeling like a piece of chaff?

Sorrow brings sleeplessness to the eye
And tears now cover it, now flow down
Like a string of pearls with the stringer
The thread breaks and they are scattered.
How far off is the home of her you long for,
Al-Samman and al-Hafar stand in the way!

Talk no more of the days of youth.
Youth is gone and scant white locks have come,
And remember the fighting of Sulaym in their settlements;

And Sulaym have something to boast about:
They are the people who helped God
And followed the apostle's religion while men's affairs were confused.

They do not plant young palms in their midst
And cows do not low in their winter quarters.
But steeds like eagles are kept near them
Surrounded by multitudes of camels.
Khufaf and Auf were summoned on their flanks
And the clan of Dhakwan armed and keen to fight.

They smote the armies of the polytheists openly
In Mecca's vale, and killed them quickly,
Until we departed, and their dead
Were like uprooted palms in the open valley.
On Hunayn's day our stand strengthened religion
And with God that is stored up.
Then we risked death in the gloom
As the black scattered dust cleared away from the horses

Under the banner with al-Pahhak leading us
As a lion walks when he enters his thicket
In a narrow place where war pressed hard. (Bevan queried this hemistich. Reckendorff, Ar. Syntax, 173 reads kalkalaha and renders: In einer Enge wo der Kampf seine Brust hin und her zerrt"; and refers to Theodor Nöldeke, Z. Gramm. 75 and Fleischer, i. 184 f.)

Sun and moon were almost blotted out by it.
We devoted our lances to God in Autas,
We helped whom we would and we became victorious
Until certain people returned to their dwellings, who

But for us and God would not have returned.
You will see no tribe great or small
But we have left our mark upon them.

He also said:

O rider with whom there hastens
A strong, sturdy, firm footed she-camel,
If you come to the prophet say to him as you should
When the assembly is quiet,
'O best that ever rode a camel
Or walked the earth, if souls are weighed,
We were faithful to our covenant with you
When the cavalry were driven off by warriors and wounded

When there flowed from all the sides of (the) Buhtha (A clan of Sulaym.)

A multitude which shook the mountain paths
Until we came on the people of Mecca with a squadron

Glittering with steel, led by a proud chief Composed of Sulaym's sturdiest men
Capped in strong iron mesh with iron top
Blooding their shafts when they dashed into battle.
You would think them glowering lions.
They engaged the squadron wearing their badges,
Sword and spear in hand.

At Hunayn we were a thousand strong
By which the apostle was reinforced.
They defended the believers in the vanguard.
The sun was reflected a thousand times from their steel.

We went forward, God guarding us,
And God does not lose those He guards.
We made a stand in Manaqib, (On the Mecca-Taif road.)

Which pleased God, what a fine stand it was!
On the day of Autas we fought so fiercely
That the enemy had enough and cried Stop!
Hawazin appealed to the brotherhood between us—
The breast that supplied them with milk, is dry—
Until we left them like wild asses
Which wild beasts have continually preyed upon (835).

He also said:

We helped God's apostle, angry on his account,
With a thousand warriors apart from unarmed men,
We carried his flag on the end of our lances,
His helper protecting it in deadly combat.
We dyed it with blood, for that was its colour,
The day of Hunayn when Safwan thrust with his spear.

We were his right wing in Islam,
We had charge of the flag and displayed it.
We were his bodyguard before other troops,
He consulted us and we consulted him.
He summoned us and named us intimates first of all
And we helped him against his opponents.
God richly reward that fine prophet Mohammed
And strengthen him with victory, for God is his helper! (836)

He also said:

Who will tell the peoples that Mohammed, God's apostle,
Is rightly guided wherever he goes?
He prayed to his Lord and asked His help alone.
He gave it graciously fulfilling His promise.
We journeyed and met Mohammed at Qudayd,
He intending to do with us what God had determined.

They doubted about us in the dawn and then
They saw clearly warriors on horseback with levelled lances,

Firmly clad in mail, our infantry
A strong force like a rushing torrent.
The best of the tribe if you must ask
Were Sulaym and those who claimed to be Sulaym,
And an army of Helpers who did not leave him
Obeying what he said unquestioningly.
Since you have made Khalid chief of the army
And promoted him he has become a chief indeed
In an army guided by God whose commander you are

By which you smite the wicked with every right.
I swore a true oath to Mohammed
And I fulfilled it with a thousand bridled horses.
The prophet of the believers said, Advance!
And we rejoiced that we were the vanguard.
We passed the night at the pool of Mustadir;
There was no fear in us but desire and preparedness (for war).

We obeyed you till all the enemy surrendered
And until in the morning we overtook the crowd, the people of Yalamlam (A halt two marches distant from Mecca for pilgrims coming from the Yaman [Yemen].)

The piebald steed (a fast, black and white horse) with reddish barrel (torso) went astray (Even such a conspicuous animal was lost in the great crowd. The meaning of the next line may be: 'The old man was not content until he wore a distinguishing mark.')

And the chief was not content till it was marked.
We attacked them like a flock of grouse the morning affrights.

Everyone was too concerned to see to his fellow,
From morn till eve till we left Hunayn
With its watercourses streaming with blood.
Wherever you looked you could see a fine mare
And its rider lying beside a broken lance.
Hawazin had recovered their herds from us
And it pleased them that we should be disappointed and deprived (of them).

Damdam b. al-Harith b. Jusham b. Abd b. Habib b. Malik b. Auf b. Yaqaza b. Usayya al-Sulami said concerning Hunayn (Thaqif had killed Kinana b. al-Hakam b. Khalid b. al-Sharid, so he killed Mihjan and a nephew of his, both of Thaqif):

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

We brought our horses without overdriving them To Jurash (In the Yaman / in Yemen) from the people of Zayyan and al-Fam,
Killing the young lions and making for the temples
Built before our day and not yet destroyed.
If you boast of the killing of Ibn al-Sharid
I have left many widows in Wajj (A place in al-Taif.).
I killed the two of them avenging Ibn al-Sharid Whom your promise of protection deceived and he blameless.

Our spears slew the men of Thaqif
And our swords inflicted grievous wounds.

He also said:

Tell the men with you who have wives,
Never trust a woman
After what a woman said to her neighbour,
'Had the raiders not returned I should have been in the house.' (i.e. at the disposal of callers.)
When she saw a man whom the fierce heat of a torrid land
Had left with blackened face and fleshless bones.
You could see his leanness at the end of the night
As he was clad in his mail for a raid.
I am always in the saddle of a thick short-haired mare,

My garment touching my belt (As the horse rushed forward sword and belt and garments would face the same direction. The husband is speaking at this point.);
One day in quest of booty,
Another, fighting along with the Ansar.
How much fertile land have I travelled,
How much rough uneven ground at gentle pace
That I might change her state of poverty,
And she did not want me to return, the baggage!
(837)

Malik b. Auf excusing his flight said:

Slit-eared camels straying from the track
Prevented sleep for even an hour.
Ask (the) Hawazin do I not injure their enemy
And help any of them who suffers a loss?
Many a squadron did I meet with a squadron
Half of them mailed, half of them without armour.
Many a place which would appal the bold
Did I occupy first, as my people well know.
I came down to it and left brothers coming down
To its waters—waters of blood (Ghamra sometimes, as here, means 'the thick of the fight');
When its waters rolled away they bequeathed to me
The glory of life and spoil to be divided.
You charged me with the fault of Mohammed's people,

But God knows who is more ungrateful and unjust.
You forsook me when I fought alone
You forsook me when KhathAm fought.
When I built up glory one of you pulled it down.
Builder and destroyer are not equal.
Many a man who becomes thin in winter, hasting to glory,

Generous, devoted to lofty aims,
I stabbed with a black shaft of Yazan's work (Dhu Yazan, one of the kings of Himyar; v.s.)
Headed by a long blade.
I left his wife turning back his friend
And saying, You cannot come at so-and-so.
Fully armed I opposed the spears
Like a target which is pierced and split.

An anonymous poet also said about Hawazin mentioning their expedition against the apostle with Malik b. Auf after he had accepted Islam:

Recall their march against the enemy when they assembled
When the flags fluttered over Malik.
None was above Malik on the day of Hunayn (Or 'Malik was a king, none above him'.)
When the crown glittered on his head

Until they met courage when courage led them
Wearing their helmets, mail, and shields.
They smote the men till they saw none
Round the prophet and until dust hid him.
Then Gabriel was sent down from heaven to help them

And we were routed and captured.
If any other but Gabriel had fought us
Our noble swords would have protected us.
Umar al-Faraq escaped me when they were put to flight

With a thrust that soaked his saddle in blood. (This is the natural translation of the line, but as there is no record of Umar having been wounded in this battle the meaning may be that he escaped a thrust which would have soaked his saddle in blood.)

A woman of (the) B. Jusham lamenting two of her brothers who were slain at Hunayn said:

O eyes, be generous with your tears
For Malik and al-Ala; be not niggardly.
They were the slayers of Abu Amir
Who held a sword with streaky marks.
They left him a bleeding lump Staggering, feebly unsupported.
Abu Thawab Zayd b. Suhayr, one of (the) B. Sad b.
Bakr, said:

Have you not heard that (the) Quraysh conquered
Hawazin
(Misfortunes have their causes).

There was a time, (the) Quraysh, when if we were angry

Red blood flowed because of our rage.

There was a time, (the) Quraysh, when if we were angry

It seemed as though snuff were in our nostrils.

And now (the) Quraysh drive us

Like camels urged on by peasants.

I am not in a position to refuse humiliation

Nor am I disposed to give in to them (838).

Abdullah b. Wahb, one of (the) B. Tamim of the clan of Usayyid, answered him:

By God's command we smote those we met
In accordance with the best command.
When we met, O Hawazin,
We were saturating heads with fresh blood.
When you and (the) B. Qasay assembled
We crushed opposition like beaten leaves.
Some of your chiefs we slew
And we turned to kill both fugitive and standfast.
Al-Multath lay with outstretched hands,
His dying breath sounding like a gasping young camel.

If (the) Qays Aylan be angry
My snuff has always subdued them.

Khadij b. al-Auja al-Nasrisaid:

When we drew near to the waters of Hunayn
We saw repellent black and white shapes
In a dense well-armed throng; if they had thrown them

At the peaks of Uzwa they would have become flat.

If my people's chiefs had obeyed me

We should not then have met the thick* cloud

(* I conjecture mutakath thif for mutakash shif which gives a poor sense. On p. 870.7 the Manuscripts vacillate between kathifan and kashifan, and again the former is the better reading. However, some such meaning as 'looming' might be ascribed to mutakashshif. C. says it means zahir.)

Nor should we have met the army of Mohammed's
people,

Eighty thousand reinforced by Khindif.

THE CAPTURE OF AL-TAIF, 8 A.H.

When the fugitives of Thaqif came to al-Taif they shut the gates of the city and made preparations for war. Neither Urwa b. Masud nor Ghaylan b. Salama were present at Hunayn or at the siege of al-Taif; they were in Jurash learning the use of the testudo (Dubur, a sort of testudo. Described here is how the Arabs learned from the Romans to use a moveable shelter.

Basically, we are talking about a kind of tank that worked like a boat turned upside-down under which the soldiers could endure a hail of projectiles unharmd.), the catapult, and other instruments.
When he had finished at Hunayn the apostle went to al-Taif.

Kab b. Malik when the apostle came to this decision
said:

We put an end to doubt in the lowlands and Khaybar,

Then we gave our swords a rest.

We gave them the choice and could they have spoken
Their blades would have said, Give us Daus or Thaqif.

May I be motherless if you do not see

Thousands of us in your courts.

We will tear off the roofs in the valley of Wajj

And we will make your houses desolate.

Our swiftest cavalry will come on you

Leaving behind a tangled mass.

When they come down on your courts

You will hear a cry of alarm

With sharp cutting swords in their hands like flashes of lightning

By which they bring death to those who would fight

them

Tempered by Indian smiths—not beaten into plates.

You would think that the flowing blood of the warriors

Was mingled with saffron the morn the forces met.

Good God, had they no adviser

From the peoples who knew about us

To tell them that we had gathered

The finest blood horses and that we had brought an army

To surround the walls of their fort with troops?

Our leader the prophet, firm,

Pure of heart, steadfast, continent,

Straightforward, full of wisdom, knowledge, and clemency;

Not frivolous nor light minded.

We obey our prophet and we obey a Lord

Who is the Compassionate, most kind to us (but only to us Muslims!).

If you offer peace we will accept it

And make you partners in peace and war.

If you refuse we will fight you doggedly,

'Twill (it will) be no weak faltering affair.

We shall fight as long as we live

Till you turn to Islam, humbly seeking refuge (totally surrender).

We will right not caring whom we meet

Whether we destroy ancient holdings or newly gotten gains.

How many tribes assembled against us

Their finest stock and allies!

They came at us thinking they had no equal

And we cut off their noses and ears

With our fine polished Indian swords (India produced at that time the very finest steel swords and exported them to Arabia and Persia!).

Driving them violently before us

To the command of God and Islam,

Until religion is established, just and straight, and

Al-Lat and al-Uzza and Wudd are forgotten

And we plunder them of their necklaces and earrings.

For they had become established and confident (The meaning of this hemistich may be: And then they professed Islam and therefore had peace'),

And he who cannot protect himself must suffer disgrace.

Kinana b. Abdu Yalil b. Amr b. Umayr answered him:

He Who covets us wishing to fight us (let him come).
We are in a well-known home which we never leave.
Our fathers were here long since
And we hold its wells and vineyards.
Amr b. Amir put us to the test aforetime (This is a hit at the Ansar through their common descent.)
And the wise and intelligent told them about it.
They know if they speak the truth that we Bring down the high looks of the proud (Twist into position the head turned aside in disdain.)
We force the strong to become meek
And the wrongdoer to become known to the discerning.
We wear light mail the legacy of one who burned men (i.e. Amr b. Amir.)

Gleaming like stars in the sky.
We drive them from us with sharp swords,
When they are drawn from the scabbard we do not sheathe them.

Shaddad b. Arid al-Jushami said about the apostle's expedition to al-Taif:

Do not help al-Lat for God is about to destroy her.
How can one who cannot help herself be helped?
She that was burned in black smoke and caught fire.
None fighting before her stones, is an outcast (Lit.
'not one for whom bloodwit must be paid'.)
When the apostle descends on your land
None of her people will be left when he leaves.

The apostle journeyed by Nakhlatul-Yamaniya, and Qarn, and al-Mulayh and Buhratul-Rugha of Liya (These are places in the area of Taif.). A mosque was built there and he prayed in it.

Amr b. Shuayb told me that when he came there that day he allowed retaliation for homicide (murder), and that was the first time such a thing happened in Islam.
A man of B. Layth had killed a man of Hudhayl and he killed him in retaliation. When he was in Liya the apostle ordered that the fort of Malik b. Auf should be destroyed. Then he went on a road called al-Dayqa (As we should say A tight corner' and therefore an inauspicious name which has to be altered.). As he was passing along it he asked its name. When he was told that it was 'the strait' he said, 'No, it is the easy.' (al-Yusra.) Then he went by Nakhb till he halted under a lote tree called al-Sadira near the property of a man of Thaqif. The apostle sent word to him, 'Either come out or we will destroy your wall.' (hait means a wall and also the garden which it surrounds.) He refused to come out so the apostle ordered his wall to be destroyed.

He went on until he halted near al-Taif and pitched his camp there. Some of his companions were killed by arrows there because the camp had come too close to the wall of al-Taif and the arrows were reaching them.
The Muslims could not get through their wall for they had fastened the gate. When these men were killed by arrows he (Tabari: withdrew and) pitched his camp near where his mosque stands today. He besieged them for some twenty days (839).

He had two of his wives with him: Umm Salama d.
Abu Umayya (f. and another with her). He struck two tents for them and prayed between the tents. Then he stayed there. When Thaqif surrendered Amr b.
Umayya b. Wahb b. Muattib b. Malik built a mosque over the place where he prayed. There was a pillar in the mosque. Some allege that the sun never rises over it any day but a creaking noise* is heard from it. (* naqid.
Ibn al-Athir, Nihaya, sub voce, explains this word from the creaking of a camel's litter and the noise given out by a roof when the wood moves [expands in the heat?].) The apostle besieged them and fought them bitterly and the two sides exchanged arrows (840), until when the day of storming came at the wall of al-Taif a number of his companions went under a testudo and advanced up to the wall to breach it.
Thaqif let loose on them scraps of hot iron so they came out from under it and Thaqif shot them with arrows and killed some of them. The apostle ordered that the vineyards of Thaqif should be cut down and the men fell upon them cutting them down.

Abu Sufyan b. Harb and al-Mughira b. Shuba went up to al-Taif and called to Thaqif to grant them safety so that they could speak to them. When they agreed they called on the women of (the) Quraysh and (the) B.
Kinana to come out to them for they were afraid that they would be captured, but they refused to come.
They were Amina d. Abu Sufyan who was married to Urwa b. Masud by whom she gave birth to Daud b.
Urwa (844); and al-Firasiya d. Suwayd b. Amr b.
Thalaba whose son was Abdul-Rahman b. Qarib; and al-Fuqaymiya Umayma d. the intercalator Umayya b.
Qal. When they refused to come out Ibn al-Aswad b.
Masud said to the two men, 'Let me tell you of something better than that which you have come about. You know where the property of (the) B.
Aswad is.' (The apostle was between it and al-Taif in a valley called al-Aqiq.) 'There is no property in al-Taif more laborious to water, harder to cultivate, and more difficult to maintain than this property of (the) B.
Aswad. If Mohammed cuts down its trees it will never be cultivated again, so speak to him and let him take it for himself or leave it to God and kinsmen, for there is a well-known relationship between us.' They allege that the apostle left it to them.

I have heard that the apostle said to Abu Bakr while he was besieging al-Taif, I saw (in a dream) that I was given a bowl of butter and a cock pecked at it and spilt it.' Abu Bakr said, I don't think that you will attain your desire from them today.' The apostle said that he did not think so either.

Then Khuwayla d. Hakim b. Umayya b. Haritha b. al-Auqas al-Sulamiya, wife of Uthman b. Mazun, asked the apostle to give her the jewellery of Badiya d.
Ghaylan b. Salama, or the jewellery of al-Faria d. Aqil if God gave him victory over al-Taif, for they were the best bejewelled women of Thaqif. I have been told that the apostle said to her, And if Thaqif is not permitted to me, O Khuwayla? She left him and went and told Umar, who came and asked the apostle if he had really said that. On hearing that he had, he asked if he should give the order to break camp, and receiving his permission he did so.

When the army moved off Said b. Ubayd b. Asid b.
Abu Amr b. Allaj called out, 'The tribe is holding out.'
Uyayna b. Hisn said, 'Yes, nobly and gloriously.' One of the Muslims said to him, 'God smite you, Uyayna!
Do you praise the polytheists for holding out against the apostle when you have come to help him? I did not come to fight Thaqif with you,' he answered, 'but I wanted Mohammed to get possession of al-Taif so that I might get a girl from Thaqif whom I might tread (Tabari: make pregnant) so that she might bear me a son, for Thaqif are a people who produce intelligent children.'

During his session there some of the slaves besieged in al-Taif came to him and accepted Islam and he freed them. One whom I do not suspect from Abdullah b.
Mukaddam from men of Thaqif said that when al-Taif surrendered some of them talked about these slaves, but the apostle refused to do anything saying that they were God's free men. One of those who spoke about them was al-Harith b. Kalada (842).

Now Thaqif had seized the family of Marwan b. Qays al-Dausi, he having become a Muslim and helped the apostle against Thaqif. Thaqif allege—and Thaqif is the ancestor on whom the tribe's claim to be of Qays is based—that the apostle said to Marwan b. Qays,
'Seize in revenge for your family the first man of Qays that you meet.' He met Ubayy b. Malik al-Qushayri and took him until they should return his family to him. Al-Dahhak b. Sufyan al-Kilabi took the matter in hand and spoke to Thaqif until they let Marwan's family go, and he freed Ubayy. Al-Dahhak in reference to what passed between him and Ubayy said:

Will you forget my kindness, O Ubayy b. Malik,
The day the apostle looked away from you?

Marwan b. Qays led you by his rope
Submissive as a well-trained beast.
Some of Thaqif behaved badly to you,
(If anyone comes to them asking for trouble they get it!)

Yet they were your relatives and their minds turned to you
When you were almost in despair (843).

These are the names of the Muslims who were martyred at al-Taif:

From (the) Quraysh: the clan of (the) B. Umayya b.
Abdu Shams: Said b. Said b. al-As b. Umayya; and Urfuja b. Jannab, an ally from al-Asd b. al-Ghauth (844); the clan of (the) B. Taym b. Murra: Abdullah b.
Abu Bakr was shot by an arrow and died of it in Medina after the death of the apostle; the clan of Makhzum: Abdullah b. Abu Umayya b. al-Mughira from an arrow that day; the clan of B. Adiy b. Kab:
Abdullah b. Amir b. Rabia an ally; the clan of (the) B.
Sahm b. Amr; Al-Saib b. al-Harith b. Qays b. Adiy and his brother Abdullah; the clan of (the) B. Sad b.
Layth: Julayha b. Abdullah.

From the Ansar: from B. Salima: Thabit b. al-Jadha; from B. Mazin b. al-Najjar: al-Harith b. Sahl b. Abu Sasaa; from (the) B. Saida: al-Mundhir b. Abdullah; from al-Aus: Ruqaym b. Thabit b. Thalaba b. Zayd b.
Laudhan b. Muawiya.

Twelve of the apostle's companions were martyred at al-Taif, seven from Quraysh, four from the Ansar, and a man from (the) B. Layth.

When the apostle left al-Taif after the fighting and the siege Bujayr b. Zuhayr b. Abu Sulma said commemorating Hunayn and al-Taif:

(Al-Taif) was a sequel to the battle of Hunayn
And Autas and al-Abraq when Hawazin gathered their force in their folly
And were dispersed like scattered birds.
The (men of al-Taif) could not hold a single place against us

Except their wall and the bottom of the trench.
We showed ourselves that they might come forth,
But they shut themselves in behind a barred gate.
Our unmailed men (The alternative 'weareried men' [plural of hasir] seems less fitting. Hasra is plural of hasir.) returned to a strong surging force
Fully armed glittering with death-dealing weapons; Compact, dark green, (if one threw them at Hadan
[A mountain in Najd.]
It would become as though it had not been created
[i.e. as if it had never been there at all.]

With the gait of lions (Or 'hounds'.) walking on thorns, as though we were horses (Following C. qudur which the commentators say means 'horses that put the hind-leg where the fore-leg has trod'. Wüstenfeld has fudur 'camels' or 'wild goats'. It may be that camels are meant.)

Now separated now coming together as they are led,
In long armour which whenever it is donned
Is like a shimmering pool ruffled by the win;
Well-woven armour which reaches to our sandals Woven by David and the family of Muharriq (i.e.
Amr b. Hind, King of Hira.)

DIVISION OF THE SPOIL (Loot / Booty) OF HAWAZIN AND GIFTS TO GAIN MEN'S HEARTS.

When he left al-Taif the apostle went by way of Dahna until he stopped at al-Jirana with his men, having a large number of Hawazin captives. One of his companions on the day he left Thaqif asked him to curse them but he said, 'O God, guide Thaqif and bring them (to Islam).'

Then a deputation from Hawazin came to him in al-Jirana where he held 6,000 women and children, and sheep and camels innumerable which had been captured from them. Amr b. Shuayb from his father from his grandfather Abdullah b. Amr said that the deputation from Hawazin came to the apostle after they had accepted Islam, saying that the disaster which had befallen them was well known and asking him to have pity on them for God's sake. One of the Hawazin of the clan B. Sad b. Bakr (Tabari: it was they who had provided the fostermother for the apostle) called Zuhayr Abu Surad said: 'O Apostle of God, in the enclosures are your paternal and maternal aunts and the women who suckled you who used to look after you. Had we acted as fosterparents for al-Harith b. Abu Shimr or al-Numan b. al-Mundhir and then got into the position in which you hold us we could hope for his kindness and favour, and you are the best of trustworthy men' (845).

(Tabari: Then he said:

Have pity on us, apostle of God, generously,
For you are the man from whom we hope and expect pity.

Have pity on a people whom fate has frustrated,
Their well-being shattered by time's misfortunes.)

The apostle said, 'Which are dearest to you? Your sons and your wives or your cattle?' They replied, 'Do you give us the choice between our cattle and our honour? Nay, give us back our wives and our sons, for that is what we most desire.' He said, 'So far as concerns what I and the B. Abdul-Muttalib have they are yours. When I have prayed the noon prayer with the men then get up and say, 'We ask the apostle's intercession with the Muslims, and the Muslims' intercession with the apostle for our sons and our wives.' I will then give them to you and make application on your behalf.' When the apostle had ended the noon prayers they did as he had ordered them, and he said what he had promised to say. Then the Muhajirs said that what was theirs was the apostle's, and the Ansar said the same. But al-Aqra' b. Habis said, 'So far as I and (the) B. Tamim are concerned, No.' Uyayna b. Hisn said No on behalf of himself and (the) B. Fazara and so did Abbas b. Mirdas for himself and (the) B. Sulaym; but (the) B. Sulaym said, 'Not so; what is ours is the apostle's.' Abbas said to (the) B. Sulaym, 'You have put me to shame.' Then the apostle said, 'He who holds to his right to these captives shall have six camels for every man from the first booty I (Tabari: we) take.' Then the women and children were returned to their men.

Abu Wajza Yazid b. Ubayd al-Sadi told me that the apostle gave Ali a girl* called Rayja d. Hilal b. Hayyan b. Umayya b. Hilal b. Nasira b. Qusayya b. Nasr b. Sad b. Bakr; and he gave Uthman a girl called Zaynab d. Hayyan; and he gave Umar a girl whom Umar gave to his son Abdullah. (* In Arabic culture, and therefore in Islam, a captured woman, especially a non-Muslim one, is considered A thing' and can be treated as sex-slave, can be raped, can be killed. This notion still exists today quite simply because Mohammed, who allowed this treatment of captured women, is considered the 'perfect example of a human being'. It does not only reflect a behaviour in the past but is also a practice in modern times.)

Nafi, a client of Abdullah b. Umar from Abdullah b. Umar, told me: I sent her to my aunts of (the) B. Jumah to prepare and get her ready for me until I had circumambulated the temple and could come to them, wanting to take her when I returned. When I had finished I came out of the mosque and lo the men were running about, and when I asked why they told me that the apostle had returned their wives and children to them, so I told them that their woman was with (the) B. Jumah and they could go and take her, and they did so. Uyayna b. Hisn took an old woman of Hawazin and said as he took her, I see that she is a person of standing in the tribe and her ransom may well be high.' When the apostle returned the captives at a price of six camels each he refused to give her back. Zuhayr Abu Surad told him to let her go, for her mouth was cold and her breasts flat; she could not conceive and her husband would not care and her milk was not rich.

So he let her go for the six camels when Zuhayr said this. They allege that when Uyayna met al-Aqra b. Habis he complained to him about the matter and he said: By God, you did not take her as a virgin in her prime nor even a plump middle age!

The apostle asked the Hawazin deputation about Malik b. Auf and they said that he was in al-Taif with Thaqif. The apostle told them to tell Malik that if he came to him as a Muslim he would return his family and property to him and give him a hundred camels. On hearing this Malik came out from al-Taif. He had been afraid that Thaqif would get to know what the apostle had said and imprison him, so he ordered that his camel should be got ready for him and that a horse should be brought to him in al-Taif. He came out by night, mounted his horse, and rode hard until he got to the place where his camel was tethered, and rode off to join the apostle, overtaking him in al-Jirana or Mecca. He gave him back his family and property and gave him a hundred camels. He became an excellent Muslim and at the time he said:

I have never seen or heard of a man
Like Mohammed in the whole world;
Faithful to his word and generous when asked for a gift,

And when you wish he will tell you of the future.

When the squadron shows its strength

With spears and swords that strike,

In the dust of war he is like a lion

Guarding its cubs in its den.

The apostle put him in command of those of his people who had accepted Islam, and those tribes (Tabari: round al-Taif) were Thumala, Salima, and Fahm. He began to fight Thaqif with them: none of their flocks could come out but he raided them until they were in sore straits

Abu Mihjan b. Habib b. Amr b. Umayr al-Thaqafi said:

Enemies have always dreaded our neighbourhood.

And now the Banu Salima raid us!

Malik brought them on us

Breaking his covenant and solemn word.

They attacked us in our settlements

And we have always been men who take revenge.

When the apostle had returned the captives of Hunayn to their people he rode away and the men followed him, saying, 'O apostle, divide our spoil of camels and herds among us' until they forced him back against a tree and his mantle was torn from him and he cried, 'Give me back my mantle, men, for by God if you had (Tabari: I had) as many sheep as the trees of Tihama I would distribute them among you; you have not found me niggardly or cowardly or false.' Then he went to his camel and took a hair from its hump and held it aloft in his fingers, saying, 'Men, I have nothing but a fifth of your booty even to this hair, and the fifth I will return to you; so give back the needle and the thread; for dishonesty will be a shame and a flame and utter ignominy to a man on the resurrection day.' One of the Ansar came with a ball of camel hair, saying, 'O apostle, I took this ball to make a pad for a sore camel of mine.' He answered, 'As for my share in that you can keep it!' If it has come to that,' he said, 'I do not want it,' and he threw it away (846).

The apostle gave gifts to those whose hearts were to be won over, notably the chiefs of the army, to win them and through them their people. He 881 gave to the following 100 camels: Abu Sufyan b. Harb; his son Muawiya Hakim b. Hizam; al-Harith b. al-Harith b. Kalada brother of B. Abdul-Dar (847); al-Harith b. Hisham; Suhayl b. Amr; Huwaytib b. Abdul-Uzza b. Abu Qays; al-Ala b. Jariya al-Thaqafi an ally of B. Zuhra; Uyayna b. Hisn b. Hudhayfa b. Badr; al-Aqra

b. Habis al-Tamimi; Malik b. Auf al-Nasri; and Safwan b. Umayya.

He gave less than 100 camels to the following men of Quraysh: Makhrama b. Naufal al-Zuhri; Umayr b. Wahb Jal-umahi; Hisham b. Amr brother of B. Amir b. Luayy and others. He gave 50 to Saïd b. Yarbu b. Ankatha b. Amir b. MakhzUm and to al-Sahmi (848)

He gave Abbas b. Mirdas some camels and he was dissatisfied with them and blamed the apostle in the following verses:

It was spoil that I gained

When I charged on my horse in the plain

And kept the people awake lest they should sleep

And when they slept kept watch.

My spoil and that of Ubayd my horse

Is shared by Uyayna and al-Aqra.

Though I protected my people in the battle,

Myself unprotected I was given nothing

But a few small camels

To the number of their four legs!

Yet neither Habis nor Hisn (They were the fathers of Uyayna and al-Aqra, the two men mentioned in line 6.)

Surpass my father in the assembly,

And I am not inferior to either of them.

And he whom you demean today will not be exalted (849).

The apostle said, 'Get him away and cut off his tongue from me,' so they gave him (camels) until he was satisfied, this being what the apostle meant by his order (Ibn Hisham's note in which Sura 36.69 is quoted rests on the absurd statement of an anonymous traditionist that Mohammed was so ignorant of verse that he could not recognise rhyme when he heard it, a poor compliment to the greatest Arab of all time. Here, for want of a better place, I cite Ibn Ishaq from al-Zuhri via Yunus (Sura 36. 69): "We have not taught him verse. That does not befit him." The meaning is "What We have taught him is not verse. It is not fitting that he should bring verse from Us." The apostle only uttered verse which had been spoken by others before him.' Akhbarul-Nahwiyin al-Basriyin, by al-Sirafi, ed. F. Krenkow, Beirut, 1936, pp. 72 f) (850).

Mohammed b. Ibrahim b. al-Harith al-Taymi told me that a companion said to the apostle: 'You have given Uyayna and al-Aqra a hundred camels each and left out Juayl b. Suraqa al-Damri!' He answered, 'By Him in whose hand is the soul of Mohammed, Juayl is better than the whole world full of men like those two; but I have treated them generously so that they may become Muslims, and I have entrusted Juayl to his Islam.'

Abu Ubayda b. Mohammed b. Ammar b. Yasir from Miqsam Abul-Qasim, freed slave of Abdullah b. al-Harith b. Naufal, told me: I went in company with Talid b. Kilab al-Laythi to Abdullah b. Amr b. al-As as he was going round the temple with his sandals in his hand, and we asked him whether he was with the apostle when the Tamimite spoke to him on the day of Hunayn. He said that he was and that a man of Tamim called Dhul-Khuwaysira came and stood by the apostle as he was making gifts to the men and said, 'Mohammed, I have seen what you have done today.' 'Well, and what do you think?' he answered. He said, 'I do not think you have been just.' The prophet was angry and said, 'If justice is not to be found with me* then where will you find it?' Umar asked to be allowed to kill him, but he said, 'Let him alone, for he will have a following that will go so deeply into religion that they will come out of it as an arrow comes out of the target; you look at the head and there is nothing on it; you look at the butt end and there is nothing on it; then at the notch and there is nothing on it. It went through before flesh and blood could adhere to it.' (* This is a very clear statement. It says that Mohammed is the basis of Islam, the Koran, and consequently of the Sharia Law! There can be no doubt about this.

This is the very reason why Islam and its Sharia Law cannot be reformed, made 'more modern or human', or otherwise changed or interpreted!)

Mohammed b. Ali b. al-Husayn, Abu Jafar, told me a similar story and named the man Dhul-Khuwaysira. Abdullah b. Abu Najih told me the same from his father (851).

(Tabari 1683:) Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that one of the apostle's companions who was at Hunayn with him said, I was riding my camel by the side of the apostle, wearing a rough sandal, when my camel jostled his and the toe of my sandal hit the apostle's shank and hurt him. He hit my foot with his whip, saying, "You hurt me. Get behind!" so I went behind him. The next morning the apostle was looking for me and I thought it was because I had hurt his leg, so I came expecting (punishment); but he said, "You hurt my leg yesterday and I struck your foot with my whip. Now I have summoned you to compensate you for it," and he gave me eighty she-camels for the one blow he struck me.' (Some Manuscripts have here a gloss in which Ibn Hisham takes up the narrative of Ibn Ishaq which he broke off when he cut out the passage from Jabari that contains what Ibn Ishaq wrote.)

Asim b. Umar b. Qatada from Mahmud b. Labid from Abu Saïd al-Khudri told me: When the apostle had distributed these gifts among (the) Quraysh and the Bedouin tribes, and the Ansar got nothing, this tribe of Ansar took the matter to heart and talked a great deal about it, until one of them said, 'By God, the apostle has met his own people.' Sad b. Ubada went to the apostle and told him what had happened. He asked, 'Where do you stand in this matter, Sad?' He said, 'I stand with my people.' 'Then gather your people in this enclosure,' he said. He did so, and when some of the Muhajirs came, he let them come, while others he sent back. When he had got them altogether he went and told the apostle, and he came to them, and after praising and thanking God he addressed them thus: 'O men of Ansar, what is this I hear of you? Do you think ill of me in your hearts? Did I not come to you when you were erring and God guided you; poor and God made you rich; enemies and God softened your hearts?'

They answered: 'Yes indeed, God and His apostle are most kind and generous.' He continued: 'Why do you not answer me, O Ansar?' They said, 'How shall we answer you? Kindness and generosity belong to God and His apostle.' He said, 'Had you so wished you could have said—and you would have spoken the truth and have been believed—You came to us discredited and we believed you; deserted and we helped you; a fugitive and we took you in; poor and we comforted you. Are you disturbed in mind because of the good things of this life by which I win over a people that they may become Muslims while I entrust you to your Islam? Are you not satisfied that men should take away flocks and herds while you take back with you the apostle of God? By Him in whose hand is the soul of Mohammed, but for the migration (Had he not been joined by the Muhajirs from Mecca who had remained faithful to him, he would have severed his connexion with the Quraysh altogether and joined the community of Medina. L.H.: Migration was and still is, because of Mohammed's own example, a main doctrine of Islam. With Migration, and the subsequent extermination of the new host communities or civilisations, in connexion with a rapid reproduction number, Muslims spread Islam anywhere else. The main tool for this undertaking is Sharia Law which tries, first carefully and polite, to implement Islamic demands, such as general availability of halal food, free time for the daily five prayers, and the provision of 'gathering places [prayer-rooms and mosques]. Later it becomes stricter by prohibiting non-halal food, equality of gender etc. With gaining political power by getting high positions, Muslims are obliged to disfunctionalise the new host communities in order to put Sharia Law in place of the host's law.) I should be one of the Ansar myself. If all men went one way and the Ansar another I should take the way of the Ansar. God have mercy on the Ansar, their sons and their sons' sons.' (Similarly Musa b. Uqba, No. 10.) The people wept until the tears ran down their beards as they said: 'We are satisfied with the apostle of God as our lot and portion'. Then the apostle went off and they dispersed.

THE APOSTLE MAKES THE LESSER PILGRIMAGE FROM AL-JIRANA

Then the apostle left al-Jirana to make the lesser pilgrimage. He gave orders that the rest of the spoil should be kept back in Majanna near Marrul-Zahrana. Having completed the pilgrimage he returned to Medina. He left Attab b. Asid in charge of Mecca. He also left behind with him Muadh b. Jabal to instruct the people in religion and to teach them the Koran (This is a clear indication that the Koran was already written at this time.). He himself was followed by the rest of the spoil (852).

The apostle's pilgrimage was in Dhul-Qada, and he arrived in Medina towards the end of that month or in Dhul-Hijja (853).

The people made the pilgrimage that year in the way the (pagan) Arabs used to do. Attab made the pilgrimage with the Muslims tfrat year, 8 A.H. The people of al-Taif continued in their polytheism and obstinacy in their city from the time the apostle left in Dhul-Qada of the year 8 until Ramadan of the following year.

THE AFFAIR OF KAB B. ZUHAYR AFTER THE DEPARTURE FROM AL-TAIF

When the apostle arrived (at Medina) after his departure from al-Taif Bujayr b. Zuhayr b. Abu Sulma wrote to his brother Kab telling him that the apostle had killed some of the men in Mecca who had satirized and insulted him and that the Quraysh poets who were left—Ibn al-Zibara and Hubayra b. Abu Wahb—had fled in all directions. If you have any use for your life then come quickly to the apostle, for he does not kill anyone who comes to him in repentance. If you do not do that, then get to some safe place.' Kab had said:

Give Bujayr a message from me:
Do you accept what I said, confound you?
Tell us plainly if you do not accept what I say
For what reason other than that has he led you
To a religion I cannot find his fathers ever held
And you cannot find that your father followed?
If you do not accept what I say I shall not grieve
Nor say if you stumble God help you!
Al-Mamun has given you a full cup to drink
And added a second draught of the same (854).

Bujayr said to Kab:

Who will tell Kab that that for which you wrongly blame me
Is the better course?
To God alone not al-Uzza and al-Lat
You will escape and be safe while escape is possible,
On a day when none will escape
Except a Muslim pure of heart.
Zuhayr's religion is a thing of naught
And the religion of Abu Sulma is forbidden to me.

Kab used the title al-Mamun (855) simply for the reason that (the) Quraysh used to name the apostle thus.

When Kab received the missive he was deeply distressed and anxious for his life. His enemies in the neighbourhood spread alarming reports about him saying that he was as good as slain. Finding no way out, he wrote his ode in which he praised the apostle and mentioned his fear and the slanderous reports of his enemies. Then he set out for Medina and stayed with a man of Juhayna whom he knew, according to my information. He took him to the apostle when he was praying morning prayers, and he prayed with him. The man pointed out the apostle to him and told him to go and ask for his life. He got up and went and sat by the apostle and placed his hand in his, the apostle not knowing who he was. He said, 'O apostle, Kab b. Zuhayr has come to ask security from you as a repentant Muslim. Would you accept him as such if he came to you?' When the apostle said that he would, he confessed that he was Kab b. Zuhayr.

Asim b. Umar b. Qatada told me that one of the Ansar leapt upon him asking to be allowed to behead the enemy of God, but the apostle told him to let him alone because he had come repentant breaking away from his past. Kab was angry at this tribe of the Ansar because of what this man had done and moreover the men of the Muhajirin spoke only well of him. In his ode which he recited when he came to the apostle he said:

Suad is gone, and today my heart is love-sick, in thrall to her, unrequited, bound with chains;

And Suad, when she came forth on the morn of departure, was but as a gazelle with bright black downcast eyes.

When she smiles, she lays bare a shining row of side-teeth that seems to have been bathed once and twice in (fragrant) wine—

Wine mixed with pure cold water from a pebbly hollow where the north-wind blows, in a bend of the valley,

From which the winds drive away every speck of dust, and it brims over with white-foamed torrents fed by showers gushing from a cloud of morn.

Oh, what a rare mistress were she, if only she were true to her promise and would hearken to good advice! But hers is a love in whose blood are mingled paining and lying and faithlessness and inconstancy.

She is not stable in her affection—even as ghouls change the hue of their garments—

And she does not hold to her plighted word otherwise than as sieves hold water.

The promises of Urqub were a parable of her, and his promises were naught but vanity.

I hope and expect that women will ever be ready to keep their word; but never, methinks, are they ready.

Let not the wishes she inspired and the promises she made beguile thee: lo, these wishes and dreams are a delusion.

In the evening SuAd came to a land whither none is brought save by camels that are excellent and noble and fleet.

To bring him there, he wants a stout she-camel which, though fatigued, loses not her wonted speed and pace;

One that largely bedews the bone behind her ear when she sweats, one that sets herself to cross a trackless unknown wilderness;

Scanning the high grounds with eyes keen ks those of a solitary white oryx, when stony levels and sand-hills are kindled (by the sun);

Big in the neck, fleshy in the hock, surpassing in her make the other daughters of the sire;

Thick-necked, full-cheeked, robust, male-like, her flanks wide, her front (tall) as a milestone;

Whose tortoise-shell skin is not pierced at last even by a lean (hungry) tick on the outside of her back;

A hardy beast whose brother is her sire by a noble dam, and her sire's brother is her dam's brother; a long-necked one and nimble.

The quard (A large species of tick.) crawls over her: then her smooth breast and flanks cause it to slip off.

Onager-like is she; her side slabbed with firm flesh, her elbow-joint (i.e. the middle joint of the foreleg.)

far removed from the ribs;

Her nose aquiline; in her generous ears are signs of breeding plain for the expert to see, and in her cheeks smoothness.

Her muzzle juts out from her eyes and throat, as though it were a pick-axe.

She lets a tail like a leafless palm-branch with small tufts of hair hang down over a sharp-edged (unrounded) udder from which its teats do not take away (milk) little by little (i.e. she is a camel for riding, not for milking.).

Though she be not trying, she races along on light slender feet that skim the ground as they fall,

With tawny hock-tendons—feet that leave the gravel scattered and are not shod so that they should be kept safe from the blackness of the heaped stones,

The swift movement of her forelegs, when she sweats and the mirage enfolds the hills—

On a day when the chameleon basks in some high spot until its exposed part is baked as in fire,

And, the grey cicalas having begun to hop on the gravel, the cameldriver bids his companions take the siesta—

Resembles the beating of hand on hand by a bereaved grey-haired woman who rises to lament and is answered by those who have lost many a child,

One wailing shrilly, her arms weak, who had no understanding when news was brought of the death of her firstborn son:

She tears her breast with her hands, while her tunic is rent in pieces from her collar-bones.

The fools walk on both sides of my camel, saying, 'Verily, O grandson of Abu Sulma, thou art as good as slain' (Referring to his journey to the Prophet, who had already given the order for his death. L.H.: In other words: Mohammed considered himself to be proccutor, judge, and executioner. When Muslims today take Mohammed as prime example of how a human being should be, they are all too ready to follow him in this regard too.);

And every friend of whom I was hopeful said, I will not help thee out: I am too busy to mind thee.'

I said, 'Let me go my way, may ye have no father! for whatever the Merciful hath decreed shall be done.

Every son of woman, long though his safety be, one day is borne upon a gibbous bier.'

I was told that the Messenger of Allah threatened me (with death), but with the Messenger of Allah I have hope of finding pardon.

Gently! mayst thou be guided by Him who gave thee the gift of the Koran, wherein are warnings and a plain setting-out (of the matter).

Do not punish me, when I have not sinned, on account of what is said by the informers, even should the (false) sayings about me be many.

Ay, I stand in such a place that if an elephant stood there, seeing (what I see) and hearing what I hear,

The sides of his neck would be shaken with terror— if there be no forgiveness from the Messenger of Allah.

I did not cease to cross the desert, plunging betimes into the darkness when the mantle of Night is fallen,

Till I laid my right hand, not to withdraw it, in the hand of the avenger whose word is the word of truth.

For indeed he is more feared by me when I speak to him—and they told me I should be asked of my lineage—

Than a lion of the jungle, one whose lair is amidst dense thickets in the lowland of Aththar;

He goes in the morning to feed two cubs, whose victual is human flesh rolled in the dust and torn to pieces;

When he springs on his adversary, 'tis (it is) against his law that he should leave the adversary ere he is broken;

From him the asses of the broad dale flee in affright, and men do not walk in his wadi, Albeit ever in his wadi is a trusty fere, his armour and hardworn raiment smeared with blood—ready to be devoured.

Truly the Messenger is a light whence illumination is sought—a drawn Indian sword, one of the swords of Allah,

Amongst a band of Kuraish, whose spokesman said when they professed Islam in the valley of Mecca, 'Depart ye!'

They departed, but no weaklings were they or shieldless in battle or without weapons and courage;

They march like splendid camels and defend themselves with blows when the short black men take to flight (Probably a hit at the people of Medina, some of whom had urged Mohammed to show the poet no mercy.);

Warriors with noses high and straight, clad for the fray in mail-coats of David's weaving (David is described in the Koran (12.80) as a maker of coats of mail.), Bright, ample, with pierced rings strung together like the rings of the qafa (Name of a plant.).

They are not exultant if their spears overtake an enemy or apt to despair if they be themselves overtaken.

The spear-thrust falls not but on their throats: for them there is no shrinking from the ponds of death (i.e. places where draughts of death are drunk. By the courtesy of the Cambridge University Press I take this translation from Translations of Eastern Poetry and Prose by my old friend R. A. Nicholson.) (856).

Asim b. Umar b. Qatada said: When Kab said, 'When the short black men take to flight,' he meant us, the Ansar, because of the way one of us had treated him. He singled out the Muhajirin among the apostle's companions for praise. This excited the Ansar's anger against him. After he had become a Muslim he spoke in praise of the Ansar and mentioned their trials with the apostle and their position among the Yaman tribes:

He who loves a glorious life
Let him ever be with the horsemen of the righteous Ansar,

Who transmit glorious deeds from father to son.
The best men are they, sons of the best men
Who launch with their arms spears
Like long Indian swords,
Who peer forward unweariedly
With eyes red as burning coals.

Who devote their lives to their prophet
On the day of hand-to-hand fighting and cavalry attacks.

They purify themselves with the blood of infidels (Kafirs, Kufr = vile non-Muslims);
They consider that an act of piety.

Their habit is that of thick-necked lions
Accustomed to hunt in a valleyed thicket.
If you come to them for protection
You are as it were in the inaccessible haunts of mountain goats.

They smote Ali* such a blow on the day of Badr
As brought the downfall of all Nizar.

(* S. ii. 315 explains that the Quraysh is meant by Ali because the B. Ali = the B. Kinana = the Quraysh. On the authorship of these verses see Introduction, xxviii.)

If people knew all that I know about them
Those that dispute with me would recognise the truth of what I say.

They are a people who richly feed the night-travellers,
Who arrive in a time of dearth (857).

THE RAID ON TABUK, 9 A.H.

The apostle stayed in Medina from Dhul-Hijja to Rajab, and then gave orders to prepare to raid the (Eastern) Romans. The following account is based on what al-Zuhri and Yazid b. Ruman (mind the linguistic relation to the word Roman) and Abdullah b. Abu Bakr and Asim b. Umar b. Qatada and other authorities told me; some supplied information which others lacked.

The apostle ordered his companions to prepare to raid the Byzantines at a time when men were hard pressed; the heat was oppressive and there was a drought; fruit was ripe (Tabari 1692: and shade was eagerly sought) and the men wanted to stay in the shade with their fruit and disliked travelling at that season. Now the apostle nearly always referred allusively to the destination of a raid and announced that he was making for a place other than that which he actually intended. This was the sole exception, for he said plainly that he was making for the Romans because the journey was long, the season difficult, and the enemy in great strength, so that the men could make suitable preparations. He ordered them to get ready and told them that he was making for the Romans. (Tabari: So the men got ready in spite of their dislike for the journey in itself to say nothing of their respect for the reputation of true Romans.)

One day when he was making his arrangements the apostle said to Jadd b. Qays of (the) B. Salima: 'Would you like to fight the B. Asfar?', (the) Jadd? (* i.e. 'the fallow men'. A.Dh says they are the descendants of Esau who is said to have been of a fallow [meaning yellowish] countenance. He distinguishes between the Romans (Rum) and the old Greeks [Yunan]. L.H.: Although Romans and Greeks were the object of speculation, a more likely speculation in this regard would be Central or Eastern Asians who clearly have a yellowish taint and frequently visited the Arabian peninsula.) He replied, 'Will you allow me to stay behind and not tempt me, for everyone knows that I am strongly addicted to women and I am afraid that if I see the Roman women I shall not be able to control' myself.' The apostle gave him permission to remain behind and turned away from him. It was about him that the verse came down, 'There are some who say Give me leave (to stay behind) and do not tempt me. Surely they have fallen into temptation already and hell encompasses the unbelievers (Koran 9.49), i.e. it was not that he feared temptation from the Roman women: the temptation he had fallen into was greater in that he hung back from the apostle and sought to please himself rather than the apostle. God said, 'Verily hell is behind him (Koran 14.19).'

The disaffected said one to another, 'Do not go forth in the heat,' disliking strenuous war, doubting the truth, and creating misgivings about the apostle. So God sent down concerning them: And they said, Go not forth in the heat. Say: The fire of hell is hotter did they but understand. Let them laugh a little and let them weep much as a reward for what they were earning (Koran 9.82) (858).

The apostle went forward energetically with his preparations and ordered the men to get ready with all speed. He urged the men of means to help in providing money and mounts for God's work (Tabari: and persuaded them). The wealthy men provided mounts and stored up a reward with God. Uthman b. Affan spent a larger sum than any had ever done (859).

Then seven Muslims known as The Weepers, Ansar, and others from (the) B. Amr b. Auf came to the apostle and asked him to provide them with mounts for they were without means. Their names were: Salim b. Umayr; Ulba b. Zayd, brother of B. Haritha; Abu Layla Abdul-Rahman b. Kab, brother of (the) B. Mazin b. al-Najjar; Amr b. Humam b. al-Jamuh, brother of B. Salima; Abdullah b. al-Mughaffal al Muzani (or b. Amr); Haramly b. Abdullah, brother of (the) B. Waqif; and Irbad b. Sariya al-Fazari. He said that he had no mount to give them and they turned back, their eyes flowing with tears for grief that they had not the wherewithal to meet the expense of the raid.

I have heard that Ibn Yamln b. Umayr b. Kab al-Nadri met Abu Layla and Abdullah b. Mughaffal as they were weeping, and when he asked what they were crying for they told him that they had applied to the apostle for a mount, but that he had none to give them and they had nothing. Thereupon he gave them a watering camel, and they saddled it and he provided them with some dates and so they went off with the apostle.

Some Bedouin came to apologise for not going, but God would not accept their excuse. I have been told that they were from B. Ghifar. (Tabari: One of them was Khufaf b. Ima b. Rahda.)

When the apostle's road was clear he determined to set off. Now there was a number of Muslims who were slow to make up their minds so that they lagged behind without any doubt or misgivings. They were Kab b. Malik b. Abu Kab, brother of (the) B. Salima; Murara b. al-Rabi, brother of (the) B. Amr b. Auf; Hilal b. Umayya, brother of (the) B. Waqif; Abu Khaythama, brother of B. Salim b. Auf; they were loyal men whose Islam was above suspicion.

When the apostle had set out he pitched his camp by Thaniyatul-Wada (A pass overlooking Medina.) (860).

Abdullah b. Ubayy (Tabari: b. Salul) pitched his camp separately below him in the direction of Dhubab (Tabari: a mountain in al-Jabbana below Thaniyatul-Wada.) It is alleged that it was not the smaller camp. When the apostle went on, Abdullah b. Ubayy separated from him and stayed behind with the hypocrites and doubters. (Tabari: Abdullah was brother of (the) B. Auf b. al-Khazraj, and Abdullah b. Nabtal was brother of the B. Amr b. Auf; and Rifaa b. Zayd b. al-Tabut was brother of the B. Qaynuqa. These were the principal men among the hypocrites and wished ill to Islam and its people. Concerning them God sent down: 'They sought rebellion aforesaid and upset things for you.' Koran 9.48)

The apostle left Ali behind to look after his family, and ordered him to stay with them. The hypocrites spoke evil of him, saying that he had been left behind because he was a burden to the apostle and he wanted to get rid of him. On hearing this Ali seized his weapons and caught up with the apostle when he was halting in al-Jurf and repeated to him what the hypocrites were saying. He replied: 'They lie. I left you behind because of what I had left behind, so go back and represent me in my family and yours. Are you not content, Ali, to stand to me as Aaron stood to Moses, except that there will be no prophet after me?' So Ali returned to Medina and the apostle went on his way. Mohammed b. Jalha b. Yazid b. Rukana from Ibrahim b. Sad b. Abu Waqqas from his father Sad told me that he heard the apostle saying these words to Ali.

Then Ali returned to Medina and the apostle went his way. Abu Khaythama (Tabari: brother of the B. Salim) returned to his family on a hot day some days after the apostle had set out. He found two wives of his in huts in his garden. Each had sprinkled her hut and cooled it with water and got ready food for him. When he arrived he stood at the door of the hut and looked at his wives and what they had done for him and said: 'The apostle is out in the sun and the wind and the heat and Abu Khaythama is in a cool shade, food prepared for him, resting in his property with a fair woman. This is not just. By God, I will not enter either of your huts, but join the apostle; so get ready some food for me.' They did so and he went to his camel and saddled it and went out in search of the apostle until he overtook him in Tabuk. Umayr b. Wahb al-Jumahi had overtaken Abu Khaythama on the road as he came to find the apostle, and they joined forces. When they approached Tabuk Abu Khaythama said to Umayr, I have done wrong. You can stay behind me if you like until I come to the apostle,' and he did so. When he approached the apostle as he was stopping in Tabuk, the army called attention to a man riding on the way and the apostle said it would be Abu Khaythama, and so it was. Having dismounted he came and saluted the apostle, who said, 'Woe to you, Abu Khaythama!' Then he told the apostle what had happened, and he spoke him well and blessed him (861).

When the apostle passed al-Hijr (Hijra / Hegira)* he stopped, and the men got water from its well. When they went the apostle said, 'Do not drink any of its water nor use it for ablutions. (* Often called Madain Saleh, in other words: "Medina". Doughty's account of this place in Arabia Deserta, passim, is still the most interesting. This place was once a large city whose architecture was identical to that one in its sister-city Petra [called Makka / Mecca in Pharan / Faran by the Armenian 9th century Chronist Tovmi Artsruni] As the name Hijr = Hijra suggests, this may well have been the first and 'real' Medina to which Mohammed migrated. This explains also why Mohammed warned not to drink from the well whose water was germinifed, as he very well knew. It is a matter of debate among historians whether he was forced to migrate a second time to the modern Medina.) If you have used any of it for dough, then feed it to the camels and eat none of it. Let none of you go out at night alone but take a companion.' The men did as they were told except two of them of (the) B. Saida: one went out to relieve himself and the other to look for a camel of his. The first was half choked* on his way and the second was carried away by a wind which cast him on the two mountains of Tayyi (The lexicologists say that khundqiya is a disease which attacks men and horses [and sometimes birds] in the throat.). The apostle was told of this and reminded the men that he had forbidden them to go out alone. Then he prayed for the man who was choked on the way and he recovered; the other man was brought to the apostle in Medina by a man of Tayyi. This story comes from Abdullah b. Abu Bakr from Abbas b. Sahl b. Sad al-Saidi. Abdullah told me that Abbas had told him who they were, but confidentially, so he refused to name them to me (862).

In the morning when the men had no water they complained to the apostle, so he prayed, and God sent a cloud, and so much rain fell that they were satisfied and carried away all the water they needed. Asim b. Umar b. Qatadah from Mahmud b. Labid from men of (the) B. Abdul-Ashhal told me that he said to Mahmud, 'Do the men know the hypocrites among them?' He replied that a man would know that hypocrisy existed in his brother, his father, his uncle, and his family, yet they would cover up each other. Then Mahmud said: Some of my tribesmen told me of a man whose hypocrisy was notorious. He used to go wherever the apostle went and when the affair at al-Hijr happened and the apostle prayed as he did and God sent a cloud which brought a heavy rain they said, 'We went to him saying "Woe to you! Have you anything more to say after this?" He said, "It is a passing cloud!"'

During the course of the journey the apostle's camel strayed and his companions went in search of it. The apostle had with him a man called Umara b. Hazm who had been at al-Aqaba and Badr, uncle of (the) B. Amr b. Hazm. He had in his company Zayd al-Lusayt al-Qaynuqai who was a hypocrite (863). Zayd said while he was in Umara's camp and Umara was with the apostle, 'Does Mohammed allege that he is a prophet and can tell you news from heaven when he doesn't know where his camel is?' The apostle said while Umara was with him: A man has said: Now Mohammed tells you that he is a prophet and alleges that he tells you of heavenly things and yet doesn't know where his camel is. By God, I know only what God has told me and God has shown me where it is. It is in this wadi in such-and-such a glen. A tree has caught it by its halter; so go and bring it to me.' They went and brought it. Umara returned to his camp and said: 'By God, the apostle has just told us a wonderful thing about something someone has said which God has told him of.' Then he repeated the words. One of his company who had not been present with the apostle exclaimed, 'Why, Zayd said this before you came. Umara advanced on Zayd pricking him in the neck and saying, 'To me, you servants of God! I had a misfortune in my company and knew nothing of it. Get out, you enemy of God, and do not associate with me.' Some people allege that Zayd subsequently repented; others say that he was suspected of evil until the day of his death.

Then the apostle continued his journey and men began to drop behind. When the apostle was told that So-and-so had dropped behind he said, 'Let him be; for if there is any good in him God will join him to you; if not God has rid you of him.' Finally it was reported that Abu Dharr had dropped behind and his camel had delayed him. The apostle said the same words. Abu Dharr waited on his camel and when it walked slowly with him he took his gear and loaded it on his back and went off walking in the track of the apostle. The apostle stopped at one of his halting-places when a man called his attention to someone walking on the way alone. The apostle said that he hoped it was Abu Dharr, and when the people had looked carefully they said that it was he. The apostle said, 'God have mercy on Abu Dharr. He walks alone and he will die alone and be raised alone.'

Burayda b. Sufyan al-Aslami from Mohammed b. Kab al-Qurazi from Abdullah b. Masud told me that when Uthman exiled Abu Dharr to al-Rabadha 1 and his appointed time came there was none with him but his wife and his slave. He instructed them to wash him and wind jhim in his shroud and lay him on the surface of the road and to tell the first caravan that passed who he was and ask them to help in burying him. When he died they did this. Abdullah b. Masud came up with a number of men from Iraq on pilgrimage when suddenly they saw the bier on the top of the road: the camels had almost trodden on it. The slave got up and said, 'This is Abu Dharr the apostle's companion. Help us to bury him.' Abdullah b. Masud broke out into loud weeping saying, 'The apostle was right. You walked alone, and you died alone, and you will be raised alone.' Then he and his companions alighted and buried him and he told them his story and what the apostle had said on the road to Tabuk.

A band of hypocrites, among them Wadia b. Thabit, brother of (the) B. Amr b. Auf, and a man of Ashja an ally of B. Salima called Mukhashshin b. Humayyir (864) were pointing at (Tabari: going with) the apostle as he was journeying to Tabuk saying one to another, 'Do you think that fighting the Romans is like a war between Arabs? By God we (Tabari: I) seem to see you bound with ropes tomorrow' so as to cause alarm and dismay to the believers. Mukhashshin said, I would rather that every one of us were sentenced to a hundred lashes than that a verse should come down about us concerning what you have said.'

The apostle—so I have heard—told Ammar b. Yasir to join the men, for they had uttered lies, and ask them what they had said. If they refused to answer, tell them that they said so-and-so. Ammar did as he was ordered and they came to the apostle making excuses. Wadia said as the apostle had halted on his camel, and as he spoke he laid hold of its girth, 'We were merely chatting and joking, O apostle.' Then God sent down, 'If you ask them they will say, We were merely chatting and joking (Koran 9.66).' Mukhashshin b. Humayyir said, 'O apostle, my name and my father's name disgrace me.' (Mukhashshin implies harshness and rudeness, and Humayyir means a little donkey.) The man who was pardoned in this verse was Mukhashshin and he was named Abdul-Rahman. He asked God to kill him as a martyr with none to know the place of his death. He was killed on the day of al-Yamama and no trace of him was found.

When the apostle reached Tabuk Yuhanna b. Ruba governor of Ayla came and made a treaty with him and paid him the poll tax. The people of Jarba and Adhruh also came and paid the poll tax (The Jizya tax imposed on Jewish and Christian non-Muslims). The apostle wrote* for them a document which they still have. He wrote to Yuhanna b. Ruba thus: In the name of God the Compassionate and Merciful. This is a guarantee from God and Mohammed the prophet, the apostle of God, to Yuhanna b. Ruba and the people of Ayla, for their ships and their caravans by land and sea. They and all that are with them, men of Syria, and the Yaman (Yemen), and seamen, all have the protection of God and the protection of Mohammed the prophet. Should any one of them break the treaty by introducing some new factor then his wealth shall not save him; it is the fair prize of him who takes it. It is not permitted that they shall be restrained from going down to their wells or using their roads by land or sea.' (* This text shows with enviable clarity that Mohammed could read and write. All speculation that he might have been an uneducated person have no foundation. Due to his knowledge of the scripture it is very likely that he read the Jewish and Christian literature, and he wrote parts of the Koran on his very own accordingly.)

Then the apostle summoned Khalid b. al-Walid and sent him to Ukaydir at Duma. Ukaydir b. Abdul-Malik was a man of Kinda who was ruler of Duma; he was a Christian. The apostle told Khalid that he would find him hunting wild cows. Khalid went off until he came within sight of his fort. It was a summer night with a bright moon and Ukaydir was on the roof with his wife. The cows were rubbing their horns against the gate of the fort all the night. His wife asked him if he had ever known anything of the kind in the past, and urged him to go after them. He called for his horse, and when it was saddled he rode off with a number of his family, among them a brother called Hassan. As they were riding the apostle's cavalry fell in with them and seized him and killed his brother. Ukaydir was wearing a gown of brocade covered with gold. Khalid stripped him of this and sent it to the apostle before he brought him to him.

Asim b. Umar b. Qatada from Anas b. Malik said: I saw Ukaydir's gown when it was brought to the apostle. The Muslims were feeling it and admiring it, and the apostle said, 'Do you admire this? By Him in whose hand is my life the napkins of Sad b. Muadh in Paradise are better than this.'

Then Khalid brought Ukaydir to the apostle who spared his life and made peace with him on condition that he paid the poll tax. Then he released him and he returned to his town. A man of Tayyi called Bujayr b. Bujara remembering the words of the apostle to Khalid, 'You will find him hunting wild cows,' said that what the cows did that night in bringing him out of his fort was to confirm what the apostle had said:

Blessed is He who drove out the cows.
I see God guiding every leader.
Those who turn aside from yonder Tabuk, (let them)
For we have been ordered to fight.

The apostle stayed in Tabuk some ten nights, not more. Then he returned to Medina.

On the way there was water issuing from a rock—enough to water two or three riders. It was in a wadi called al-Mushaqqaq. The apostle ordered anyone who should get there before him not to take water from it until he came. A number of the disaffected got there first and drew water from it. When the apostle arrived he halted and saw no water there. He asked who had got there first and was told their names. He exclaimed, 'Did I not forbid you to take water from it until I came? Then he cursed them and called down God's vengeance on them. Then he alighted and placed his hand under the rock, and water began to flow into his hand as God willed. Then he sprinkled the rock with the water and rubbed it with his hand and prayed as God willed him to pray. Then water burst forth, as one who heard it said, with a sound like thunder. The men drank and satisfied their need from it, and the apostle said, 'If you live, or those of you who live, will hear of this wadi that it is more fertile than its neighbours.'

Mohammed b. Ibrahim b. al-Harith al-Taymi told me that Abdullah b. Masud used to say: I got up in the middle of the night when I was with the apostle in the raid on Tabuk when I saw a light near the camp. I went after it to look at it and lo it was the apostle with Abu Bakr and Umar; and Abdullah Dhul-Bijadayn had just died and they had dug a grave for him. The apostle was in the grave and Abu Bakr and Umar were letting him down to him as he was saying, 'Bring your brother near to me,' so they let him down and as he arranged him for his niche he said, 'O God, I am pleased with him; be Thou pleased with him!' Abdullah b. Masud used to say, 'Would that I had been the man in the grave' (865).

Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri reported from Ibn Ukayma al-Laythi from Ibn Akhl Abl Ruhm al-Ghifari that he heard Abu Ruhm Kulthum b. al-Husayn, who was one of the companions who did homage to the apostle beneath the tree, say: When I made the raid on Tabuk with the apostle I journeyed the night with him. While we were at al-Akhdar near the apostle, God cast a heavy sleep on us and I began to wake up when my camel had come near the apostle's camel. I was afraid that if it came too near his foot would be hurt in the stirrup. I began to move my camel away from him until sleep overcame me on the way. Then during the night my camel jostled against his while his foot was in the stirrup and I was awakened by his voice saying, 'Look out.' I asked his pardon and he told me to carry on. The apostle began to ask me about those who had dropped out from (the) B. Ghifar and I told him. He asked me about the people with long straggling red beards and I told him that they had dropped out. Then he asked about the men with short curly hair and I confessed that I did not know that they were of us. 'But yes,' he said, 'they are those who own camels in Shabakatu Shadakh.' Then I remembered that they were among (the) B. Ghifar, but I did not remember them until I recalled that they were a clan of Aslam who were allies of ours. When I told him this he said,

'What prevented one of these when he fell out from mounting a zealous man in the way of God on one of his camels? The most painful thing to me is that muhajirun from Quraysh and the Ansar and Ghifar and Aslam should stay behind.'

THE OPPOSITION MOSQUE

The apostle went on until he stopped in Dhu Awan a town an hour's daylight journey from Medina. The owners of the mosque of opposition had come to the apostle as he was preparing for Tabuk, saying, 'We have built a mosque for the sick and needy and for nights of bad weather, and we should like you to come to us and pray for us there.' He said that he was on the point of travelling, and was preoccupied, or words to that effect, and that when he came back if God willed he would come to them and pray for them in it.

When he stopped in Dhu Awan news of the mosque came to him, and he summoned Malik b. al-Dukhshum, brother of B. Salim b. Auf, and Maan b. Adiy (or his brother Asim) brother of B. al-Ajlan, and told them to go to the mosque of those evil men and destroy and burn it. They went quickly to B. Salim b. Auf who were Malik's clan, and Malik said to Maan, 'Wait for me until I can bring fire from my people.' So he went in and took a palm-branch and lighted it, and then the two of them ran into the mosque where its people were and burned and destroyed it and the people ran away from it. A portion of the Koran came down concerning them: 'Those who chose a mosque in opposition and unbelief and to cause division among believers' to the end of the passage (Koran 9.108).

The twelve men who built it were: Khidharn b. Khalid of B. Ubayd b. Zayd, one of (the) B. Amr b. Auf; his house opened on to the schismatic mosque; Thalaba b. Hatib of B. Umayya b. Zayd; Muattib b. Qushayr; Abu Habiba b. al-Azar, both of (the) B. Dubaya b. Zayd; Abbad b. Hunayf, brother of Sahl of (the) B. Ar b. Auf; Jarimiya b. Amir and his two sons Mujammi and Zayd; Nabtal b. al-Harith; Bahzaj; and Bijad b. Uthman, all of B. Dubaya; and Wadia b. Thabit of (the) B. Umayya b. Zayd, the clan of Abu Lubaba b. Abdul-Mundhir.

The apostle's mosques between Tabuk and Medina are well known and named. They are the mosques in Tabuk; Thaniyatu Midran; Dhathul-Zirab; al-Akhdar; Dhathul-Khitmi; Ala; beside al-Batra' at the end of Kawakih (In Yaquut al-Kawakih.); Shiqq, Shiqq Tara; Dhul-Jifa; Sadr Hauda; al-Hijr; al-Said; the wadi known today as Wadi'l-Qura; al-Ruqa of Shiqqa, the Shiqqa of (the) B. Udhra; Dhul-Marwa; Fayfa; and Dhu Khushub.

THE THREE MEN WHO ABSTAINED FROM THE RAID ON TABUK

When the apostle came to Medina he found that some disaffected persons had stayed behind. Among them were three Muslims who had not held back through doubt or disaffection, namely Kab b. Malik, Murara b. al-Rabi, and Hilal b. Umayya. The apostle told his companions not to speak to these three. The disaffected who had stayed behind came and made excuses with oaths and he forgave them, but neither God nor His apostle accepted their excuse. The Muslims withdrew from these three and would not speak to them (Tabari: 1705 until God sent down His word concerning them). (Koran 9.118-120).

Mohammed b. Muslim b. Shihab al-Zuhri from Abdul-Rahman b. Abdullah b. Kab b. Malik said that his father, whom he used to lead about when his sight failed, said: I heard my father Ka'b telling his story of how he held back from the apostle in his raid on Tabuk, and the story of his two companions:

I had never held back from any raid the apostle had undertaken except the battle of Badr, and that was an engagement which none was blamed either by God or His apostle for missing because the apostle had gone out only to find the Quraysh caravan when God brought him and his enemies together without previous intent. I was present with the apostle at al-Aqaba when we pledged our faith in Islam, and I should not prefer to have been at Badr rather than there even if the battle of Badr is more famous. The fact was that when I stayed behind in the raid on Tabuk I had never been stronger and wealthier. Never before had I possessed two camels. Seldom did the apostle intend a raid but he pretended that he had another objective except on this occasion. He raided it in violent heat and faced a long journey and a powerful enemy and told men what they had to do so that they might make adequate provision, and he told them the direction he intended to take. The Muslims who followed him were many and he did not enrol them in a book. (He meant by that a register; he did not enrol them in a written register). The few who wanted to absent themselves thought that they could conceal it from him as long as no revelation came down from God about it. The apostle made that raid when the fruits were ripe and shade was desirable so that men were averse from it. The apostle made his preparations and the Muslims likewise, and I would go to get ready with them and come back not having done what was necessary, saying to myself, I can do that when I want to,' and I continued procrastinating until the men had acted with energy and in the morning they and the apostle had gone while I had made no preparation. I thought that I could get ready a day or two later and then join them. Day after day passed and I had done nothing until the raiders had gone far ahead and still I thought of going and overtaking and I wish that I had done so but I did not. After the apostle had gone when I went about among the men it pained me to see only those who were accused of disaffection or a man whom God had excused because of his helpless women. The apostle did not remember me until he reached Tabuk when he asked, as he was sitting among the men, what had become of me. One of the B. Salima said that my fine clothes and conceit of my appearance kept me at home. Muadh b. Jabal said that that was an evil thing to say and that they knew nothing but good of me. But the apostle was silent.

When I heard that the apostle was on his way back from Tabuk I was smitten with remorse and began to think of a lie I could tell to escape from his anger and get some of my people to support me in it; but when I heard that he was near at hand falsehood left me and I knew that I could only escape by telling the truth, so I determined to do so. In the morning the apostle entered Medina and went into the mosque and after performing two rakas he sat down to await the men. Those who had stayed behind came and began to make excuses with oaths—there were about eighty of them—and the apostle accepted their public declarations and oaths and asked the divine forgiveness for them, referring their secret thoughts to God. Last of all I came and saluted him and he smiled as one who is angry. He told me to come near, and when I sat before him he asked me what had kept me back, and had I not bought my mount. I said, 'O apostle of God, were I sitting with anyone else in the world I should count on escaping his anger by an excuse, for I am astute in argument. But I know that if I tell you a lie today you will accept it and that God will soon excite your anger against me; and yet if I tell you the truth which will make you angry with me, I have hopes that God will reward me for it in the end. Indeed, I have no excuse. I was never stronger and richer than when I stayed behind.' The apostle said, 'So far as that goes you have told the truth, but get up until God decides about you.' So I got up and some of B. Salima rose in annoyance and followed me, saying, 'We have never known you do wrong before, and you were unable to excuse yourself to the apostle as the others who stayed behind did. It would have sufficed if the apostle had asked pardon for your sin.' They kept at me until I wanted to go back to the apostle and give the lie to myself. Then I asked them if any others were in the same case and they said that there were two men who had said what I had said, and they got the same answer. They were Murara b. al-Rabi al-Amri of B. Amr b. Auf, and Hilal b. Abu Umayya al-Waqifi, two honest men of exemplary character. When they mentioned them I was silent. The apostle forbade anyone to speak to us three out of those who had stayed behind, so men avoided us and showed an altered demeanour, until I hated myself and the whole world as never before. We endured this for fifty nights. As for my two companions in misfortune they were humiliated and stayed in their houses, but I was younger and harder, so I used to go out and attend prayers with the Muslims, and go round the markets while no one spoke to me; and I would go to the apostle and salute him while he sat after prayers, asking myself if his lips had moved in returning the salutation or not; then I would pray near him and steal a look at him. When I performed my prayer he looked at me, and when I turned towards him he turned away from me. When I had endured much from the harshness of the Muslims I walked off and climbed over the wall of Abu Qatada's orchard. He was my cousin and the dearest of men to me. I saluted him and by God he did not return my saldm so I said, 'O Abu Qatada, I adjure you by God, do you not know that I love God and His apostle?'; but he answered me not a word. Again I adjured him and he was silent; again, and he said, 'God and His apostle know best.' At that my eyes swam with tears and I jumped up and climbed over the wall.

In the morning I walked in the market and there was one of the Nabati traders from Syria who came to sell food in Medina asking for me. When he asked for me the people pointed me out to him, and he came and gave me a letter from the king of Ghassan which he had written on a piece of silk which read as follows: 'We hear that your master has treated you badly. God has not put you in a house of humiliation and loss, so come to us and we will provide for you.' When I read it I thought that this too was part of the ordeal. My situation was such that a polytheist hoped to win me over; so I took the letter to the oven and burned it.

Thus we went on until forty of the fifty nights had passed and then the apostle's messenger came to me and told me that the apostle ordered that I should separate myself from my wife. I asked whether this meant that I was to divorce her, but he said No, I was to separate myself and not approach her. My two companions received similar orders. I told my wife to rejoin her family until such time as God should give a decision in the matter. The wife of Hilal came to the apostle and told him that he was an old man, lost without a servant, was there any objection to her serving him? He said there was not provided that he did not approach her. She told the apostle that he never made a movement towards her and that his weeping was so prolonged that she feared that he would lose his sight. One of my family suggested that I should ask for similar permission from the apostle, but I declined to do so because I did not know what he would say in reply since I was a young man. Ten more nights passed until fifty nights since the apostle had forbidden men to speak to us were complete. I prayed the morning prayer on the top of one of our houses on the morn of the fiftieth night in the way that God had prescribed. The world, spacious as it is, closed in on us and my soul was deep distressed (The language is borrowed from Sura 9. 119 v.i.). I had set up a tent on the top of a crag and I used to stay there when suddenly I heard the voice of a crier coming over the top of the crag shouting at the top of his voice 'Good news, Kab b. Malik!' I fell down prostrate, knowing that relief had come at last.

The apostle announced God's forgiveness when he prayed the dawn prayer and men went off to tell us the good news. They went to my two fellows with the news and a man galloped off to me on a horse, and a runner from Aslam ran until he came over the mountain, and the voice was quicker than the horse. When the man whom I had heard shouting the good news came, I tore off my clothes and gave them to him as a reward for good tidings, and by God at the time I had no others and had to borrow more and put them on. Then I set off towards the apostle and men met me and told me the good news and congratulated me on God's having forgiven me. I went into the mosque and there was the apostle surrounded by men. Talha b. Ubaydullah got up and greeted me and congratulated me, but no other muhajir did so. (Ka'b never forgot this action of Talha's.)

When I saluted the apostle he said as his face shone with joy, 'This is the best day of your life. Good news to you!' I said, 'From you or from God?' 'From God, of course,' he said. When he told good news his face used to be like the moon, and we used to recognise it. When I sat before him I told him that as an act of penitence I would give away my property as alms to God and His apostle. He told me to keep some of it for that would be better for me. I told him that I would keep my share in Khaybar booty, and I said, 'God has saved me through truthfulness, and part of my repentance towards God is that I will not speak anything but the truth so long as I live; and by God I do not know any man whom God has favoured (Cf. 318.4. 'tested' is a possible alternative.) in speaking the truth since I told the apostle that more graciously than He favoured me. From the day I told the apostle that to the present day I never even purposed a lie, and I hope that God will preserve me for the time that remains.'

God sent down: 'God has forgiven the prophet and the emigrants and the helpers who followed him in the hour of difficulty after the hearts of a party of them had almost swerved; then He forgave them. He is kind and merciful to them and to the three who were left behind' as far as the words And be with the truthful (Koran 9.118).'

Kab said: 'God never showed me a greater favour after He had guided me to Islam than when I told the apostle the truth that day so that I did not lie and perish like those who lied; for God said about those who lied to him when He sent down the revelation "They will swear to you by God when you return to them that you may turn from them. Do turn from them for they are unclean and their resting place is hell, in reward for what they have earned. They swear to you that you may be satisfied with them, and if you are satisfied with them God is not satisfied with an evil people (Koran 9.96)."

We three were kept back from the affair of those from whom the apostle accepted an apology when they swore an oath to him and he asked forgiveness for them. And the apostle postponed our affair until God gave His judgement, and about that God said, And to the three who were left behind (Koran 9.119).'

When God used the word khullifu it had nothing to do with our holding back from the raid, but to his holding us back and postponing our affair from those who swore to him and made excuses which he accepted.

THE ENVOYS OF THAQIF ACCEPT ISLAM, 9 A.H.

The apostle returned from Tabuk in Ramadan and in that month the deputation of Thaqif came to him.

When the apostle came away from them Urwa b. Masud al-Thaqafi followed him until he caught up with him before he got to Medina, and accepted Islam. He asked that he might go back to his people as a Muslim, but the apostle said;—so his people say—'They will kill you,' for the apostle knew the proud spirit of opposition that was in them. Urwa said that he was dearer to them than their firstborn (866).

He was a man who was loved and obeyed and he went out calling his people to Islam and hoping that they would not oppose him because of his position among them. When he went up to an upper room and showed himself to them after he had invited them to Islam and shown his religion to them they shot arrows at him from all directions, and one hit him and killed him. The B. Malik allege that one of their men killed him; his name was Aus b. Auf, brother of (the) B. Salim b. Malik. The Ahlaf allege that one of their men from (the) B. Attab b. Malik called Wahb b. Jabir killed him. It was said to Urwa, 'What do you think about your death?' He said, 'It is a gift which God has honoured me with and a martyrdom which God has led me to. I am like the martyrs who were killed with the apostle before he went away from you; so bury me with them.' They did bury him with them and they allege that the apostle said about him, Among his people he is like the hero of Ya Sin among his people (Koran 36.19).'

Thaqif delayed some months after the killing of Urwa. Then they took counsel among themselves and decided that they could not fight the Arabs all around them, who had paid homage and accepted Islam.

Yaqub b. Utba b. al-Mughira b. al-Akhnas told me that Amr b. Umayya, brother of (the) B. Ilaj, was not on speaking terms with Abdu Yalil b. Amr and there was bad feeling between them. Amr was a most crafty man and he walked to Abdu Yalil and entered his dwelling and sent word to him to come out to him. Abdu Yalil expressed great surprise that Amr who was so careful of his life should come to him, so he came out, and when he saw him he welcomed him. Amr said to him: 'We are in an impasse. You have seen how the affair of this man has progressed. All the Arabs have accepted Islam and you lack the power to fight them, so look to your case.' Thereupon Thaqif took counsel and said one to another, 'Do you not see that your herds are not safe; none of you can go out without being cut off.' So after conferring together they decided to send a man to the apostle as they had sent Urwa. They spoke to Abdu Yalil, who was a contemporary of Urwa, and laid the plan before him, but he refused to act, fearing that on his return he would be treated as Urwa was. He said that he would not go unless they sent some men with him. They decided to send two men from al-Ahlah and three from

(the) B. Malik, six in all. They sent with Abdu Yalil, al-Hakam b. Amr b. Wahb b. Muattib, and Shurahbil b. Ghaylan b. Salima b. Muattib; and from (the) B. Malik, Uthman b. Abul-As b. Bishr b. Abdu Duhman, brother of (the) B. Yasar, and Aus b. Auf, brother of (the) B. Salim b. Auf, and Numayr b. Kharasha b. Rabia, brother of (the) B. al-Harith. Abdu Yalil went with them as leader in charge of the affair. He took them with him only out of fear of meeting the same fate as Urwa and in order that each man on his return could secure the attention of his clan.

When they approached Medina and halted at Qanat they met there al-Mughira b. Shuba whose turn it was to pasture the camels of the apostle's companions, for the companions took this duty in turn. When he saw them he left the camels with the Thaqafis and jumped up to run to give the apostle the good news of their coming. Abu Bakr met him before he could get to the apostle and he told him that riders of Thaqif had come to make their submission and accept Islam on the apostle's conditions provided that they could get a document guaranteeing their people and their land and animals. Abu Bakr implored al-Mughira to let him be the first to tell the apostle the news and he agreed, so Abu Bakr went in and told the apostle while al-Mughira rejoined his companions and brought the camels back. He taught them how to salute the apostle, for they were used to the salutation of paganism. When they came to the apostle he pitched a tent for them near his mosque, so they allege. Khalid b. Said b. al-As acted as intermediary between them and the apostle until they got their document; it was he who actually wrote it. They would not eat the food which came to them from the apostle until Khalid ate some and until they had accepted Islam and had got their document.

Among the things they asked the apostle was that they should be allowed to retain their idol Al-Lat undestroyed for three years. The apostle refused, and they continued to ask him for a year or two, and he refused; finally they asked for a month after their return home; but he refused to agree to any set time. All that they wanted as they were trying to show was to be safe from their fanatics and women and children by leaving her, and they did not want to frighten their people by destroying her until they had accepted Islam. The apostle refused this, but he sent Abu Sufyan b. Harb and al-Mughira b. Shuba to destroy her. They had also asked that he would excuse them from prayer and that they should not have to break their idols with their own hands. The apostle said: 'We excuse you from breaking your idols with your own hands, but as for prayer there is no good in a religion which has no prayers.' They said that they would perform them though it was demeaning.

When they had accepted Islam and the apostle had given them their document he appointed Uthman b. Abul-As over them although he was the youngest of them. This was because he was the most zealous in studying Islam and learning the Koran. Abu Bakr had told the apostle this. Isa (Jesus) b. Abdullah b. Atiya b. Sufyan b. Rabia al-Thaqafi from one of the deputation told me: Bilal used to come to us when we had become Muslims and we fasted with the apostle for the rest of Ramadan, and bring our supper and our breakfast from the apostle. He would come to us in the morning twilight and we would say 'We see that the dawn has risen.'

He would say, I left the apostle eating at daybreak, so as to make the dawn meal later (The last clause may be an explanatory gloss from Ibn Ishaq.) and he would bring our evening meal and we would say, 'We see that the sun has not entirely vanished,' and he would say, I did not come to you until the apostle had eaten.' Then he would put his hand in the dish and eat from it (867).

Said b. Abu Hind from Mutarrif b. Abdullah b. al-Shakhhir from Uthman b. Abul-As said: The last thing the apostle enjoined on me when he sent me to Thaqif was to be brief in prayer, to measure men by their weakest members; for there were old and young, sick and infirm among them.

When they had accomplished their task and had set out to return to their country the apostle sent with them Abu Sufyan and al-Mughira to destroy the idol. They travelled with the deputation and when they neared al-Taif, al-Mughira wanted to send on Abu Sufyan in advance. The latter refused and told him to go to his people while he stayed in his property in Dhul-Haram (Ibn Hisham here has bidhil-hadam, but the true reading given above is in Tabari 1692.1. There is no doubt about this because the rhyming word of the saj given in Yiq. iv. 960 requires the letter r.). When al-Mughira entered he went up to the idol and struck it with a pickaxe. His people the B. Muattib stood in front of him fearing that he would be shot or killed as Urwa had been. The women of Thaqif came out with their heads uncovered bewailing her and saying:

O weep for our protector
Poltrons would neglect her
Whose swords need a corrector (868).

Abu Sufyan, as al-Mughira smote her with the axe, said Alas for you, alas! When al-Mughira had destroyed her and taken what was on her and her jewels he sent for Abu Sufyan when her jewellery and gold and beads had been collected.

Now Abu Mulayh b. Urwa and Qarib b. al-Aswad had come to the apostle before the Thaqif deputation when Urwa was killed, desiring to separate themselves from Thaqif and to have nothing to do with them. When they became Muslims the apostle said to them, 'Take as friends whom you will,' and they said, 'We choose God and His apostle.' The apostle said, And your maternal uncle Abu Sufyan b. Harb,' and they said, 'Even so.'

When the people of al-Taif had accepted Islam and the apostle had sent Abu Sufyan and al-Mughira to destroy the idol, Abu Mulayh b. Urwa asked the apostle to settle a debt his father had incurred from the property of the idol. The apostle agreed and Qarib b. al-Aswad asked for the same privilege for his father. Now Urwa and al-Aswad were full brothers. The apostle said, 'But al-Aswad died a polytheist.' He answered, 'But you will be doing a favour to a Muslim a near relation,' meaning himself; 'the debt is only incumbent on me and from me it is required.' The apostle ordered Abu Sufyan to satisfy the debts of Urwa and al-Aswad from the property of the idol, and when al-Mughira had collected its money he told Abu Sufyan that the apostle had ordered him to satisfy these debts thus, and he did so.

The text of the document the apostle wrote for them runs: In the name of God the Compassionate the Merciful. From Mohammed the prophet, the apostle of God, to the believers: The acacia trees of Wajj (A place in al-Taif.) and its game are not to be injured. Anyone found doing this will be scourged and his garments confiscated. If he repeats the offence he will be seized and brought to the prophet Mohammed. This is the order of the prophet Mohammed, the apostle of God.' Khalid b. Said has written by the order of the apostle Mohammed b. Abdullah, so let none repeat the offence to his own injury in what the apostle of God Mohammed has ordered.

ABU BAKR LEADS THE PILGRIMAGE, 9 A.H.

The apostle remained there for the rest of the month of Ramadan and Shawwal and Dhul-Qada. Then he sent Abu Bakr in command of the hajj in the year 9 to enable the Muslims to perform their hajj while the polytheists were at their pilgrimage stations. Abu Bakr and the Muslims duly departed.

A discharge came down permitting the breaking of the agreement between the apostle and the polytheists that none should be kept back from the temple when he came to it, and that none need fear during the sacred month. That was a general agreement between him and the polytheists; meanwhile there were particular agreements between the apostle and the Arab tribes for specified terms. And there came down about it and about the disaffected who held back from him in the raid on Tabuk, and about what they said (revelations) in which God uncovered the secret thoughts of people who were dissembling. We know the names of some of them, of others we do not. He said: (Koran 9: This chapter is a commentary on it.) A discharge from God and His apostle towards those polytheists with whom you made a treaty, i.e. those polytheists with whom you made a general agreement. 'So travel through the land for four months and know that you cannot escape God and that God will put the unbelievers to shame. And a proclamation from God and His apostle to men on the day of the greater pilgrimage that God and His apostle are free from obligation to the polytheists,' i.e. after this pilgrimage. 'So if you repent it will be better for you; and if you turn back know that you cannot escape God. Inform those who disbelieve, about a painful punishment except those polytheists with whom you have made a treaty,' i.e. the special treaty for a specified term, 'since they have not come short in anything in regard to you and have not helped anyone against you. So fulfil your treaty with them to their allotted time. God loves the pious. And when the sacred months are passed,' He means the four which he fixed as their time, 'then kill the polytheists wherever you find them, and seize them and besiege them and lie in wait for them in every ambush. But if they repent and perform prayer and pay the poor-tax, then let them go their way. God is forgiving, merciful. If one of the polytheists,' i.e. one of those whom I have ordered you to kill, Asks your protection, give it him so that he may hear the word of God; then convey him to his place of safety. That is because they are a people who do not know.'

Then He said: 'How can there be for the polytheists' with whom you had a general agreement that they should not put you in fear and that you would not put them in fear neither in the holy places nor in the holy months A treaty with God and His apostle except for those with whom you made a treaty at the sacred mosque? They were the tribes of (the) B. Bakr who had entered into an agreement with (the) Quraysh on the day of al-Hudaybiya up to the time agreed between the apostle and Quraysh. It was only this clan of (the) Quraysh who had broken it. They were al-Dil of (the) B. Bakr b. Wail who had entered into the agreement of (the) Quraysh. So he was ordered to fulfil the agreement with those of (the) B. Bakr who had not broken it, up to their allotted time. 'So long as they are true to you be true to them. God loves the pious.'

Then He said: And how, if when they have the upper hand of you,' i.e. the polytheists who have no agreement up to a time under the general agreement with the polytheists 'they regard not pact or compact in regard to you' (869).

'They satisfy you with their lips while their hearts refuse. Most of them are wrongdoers. They have sold the revelations of God for a low price and debarred (men) from His way. Evil is that which they are wont to do. They observe neither pact nor compact with a believer. Those are the transgressors,' i.e. they have transgressed against you. 'But if they repent and perform prayer and pay the poor tax, then they are your brothers in religion. We make clear the revelations for a people who have knowledge.'

Hakim b. Hakim b. Abbad b. Hunayf from Abu Jafar Mohammed b. Ali told me that when the discharge came down to the apostle after he had sent Abu Bakr to superintend the hajj, someone expressed the wish that he would send news of it to Abu Bakr. He said, 'None shall transmit it from me but a man of my own house.' Then he summoned Ali and said: 'Take this section from the beginning of "The Discharge" and proclaim it to the people on the day of sacrifice when they assemble at Mina. No unbeliever shall enter Paradise, and no polytheist shall make pilgrimage after this year, and no naked person shall circumambulate the temple. He who has an agreement with the apostle has it for his appointed time (only). Ali went forth on the apostle's slit-eared camel and overtook Abu Bakr on the way. When Abu Bakr saw him he asked whether he had come to give orders or to convey them. He said 'to convey them.' They went on together and Abu Bakr superintended the hajj, the Arabs in that year doing as they had done in the heathen period. When the day of sacrifice came Ali arose and proclaimed what the apostle had ordered him to say, and he gave the men a period of four months from the date of the proclamation to return to their place of safety or their country; afterwards there was to be no treaty or compact except for one with whom the apostle had an agreement for a period, and he could have it for that period. After that year no polytheist went on pilgrimage or circumambulated the temple naked. Then the two of them returned to the apostle. This was the Discharge in regard to the polytheists who had a general agreement, and those who had a respite for the specified time.

Then the apostle gave orders to fight the polytheists who had broken the special agreement as well as those who had a general agreement after the four months which had been given them as a fixed time, save that if anyone of them showed hostility he should be killed for it. And He said, 'Will you not fight a people who broke their oaths and thought to drive out the apostle and attacked you first? Do you fear them when God is more worthy to be feared if you are believers? Fight them! God will punish them by your hands, and put them to shame and give you the victory over them and will heal the breasts of a believing people, and He will remove the anger of their hearts and God will relent,' i.e. after that 'towards whom He will, for God is knowing, wise.' 'Or do you think that you will be left (idle) when God does not yet know those of you who bestir yourselves and choose none for friend but God and His apostle and the believers? God is informed about what you do' (870).

Then He mentioned the words of (the) Quraysh, 'We are the people of the sanctuary, the waterers of the pilgrims, and the tenders of this temple and none is superior to us,' and He said: 'He only shall tend God's sanctuaries who believes in God and the last day,' i.e. your tending was not thus. Only those who tend God's sanctuaries means tend them as they ought to be tended 'who believes in God and the last day and performs prayer and pays the poor tax and fears only God,' i.e. those are its tenders, 'perhaps those may be the rightly guided.' 'Perhaps' coming from God means a fact. Then he said: 'Would you make the watering of the pilgrims and the tending of the sacred mosque equal to one who believes in God and the last day and fights in the way of God? They are not equal with God.'

Then comes the story of their enemy until he arrives at the mention of Hunayn and what happened there and their turning back from their enemy and how God sent down help after they had abandoned one another. Then He said (v. 28): 'The polytheists are nothing but unclean (meaning: they are not circumcised, do not obey the halal food law, do not take baths and mix with everyone, etc.), so let them not approach the sacred mosque after this year of theirs, and if you fear poverty' that was because the people said 'the markets will be cut off from us, trade will be destroyed, and we shall lose the good things we used to enjoy,' and God said, 'If you fear poverty God will enrich you from His bounty,' i.e. in some other way, if He will. He is knowing, wise. Fight those who do not believe in God and the last day and forbid not that which God and His apostle have forbidden and follow not the religion of truth from among those who have been given the scripture until they pay the poll tax (Jizya) out of hand being humbled,' i.e. as a compensation for what you fear to lose by the closing of the markets. God gave them compensation for what He cut off from them in their former polytheism by what He gave them by way of poll tax (Jizya) from the people of scripture (Jews and Christians).

Then He mentioned the two peoples of scripture (Jews and Christians) with their evil and their lies against Him until the words 'Many of the rabbis and monks devour men's wealth wickedly and turn men from the way of God. Those who hoard up gold and silver and do not spend it in the way of God, announce to them a painful punishment.'

Then He mentioned the fixing of the sacred months and the innovations of the Arabs in the matter. Nasi means making profane months which God has declared holy and vice versa. 'The number of the months with God is twelve in the book of God on the day He created heaven and earth. Four of them are sacred; that is the standing religion, so wrong not yourselves therein,' i.e. do not make the sacred profane or the profane sacred as the polytheists did. 'Postponement (of a sacred month)' which they used to practise is excess of infidelity whereby those who disbelieve are misled; they allow it one year and forbid it another year that they may make up the number of the months which God has made sacred so that they allow that which God has forbidden, the evil of their deeds seeming good to them. But God does not guide a disbelieving people.'

Then He mentioned Tabuk and how the Muslims were weighed down by it and exaggerated the difficulty of attacking the Romans when the apostle called them to fight them; and the disaffection of some; then how the apostle upbraided them for their behaviour in Islam. God said, 'O you who believe, what was the matter with you that when it was said to you, Go forth in the way of God you were weighed down to the earth' then as far as His words 'He will punish you with a painful punishment and choose a people other than you' to the words 'If you do not help him still God helped him when those who disbelieve drove him out the second of two when the twain were in the cave.'

Then He said to His prophet, mentioning the disaffected: 'Had it been a near adventure and a short journey they would have followed you, but the long distance weighed upon them. And they will swear by God, Had we been able we would have set forth with you. They destroy themselves, God knowing that they are liars,' i.e. that they were able. 'May God forgive you. Why did you give them leave (to stay behind) before those who told the truth were plain to you and you knew the liars?' as far as the words 'Had they gone forth with you they would have contributed naught but trouble and have hurried about among you seeking to cause sedition among you there being among you some who would have listened to them' (871).

Among the men of high standing who asked his permission (to stay behind) according to my information were Abdullah b. Ubayy b. Salul and al-Jadd b. Qays. They were nobles among their people and God kept them back because He knew that if they went forth with him they would cause disorder in his army, for in the army were men who loved them and would obey them in anything they asked because of their high standing among them. God said: And among them are some who would have listened to them, and God knows about the evil-doers. In the past they sought to cause sedition,' i.e. before they asked your permission, And overturned your affairs,' i.e. to draw away your companions from you and to frustrate your affair Until the truth came and God's command became manifest though they were averse'. Of them is he who said, Give me permission (to stay behind) and tempt me not. Have they not fallen into temptation already? The one who said that according to what we were told was al-Jadd b. Qays, brother of (the) B. Salima, when the apostle called him to war with the Romans. Then the account goes on to the words 'If they were to find a refuge or caverns or a place to enter they would have turned to it with all speed. And of them is he who defamed you in the matter of alms. If they are given some they are content; but if they are not given some they are enraged,' i.e. their whole aim, their satisfaction, and their anger, are concerned with their worldly life.

Then He explained and specified to whom alms should be given: Alms are only for the poor and needy and the collectors of it and for those whose hearts are to be won, and to free captives and debtors, and for the way of God and for the wayfarer as an ordinance from God and God is knowing, wise.'

Then He mentioned their duplicity and their vexing the apostle and said: And of them are those who vex the prophet and say, He is an ear. Say: an ear of good for you, who believes in God and is faithful to the believers and a mercy for those of you who believe. There is a painful punishment for those who vex (anger, annoy) God's apostle.' According to my information the man who said those words was Nabal b. al-Harith, brother of (the) B. Amr b. Auf, and this verse came down about him because he used to say 'Mohammed is only an ear. If anyone tells him a thing he believes it.' God said, 'Say: An ear of good to you,' i.e. he hears good and believes it.

Then He said, 'They swear by God to you to please you, but God and His apostle have more right that they should please Him if they are believers.' (The syntax of this verse is forced and it is probable that some early scribe wrote warasuluhu mechanically.)

Then He said, 'If you ask them they will say We were but talking and jesting. Say: Do you scoff at God and His signs and His apostle?' as far as the words 'If We pardon a party of you We will punish a party.' The one who said these words was Wadi'ah b. Thabit, brother of (the) B. Umayya b. Zayd of (the) B. Amr b. Auf. The one who was pardoned, according to my information, was Mukhashshin b. Humayyir al-Ashjai, an ally of (the) B. Salima, because he disapproved of what he heard them saying.

The description of them continues to the words, 'O prophet, fight the unbelievers and disaffected, and deal roughly with them. Their abode is hell, an evil resting-place. They swear by God that they did not say it but they did say the word of unbelief and disbelieved after their Islam and planned what they could not attain. They sought revenge only because God and His apostle had enriched them from His bounty' to the words 'no friend and no helper.' The one who said those words was al-Julas b. Suwayd b. Samit, and a man of his family called Umayr b. Sad reported them and he denied that he had said them and swore an oath by God. But when the Koran came down concerning them he repented and changed his mind. His repentance and his state became excellent as I have heard. Then He said, And of them is he who made a covenant with God: If He gives us of His bounty we will give alms and become of the righteous.' The ones who made a covenant with God were Thalaba b. Hatib and Muattib b. Qushayr, both of (the) B. Amr b. Auf.

Then He said, 'Those who defame such of the believers as give freely in alms and such as can only give their efforts and scoff at them, God will scoff at them and they will have a painful punishment.' The believers who freely gave alms were Abdul-Rahman b. Auf and Asim b. Adiy, brother of (the) B. Ajlan, because the apostle incited and urged men to almsgiving. Abdul-Rahman arose and gave 4,000 dirhams, and Asim arose and gave 100 loads of dates, and they defamed them and said, 'This is nothing but ostentation.' The man who gave in alms all he could was Abu Aqil, brother of (the) B. Unayf, who brought a measure of dates and cast it all into the alms. They laughed at him saying, 'God can do without Abu Aqil's paltry measure.'

Then He mentioned what they said one to another when the apostle ordered war and the expedition to Tabuk in great heat and sterile conditions. 'They said,

Go not forth in the heat. Say: The fire of hell is much hotter did you but understand. But let them laugh a little and weep much' as far as the words And let not their wealth and children astonish you.'

Al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba from b. Abbas said: I heard Umar saying, 'When Abdullah b. Ubayy died the apostle was called to pray over him; and when he went and stood by him about to pray I changed my position so as to confront him and said "Are you going to pray over God's enemy Abdullah b. Ubayy, the man who said so-and-so on such-and-such occasions?" The apostle smiled when I had made a long story and said, "Get behind me, Umar. I have been given the choice and I have chosen. It was said to me, Ask pardon for them or ask it not. If you ask pardon for them seventy times God will not pardon them.' Did I know that if I added to the seventy he would be forgiven I would add thereto." Then he prayed over him and walked with him till he stood over his grave until he was disposed of. I was astonished at myself and my boldness when God and His apostle know best. It was not long before these two verses came down "And never pray for any one of them who dies and do not stand by his grave for they disbelieved in God and His apostle and died as evil-doers." Afterwards the apostle never prayed over a disaffected person until the day of his death.' Then He said: And when a sura is sent down: Believe in God and strive along with His apostle, men of wealth among them asked your permission (to stay behind).' Ibn Ubayy was one of them and God upbraided him for it, then He said: 'But the apostle and those who believe with him strive with their wealth and their lives; for them are the good things; they are the successful. God has prepared for them gardens beneath which rivers flow wherein they shall abide for ever; that is the great triumph. And the excuse-offering Bedouin came to ask leave and those who disbelieved God and His apostle stayed at home' to the end of the account. The men with excuses so I have heard were a number of (the) B. Ghifar among whom was Khufaf b. Ayma b. Rahada; He goes on with the story of these to the words 'nor to those who when they came to you to mount them you said I cannot find a beast on which to mount you, turned back, their eyes flowing with tears for grief that they could not find the wherewithal to spend.' Those were the weepers.

Then He said: 'The way (of blame) is only against those who asked leave, they being rich. They wanted to be with the women. God sealed their hearts and they do not know.' The khawalif were the women. Then He mentioned their oath and their excuse to the Muslims and said, 'Turn away from them' to His words And if you are satisfied with them God will not be satisfied with an evil people.'

Then He mentioned the Bedouin and the disaffected among them and how they waited for (the discomfiture of) the apostle and the believers: And of the Bedouin there is he who regards what is spent, i.e. of the alms or expenses in the way of God As a tax and awaits evil fortune for you. The evil fortune will be theirs and God is hearing, knowing.'

Then He mentioned the sincere and faithful Bedouin among them and said: And of the Bedouin there is he who believes in God and the last day and regards what he spends and the prayers of the apostle as acceptable offerings with God. It is an acceptable offering for them.'

Then He mentioned the first emigrants and helpers and their merit and the goodly reward which God promised them. Then he joined with them their later followers in goodness and He said, 'God is pleased with them and they are pleased with Him.' Then He said: And of the Bedouin round you there are the disaffected and of the people of Medina there are those who are stubborn in disaffection, i.e. persist in it and refuse to be otherwise; 'we shall punish them twice.' The punishment with which God threatened them twice according to my information is their grief over their position in Islam and their inward rage at not getting a (heavenly) reward; then their punishment in the grave when they get there; then the great punishment to which they will be brought, the punishment of hell eternally. Then He said: And there are others who acknowledged their faults. They mixed a good deed with another that was bad; perhaps God will relent towards them, for He is forgiving, merciful.'

Then He said, 'Take alms from their wealth wherewith to purify and cleanse them' to the end of the passage. Then He said: And there are others who are postponed to God's decree; either He will punish them or relent towards them.' They are the three who were left in abeyance and the apostle postponed their case until their forgiveness came from God. Then He said, And as for those who chose a mosque out of opposition' to the end of the passage. Then He said: 'God has bought from the believers their lives and their wealth for the Garden that will be theirs.' Then comes the narrative dealing with Tabuk to the end of the chapter. In the time of the prophet and afterwards Baraa was called al-Muba-thira (Cf. Koran 82.4 and 100.9) because it laid bare the secret thoughts of men. Tabuk was the last raid that the apostle made.

THE POETRY OF HASSAN ENUMERATING THE BATTLES

Hassan b. Thabit, enumerating the battles and campaigns in which the Ansar fought in company with the apostle, said: (872)

Am I not the best of MaAdd in family and tribe (S. explains that Hassan who was not of Maadd meant men in general and says 'Maadd' because of their great number.)

If all of them be reckoned and counted?

A people all of whom witnessed Badr with the apostle

Neither falling short nor deserting.

They gave him their fealty, not one betrayed it,
And there was no deceit in their plighted word.

On the day when in the glen of Uhud

Well-aimed blows blazing like a hot fire met them
And the day of Dhu Qarad when dust rose above them as they rode

They did not flinch nor fear.

At Dhul-Ushayra they overrode them with the apostle

Armed with sword and spear.

At Waddan they drove out its people

Galloping along till hill and mountain stopped us.

And the night when they sought their enemy for God's sake

(And God will reward them for what they did).

And the raid on Najd, where with the apostle

They gained much spoil and booty.

And the night in Hunayn when they fought with him
He gave them a second taste of combat.

And the raid of al-Qa when we scattered the enemy

As camels are scattered before their drinking-place.

They were the people who paid him homage

To the point of war—they succoured him and left him not.

In the raid on Mecca they were on guard among his troops

Neither light-minded nor hasty.

At Khaybar they were in his squadron

Each man walking like a hero facing death

With swords quivering in their right hands

Sometimes bent through striking, sometimes straight.

The day the apostle went to Tabuk seeking God's reward

They were his first standard-bearers.

They had the conduct of war if it seemed good to them

Until advance or retreat seemed the best.

Those are the people, the prophet's Ansar,
And they are my people—to them I belong when my descent is searched.

They died honourably, faith unbroken,
And when they were killed it was for God's sake (873).

Hassan also said:

We were kings of men before Mohammed
And when Islam came we had the superiority.
God the only God honoured us with Bygone days that have no parallel
In our help to God and His apostle and His religion,
And God has given us a name which has no equal.
Those people of mine are the best of all people.
Whatever is counted good my people are worthy of it.
They surpass all their predecessors in generosity
And the way to their generosity is never barred.
When men come to their assemblies they do not behave unseemly,
Nor are they mean when asked for a gift.
They are inimitable in war and peace.
To fight them is death; to make peace ease.
Their sojourner's house is high and inaccessible.
While staying with us he enjoys respect and hospitality.

If one of them assumes a debt he pays it
Without defaulting or running into debt.
He who speaks speaks the truth,
Their clemency is constant, their judgement just.
He whom the Muslims trusted while he lived (Sad b. Muadh according to A.Dh.)

And he whom the angels* washed of his impurity were of us (874).

(* The word generally rendered Apostles'. The story of Hanzala has been given above.)

Hassan also said:

These are my people if you ask,
Generous when a guest arrives.
Large are the cooking-pots for the gamesters
Wherein they cook the fat-humped camels.
They give the sojourner a life of plenty
And protect their friend when he is wronged.
They were kings in their lands,
They call for the sword when injustice is flagrant

(Another reading is 'they display anger').

They were kings over men—never by others
Have they been ruled even for a short time.
Tell (Or, 'They told', etc.) about Ad and its peoples:
Of Thamud and the survivors of Iram,
Of Yathrib where they had built forts among the palms

And cattle were housed there,
Watering camels which the Jews trained
Saying, Off with you, and Come!
They had what they wanted of wine and pleasure,
An easy life free of care.
We came to them with our equipment
On our white war-loving camels;
Beside them we led war-horses
Covered with thick leather.
When we halted on the sides of Sirar (A mountain at Medina.)

And made fast the saddles with twisted ropes
They were scared by the speed of the horses
And the sudden attack from the rear.
They fled swiftly in terror
As we came on them like lions of the jungle
On our long, carefully tended mares
Which were not out of condition from long stabling.
Dark bays, spirited,
Strong jointed like arrows,
Carrying horsemen accustomed to fighting warriors
And to smiting down brave foes;
Kings when (others) behaved as tyrants in the land,
Never retreating but always advancing.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

We came back with their leading men
And their women and children also were divided among the victors.
We inherited their houses when they had gone
And remained there as owners.
When the rightly guided apostle brought us the truth
And light after darkness
We said, 'You speak the truth, O God's apostle;
Come and dwell with us.
We bear witness that you are the slave of God
Sent in light with an upright religion.
We and our children are a protection for you And our wealth is at your disposal (Act as a judge in our affairs [or property]).
Such are we if others give you the lie,
So shrink not from proclaiming aloud,
Proclaim what you have hidden
Openly without concealing it.'
The erring ones came with their swords
Thinking that he would be slain.
We attacked them with our swords,
Fighting the miscreants of the peoples in his defence
With our brightly polished swords
Fine-edged, biting, cutting.
When they encountered hard bones
They did not recoil or become blunted.
Such have our nobles bequeathed us
In ancestral glory and proud fame.
When one passes another takes his place
And he leaves a scion when he dies.
There is none who is not indebted to us,
Though he may have been disloyal (875).

THE YEAR OF THE DEPUTATIONS, 9 A.H.

When the apostle had gained possession of Mecca, and had finished with Tabuk, and Thaqif had surrendered and paid homage, deputations from the Arabs came to him from all directions (876).

In deciding their attitude to Islam the Arabs were only waiting to see what happened to this clan of (the) Quraysh and the apostle. For (the) Quraysh were the leaders and guides of men, the people of the sacred temple, and the pure stock of Ishmael son of Abraham; and the leading Arabs did not contest this. It was (the) Quraysh who had declared war on the apostle and opposed him; and when Mecca was occupied and (the) Quraysh became subject to him and he subdued them to Islam, and the Arabs knew that they could not fight the apostle or display enmity towards him they entered into God's religion in batches' as God said, coming to him from all directions. God said to His prophet:
'When God's help came and the victory, and you saw men entering into God's religion in batches, then glorify God with praise and ask His pardon for He is most forgiving,' (Koran 110. For a criticism of this translation [demanded by Ibn Ishaq's exegesis] and of Ibn Ishaq's explanation see Suhayli in loc.) i.e. praise God for His having made your religion victorious, and ask His pardon, for He is most forgiving.

THE COMING OF THE DEPUTATION OF THE BANU TAMIM

Then deputations of Arabs came to the apostle.
There came to him Ujarid b. Hajib b. Zurara b. Udu al-Tamimi among the nobles of (the) B. Tamim including al-Aqra b. Habis and al-Zibriqan b. Badr one of (the) B. Sad, and Amr b. al-Ahtam and al-Habhab b. Zayd (877).

And in the deputation of (the) B. Tamim were Nuaym b. Yazid and Qays b. al-Harith and Qays b.
Asim brother of (the) B. Sad with a great deputation from (the) B. Tamim (878). With them was Uyayna b.
Hisn b. Hudhayfa b. Badr al-Fazari.

Al-Aqra and Uyayna had been with the apostle at the occupation of Mecca and Hunayn and al-Taif, and when the deputation came they were among them.
When the deputation entered the mosque they called out to the apostle who was behind in his private apartments, 'Come out to us, Mohammed!' This loud call annoyed the apostle and he came out to them, and they said, 'Mohammed, we have come to compete with you in boasting, so give permission to our poet and our orator.' The apostle did so, and Utarid b. Hajib got up and said:

'Praise belongs to God for His favour to us and He is worthy to be praised, who has made us kings and given us great wealth wherewith we are generous, and has made us the strongest people of the east and the greatest in number, and the best equipped, so who among mankind is our equal? Are we not the princes of men and their superiors? He who would compete with us let him enumerate what we have enumerated. If we wished we could say more, but we are too modest to say much of what He has given us and are well known for that. I say this that you may bring forward the like and anything better.' Then he sat down. The apostle said to Thabit b. Qays b. al-Shammas, brother of (the)
B. al-Harith b. al-Khazraj, 'Get up and answer the man's speech'; so Thabit got up and said:

'Praise belongs to God Who created heaven and earth and established His rule therein, and His knowledge includes His throne; nothing exists but by His bounty. By His power He made us kings and chose the best of His creation as an apostle, and honoured him with lineage, made him truthful in speech, and favoured him with reputation, and sent down to him His book and entrusted him with it above (all) that He had created. He was God's choice from the worlds.
Then He summoned men to believe in him, and the emigrants from his people and his kinsmen believed in God's apostle; the most noble men in reputation, the highest in dignity, and the best in deeds. The first of creatures to answer and respond to God when the apostle called them were ourselves. We are God's helpers and the assistants of His apostle, and will fight men until they believe in God; and he who believes in God and His apostle has protected his life and property from us; and he who disbelieves we will fight in God unceasingly and killing him will be a small matter to us. These are my words and I ask God's pardon for myself and the believers both men and women. Peace upon you (During his regency in Medina, Mohammed fought 96 battles to make Islam supreme. He was by no means anything like an Islamic Jesus. When he died after ten years, the entire Arabian peninsula was Islamic. No Jew, Christian, or other non-Muslim survived when they not totally surrendered to him. Within this context, a phrase like 'Peace upon you' sounds at least cynical.)' (Tabari: Then they said, 'Give permission to our poet to speak' and he did so,) and al-Zibriqan got up

and said:

We are the nobles, no tribe can equal us.
From us kings are born and in our midst churches are built.

How many tribes have we plundered,
For excellence in glory is to be sought after.

In time of dearth we feed our meat to the hungry
When no rain cloud can be seen.

You can see chiefs coming to us from every land,
And we feed them lavishly.

We slaughter fat-humped young camels as a matter of course;

Guests when they come are satisfied with food.

You will see whenever we challenge a tribe's superiority

They yield and abandon leadership (Lit. 'become as a head that is cut off').

He who challenges us we know the result:

His people withdraw and the news is noised abroad.

We forbid others but none forbid us.

Thus we are justly exalted in pride (879).

Hassan was absent at the time and the apostle sent a messenger to tell him to come and answer the B.

Tamim's poet. Hassan said, As I went to the apostle I was saying:

We protected God's apostle when he dwelt among us
Whether Maadd liked it or not.

We protected him when he dwelt among our houses
With our swords against every evil wretch
In a unique house whose glory and wealth
Is in Jabiyatul-Jaulan among the foreigners.
Is glory aught but ancient lordship and generosity,
The dignity of kings and the bearing of great burdens?

When I came to the apostle and the tribal poet had said his say, I made allusions to what he had said on the same pattern. When al-Zibriqan had finished the apostle said to Hassan, 'Get up and answer the man,' and Hassan arose and said:

The leaders of Fihri and their brothers
Have shown a way of life to be followed.
Everyone whose bean is devout
And does all manner of good approves them.
Such a people when they fight injure their enemies Or gain the advantage of their adherents which they seek.

Such is their nature—no recent habit.

(The worst of characteristics is innovation.)

If there are men who surpass those who come after them

Then they would be behind the last of them.

Men do not repair what their hands have destroyed in fighting,

Nor destroy what they have repaired.

If they compete with others they take the lead.

If weighed against men famous for liberality they send down the scale.

Chaste men whose chastity is mentioned in revelation,
Undeveloped, no impurity can injure them.

Not mean with their wealth towards the sojourner
And no stain of covetousness touches them.

When we attack a tribe we do not go softly to them
Like a calf running to the wild cow.

We rise up when the claws of war reach us

When good-for-naughts are humbled by its nails.

They do not boast when they overcome their enemy,

And if they are beaten they are not weak nor despairing.

In battle when death is at hand

They are like lions in Halya with crooked claws.

Take what you can get if they are enraged

And seek not what they have forbidden.

To fight them is to meet poison and bane

So do not antagonise them.

How noble the people who have God's apostle with them (Rasulullahi shiatuhum.)

When sects and parties differ!

My heart sings their praises

Aided in its beloved task by an eloquent and ready tongue,

For they are the best of all creatures

In matters grave and gay (merry) (880).

When Hassan had ended al-Aqra said: 'By my father, this man has a ready helper. His orator and his poet are better than ours and their voices are sweeter (So C.
[ahla]. Wüstenfeld has al-'rise above ours'.) than ours.' In the end they accepted Islam and the apostle gave them valuable gifts.

They had left Amr b. al-Ahtam behind with their camels, he being the youngest of them. Qays b. Asim, who hated Amr, said, 'O apostle of God, there is one of our men with the camels, a mere youngster,' and he spoke disparagingly of him. But the apostle gave him the same as he gave the others. When Amr heard that Qays had said that, he satirised him thus:

You exposed yourself to contempt when you defamed me to the apostle.

You were a liar and spoke not the truth.

(T. You may hate us, for Roman is your origin But Rome does not hold hatred for the Arabs.)

We ruled you with a wide authority, but your authority

Is that of one sitting on his behind and showing his teeth!"

(* i.e. a dog. In Tabari 1717 the verse runs: "We ruled and our authority is ancient, but your authority is behind at the root of the rump and the tail".

If we may suppose that there is a play on the word aud which should be read as ud and understood as a synonym of qadib [cf. Ibn Tufayl, Hayy b. Yaqzan, 85], it is easy to see why Ibn Hisham cut out one verse and bowdlerised the next.) (881)

Concerning them the Koran came down: 'Those who call you from behind the private apartments most of them have no sense.'

(* Tabari has "'Those of the Banu Tamim who call you from behind the private apartments have no sense" and that is the preferable reading.' Koran 49.4. Cf. Wellhausen, Muhammed in Medina, 387.)

THE STORY OF AMIR B. AL-TUFAYL AND ARBAD B. QAYS

Among the deputation from B. Amir was Amir b. al-Tufayl and Arbad b. Qays b. Jaz b. Khalid b. Jafar, and Jabbar b. Salma b. Malik b. Jafar. These three were the chiefs and leaders of the tribe.

Amir, the enemy of God (Tabari omits this label.), came to the apostle intending to kill him treacherously. His people had urged him to accept Islam because others had done so, but he said: I have sworn that I will not stop until the Arabs follow me. Am I to follow in the steps of this fellow from (the) Quraysh? Then he said to Arbad: 'When we get to the man I will distract his attention from you, and when I do that smite him with your sword.' When they got to the apostle Amir said, 'Mohammed, come apart with me.' (A less likely meaning, as the commentators point out, is 'make friends with me'.) He replied, 'No, I will not until you believe in God alone (This is the same uncompromising and arrogant attitude that also the ancient Messianic Movement from Qumran held.):' He repeated the request and went on talking to him expecting that Arbad would do as he had told him but he remained inactive. He again repeated his request and got the same answer. When the apostle refused he said, 'By God I will fill the land against you with horses and men.' When they went away the apostle said, 'O God, rid me of Amir b. al-Tufayl.' On their way back Amir said to Arbad, 'Confound you, Arbad, why did you not do what I ordered? By God there is no man on the face of the earth whom I fear more than you, but by God I shall never fear you after today.' He answered, 'Do not be hasty with me. Whenever I tried to get at him as you ordered, you got in the way so that I could see only you. Was I to smite you with the sword?'

(Tabari 1747: Amir b. al-Tufayl said:

The apostle sent word about what you know and it was as though

We were making a planned raid on the squadrons
And our worn-out horses had brought us to Medina
And we had killed the Ansar in its midst.)

As they were on their way back God sent a bubonic plague in Amir's neck, and God killed him in the house of a woman of B. Salul. He began to say, 'O Banu Amir, A boil like the boil of a young camel in the house of a woman of Banu Salul! (These words are proverbial; see Freytag, Prov. ii. 172.) (882)

When they had buried him his companions returned to the B. Amir country to winter and the people asked Arbad what had happened. 'Nothing, by God,' he said;

'he asked us to worship something. I wish he were here now and I would kill him with an arrow.' A day or two after saying this he went out with his camel behind him and God sent on him and his camel a thunderbolt which consumed them. Arbad was brother of Labid b. Rabia by the same mother (883).

Labid said, weeping Arbad:

The fates spare none,
Neither anxious father nor son.
I feared a violent death for Arbad
But I did not fear the blow of Pisces and Leo.
O eye, why do you not weep for Arbad
Since we and the women rise in sorrow?
If men blustered he took no notice,
If they were moderate in judgement he showed moderation.

Sweet, astute, withal in his sweetness bitter,
Gentle in bowels and liver.
O eye, why do you not weep for Arbad
When the winter winds strip the leaves from the trees
And make pregnant camels milkless
Until the last few drops appear? (He was)
Bolder than a man-eating lion in his thicket.
Eager for fame and far-seeing.

The eye could not see as far as it wished
The night the horses came weak from the battle.
Who sent the mourning-women among his mourners
Like young gazelles in a barren land.
The lightning and thunderbolts distressed me
For the brave knight on the day of misfortune.
Who spoiled the spoiler to repay the spoiled
Who came to him distressed and if he asked for more he gave it;

Liberal when times were bad
As the gentle spring rain that waters the grass.
All sons of a freewoman must become few
However many she bare.
Envid though they be, they must fall;
Though they hold authority one day they must perish and die (884).

Labid also said:

Gone is the guard and protector
Who saved her from shame on the day of battle.
I was sure we had parted (for ever) the day they said,
Arbad's property is being divided by lot.
The shares of the heirs fly off in double and single lots

And authority (Another explanation of zaama is 'the beat of the inheritance'.) goes to the young man.
Bid farewell to Abu Hurayz with a blessing,
Though farewell to Arbad brings little of that.
You were our leader and organiser,
For beads must be held together by a string;
And Arbad was a warlike knight
When the howdahs with their coverings were overthrown;

When in the morning the women were carried pillion

With faces unveiled and legs bare;
On that day men fled to him for safety
As a man at large flees to the sanctuary.
He who came to Arbad's cooking-pot praised it
And those who had much meat were not reproached.
If a woman were his guest
She had gifts and a share of the best meat;
If she stayed she was honoured and respected;
If she went forth 'twas with a kind farewell.
For ever you hear evid of two brothers who endured

Save the two sons of Shamam? (Two mountains.)
Or the two stars of the polar region and the Great Bear (Ursa Mayor)

Everlasting, their destruction unthinkable (In Brockelmann's edition the poem [xviii] has 31 verses. The text in Chalidi, p. 17, is in better sequence.)

Labid also said:

Announce to the noble the death of noble Arbad,
Announce the death of the chief, the kind-hearted,
Giving away his wealth that he might gain praise,
Camels like wild untamed cows,
Abundant in virtues if they were reckoned,
Who filled the platter again and again.
Whenever a poor man came he ate at will
As when a lion finds water in a dry land.
The more he is threatened the nearer he comes.
You have left us no paltry inheritance,
And wealth newly acquired and sons,
Youths like hawks, young men, and beardless boys.

Labid also said:

You will never exhaust the good deeds of Arbad, so weep for him continually.

Say, He was the protecting warrior when armour was donned.

He kept wrong-doers from us when we met insolent enemies.

The Lord of creation took him away since He saw there was no long stay on earth.

He died painlessly without hurt and he is sorely missed.

Labid also said:

Every bitter opponent whose way seemed harmful reminds me of Arbad.

If they were fair, then he was nobly fair: if they were unfair so was he.

He guided the people carefully when their guide went astray in the desert (885).

Labid also said:

I went walking after (the death of) Salma b. Malik
And Abu Qays and Urwa like a camel whose hump is cut off. (By its starving owners in their hunger.)
When it sees the shadow of a raven it shoos it away
Anxious for the rest of its spine and sinews (886).

THE COMING OF DIMAM B. THALABA AS A DEPUTY FROM THE BANU SAD B. BAKR

The B. Sad b. Bakr sent one of their men called Dimam b. Thalaba to the apostle. Mohammed b. al-Walid b. Nuwayfi from Kurayb client of Abdullah b. Abbas from Ibn Abbas told me: When the B. Sad sent Dimam to the apostle he came and made his camel kneel at the door of the mosque, hobbled it, and went into the mosque where the apostle was sitting with his companions. Now Dimam was a thickset hairy man with two forelocks. He came forward until he stood over the apostle and said, 'Which of you is the son of Abdul-Muttalib?' The apostle said that he was. Are you Mohammed? He asked. When he said that he was he said, 'O son of Abdul-Muttalib, I am going to ask you a hard question, so don't take it amiss.' The apostle told him to ask what he liked and he would not take it amiss and he said, I adjure you by God your God and the God of those before you and the God of those who will come after you, has God sent you to us as an apostle? 'Yes, by God He has,' he replied. He then adjured him to answer the questions. 'Has He ordered you to order us to serve Him alone and not to associate anything with Him and to discard those rival deities which our fathers used to worship along with Him; and to pray these five prayers; then the ordinances of Islam one by one, alms, fasting, pilgrimage, and all the laws of Islam?' At the end he said: I testify that there is no God but Allah and I testify that Mohammed is the apostle of God, and I will carry out these ordinances, and I will avoid what you have forbidden me to do; I will neither add to, nor diminish from them.' Then he went back to his camel.

The apostle said, 'If this man with the two forelocks is sincere he will go to Paradise.'

The man went to his camel, freed it from its hobble, and went off to his people, and when they gathered to him the first thing he said was, 'How evil are al-Lat and al-Uzza!' (The expression may have a coarser meaning.) 'Heavens above, Dimam,' they said, 'beware of leprosy and elephantiasis and madness!' He said: 'Woe to you, they can neither hurt nor heal. God has sent an apostle and sent down to him a book, so seek deliverance thereby from your present state; as for me, I bear witness that there is no God but the one God who is without associate*, and that Mohammed is His slave and apostle. (* This is a sideswipe against Roman mainstream Christianity in which Jesus has been declared a God accompanied even by a third god, the so-called 'Holy Spirit', an act which clearly violates the 1st of Moses' Commandments 'Thou shalt not take any God except one God' [Exodus 20: 1-17 & Deuteronomy 5: 6-21] which we also find in the Koran 47:19: 'There is no God except one God. From the Christian doctrine of the Trinity origins the main theological conflict between Islam and Christianity. Most Christians are not aware that their Trinity has its origin in the Roman Imperial Cult in which Julius Caesar was the Father, Augustus Caesar the Son and the Holy Pantheon was the third part. This tradition was renewed by the Flavian Dynasty. The conflict between Islam and Judaism had no theological rift as origin but a political power struggle between the Jewish Messianic Movement and Mohammed's conquering Islam that threatened to replace the Jewish Messianic Movement.) I have brought you what He has commanded you to do and what He has ordered you not to do.'

And by God before the night was over there was not a man or woman in the tribe who had not become a Muslim. Abdullah b. Abbas said: 'We have never heard of a representative of a tribe finer than Pimam b. Thalaba.'

THE COMING OF AL-JARUD IN THE DEPUTATION FROM ABDUL-QAYS

Al-Jarud b. Amr b. Hanash, brother of Abdul-Qays, came to the apostle (887).

One of whom I have no suspicion told me from al-Hasan that when he came to the apostle he spoke to him, and the apostle explained Islam to him and invited him to enter it with kindly words. He replied: 'Mohammed, I owe a debt. If I leave my religion for yours will you guarantee my debt?' The apostle said, 'Yes, I guarantee that what God has guided you to is better than that', so he and his companions accepted Islam. Then he asked the apostle for some mounts, but he told him that he had none available. Al-Jarud pointed out that there were some stray beasts lying between Medina and his country and could he not ride away on them? He replied, 'No, beware of them, for that would lead to hell fire.'

Al-Jarud went off to his own tribe, a good Muslim, firm in his religion until his death, having lived to the time of the Apostasy. And when some of his people who had become Muslims returned to their former religion with al-Gharur* b. al-Mundhir b. al-Numan b. al-Mundhir, al-Jarud got up and spoke and confessed his faith and called them to Islam. (* According to S. his name was al-Mundhir and he got the name of 'The Deceiver' because he misled (gharra) his people in the Apostate Wars that happened due to Mohammed's death.) He pronounced the shahdda and declared that he would regard anyone who refused to do likewise as an infidel (888).

The apostle had sent al-Ala b. al-Hadrami to al-Mundhir b. Sawa al-Abdi before the conquest of Mecca, and he became a good Muslim. He died after the apostle but before the apostasy of the people of al-Bahrayn. Al-Ala was with him as governor for the apostle over al-Bahrayn.

THE DEPUTATION FROM BANU HANIFA WITH WHOM WAS MUSAYLIMA

The deputation of (the) B. Hanifa came to the apostle bringing with them Musaylima b. Habib al-Hanafi, the arch liar (889). They lodged in the house of d. al-HSrith, a woman of the Ansar of (the) B. al-Najjar. One of the scholars of Medina told me that (the) B. Hanifa brought him to the apostle hiding him in garments. The apostle was sitting among his companions having a palm-branch with some leaves on its upper end. When he came to the apostle as they were covering him with garments he spoke to him and asked him (for a gift). The apostle answered: 'If you were to ask me for this palm branch (Tabari: which I hold) I would not give it to you.'

A shaykh (sheik) of (the) B. Hanifa from the people of al-Yamama told me that the incident happened otherwise. He alleged that the deputation came to the apostle having left Musaylima behind with the camels and the baggage. When they had accepted Islam they remembered where he was, and told the apostle that they had left a companion of theirs to guard their stuff. The apostle ordered that he should be given the same as the rest, saying, 'His position is no worse than yours,' i.e. in minding the property of his companions. That is what the apostle meant.

Then they left the apostle and brought him what he had given him. When they reached al-Yamama the enemy of God apostatised, gave himself out as a prophet, and played the liar. He said, 'I am a partner with him in the affair,' and then he said to the deputation who had been with him, 'Did he not say to you when you mentioned me to him "His position is no worse than yours"? What can that mean but that he knows that I am a partner with him in the affair?' Then he began to utter rhymes in saj and speak in imitation of the style of the Koran: 'God has been gracious to the pregnant woman; He has brought forth from her a living being that can move; from her very midst.' He permitted them to drink wine and fornicate, and let them dispense with prayer, yet he was acknowledging the apostle as a prophet, and Hanifa agreed with him on that. But God knows what the truth was.

ZAYDUL-KHAYL COMES WITH THE DEPUTATION FROM TAYYI

The deputation of Tayyi containing Zaydul-Khayl who was their chief came to the apostle, and after some conversation he explained Islam to them and they became good Muslims. A man of Tayyi whom I have no reason to suspect told me that the apostle said, 'No Arab has ever been spoken of in the highest terms but when I have met him I have found that he falls below what was said of him except Zaydul-Khayl, and he exceeds all that has been said about him.' Then the apostle named him Zaydul-Khayr and allotted to him Fayd and some lands with it and gave him a deed accordingly.

As Zayd went back to his tribe the apostle said that he hoped he would escape the Medina fever. The apostle did not call it Humma or Umm Maldam; my informant could not say what. When he reached one of the watering-places of Najd called Farda the fever overcame him and he died. When he felt his end coming he said:

Are my people to travel eastwards tomorrow
While I am to be left in a house in Farda in Najd?
How often if I were sick would women visit me
If not worn out by the journey at least tired.

When he was dead his wife got the deeds which the apostle had given him and burnt them in the fire.

ADIY B. HATIM

I have been told that Adiy b. Hatim used to say, 'No Arab disliked the apostle when he first heard of him more than I. Now I was a chief of noble birth, a Christian, and I used to travel about among my people to collect a quarter of their stock. I was my own master in religious matters and was a king among my people and treated as such. When I heard of the apostle I disliked him and said to an Arab servant of mine who was looking after my camels, "Prepare some of my well-trained, well-fed camels, and keep them near me, and when you hear of Mohammed's army coming into this country bring me word (a report)." One morning he came to me and said, "Whatever you are going to do when Mohammed's cavalry comes upon you, do it now, for I have seen flags and I learn that they are the troops of Mohammed." I ordered him to bring my camels and I put my family and children on them and decided to join my fellow Christians in Syria. I went as far as al-Jausiya (890) and I left one of Hatim's daughters in the settlement. When I reached Syria I stopped there.

In my absence the apostle's cavalry came and among the captives they took was Hatim's daughter, and she was brought to the apostle among the captives of Tayyi. The apostle had heard of my flight to Syria. Hatim's daughter was put in the enclosure by the door of the mosque in which the captives were imprisoned and the apostle passed by her. She got up to meet him, for she was a courteous woman, and said, 'O apostle of God, my father is dead and the man who should act for me* has gone. (* I doubt if wafid means 'visitor' as A.Dh., followed by C. asserts, or 'clan' as Qdmus, s.v., Uyun, ii, 239, quoted in Tabari 1708, reports that some scholars find the word meaningless and its explanation far-fetched. See Tabari Gloss.) If you spare me God will spare you.' He asked her who her man was and when she told him it was Adiy b. Hatim he exclaimed, 'The man who runs away from God and His apostle.' Then he went on and left her. Exactly the same thing happened the next day, and on the following day she was in despair. Then a man behind him motioned to her to get up and speak to him. She said the same words as before and he replied, "I have done so, but do not hurry away until you find one of your people whom you can trust who can take you to your country, then let me know." I asked the name of the man who had beckoned to me to speak and was told that it was Ali. I stayed until some riders came from Bali or Qudaa. All I wanted was to go to my brother in Syria. I went to the apostle and told him that some trustworthy man of reputation from my people had come for me. The apostle gave me clothing and put me on a camel and gave me money and I went away with them until I came to Syria.

Adiy said: 'I was sitting among my people when I saw a howdah making for us and I said "It is Hatim's daughter" and so it was, and when she got to me she reviled me, saying, "You evil rascal, you carried away your family and children and abandoned your father's daughter." I said, "Do not say anything that is bad, little sister, for by God I have no excuse. I did do what you say." Then she alighted and stayed with me; and as she was a discreet woman I asked her what she thought of this man and she said, "I think that you should join him quickly, for if the man is a prophet then those who get to him first will be preferred; and if he is a king you will not be shamed in the glory of al-Yaman, you being the man you are." I said that this was a sound judgement so I went to the apostle when he was in his mosque in Medina and saluted him and told him my name and he got up to take me to his house. As we were making for it there met him an old feeble woman who asked him to stop and he stopped for a long time while she told him of her needs. I said to myself "This is no king." Then he took me into his house and took hold of a leather cushion stuffed with palm leaves and threw it to me saying, "Sit on that." I said, "No, you sit on it," and he said "No, you!" So I sat on it and he sat on the ground. I said to myself, "This is not the way a king behaves." Then he said, "Now Adiy, are you not half a Christian?" (Rakusi is defined as a man midway between a Christian and a Sabi [a Sabaeen, a Gnostic, a Mandaean, or a Manichean whose religion bore similarities to Christianity but did not follow the doctrines of the Roman Church.], that is a which latter, as we have seen, means a man who changes his religion. Thus Adiy would seem to be, like so many of the Arabs at this time, a convert but not a practising Christian in the full sense.) When I said that I was he said, "Do not you go among your people collecting a quarter of their stock?" When I admitted that he said: "But that is not permitted to you in your religion." "Quite true," I said, and I knew that he was a prophet sent by God knowing what is not generally known. Then he said, "It may well be that the poverty you see prevents you from joining this religion but, by God, wealth will soon flow so copiously among them that there will not be the people to take it. But perhaps it is that you see how many are their enemies and how few they are? But, by God, you will hear of a woman coming on her camel from Qadisiya to visit this temple* unafraid (* The words imply the Kaaba at Mecca and the next paragraph makes this certain. As the conversation is said to have taken place in Medina the authenticity of the tradition is suspect, unless hadha means no more than 'you'. L.H.: The word 'temple' was normal to use in early Islam because Islam is based on Judaism. We just need to take a look into the Koran and the first thing that strikes us are the many Jewish names. Many Arabs, including Mohammed, can trace back their origin to those Jews who survived the Roman-Jewish Wars as they have fled into Arab territories.). But perhaps it is that you see that others have the power and sovereignty, but by God you will soon hear that the white castles of Babylon have been opened to them." Then I became a Muslim.'

Adiy used to say that the two things happened and the third remained to be fulfilled. I saw the white castles of Babylon laid open and I saw women coming from Qadisiya on camels unafraid to make the pilgrimage to this temple; and, by God, the third will come to pass: wealth will flow until there will not be the people to take it.

THE COMING OF FARWA B. MUSAYK AL-MURADI

Farwa b. Musayk al-Muradi came to the apostle, separating himself from the kings of Kinda. Shortly before Islam there had been a battle between Murad and Hamdan in which the former suffered a severe defeat, losing many men in the engagement called al-Radm (Tabari: al-Razm). The leader of Hamdan was al-Ajda b. Malik (891).

Farwa said about the battle:

They passed by Lufat (In Murad territory.) with sunken eyes

Tugging at the reins as they turned to one side.

If we conquer we were conquerors of old

And if we are conquered we were not often conquered.

Cowardice is not our habit,

But our fate and the fortune of others (caused our defeat).

Thus fate's wheel turns

Now for and now against a man.

While we are happy and rejoice in it,

Though we have enjoyed its favour for years,

Suddenly fate's wheel is turned

And you find those who were envied ground to pieces.

Those whom men envy for fate's favours

Will find time's changes deceitful.

If kings were immortal we should be so;

And if the noble persisted so should we;

But the chiefs of my people are swept away

Like the generations before them (892).

When Farwa set out to go to the apostle, leaving the kings of Kinda, he said:

When I saw the kings of Kinda had failed to go right,
Like a man whose leg sinew lets him down,
I brought up my camel to go to Mohammed
Hoping for its welfare and good ground (893).

When he reached the apostle he asked him, so I have been told, Are you upset at what befell your people on the day of al-Radm? He answered that such a tribal defeat as that would distress any man, and the apostle said that if that were so Islam could bring them only good. The prophet appointed him governor over Murad and Zubayd and Madhhij and sent with him Khalid b. Said b. al-As in charge of the poor tax; he remained with him in his land until the death of the apostle.

THE COMING OF MADIKARIB FROM THE BANO ZUBAYD

Amr b. Madikarib came to the apostle with some men of (the) B. Zubayd and accepted Islam. He had said to Qays b. Makshuh al-Muradi when news of the apostle reached them, 'You are the chief of your tribe, Qays. We have heard that a man of (the) Quraysh called Mohammed has appeared in the Hijaz claiming to be a prophet, so come with us so that we may find out the facts. If he is a prophet as he says, it will be apparent to you and when we meet him we will follow him. If he is not a prophet we shall know.' But Qays refused and declared his advice to be folly. Thereupon Amr rode off to the apostle and accepted Islam. When Qays heard of this he was enraged and threatened Amr, saying that he had gone against him and rejected his advice. Amr said concerning that:

I gave you an order on the day of Dhu Sana,

An order that was plainly right.

I ordered you to fear God and to practise goodness.

You went off after pleasure like a young ass

Whose lust beguiled him.

He wished to meet me on a horse on which I sat as a lion

Wearing a loose coat of mail glittering like a pool

On hard ground which makes the water clear.

Mail that turns back the lances with bent points

With broken shafts flying apart.

Had you met me you would have met a lion with flowing mane.

You would meet a ravening beast

With mighty paws and lofty shoulders

Matching his adversary whom he overthrows if he makes for him:

Seizes him, picks him up, throws him down and kills him;

Dashes out his brains and shatters him;

Tears him in pieces and devours him,

Admitting none a share in the prey his teeth and claws hold fast (894).

Amr stayed with his people the B. Zubayd while Farwa b. Musayk was over them. When the apostle died Amr revolted, and said:

We have found Farwa's rule the worst of rules,

An ass sniffing at a female ass.

If you were to look at Abu Umayr

You would think he was a caul with its filthy discharge (895)

AL-ASHATH B. QAYS COMES WITH THE DEPUTATION OF KINDA

Al-Ashath b. Qays came to the apostle with the deputation of Kinda. Al-Zuhri told me that he came with eighty riders from Kinda and they went in to the apostle in the mosque. They had combed their locks and blackened their eyes with kohl (coal), and they wore striped robes bordered with silk. The apostle asked them if they had accepted Islam and when they said that they had he asked why this silk was round their necks. So they tore it off and threw it away.

Then al-Ashath said, 'We are the sons of the eater of bitter herbs and so are you.' The apostle smiled and said that to al-Abbas b. Abdul-Muttalib and Rabia b. al-Harith that ancestry was attributed. These two men were merchants and when they went about among the Arabs and were asked who they were they would say that they were sons of the eater of bitter herbs, taking pride in that because Kinda were kings. Then he said to them, 'Nay, we are the sons of al-Nadr b. Kinana: we do not follow our mother's line and disown our father.' (This throws light on Robertson Smith's theory of a primitive matriarchy in ancient Arabia.) Al-Ashath said 'Have you finished (Tabari: Do you know), O men of Kinda? By God if I hear a man saying that (Tabari: after today) I will give him eighty strokes' (896).

THE COMING OF SURAD B. ABDULLAH AL-AZDI

Surad came to the apostle and became a good Muslim with the deputation from al-Azd. The apostle put him in command of those of his people who had accepted Islam and ordered him to fight the neighbouring polytheists from the tribes of the Yaman (Yemen) with them. Surad went away to carry out the apostle's orders and stopped at Jurash, which at that time was a closed town containing some of the tribes of the Yaman. Khatham had taken refuge with them and entered it when they heard of the approach of the Muslims. The latter besieged them for about a month, but they could not force an entry. Surad withdrew as far as one of their mountains (now) called Shakar, and the inhabitants of Jurash, thinking that he had fled from them, went out in pursuit of him, and when they overtook him he turned on them and killed a large number of them.

Now the people of Jurash had sent two of their men to the apostle in Medina to look about them and see (what was happening), and while they were with the apostle after the afternoon prayer he asked where Shakar was. The two men got up and told him that there was a mountain in their country called Kashar by the people of Jurash, to which he replied that it was not Kashar but Shakar. 'Then what is the news of it? - they asked.

'Victims offered to God are being killed there now,' he said. The two men went and sat with Abu Bakr or it may have been Uthman and he said, 'Woe to you! the apostle has just announced to you the death of your people, so get up and ask him to pray to God to spare your people.'

They did so, and he did so pray. They left the apostle and returned to their people and found that they had been smitten on the day that Surad attacked them on the very day and at the very hour in which the apostle said these words.

The deputation of Jurash came to the apostle and accepted Islam and he gave them a special reserve' round their town with definite marks for horses, riding camels, and ploughing oxen. The cattle of any (other) man who pastured it could be seized with impunity. One of the Azd in reference to that raid said: (Khatham used to assail Azd in pagan times and attack them in the sacred month):

What a successful raid we had! Mules, and horses and asses.

Until we came to Himyar with its forts

Where Khatham had been given full warning.

If I could satisfy the rancour I feel

I should not care whether they were Muslims or heathen.

THE DEPUTATION OF THE KINGS OF HIMYAR

On his return from Tabuk a messenger brought a letter from the kings of Himyar (The old word hima, meaning a sacred area, has lost its force here.) with their acceptance of Islam: al-Harith b. Abdu Kulal, and Nuaym b. Abdu Kulal, and al-Numan prince of Dhu Ruayn and Maafir and Hamdan. Zura Dhu Yazan sent Malik b. Murra al-Rahawi with their submission to Islam and abandonment of polytheism and its adherents. Then the apostle wrote to them: In the name of God the Compassionate, the Merciful, from Mohammed the apostle of God, the prophet, to al-Harith b. Abdu Kulal and to Nuaym b. Abdu Kulal (Bal. 71 adds And to Sharb b. Abdu Kulal' and omits all words after 'Hamdan' as far as 'polytheists'.) and to al-Numan prince of Dhu Ruayn and Maafir and Hamdan. I praise God the only God unto you. Your messenger reached me on my return from the land of the Byzantines and he met us in Medina and conveyed your message and your news and informed us of your Islam and of your killing the polytheists. God has guided you with His guidance. If you do well and obey God and His apostle and perform prayer, and pay alms, and God's fifth of booty and the apostle's share and selected part (i.e. the part he chooses as his before the property is divided.), and the poor tax which is incumbent on believers from land, namely a tithe of that watered by fountains and rain: of that watered by the bucket a twentieth; for every forty camels a milch camel; for every thirty camels a young male camel; for every five camels a sheep; for every ten camels two sheep; for every forty cows one cow; for every thirty cows a bull calf or a cow calf; for every forty sheep at pasture one sheep. This is what God has laid upon the believers. Anyone who does more it is to his merit. He who fulfils this and bears witness to his Islam and helps the believers against the polytheists he is a believer with a believer's rights and obligations and he has the guarantee of God and His apostle. If a Jew or a Christian becomes a Muslim he is a believer with his rights and obligations. He who holds fast to his religion, Jew or Christian, is not to be turned (Tabari: seduced) from it. He must pay the poll tax—for every adult, male or female, free or slave, one full dinar calculated on the valuation of Maafir (Tabari: or its value) or its equivalent in clothes. He who pays that to God's apostle has the guarantee of God and His apostle, and he who withholds it is the enemy of God and His apostle.

'The apostle of God, Mohammed the prophet, has sent to Zura Dhu Yazan: When my messenger Muadh b. Jabal, and Abdullah b. Zayd, and Malik b. Ubada, and Uqba b. Nimir, and Malik b. Murra and their companions come to you I commend them to your good offices. Collect the alms and the poll tax from your provinces and hand them over to my messengers. Their leader is Muadh b. Jabal, and let him not return unless satisfied. Mohammed witnesses that there is no God but Allah and that he is His servant and apostle.

'Malik b. Murra al-Rahawi has told me that you were the first of Himyar to accept Islam and have killed the polytheists, and I congratulate you and order you to treat Himyar well and not to be false and treacherous, for the apostle of God is the friend both of your poor and your rich. The alms tax is not lawful to Mohammed or his household: it is alms to be given to the poor Muslims and the wayfarer. Malik has brought the news and kept secret what is confidential, and I order you to treat him well. I have sent to you some of the best of my people, religious and learned men, and I order you to treat them well, for they must be respected (A difficult expression. Perhaps 'they are people of importance', or even 'they will be watched', i.e. to see how they fare.). Peace upon you and the mercy and blessings of God.'

THE APOSTLE'S INSTRUCTIONS TO MUADH WHEN HE SENT HIM TO THE YAMAN

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me that he was told that when the apostle sent Muadh he gave him instructions and orders and then said: Deal gently and not harshly; announce good news and do not repel people. You are going to one of the people with scripture who will ask you about the key of heaven. Say to them it is the witness that there is no God but Allah, Who has no partner. Muadh went off to the Yaman and did as he was ordered and a woman came to him and said, 'O companion of God's apostle, what rights has a husband over his wife?' He said, 'Woe to you, a woman can never fulfil her husband's rights, so do your utmost to fulfil his claims as best you can.' She said, 'By God, if you are the companion of God's apostle you must know what rights a husband has over his wife!' He said, 'If you were to go back and find him with his nostrils running with pus and blood and sucked until you got rid of them you would not have fulfilled your obligation.'

FARWA B. AMR AL-JUDHAMI BECOMES A MUSLIM

Farwa b. Amr b. al-Nafira al-Judhami of the clan of Nufatha sent to the apostle that he had accepted Islam, and gave him a white mule. Farwa was governor for the Romans of the Arabs lying near the Roman border based on Maan and the surrounding land of Syria. When the news reached the Romans they went after him, caught him, and imprisoned him. In his imprisonment he said:

Sulayma came to my companions by night
When the Romans were between the door and the water troughs.

The spectre shrank away sad at what it saw,
And I thought to sleep but it had made me weep.
Paint not thine eye with kohl, Salma, after I am dead
And do not approach for intercourse.
You know, Abu Kubaysha, that among the great ones

My tongue is not silent.
If I perish you will miss your brother
And if I live you will recognize my rank,
For I possess the noblest qualities a man can have:
When the Romans determined to crucify him by a pool in Judaea called Afra he said:

Has Salma heard that her husband
Is by the water of Afra raised on a riding camel (The following line makes the point clear.),

A camel whose mother no stallion ever mounted,
Its branches shorn with sickles?
Al-Zuhri alleged
Tell the chiefs of the Muslims that I him he said:
Then they beheaded him and hung him up by that water. May God have mercy on him!

THE BANUL-HARITH ACCEPT ISLAM

Then the apostle sent Khalid b. al-Walid in the month of Rabiul-Akhir or Jumadal-Ula in the year 10 to the B. al-Harith b. Kab in Najran, and ordered him to invite them to Islam three days before he attacked them. If they accepted then he was to accept it from them*; and if they declined he was to fight them. So Khalid set out and came to them, and sent out riders in all directions inviting the people to Islam, saying, 'If you accept Islam you will be safe,' so the men accepted Islam as they were invited. Khalid stayed with them teaching them Islam and the book of God and the sunna of His prophet, for that was what the apostle of God had ordered him to do if they accepted Islam and did not fight*. (* After these words Tabari has And stay with them and teach them the book of Clod and the sunna of the prophet and the institutions of Islam'. It looks as if these words had fallen out of Ibn Hisham's recension, unless he deliberately excised them and that he wrote in the clause beginning "for that" which Tabari omits. Clearly one of them is redundant, and the passage in Tabari reads more smoothly. The words 'to stay with them' in Khalid's letter are given by C, not by Wüstenfeld.)

Then Khalid wrote to the apostle: In the name of God the compassionate, the merciful. To Mohammed the prophet the apostle of God. From Khalid b. al-Walid. Peace be upon you, O apostle of God, and God's mercy and blessings. I praise God the only God unto you. You sent me to the B. al-Harith b. Ka'b and ordered me when I came to them not to fight them for three days and to invite them to Islam; and if they accepted it to stay with them, and to accept it from them and teach them the institutions of Islam, the book of God, and the sunna of His prophet.

And if they did not surrender I was to fight them. I duly came to them and invited them to Islam three days as the apostle ordered me, and I sent riders among them with your message. They have surrendered and have not fought and I am staying among them instructing them in the apostle's positive and negative commands and teaching them the institutions of Islam and the prophet's sunna until the apostle writes to me. Peace upon you, etc.

The apostle wrote to him with the same preamble as before, saying: I have received your letter which came with your messenger telling me that the B. al-Harith surrendered before you fought them and responded to your invitation to Islam and pronounced the shahada, and that God had guided them with His guidance. So promise them good and warn them and come. And let their deputation come with you. Peace upon you, etc.

So Khalid came to the apostle with the deputation of (the) B. al-Harith, among whom were Qays b. al-Husayn Dhul-Ghussa, and Yazid b. Abdul-Madan, and Yazid b. al-Muhajjal, and Abdullah b. Qurad al-Ziyadi, and Shaddad b. Abdullah al-Qanani, and Arar b. Abdullah al-Dibabi.

When they came to the apostle he asked who these people who looked like Indians were, and was told that they were the B. al-Harith b. Kab.

When they came to the apostle they said, 'We testify that you are the apostle of God and that there is no God but Allah.' But he said, And I testify that there is no God but Allah and that I am the apostle of Allah.' (They had placed man before God. L.H.: With the arrival of Classic Greek and Roman civilisation, the Theocracies got a rival. Before the invention of democracy in Greece, most civilisations were ruled by the 'Law of God' and King-Priests. Particularly the Semitic [Poenic, Aramaic, Syriac, Hebrew, Arabic speaking] peoples around the southern and eastern Mediterranean built a kind of powerblock in which the Laws of Moses or similar covenants applied. The monarchies had a double role to play in which religion and politics built a unity. Due to a period of cruel tyranny, the Greeks changed it and created with democracy the 'Law of Man' in which citizens got the power to vote. With the huge conquests of Alexander the Great and the Romans, a clash of civilisations began in earnest and it still lasts up to now. Orthodox Judaism and Islam are civilisations in which the 'Law of God' is more important than the 'Law of Man'. The structure of modern society based on the 'Law of Man', is incompatible and even irreconcilable with ultra-orthodox religions such as Islam. In Islam, religion and politics are always closely intertwined. Islam considers itself to be perfect, and therefore, perfect things cannot be reformed!) Then he said, 'You are the people who when they were driven away pushed forward,' and they remained silent, and none of them answered him. He repeated the words three times without getting an answer, and the fourth time Yazid b. Abdul-Madan said, 'Yes, we are,' and said it four times. The apostle said, If Khalid had not written to me that you had accepted Islam and had not fought I would throw your heads beneath your feet.' Yazid answered, 'We do not praise you and we do not praise Khalid.' 'Then whom do you praise?' he asked. He said: 'We praise God who guided us by you.' 'You are right,' he said, and asked them how they used to conquer those they fought in the pagan period. They said that they never conquered anyone. 'Nay, but you did conquer those who fought you,' he said. They replied, 'We used to conquer those we fought because we were united and had no dissentients, and never began an injustice.' He said, 'You are right,' and he appointed Qays b. al-Husayn as their leader.

The deputation returned to their people towards the end of Shawwal or at the beginning of Dhul-Qada, and some four months after their return the apostle died.

Now the apostle had sent to them after their deputation had returned Amr b. Hazm to instruct them in religion and to teach them the sunna and the institutions of Islam and to collect their alms; and he wrote him a letter in which he gave him his orders and injunctions as follows: In the name of God the Compassionate, the Merciful. This is a clear announcement from God and His apostle. O you who believe, be faithful to your agreements (Koran 5.1). The instructions of Mohammed the prophet the apostle of God to Amr b. Hazm when he sent him to the Yaman. He orders him to observe piety to God in all his doings for God is with those who are pious and who do well (Koran 16.128); and he commanded him to behave with truth as God commanded him; and that he should give people the good news and command them to follow it and to teach men the Koran and instruct them in it and to forbid men to do wrong so that none but the pure should touch the Koran and should instruct men in their privileges and obligations and be lenient to them when they behave aright and severe on injustice, for God hates injustice and has forbidden it. 'The curse of God is on the evildoers (Koran 5.1).' Give men the good news of paradise and the way to earn it, and warn them of hell and the way to earn it, and make friends with men so that they may be instructed in religion, and teach men the rites of the hajj, its customs and its obligation and what God has ordered about it: the greater hajj is the greater hajj and the lesser hajj is the umra; and prohibit men from praying in one small garment unless it be a garment whose ends are double over their shoulders, and forbid men from squatting in one garment which exposes their person to the air, and forbid them to twist the hair of the head (Tabari: if it is long) on the back of the neck (i.e. to wear a pigtail; L.H.: as long hair and the pigtail were the hairstyle of Hindus, Buddhists, Sikhs, and other Unclean and impure polytheists from India and therefore Muslims consider them dispisable.); and if there is a quarrel between men forbid them to appeal to tribes and families, and let their appeal be to God; they who do not appeal to God but to tribes and families let them be smitten with the sword until their appeal is made to God; and command men to perform the ablutions, their faces, and their hands to the elbows and their feet to the ankles, and let them wipe their heads as God has ordered; and command prayer at the proper time with bowing, prostration, and humble reverence; prayer at daybreak, at noon when the sun declines, in the afternoon when the sun is descending, at even when the night approaches not delaying it until the stars appear in the sky; later at the beginning of the night: order them to run to the mosques when they are summoned, and to wash when they go to them, and order them to take from the booty God's fifth and what alms are enjoined on the Muslims from land—a tithe of what the fountains water (Tabari: the baal waters. Here undoubtedly Tabari and Bal. 70 retain the original text. For the original sense of Baal's land see W. Robertson Smith, Religion of the Semites, pp. 98 f. Probably it means land watered by underground streams. Baal is another Semitic word for 'god'.) and the sky waters, and a twentieth of what the bucket waters; and for every ten camels two sheep; and for every twenty camels four sheep; for every forty cows one cow; for every thirty cows a bull or cow calf; for every forty sheep at grass one sheep; this is what God has enjoined on the believers in the matter of alms. He who adds thereto it is a merit to him. A Jew or a Christian who becomes a sincere Muslim of his own accord and obeys the religion of Islam is a believer with the same rights and the same obligations. If one of them holds fast to his religion he is not to be turned (Tabari: seduced) from it. Every adult, male or female, bond or free, must pay a golden dinar or its equivalent in clothes. He who performs this has the guarantee of God and His apostle; he who withholds it is the enemy of God and His apostle and all believers.

THE COMING OF RIFAA B. ZAYD AL-JUDHAMI

Rifa'a b. Zayd al-Judhami of the clan of al-Pubayb came to the apostle during the armistice of al-Hudaybiya before Khaybar. He gave the apostle a slave and he became a good Muslim. The apostle gave him a letter to his people in which he wrote (I have omitted the introductory formula.):

"To Rifa'a b. Zayd whom I have sent to his people and those who have joined them to invite them to God and His apostle. Whosoever comes forward is of the party of God and His apostle, and whosoever turns back has two months' grace".

When Rifa'a came to his people they responded and accepted Islam; then they went to al-Harra, the Harra of al-Rajla', and stopped there (897).

THE LIARS MUSAYLIMA AL-HANAFI AND AL-ASWAD AL-ANSI

Now the two arch-liars Musaylima b. Habib and al-Aswad b. Kab al-Ansi had spoken during the apostle's lifetime, the first in al-Yamama among the B. Hanafa, and the second in Sana (Yemen). Yazid b. Abdullah b. Qusayt told me from Ata b. Yasar, or his brother Sulayman, from Abu Saïd al-Khudri, saying: I heard the apostle as he was addressing the people from his pulpit say "I saw the night of al-qadr and then I was made to forget it; and I saw on my arms two bracelets of gold which I disliked so I blew on them and they flew away. I interpreted it to mean these two liars, the man of al-Yamama and the man of al-Yaman (Yemen)."

One whom I do not suspect on the authority of Abu Hurayra said: I heard the apostle say: The hour will not come until thirty anti-Christ come forth, each of them claiming to be a prophet.'

THE SENDING OUT OF COLLECTORS OF THE POOR-TAX

The apostle sent out his officials and representatives to every district subject to Islam to collect the poor-tax. He sent al-Muhajir b. Abu Umayya b. al-Mughira to Sana, and al-Ansi came out against him while he was there. Ziyad b. Labid, brother of (the) B. Bayada al-Ansari, he sent to Hadramaut. Adiy b. Hatim he sent to Tayyi and B. Asad; Malik b. Nuwayra (898), to (the) B. Hanzala. The poor-tax of (the) B. Sad he divided between two men: Zibriqan b. Badr and Qays b. Asim each to be in charge of a section; al-Ala b. al-Iladraml to al-Bahrayn, and Ali b. Abu Talib to the people of Najran, to collect the poor-tax and to superintend the collection of the poll-tax.

MUSAYLIMA'S LETTER AND THE APOSTLE'S ANSWER THERETO

Musaylima had written to the apostle: 'From Musaylima the apostle of God to Mohammed the apostle of God. Peace upon you. I have been made partner with you in authority. To us belongs half the land and to (the) Quraysh half, but (the) Quraysh are a hostile people.' Two messengers brought this letter. (L.H.: Musaylima was an Apostle' or 'messiah' inspired by the ancient Messianic Movement. In fact, the where around half a dozen 'prophets' in Arabia and Mesopotamia fighting each other for years. . . .)

A shaykh (sheik) of Ashja told me on the authority of Salama b. Nuaym b. Masud al-Ashjai from his father Nuaym: I heard the apostle saying to them when he read his letter 'What do you say about it?' They said that they said the same as Musaylima. He replied, 'By God, were it not that heralds* are not to be killed I would behead the pair of you!' Then he wrote to Musaylima: 'From Mohammed the apostle of God to Musaylima the liar. Peace be upon him who follows the guidance (Koran 20.49). The earth is God's. He lets whom He will of His creatures inherit it and the result is to the pious (Koran 7.125): This was at the end of the year 10. (* L.H.: A herald was an appointed officer who delivered messages from one leader to another. Those heralds were protected by a kind of law code that guaranteed them free movement and protection against robbery and murder.)

THE FAREWELL PILGRIMAGE

In the beginning of Dhul-Qada the apostle prepared to make the pilgrimage and ordered the men to get ready.

Abdul-Rahman b. al-Qasim from his father al-Qasim b. Mohammed from Aisha the prophet's wife told me that the apostle went on pilgrimage on the 25th Dhul-Qada (899).

Neither he nor the men spoke of anything but the pilgrimage, until when he was in Sarif and had brought the victims with him as also some dignitaries had done, he ordered the people to remove their pilgrim garments except those who brought victims. That day my menses were upon me and he came in to me as I was weeping and asked me what ailed me, guessing correctly what was the matter. I told him he was right and said I wished to God that I had not come out with him on the journey this year.

He said (Tabari: Do not do that) 'Do not say that, for you can do all that the pilgrims do except go round the temple.' The apostle entered Mecca and everyone who had no sacrificial victim, and his wives, took off the pilgrim garment. When the day of sacrifice came I was sent a lot of beef and it was put in my house. When I asked what it was they said that the apostle had sacrificed cows on behalf of his wives. When the night that the pebbles were thrown duly came the apostle sent me along with my brother Abdul-Rahman and let me perform the umra from al-Tanim in place of the umra which I had missed.

Nafi, client of Abdullah b. Umar from Abdullah, from Hafsa d. Umar, said that when the apostle ordered his wives to remove the pilgrim garments they asked him what prevented him from doing the same and he said: I have sent on my victims and have matted' my hair, but I shall not be free of the ihram until I slaughter my victims.'

Abdullah b. Abu Najih told me that the apostle had sent Ali to Najran (in the South) and met him in Mecca when he was still in a state of ihram. He went in to Fatima the apostle's daughter and found her dressed in her ordinary clothes. When he asked why, she told him that the apostle had ordered his wives so to do. Then he went to the apostle and reported the result of his journey and he told him to go and circumambulate the temple and remove the pilgrim garb as the others had done. He said that he wanted to slaughter a victim as the apostle did. The apostle again told him to remove the pilgrim garb. He replied: I said when I put on the pilgrim garb, "O God, I will invoke thy name over a victim as your prophet and your slave and your apostle Mohammed does." When he asked him if he had a victim he said that he had not, and the apostle gave him a share in his, so he retained the pilgrim garb with the apostle until both of them had completed the pilgrimage and the apostle slaughtered the victim on behalf of them both.

Yahya b. Abdullah b. Abdul-Rahman b. Abu Amra from Yazid b. Talha b. Yazid b. Rukana told me that when Ali came from the Yaman (from Yemen) to meet; the apostle in Mecca he hurried to him and left in charge of his army one of his companions who went and covered every man in the force with clothes from the linen AH had. When the army approached he went out to meet them and found them dressed in the clothes. When he asked what on earth had happened the man said that he had dressed the men so that they might appear seemly when they mingled with the people. He told him to take off the clothes before they came to the apostle and they did so and put them back among the spoil. The army showed resentment at their treatment.

Abdullah b. Abdul-Rahman b. Mamar b. Hazm from Sulayman b. Mohammed b. Kab b. Ujra from his aunt Zaynab d. Kab who was married to Abu Said al-Khudri, on the authority of the latter told me that when the men complained of Ali the apostle arose to address them and he heard him say: 'Do not blame Ali, for he is too scrupulous in the things of God, or in the way of God, to be blamed.'

Then the apostle continued his pilgrimage and showed the men the rites and taught them the customs of their hajj (Cf. Musa b. Uqba, No.17). He made a speech in which he made things clear. He praised and glorified God, then he said: 'O men, listen to my words. I do not know whether I shall ever meet you in this place again after this year. Your blood and your property are sacrosanct until you meet your Lord, as this day and this month are holy. You will surely meet your Lord and He will ask you of your works. I have told you. He who has a pledge let him return it to him who entrusted him with it; all usury is abolished, but you have your capital. Wrong not and you shall not be wronged. God has decreed that there is to be no usury and the usury of Abbas b. Abdul-Muttalib is abolished, all of it. All blood shed in the pagan period is to be left unavenged. The first claim on blood I abolish is that of b. Rabia b. al-Harith b. Abdul-Muttalib (who was fostered among the B. Layth and whom Hudhayl killed). It is the first blood shed in the pagan period which I deal with. Satan despairs of ever being worshipped in your land, but if he can be obeyed in anything short of worship he will be pleased in matters you may be disposed to think of little account, so beware of him in your religion. "Postponement of a sacred month is only an excess of disbelief whereby those who disbelieve are misled; they allow it one year and forbid it another year that they may make up the number of the months which God has hallowed, so that they permit what God has forbidden, and forbid what God has allowed (Koran 9.37)." Time has completed its cycle and is as it was on the day that God created the heavens and the earth. The number of months with God is twelve; four of them are sacred, three consecutive and the Rajab of Mudar (A.Dh. explains that it was so called because Mudar used to treat it as sacred while other Arabs did not. (I suspect that in Brönnle's edition, p. 449. taklidumutu is a mistake for tuharrimuhu.), which is between Jumada and Shaban.

You have rights over your wives and they have rights over you. You have the right that they should not defile your bed and that they should not behave with open unseemliness. If they do, God allows you to put them in separate rooms and to beat them but not with severity. If they refrain from these things they have the right to their food and clothing with kindness. Lay injunctions on women kindly, for they are prisoners with you having no control- of their persons. You have taken them only as a trust from God (bi amanatillah). This is a difficult phrase. It is probably to be understood in the sense of Sura 8.27 and more particularly 33.72 where the Koranic commentators differ widely. See Lane, 1020.), and you have the enjoyment of their persons by the words of God, so understand (Tabari: and listen to) my words, O men, for I have told you. I have left with you something which if you will hold fast to it you will never fall into error—a plain indication, the book of God and the practice of His prophet, so give good heed to what I say.

Know that every Muslim is a Muslim's brother, and that the Muslims are brethren. It is only lawful to take from a brother what he gives you willingly, so wrong not yourselves. O God, have I not told you? I was told that the men said 'O God, yes,' and the apostle said 'O God, bear witness.'

Yahya b. Abbad b. Abdullah b. al-Zubayr from his father told me that the man who used to act as crier for the apostle when he was on Arafa was Rabi'a b. Umayya b. Khalaf. The apostle said to him, 'Say: O men, the apostle of God says, Do you know what month this is?' and they would say the holy month. Then he said, 'Say to them: God has hallowed your blood and your property until you meet your Lord like the sanctity of this month. Do you know what country this is?' And they said 'The holy land' and he said the same as before. Do you know what day this is? and they said the day of the great hajj, and he said the same again.

Layth b. Abu Sulaym from Shahr b. Haushab al-Ashari from Amr b. Kharija told me: Attab b. Usayd sent me to the apostle on a matter while the apostle was standing on Arafa. I came to him and stood beneath his camel and its foam was falling on my head. I heard him say: 'God has assigned to everyone his due. Testamentary bequests to an heir are not lawful. The child belongs to the bed and the adulterer must be stoned. He who claims as father him who is not his father, or a client a master who is not his master, on him rests the curse of God, the angels, and men everywhere. God will not receive from him compensatory atonement, however great.'

Abdullah b. Abu Najih told me that when the apostle stood on Arafa he said, 'This station goes with the mountain that is above it and all Arafa is a station.' When he stood on Quzah on the morning of al-Muzdalifa he said, 'This is the station and all al-Muzdalifa is a station.' Then when he had slaughtered in the slaughtering place in Mina he said, 'This is the slaughtering place and all Mina is a slaughtering place.' The apostle completed the hajj and showed men the rites, and taught them what God had prescribed as to their hajj, the station, the throwing of stones, the circumambulation of the temple, and what Me had permitted and forbidden. It was the pilgrimage of completion and the pilgrimage of farewell because the apostle did not go on pilgrimage after that.

THE SENDING OF USAMA B. ZAYD TO JUDAEA

Then the apostle returned and stopped in Medina for the rest of Dhul-Hijja, Muharram, and Safar. He ordered the people to make an expedition to Syria and put over them Usama b. Zayd b. Haritha, his freed slave. He ordered him to lead his cavalry into the territory of the Balqa and al-Darum in the land of Judaea. The men got ready and all the first emigrants went with Usama (900).

MESSENGERS SENT TO THE VARIOUS KINGDOMS

(Tabari 1560: As to Ibn Ishaq according to what Ibn Hamid alleged and told us saying that Salama had it from him, he said: The apostle had sent out some of his companions in different directions to the kings of the Arabs and the non-Arabs inviting them to Islam in the period between al-Hudaybiya and his death.)

Yazid b. Abu Habib al-Misri [of Egypt] told me that he found a document in which was a memorandum (Tabari: the names) of those the apostle sent to the countries and kings of the Arabs and non-Arabs and what he said to his companions when he sent them. I sent it to Mohammed b. Shihab al-Zuhri (Tabari: with a trusty countryman of his) and he recognised it. It contained the statement that the apostle went out to his companions and said: 'God has sent me as a mercy to all men, so take a message from me, God have mercy on you. Do not hang back from me (Or, perhaps, 'differ in your response to me'.) as the disciples hung back from Jesus son of Mary.' They asked how they had hung back and he said, 'He called them to a task similar to that to which I have called you. Those who had to go a short journey were pleased and accepted; those who had a long journey before them were displeased and refused to go, and Jesus complained of them to God. (Tabari: From that very night) every one of them was able to speak the language of the people to whom he was sent.' (Tabari: Jesus said 'This is a thing which God has determined that you should do, so go'.)

Those whom Jesus son of Mary sent, both disciples and those who came after them, in the land were: Peter the disciple and Paul with him, (Paul belonged to the followers and was not a disciple) to Rome [Italy, Greece]; Andrew and Matthew to the land of the cannibals [Celtic land such as Gallia and Britannia]; Thomas to the land of Babel [Mesopotamia, Persia, India] which is in the land of the east; Philip to Carthage [North Africa] which is Africa; John to Ephesus [Asia Minor] the city of the young men of the cave; James to Jerusalem which is "Aelia" [Aelia Capitolina, the little capital Aelia. The main Roman capital of Judaea was Caesarea Maritima near Jaffa.] the city of the sanctuary; Bartholomew to Arabia which is the land of the Hijaz; Simon to the land of the Berbers [Northwest Africa]; Judah who was not one of the disciples was put in the place of Judas (The forms of the names shows that the source was Greek. It probably came to Ibn Ishaq through Syriac.).

(Tabari 1560:) Then the apostle divided his companions and sent Salit b. Amr b. Abdu Shams b. Abdu Wudd, brother of (the) B. Amir b. Luayy, to Haudha b. Ali ruler of al-Yamama; al-Ala b. al-Hadrami to al-Mundhir b. Sawa, brother of B. Abdul-Qays, ruler of al-Bahrain; Amr b. al-As to Jayfar b. Julanda and Abbad his brother the Asdis, rulers of Uman; Hatib b. Abu Baltaa to the Muquauqis ruler of Alexandria. He handed over to him the apostle's letter and the Muquauqis gave to the apostle four slave girls, one of whom was Mary mother of Ibrahim the apostle's son; Dihya b. Khalifa al-Kalbi al-Khazraji he sent to Caesar, who was (Flavius) Heraclius, emperor of Rome. When he came to him with the apostle's letter he looked at it and then put it between his thighs and his ribs.) (From this point to the summary of the prophet's raids Tabari's extracts, pp. 1560 f., from the lost work of Ibn Ishaq are given. Doubtless Ibn Hisham omitted them for the reasons given in his Introduction.)

(Tabari 1561:) Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba b. Masud from Abdullah b. Abbas from Abu Sufyan b. Harb told me, saying, 'We were a merchant people and the war between us and the apostle had shut us in until our goods were stale. When there was an armistice between us we felt sure that we should be safe. So I went out with a number of (the) Quraysh merchants to Syria making for Gaza. We got there when Heraclius had conquered the Persians who were in his territory and driven them out and recaptured from them his great cross which they had plundered. When he had thus got the better of them and heard that his cross had been recovered he came out from Hims, which was his headquarters, walking on foot in thanks to God for what He had restored to him, so that he could pray in the holy city (The cross was recovered from the Persians by Heraclius in A.D. 628.). Carpets were spread for him and aromatic herbs were thrown on them. When he came to Aelia and had finished praying there with his patricians and the Roman nobles he became sorrowful, turning his eyes to heaven: and his patricians said, "You have become very sorrowful this morning, O king." He said, "Yes, in a vision of the night I saw the kingdom of a circumcised man victorious." They said that they did not know a people who circumcised themselves except the Jews and they were under his sovereignty. They recommended him to send orders to everyone of authority in his dominions to behead every Jew and thus rid himself of his anxiety. And by God as they were trying to induce him to do this, lo the messenger of the governor of Busra came in leading a man while the princes were exchanging news, and said, "This man, O king, is from the Arabs, people of sheep and camels. He speaks of something wonderful that has happened in his country, so ask him about it." Accordingly the king asked his interpreter to inquire what had happened and the man said, "A man appeared among us alleging that he was a prophet. Some followed and believed him; others opposed him. Fights between them occurred in many places, and I left them thus." When he had given his news the king told them to strip him; they did so, and lo he was circumcised. Heraclius said, "This, by God, is the vision I saw; not what you say. Give him his clothes. Be off with you."

(Tabari 1563:) Then he summoned his chief of police and told him to turn Syria upside down until he brought him a man of the people of that man, meaning the prophet. We were in Gaza when the chief of police came down upon us asking if we were of the people of this man in the Hijaz; and learning that we were he told us to come to the king, and when we came to him he asked if we were of the clan of this man and which was the nearest of kin to him. I said that I was, and by God I have never seen a man whom I consider more shrewd than that uncircumcised man, meaning Heraclius. He told me to approach and sat me in front of him with my companions behind me. Then he said, "I will interrogate him, and if he lies confute him." But, by God, if I were to lie they could not confute me. But I am a man of high birth too honourable to lie and I knew that it was only too easy for them, if I lied to him, to remember it against me and to repeat it in my name, so I did not lie to him. He said, "Tell me about this man who has appeared among you making these claims." I began to belittle him and to speak disparagingly of his affair and to say, "Do not let him cause you anxiety; his importance is less than you have heard," but he took no heed. Then he said, "Tell me what I ask you about him." I told him to ask what he liked and he asked about his lineage among us. I told him it was pure; our best lineage. Then he asked if any of his house had made the same claims which he was copying. When I said No he asked if he possessed any sovereignty among us which we had robbed him of and had he made this claim so that we might return it to him? Again I said No. Then he asked about the character of his followers. I told him that they were the weak and poor and young slaves and young women; not one of the elders and nobles of his people followed him. Then he asked whether those who followed him loved him and stuck to him or despised him and left him, and I told him that none of his followers had left him.

(Tabari 1564:) Then he asked about the war between us and him. I said that its fortunes varied. Then he asked if he was treacherous. This was the only question of his which I found fault with. I said No, and that while we had an armistice with him we did not fear treachery; but he paid no attention to what I said. Then he summed up and said: "I asked you about his lineage and you alleged that it was pure and of your best and God chooses only a man of the noblest lineage as a prophet. Then I asked if any man of his family made similar claims and you said No. Then I asked if he had been robbed of dominion and made this claim to recover it, and you said No. Then I asked you about his followers and you said that they were the weak and poor and young slaves and women, and such have been the followers of the prophets in all ages. Then I asked if his followers left him and you said None. Thus is the sweetness of faith: it does not enter the heart and depart. Then I asked if he was treacherous and you said No; and truly if you have told me the truth about him he will conquer me on the ground that is beneath my feet, and I wish that I were with him that I might wash his feet. Go about your business." (Tabari 1565:) So I got up rubbing my hands together and saying that the affair of Ibn Abu Kabsha had become great in that the kings of the Greeks dreaded him in their sovereignty in Syria. The apostle's letter with Dihya b. Khalifa al-Kalbi came to him saying, "If you accept Islam you will be safe; if you accept Islam God will give you a double reward; if you turn back the sin of the husbandmen" will be upon you," i.e. the burden of it.' (* This appears to be an allusion to the Gospel of Matthew 21.33 f.)

From al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah from Abdullah b. Utba from Ibn Abbas, who said: Abu Sufyan b. Harb told me practically the same story.

Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri told me that he met a Christian bishop in the time of Abdul-Malik b. Marwan who told him that he knew about the affair of the apostle and Heraclius and understood it. When the apostle's letter by Dihya came to him he took it and put it between his thighs and his ribs. (Tabari 1566:) Then he wrote to a man in Rome (Nova Roma = Constantinople) who used to read in Hebrew what they read telling him about his affair and describing his circumstances and telling him about what had come from him. The man in Rome replied that he is the prophet whom we expect: there is no doubt about it, so follow him and believe in him. So Heraclius ordered the Roman generals to assemble in a room and commanded that the doors should be fastened.

Then he looked down on them from an upper chamber (for he was afraid of them) and said: 'O Romans, I have brought you together for a good purpose. This man has written me a letter summoning me to his religion.

By God, he is truly the prophet whom we expect and find in our books, so come and let us follow him and believe in him that it may be well with us in this world and the next.' As one man they uttered cries of disgust and ran to the doors to get out, but found them bolted. He ordered that they should be brought back to him, fearing for his life, and said: 'I spoke these words that I might see the firmness of your religion in face of what has happened, and I am delighted with what I have seen of your behaviour.' They fell down in obeisance and he ordered that the doors should be opened and they went off.

A traditionist said that Heraclius said to Dihya b. Khalifa when he brought the apostle's letter: 'Alas, I know that your master is a prophet sent (by God) and that it is he whom we expect and find in our book, but I go in fear of my life from the Romans; but for that I would follow him. Go to Paghatir the bishop and tell him about your master, for he is greater among the Romans than I, and his word counts for more than mine. (Tabari 1567:) See what he says to you.' So Dihya went and told him about what he had brought from the apostle and of his invitation to Heraclius.

Paghatir said: 'Your master is a prophet who has been sent; we know him by his description, and we find him mentioned by name in our scriptures.' Then he went and discarded his black clothes and put on white garments and took his staff and went out to the Romans who were in church and said: 'O Romans, a letter has come to us from Ahmad in which he calls us to God and I bear witness that there is no God but Allah and that Ahmad is his slave and apostle.' They leapt upon him with one accord and beat him until he was dead. When Dihya returned to Heraclius and told him the news he said: 'I told you that we feared death at their hands and Paghatir was greater among them and his word counted for more than mine.'

From Khalid b. Yasar from one of the first people of Syria: When Heraclius wanted to go from Syria to Constantinople when he heard about the apostle he gathered the Romans together and said: 'I am laying before you some matters which I want to carry out. You know that this man is a prophet who has been sent; we find him in our book; we know him by his description, so come and let us follow him that it may be well with us in this world and the next.' They said, 'Are we to be under the hands of the Arabs when we are a people with a greater kingdom, a larger population, and a finer country!' He said, 'Come and I will pay him the poll-tax every year and avert his onslaught and get rest from war by the money I pay him.' (Tabari 1568:) They replied, 'Are we to pay the low and insignificant

Arabs a tax when we are more numerous, with greater sovereignty and a stronger country? By God, we will never do it.' He said, 'Then come and let me make peace with him on condition that I give him the land of Syria while he leaves me the land of Sham.' Syria with them meant Palestine, Jordan, Damascus, Hims, and what is below the Pass of the land of Syria*, while what was beyond the Pass meant Sham. (* These are precisely the boundaries of Sham in the early days of the Arab conquest. Yazid 1 added the jund of Qinnisrin. The Pass (darb) may mean that over Amanus or the Taurus or the Cilician Gates.) They said, 'Are we to give him the land of Syria, when you know that it is the navel of Sham? By God, we will never do it.' At this refusal he said, 'You will see that you will be conquered when you protect yourselves against him in your province.' Then he got on his mule and rode off until he looked down on the Pass facing Sham and said, 'Farewell for the last time, O land of Syria.' Then he rode off rapidly to Constantinople.

The apostle sent Shuja b. Wahn, brother of B. Asad b. Khuzayma, to al-Mundhir b. al-Harith b. Abu Shimir al-Ghassani, lord of Damascus.

(Tabari 1569:) via Salama: The apostle sent Amr b. Umayya al-pamri to the Negus about Jafar b. Abu Talib and his companions and sent a letter with him . . . 'From Mohammed the apostle of God to the Negus al-Asham king of Abyssinia, Peace. I praise Allah unto you the King, the Holy, the Peace, the Faithful, the Watcher, (An extract from Koran 59.23) and I bear witness that Jesus son of Mary is the spirit of God and His word which He cast to Mary the Virgin, the good, the pure, so that she conceived Jesus. God created him from His spirit and His breathing as He created Adam by His hand and His breathing. I call you to God the Unique without partner and to His obedience, and to follow me and to believe in that which came to me, for I am the apostle of God. I have sent to you my nephew Jafar with a number of Muslims, and when they come to you entertain them without haughtiness, for I invite you and your armies to God. I have accomplished (my work) and my admonitions, so receive my advice. Peace upon all those that follow true guidance.'

The Negus (emperor of Ethiopia) replied: . . . 'From the Negus al-Asham b. Abjar, Peace upon you, O prophet of Allah, and mercy and blessing from Allah beside Whom there is no God, who has guided me to Islam. I have received your letter in which you mention the matter of Jesus and by the Lord of heaven and earth he is not one scrap more than what you say. We know that with which you were sent to us and we have entertained your nephew and his companions. I testify that you are God's apostle, true and confirming (those before you). I have given my fealty to you and to your nephew and I have surrendered myself through him to the Lord of the worlds. I have sent to you my son Arha. I have control only over myself and if you wish me to come to you, O apostle of God, I will do so. I bear witness that what you say is true.'

I was told that the Negus sent his son with sixty Abyssinians by boat, and when they were in the middle of the sea the boat foundered and they all perished.) (It will be seen that there is no isnad for this tradition. Ibn Hisham has dealt with it in his summary to this section. I have omitted Tabari 1574-4 to 1575-5 because it is unintelligible without the preceding story from Yazid b. Abu Habib which evidently ran parallel with what Ibn Ishaq had said.)

(Tabari 1572:) via Salama. From Abdullah b. Abu Bakr from al-Zuhri from Abu Salama from Abdul-Rahman b. Auf. Abdullah b. Hudhafa brought the apostle's letter to Chosroes and when he had read it he tore it up. When the apostle heard that he had torn his letter up he said, 'His kingdom will be torn in pieces.'

(Tabari 1573:) via Yazid b. Abu Habib. Then Chosroes wrote to Badhan, who was governor of the Yaman (of Yemen), 'Send two stout fellows to this man in the Hijaz and tell them to bring him to me.' So Badhan sent his steward Babawayh who was a skilled scribe with a Persian called Kharkhasrah to carry a letter to the apostle ordering him to go with them to Chosroes. He told Babawayh to go to this man's country and speak to him and then come back and report. When they got as far as al-Taif they found some men of (the) Quraysh in (wadi) Nakhb and inquired about him. They told them that he was in Medina. They rejoiced at meeting these men, saying, 'This is good news, for Chosroes king of kings is moved against the man and you will be rid of him.'

The two men came to the apostle and Babawayh told him that Shahanshah king of kings Chosroes had written to the governor (malik.) Badhan ordering him to send men to bring him to him and that they had been sent to take him away. If he obeyed, Badhan would write to the king of kings on his behalf and keep him from him; but if he refused to come he knew what sort of man he was: he would destroy his people and lay waste his country. They had come in to the apostle's presence with shaven beards and long moustaches, so that he could not bear to look at them. He advanced on them and said, 'Who ordered you to do this?' To which they replied, 'Our Lord' meaning Chosroes. The apostle answered, 'But my Lord has ordered me to let my beard grow long and to cut my moustache.' Then he told them to come back in the morning.

News came from heaven to the apostle to the effect that God had given Shirawayh power over his father Chosroes and he had killed him on a certain night of a certain month at a certain hour. (Tabari 1574:) Thereupon he summoned them and told them. They said: 'Do you know what you are saying? We can take revenge on you. What is easier? Shall we write this as from you and tell the king of it?' He said, 'Yes, tell him that from me and tell him that my religion and my sovereignty will reach limits which the kingdom of Chosroes never attained. Say to him, "If you submit I will give you what you already hold and appoint you king over your people in the Yaman (in Yemen)." ' Then he gave Kharkhasrah a girdle containing gold and silver which one of the kings had given him.

They left him and came to Bsdhan and reported. He exclaimed, 'This is not the speech of a king. In my opinion he is a prophet as he says. We will see what happens. If what he said is true then he is a prophet who has been sent by God; if it is not, we must consider the matter further.' Hardly had he finished speaking when there came a letter from Shirawayh saying that he had killed Chosroes because he had angered the Persians by killing their nobles and keeping them on the frontiers. He must see that his men pledged their obedience to the new king. He must see the man about whom Chosroes had written, but not provoke him to war until further instructions came.

(Tabari 1575:) When Badhan received this letter he said, 'Without doubt this man is an apostle,' and he became a Muslim as did the Persians with him in the Yaman (in Yemen).

The men of Himyar used to call Kharkhasrah 'Dhul-Mijaza' because of the girdle which the apostle gave him, because 'girdle' in the Himyari tongue is mijaza. To this day his sons keep the nickname. Babawayh said to Badhan, 'I never spoke to a man for whom I felt more respectful awe.' Badhan inquired, 'Did he have any police with him?' He answered No.

A SUMMARY OF THE EXPEDITIONS AND RAIDING PARTIES

These were thirty-eight (Tabari: thirty-five) in number (Tabari: between the time of his coming to Medina and his death). Ubayda b. al-Harith was sent to the lower part (Tabari: to the tribes) of Thaniyatul-Mara (Tabari: which is a well in the Hijaz); Hamza b. Abdul-Muttalib to the coast in the direction of al-Is. (Some people date Hamza's raid before that of Ubayda); Sad b. Abu Waqqas to al-Kharrar (Tabari: in the Hijaz); Abdullah b. Jahsh to Nakhla; Zayd b. Haritha to al-Qarda (Tabari: a well in Najd); Mohammed b. Maslama's attack on Kab b. al-Ashraf; Marthad b. Abu Marthad al-Ghanawi to al-Raji; al-Mundhir b. Amr to Bir Mauna; Abu Ubayda b. al-Jarrah to Dhul-Qassa on the Iraq road; Umar b. al-Khaftab to Turba in the B. Amir country; Ali b. Abu Talib to the Yaman; Ghalib b. Abdullah al-Kalbi, the Kalb of Layth, to al-Kadid where he smote (the) B. al-Mulawwah.

GHALIB'S RAID ON THE B. AL-MULAWWAH

Yaqub b. Utba b. al-Mughira b. al-Akhnas from Muslim b. Abdullah b. Khubayb al-Juhani from al-Mundhir from Judab b. Makith al-Juhani told me that the latter said: The apostle sent Ghalib b. Abdullah al-Kalbi, Kalb of (the) B. Auf b. Layth, on a night raid in which I took part.

He ordered him to make a cavalry raid on (the) B. al-Mulawwah who were in al-Kadid. We went out and when we reached Qudayd we fell in with al-Harith b. Malik b. al-Barsa al-Laythi and seized him. He said that he had come to be a Muslim and was going to the apostle. We told him that if he was a Muslim it would not hurt him to be tied up for a night, and if he were not we should make sure of him; so we bound him tightly and left him in charge of a young negro and told him to cut off his head if he tried to attack him.

We went on until we came to (Tabari: the valley of) al-Kadid at sunset. We were in the wadi and my companions sent me on to scout for them. So I left them and went on until I came to a hill overlooking the enemy's camp. I went up to the top and looked down at the camp; and by God as I was lying on the hill out came a man from his tent and said to his wife, I see something black on the hill which I didn't see at the beginning of the day. Look and see if any of your gear is missing; perhaps the dogs have dragged off something.' She went to look and told him that nothing was missing. He then told her to fetch him his bow and a couple of arrows and he shot me in the side. I pulled out the arrow and laid it aside and kept my place (Tabari: did not move). Then he shot me again in my shoulder. Again I pulled it out and kept my place. He said to his wife, 'If this had been a scout of some party he would have moved, for both my arrows hit him; in the morning go and get them. Don't let the dogs gnaw them.' Then he went inside his tent.

We gave them time until they quietened down and went to sleep (Tabari: until their cattle returned in the evening and they milked them and lay down quietly, and a third of the night passed) and towards dawn we attacked them and killed some and drove off the cattle. They cried out to one another for aid, and a multitude that we could not resist came at us (Tabari omits and has And we went on quickly until we passed by al-Harith) and we went on with the cattle and passed Ibn al-Barsa and his companion and carried them along with us. The enemy were hard on our heels and only the Wadi Qudayd was between us, when God sent a flood in the wadi from whence He pleased, for there were no clouds that we could see and no rain. It brought such water that none could resist it and none could pass over. And there they stood looking at us as we drove off their cattle. Not one of them could cross to us as we hurried off with them until we got away; they could not pursue us, and we brought them to the apostle.

A man of Aslam on the authority of another of them told me that the war-cry of the apostle's companions that night was Slay! Slay! A rajiz of the Muslims who was driving the cattle rhymed:

Abul-Qasim refused to let you graze
On luscious herbs which you amaze
With yellow tops the colour of maize (901).

I will now continue the summary of the night raids and raiding parties (From C. The whole passage in Tabari 1598 f. differs in phraseology though not in from Ibn Hisham who has apparently edited the text freely.); Ali to (the) B. Abdullah b. Sad of Fadak; Abul-Auja al-Sulami to (the) B. Sulaym country where he and all his companions were killed; Ukkasha b. Mihsan to al-Ghamra; Abu Salama b. Abdul-Asad to Qa'an, a well of (the) B. Asad in the direction of Najd. Mas ud b. Urwa was killed there; Mohammed b. Maslama, brother of b. Haritha, to al-Qurafa of Hawazin; Bashir b. Sad to B. Murra in Fadak; Bashir b. Sad in the direction of Khaybar; Zayd b. Haritha to al-Jamum in (the) B. Sulaym country; Zayd also to Judham in Khushayn country. So says Ibn Hisham, but al-Shafii from Amr b. Habib from Ibn Ishaq say In Hisma country'.

THE RAID OF ZAYD B. HARITHA AGAINST JUDHAM

One whom I can trust told me from some men of Judham who knew about the affair that Rifaa b. Zayd al-Judham! when he came to his people with the apostle's letter inviting them to Islam and they accepted it, was soon followed by Dihya b. Khalifa al-Kalbi who came from Caesar (Flavius Heraclius), king of the Greeks (emperor of the Romans), whom the apostle had sent having with him some merchandise of his. When he reached one of their wadis called Shanar, al-Hunayd b. Us and his son Us of Dulay a clan of Judham attacked Dihya and seized everything he had with him. News of this reached some of al-Pubayb of the kin of Rifaa b. Zayd who had become Muslim and they went after al-Hunayd and his son; al-Numan b. Abu Jial of (the) B. al-Dubayb was among them. They fell in with them and a skirmish took place. On that day Qurra b. Ashqar al-Difari of the clan al-Dulay proclaimed his origin and said, 'I am the son of Lubna,' and shot al-Numan b. Abu Jial with an arrow, hitting him in the knee, saying, 'Take that! I am the son of Lubna.' Lubna was his mother. Now Hassan b. Milla al-Dubaybi had been a friend of Dihya before that and he had taught him the first sura of the Koran (902). They recovered what Hunayd and his son had taken and restored it to Dihya, and Dihya went off and told the apostle what had happened and asked him to let him kill al-Hunayd and his son. The apostle sent Zayd b. Haritha against them and that was what provoked the raid of Zayd on Judham. He sent a force with him. Ghatafan of Judham and Wail and they of Salaman and Sad b. Hudhaym set off when Rifaa b. Zayd came to them with the apostle's letter and halted in the lava belt of al-Bajla, while Rifaa was in Kura Rabba, knowing nothing, with some of the (the) B. al-Dubayb while the rest of B. Dubayb were in Wadi Madan. in the region of the lava belt where it flows to the east. Zayd's force came up from the direction of al-Aulaj and attacked al-Maqis from the harra. They rounded up the cattle and men they found and killed al-Hunayd and his son and two men of (the) B. al-Ahnaf (903), and one of (the) B. al-Khasib. When (the) B. al-Dubayb and the force in Fayfaul Madan heard of this some of them went off, among those who rode with them being Hassan b. Milla on a horse belonging to Suwayd b. Zayd called al-Ajaja, and Unayf b. Milla on a horse of Milla's called Righal, and Abu Zayd b. Amr on a horse called Shamir. They went on until they came near the army when Abu Zayd and Hassan said to Unayf b. Milla, 'Leave us and go for we are afraid of your tongue.' (Tabari: So he withdrew) and stopped near them. Hardly had they left him when his horse began to paw the ground and rear and he said (to it), 'I am more interested in the two men than you in the two horses.' He let her go until he overtook them and they said to him, 'Seeing that you have behaved thus, spare us your tongue and do not bring us bad luck today.' They agreed among themselves that only Hassan should speak. Now they had a word which they used in the pagan period which they learned one from another: if one wanted to smite with his sword he said Burl or Thuri. When they came near the army the men came running to them and Hassan said to them, 'We are Muslims.' The first man to meet them was on a black horse (Tabari 1743: with lance outstretched, the man who displayed it had as it were fixed it on the withers of his horse as he cried, 'Forward, outstrip them!') and he advanced driving them. Unayf said 'Buri,' but Hassan said 'Gently.' When they stopped by Zayd b. Haritha Hassan said, 'We are Muslims.' Zayd said, 'Then recite the first sura.' When he did so Zayd ordered that it should be proclaimed through the army that God had declared their land sacrosanct except as regards those who had broken their covenant.

Hassan's sister, the wife of Abu Wabr b. Adiy b. Umayya b. al-Pubayb, was among the prisoners and Zayd told him to take her and she clasped him by the waist. Ummul-Fizr of Dulay said, 'Are you taking your daughters and leaving your mothers?' One of (the) B. al-Khasib said, 'She is (of the) B. al-Dubayb and their tongue utters spells all the day long.' Some of the army heard this and told Zayd and he gave orders that the hands of Hassan's sister should be loosed from his waist and told her to sit with the daughters of her uncle until God should decide what should be done with them. So they went back. He forbade the army to go down into the valley whence they had come and they passed the night with their people. They sought their night draught of milk from a herd belonging to Suwayd b. Zayd and when they had drunk it they rode off to Rifaa b. Zayd. Among those who went were Abu Zayd b. Amr; Abu Shammas b. Amr; Suwayd b. Zayd; Baja and Bardha and Thalaba, sons of Zayd; Mukharraba b. Adiy; Unayf b. Milla; and Hassan b. Milla, until in the morning they came up with Rifaa in Kura Rabba behind (Or 'on the top of'.) the harra by a well there of Harra Layla. Hassan said to him, 'Here you sit milking goats while the women of Judham (Tabari: are dragged as) prisoners. The letter which you brought has deceived them.' Rifaa called for his camel, and as he began to saddle it he said: 'Are you alive or do you call the living?' When morning came they and he with Umayya b. Dafara, the brother of the slain Khasibite, departed early from behind (Or 'on the top of'.) the harra; they journeyed for three nights to Medina and when they entered it and came to the mosque a man looked at them and told them not to make their camels kneel lest their legs should be cut off. So they dismounted, leaving them standing. When they entered the mosque and the apostle saw them he beckoned to them to advance; and as Rifaa began to speak a man said, 'Apostle, these men are sorcerers (a person who seeks to control and use magic tricks),' and repeated the accusation twice. Rifaa said, 'God be gracious to him who treats us well today.' Then he handed the apostle the letter which he had written to him, saying, 'Take it, O apostle; it was written long since but its violation is recent.' The apostle told a young man to read it openly, and when he had done so he asked what had happened, and they told him. Three times he said, 'What am I to do about the slain?' Rifaa answered, 'You know best, O apostle. We do not regard as wrong what you think is right or the converse.' Abu Zayd b. Amr said, 'Give us back those who are alive and those who are dead I disregard.' The apostle said that Abu Zayd was right and told Ali to ride with them. Ali objected that Zayd would not obey him, whereupon the apostle told him to take his sword and gave it to him. Ali then said that he had no beast to ride, so they (Tabari: the apostle) mounted him on a beast belonging to Thalaba b. Amr called al-Mikhal (linguistically related to Michael) and they went off, when lo a messenger from Zayd b. Haritha came on a camel of Abu Wabr called al-Shamir. They made him dismount and he asked Ali how he stood. He said that they knew their property and they took it. They went on and fell in with the army in Fayfaul-Fahlatayn and took their property which they held even to the smallest pad from a woman's saddle. When they had finished their task Abu Jial said:

There is many a woman who scolds unkindly,
Who but for us would be feeding her captor's fire
Pushed about with her two daughters among the captives

With no hope of an easy release.
Had she been entrusted to Us and Aus
Circumstances would have prevented her release.
Had she seen our camels in Misr (Egypt)
She would have dreaded a repetition of the journey.
We came to the waters of Yathrib (Medina) in anger
(After four nights, search for water is painful)
With every hardened warrior like a wolf
Dour on the saddle of his swift camel.
May every force* in Yathrib be a ransom
(* A.Dh. in Brönnle's text has jibs with the explanation 'rascal'.)

For Abu Sulayman when they meet breast to breast
The day you see the experienced warrior humbled,
His head turning as he flees away (904).
Zayd b. Haritha also raided al-Taraf in the region of Nakhla on the road to Iraq.

ZAYD B. HARITHA'S RAID ON THE B. FAZARA AND THE DEATH OF UMM QIRFA
Zayd also raided Wadil-Qura, where he met (the) B. Fazara and some of his companions were killed; he himself was carried wounded from the field.

Ward b. Amr b. Madash, one of B. Sad b. Hudhayl, was killed by one of (the) B. Badr (whose name was Sad b. Hudhaym—Tabari and Ibn Hisham). When Zayd came he swore that he would use no abluition (i.e. abstain from sexual intercourse. The Semites, like other ancient peoples, tabooed intercourse during war. Cf. 1 Samuel 21.5.6 and Robertson Smith, Religion of the Semites, 454 et passim.) until he raided (the) B. Fazara; and when he recovered from his wounds the apostle sent him against them with a force. He fought (Tabari: he met) them in Wadil-Qura and killed some of them. Qays b. al-Musahhar al-Yamuri killed Masada b. Hakama b. Malik b. Hudhayfa b. Badr, and Umm Qirfa Fatima d. Rabia b. Badr was taken prisoner. She was a very old woman, wife of Malik. Her daughter and Abdullah b. Masada were also taken. Zayd ordered Qays b. al-Musahhar to kill Umm Qirfa and he killed her cruelly (Tabari: by putting a rope to her two legs and to two camels and driving them until they rent [tore] her in two.). Then they brought Umm Qirfa's daughter and Masada's son to the apostle. The daughter of Umm Qirfa belonged to Salama b. Amr b. al-Akwa who had taken her. She held a position of honour among her people, and the Arabs used to say, 'Had you been more powerful than Umm Qirfa you could have done no more.' Salama asked the apostle to let him have her and he gave her to him and he presented her to his uncle Hazn b. Abu Wahb and she bare him Abdul-Rahman b. Hazn. Qays b. al-Musahhar said about the killing of Masada:

I tried as his mother's son would to get revenge for Ward.

As long as I live I will avenge Ward.
When I saw him I attacked him on my steed,
That doughty warrior of the family of Badr.
I impaled him on my lance of Qadabi make
Which seemed to flash like a fire in an open space.

ABDULLAH B. RAWAHA'S RAID TO KILL AL-YUSAYR B. RIZAM

Abdullah b. Rawaha raided Khaybar twice; on one occasion he killed al-Yusayr b. Rizam (905). Now al-Yusayr (Tabari: the Jew) was in Khaybar collecting Ghatafan to attack the apostle. The latter sent Abdullah b. Rawaha with a number of his companions, among whom were Abdullah b. Unays, an ally of (the) B. Salima. When they came to him they spoke to him (Tabari: and made him promises) and treated him well, saying that if he would come to the apostle he would give him an appointment and honour him. They kept on at him until he went with them with a number of Jews. Abdullah b. Unays mounted him on his beast (Tabari and he rode behind him) until when he was in al-Qarqara, about six miles from Khaybar, al-Yusayr changed his mind about going to the apostle. Abdullah perceived his intention as he was preparing to draw his sword, so he rushed at him and struck him with his sword cutting off his leg. Al-Yusayr hit him with a stick of shauhat wood which he had in his hand and wounded his head (Tabari: and God killed Yusayr). All the apostle's companions fell upon their Jewish companions and killed them except one man who escaped on his feet (Tabari: his beast). When Abdullah b. Unays came to the apostle he spat on his wound and it did not suppurate or cause him pain.

On the second occasion Abdullah b. Atik raided Khaybar and killed Rafi b. Abul-Huqayq.

ABDULLAH B. UNAYS'S RAID TO KILL KHALID B. SUFYAN B. NUBAYH

The apostle sent him against Khalid, who was in Nakhla or Urana collecting men to attack the apostle, and he killed him.

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr told me that Abdullah b. Unays said: The apostle called me and said that he had heard that Ibn Sufyan b. Nubayh al-Hudhali was collecting a force to attack him, and that he was in Nakhla or Urana and that I was to go and kill him. I asked him to describe him so that I might know him, and he said, 'If you see him he will remind you of Satan. A sure sign is that when you see him you will feel a shudder.' I went out girding on my sword until I came on him with a number of women in a howdah seeking a halting-place for them. It was the time for afternoon prayer, and when I saw him I felt a shuddering as the apostle had said. I advanced towards him fearing that something would prevent my praying, so I prayed as I walked towards him bowing my head. When I came to him he asked who I was and I answered, An Arab who has heard of you and your gathering a force against this fellow and has come to you.' He said, 'Yes, I am doing so.' I walked a short distance with him and when my chance came I struck him with my sword and killed him, and went off leaving his women bending over him. When I came to the apostle he saw me and said, 'The aim is accomplished.' I said, 'I have killed him, O Apostle,' and he said, 'You are right.'

Then he took me into his house and gave me a stick telling me to keep it by me. When I went out with it the people asked me what I was doing with a stick. I told them that the apostle had given it to me and told me to keep it, and they said, 'Why do you not go back to the apostle and ask him why?' So I did so, and he said, 'It is a sign between you and me on the resurrection day. There are few men who will be carrying sticks then.' So Abdullah b. Unays fastened it to his sword and it remained with him until his death, when he ordered that it should be put in his winding sheet and it was buried with him (906).

To return to the expeditions: The raid of Zayd b. Hariitha and Jafar b. Abu Talib and Abdullah b. Rawaha to Muta in Syria in which all were killed; and the raid of Kab b. Umayr al-Ghifari to Dhatu Atlah in Syria in which he and all his companions were killed; and the raid of Uyyayna b. Hisn on (the) B. al-Anbar of (the) B. Tamim.

THE RAID OF UYAYNA B. HISN ON B. AL-ANBAR OF THE B. TAMIM

The apostle sent him to raid them, and he killed some and captured others. Asim b. Umar b. Qatada told me that Aisha said to the apostle that she must free a slave of the sons of Ismail, and he said, 'The captives of (the) B. al-Anbar are coming now. We will give you one whom you can set free.' When they were brought to the apostle a deputation from (the) B. Tamim rode with them until they reached the apostle. Among them were Rabia b. Rufay; Sahara b. Amr; al-Qaqa b. Mabad; Wardan b. Muhriz; Qays b. Asim; Malik b. Amr; al-Aqra b. Plabis; and Firas b. Habis. They spoke to the apostle on their behalf and he liberated some and accepted ransom for others.

Among the B. al-Anbar who were killed that day were Abdullah and two brothers of his, sons of Wahb; Shaddad b. Firas; and Hanzala b. Darim. Among the women who were captured were Asma d. Malik; Kas d. Any; Najwa d. Nahd; Jumaya d. Qays; and Amra d. Matar. Salma d. Attab said about that day:

Adiy b. Jundab had a serious fall
From which it was hard to rise.
Enemies surrounded them on every side
And their glory and prosperity disappeared (907).

GHALIB B. ABDULLAH'S RAID ON THE LAND OF B. MURRA

The raid of Ghalib b. Abdullah al-Kalbi, the Kalb of Layth, was on the country of (the) B. Murra in which he slew Mirdas b. Nahik, an ally of theirs from al-Hurqa of Juhayna. Usama b. Zayd and a man of the Ansar killed him (908). Usama b. Zayd said: 'When I and a man of the Ansar overtook him and attacked him with our weapons he pronounced the shahdda, but we did not stay our hands and killed him. When we came to the apostle we told him what had happened and he said, "Who will absolve you, Usama, from ignoring the confession of faith?" I told him that the man had pronounced the words merely to escape death; but he repeated his question and continued to do so until I wished that I had not been a Muslim heretofore and had only become one that day and that I had not killed the man. I asked him to forgive me and promised that I would never kill a man who pronounced the shahdda. He said, "You will say it after me (i.e. after Mohammed's death.), Usama?" and I said that I would.'

AMR B. AL-AS RAIDS DHATUL-SALASIL

The raid of Amr b. Dhatul-Salasil in the country of (Tabari: Bali and the raid on the) B. Udhra. The apostle sent him to convoke the Arabs to war on Syria. The mother of al-As b. Wail was a woman of Bali, so the apostle sent him to them to claim their help. When Amr came to water in the country of Judham called al-Salsal (Tabari: Salasil), from which the raid took its name, he took alarm and sent to the apostle for reinforcements. The apostle sent him Abu Ubayda b. al-Jarrah with the first Muhajirs among whom were Abu Bakr and Umar. He told Abu Ubayda when he sent him not to quarrel. Now when he reached Amr the latter said, 'You have come only to reinforce me.' 'No,' said Abu Ubayda, 'but I have my sphere of command and you have yours'; for he was a man of easy gentle disposition on whom the affairs of this world sat lightly. So when Amr insisted that he had come to reinforce him he said, 'The apostle told us not to quarrel, and though you disobey me I will obey you,' to which he replied, 'I am your superior officer and you are here only to reinforce me.' 'Have it your own way,' said he, and Amr took the lead in the prayers.

An informant who had it from Rafi b. Abu Rafi al-Taiy who was Rafi b. Umayra told me that the latter said: I was a Christian called Sarjis, the surest and best guide in the sandy desert. During the pagan period I used to bury water which I had put in ostrich shells in various places in the desert and then raid men's camels. When I had got them into the sand I was safely in possession of them and none dare follow me thither. Then I would go to the places where I had concealed the water and drink it. When I became a Muslim I went on the raid on which the apostle sent Amr b. al-As to Dhatul-Salasil, and I made up my mind to choose a companion, and selected Abu Bakr with whom I rode. He wore a Fadak cloak and whenever we halted he spread it out, and put it on when we rode. Then he fastened it on him with a packing-needle. That was the reason why the people of Najd when they apostatised said, 'Are we to accept as ruler the man with the cloak?' When we approached Medina on our return I told Abu Bakr that I had joined him so that God might profit me by him, and I asked for his advice and instruction. He told me that he would have given this even if I had not asked, and told me to proclaim the unity of God and not to associate anything with Him; to perform prayer; to pay the poor-tax; to fast in Ramadan; to go on pilgrimage; to wash after impurity; and never to assume authority over two Muslims. I told him that I hoped that I should never associate anyone with God; that I would never abandon prayer if God so willed; that I had the means I would always pay the poor-tax; that I would never neglect Ramadan; that I would go on pilgrimage if I were able; and would wash after impurity; but as to leadership I observed that only those who exercised it were held in honour with the apostle and the people, so why should he exclude me from it? He answered, 'You asked me for the best advice that I could give you, and I will tell you. God sent Mohammed with this religion and he strove for it until men accepted it voluntarily or by force. Once they had entered it they were God's proteges and neighbours under His protection. Beware that you do not betray God's trust in regard to His neighbours so that He pursue you relentlessly on behalf of His protege. For if one of you were wronged in this way his muscles would swell with anger if the sheep or camels of his protege" had been seized, and God is more angry on behalf of those under His protection.' Thereupon we parted.

When the apostle died and Abu Bakr was set over men I went to him and reminded him that he had forbidden me to assume authority over two Muslims.

He said that he still forbade me to do so, and when I asked him what had induced him to assume authority over every one he said that he had no alternative; he was afraid that Mohammed's community would split up.

Yazid b. Abu Habib told me that he was informed on the authority of Auf b. Malik al-Ashjai that he said: I was in the raid on which the apostle sent Amr b. al-As to Dhatul-Salasil, in company with Abu Bakr and Umar. I passed by some people who were butchering a camel they had slaughtered. They could not dismember it, while I was a skilled butcher; so I asked them if they would give me a share if I divided it between them, and when they agreed I took a couple of knives and cut it up on the spot. I took my share and carried it to my companions and we cooked and ate it. Abu Bakr and Umar asked me where I had got the meat, and when I told them they said that I had done wrong in giving it to them to eat, and they got up and forced themselves to exgurgitate what they had swallowed. When the army returned from that expedition I was the first to come to the apostle as he was at prayer in his house. When I saluted him he asked if I were Auf b. Malik the butcher of that camel, and he would say nothing more.

THE RAID OF IBN ABU HADRAD ON THE VALLEY OF IDAM AND THE KILLING OF AMIR B. AL-ADBAT AL-ASHJAI

Yazid b. Abdullah b. Qusayt from al-Qaqa b. Abdullah b. Abu Hadrad from his father said: The apostle sent us to Idam with a number of Muslims among whom were Abu Qatada al-Harith b. Ribiy; and Muhallim b. Jaththama b. Qays. We set forth until when we were in the valley of Idam (Tabari: this was before the conquest of Mecca) Amir b. al-Adba al-Ashjai passed by us on a camel of his with a meagre supply of provisions and a skin of laban. As he passed us he saluted us as a Muslim and we held off from him. But Muhallim b. Jaththama attacked and killed him on account of a quarrel they had had, and took his camel and provisions. When we came to the apostle and told him the news there came down concerning us: 'O you who believe, when you go forth in the way of God act circumspectly and do not say to one who salutes you, "You are no believer," coveting the gain of this world,' etc. (Koran 4.96) (909).'

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr told me that he heard Ziyad b. Dumayra b. Sad al-Sulami relating from Urwa b. al-Zubayr from his father from his grandfather who were both present at Hunayn with the apostle: The apostle prayed the noon prayer with us, then he sought the shelter of a tree and sat beneath it in Hunayn. Al-Aqra b. Habis and Uyyayna b. Hisn b. Hudhayfa b. Badr went up to him quarrelling about Amir b. al-Adbaf al-Ashjai, Uyyayna, who was at that time chief of Ghatafan, demanding vengeance for the blood of Amir and al-Aqra protecting Muhallim b. Jaththama because of his position among Khindif. The quarrel went on a long time in the apostle's presence and as we listened we heard Uyyayna say, 'O apostle, I won't let him off until I make his women taste the burning grief he made my women taste'; while the apostle said, 'No, but you will accept fifty camels as bloodmoney on this journey and fifty on our return.' He went on refusing the offer when up got a man of (the) B. Layth called Mukaythir, a short compact fellow (910), and said, 'O apostle, the only thing to which I can compare this man who has been slain in the beginning of Islam is sheep who come with their leaders shot and the ones behind run away. Let the law of blood stand today and accept bloodwit later.' The apostle lifted up his hand and said, 'No, you must take fifty camels as blood-money on this expedition and fifty more when we return,' and they accepted them. Then they said, 'Where is this fellow of yours that the apostle may ask God's pardon for him?' Thereupon a tall thin man wearing a garment which he had taken to fight (Or, perhaps 'die in') in got up and sat in front of the apostle. He admitted that he was Muhallim b.

Jaththama and the apostle said three times, 'O God, pardon not Muhallim b. Jaththama.' He got up wiping away his tears with the end of his garment. As for us, we still hoped that the apostle asked for the divine forgiveness for him, but what we saw him do was what has just been said.

One whom I have no reason to suspect told me from al-Hasan al-Basri that the apostle said when he sat before him, 'You gave him security in God and then you killed him!' Then he said the words which have been quoted, and by God Muhallim died within a week, and the earth I swear rejected him. They buried him again, but the earth rejected him, and yet a third time the same thing happened. Worn out, his people made for two heights (forming a narrow gap) and laid him out between them and then rolled rocks on him until they had covered him. When the apostle heard about this he said, 'The earth has covered worse than he, but God wants to give you a warning of what you must not do by what He has shown you.'

Salim Abul-Nadr told us that he was informed that Uyyayna b. Hisn and Qays were addressed privately by al-Aqra thus: 'You men of Qays, you have opposed the apostle about a man slain when he wanted to make peace between people. Are you sure that the apostle will not curse you so that God will curse you with his curse, or that he will not be angry with you so that God will also be angry with you? I swear that unless you submit him to the apostle and let him do with him as he pleases I will bring fifty men of the B. Tamim who will all call God to witness that your friend who was slain was an unbeliever who never prayed at all and thus cause his blood to be disregarded (i.e. not to be wiped out by the blood of his slayer or tribesmen or to be paid for.)' When they heard that they agreed to take the bloodwit (911).

THE RAID OF IBN ABO HADRAD AL-ASLAMI ON AL-GHABA TO KILL RIFAA B. QAYS AL-JUSHAMI

One whom I have no reason to suspect told me from Ibn Hadrud as follows: I had married a woman of my tribe and promised her two hundred dirhams as a dowry. I came to the apostle and asked him to help me in the matter and when I told him the amount that I had promised he said, 'Good gracious, if you could get dirhams from the bottom of a valley you could not have offered more! I have not the money to help you.' I waited for some days when a man of (the) B. Jusham b. Muawiya Called Riffaa b. Qays or Qays b. Riffaa came with a numerous clan of (the) B. Jusham and encamped with them in al-Ghaba intending to gather Qays to fight the apostle, he being a man of high reputation among Jusham. The apostle summoned me and two other Muslims and told us to go to this man (Tabari: and bring him to him or) bring news of him, and sent us an old thin she-camel. One of us mounted her, but she was so weak that she could not get up until men pushed her up from behind, and even then she hardly managed to do so. Then he said, 'Make the best of her and ride her in turn.'

We set forth taking our arrows and swords until we arrived near the settlement in the evening as the sun was setting. I hid at one end and ordered my companions to hide at the other end of the camp and told them that when they heard me cry Allah akbar' (Allah is great) as I ran to the camp they were to do the same and run with me. There we were waiting to take the enemy by surprise or to get something from them until much of the night had passed. Now they had a shepherd who had gone out with the animals and was so late in returning that they became alarmed on his behalf. Their chief this Riffaa b. Qays got up and took his sword and hung it round his neck, saying that he would go on the track of the shepherd, for some harm must have befallen him; whereupon some of his company begged him not to go alone for they "would protect him, but he insisted on going alone. As he went he passed by me, and when he came in range I shot him in the heart with an arrow, and he died without uttering a word. I leapt upon him and cut off his head and ran in the direction of the camp shouting Allah akbar' and my two companions did likewise, and by God, shouting out to one another they all fled at once with their wives and children and such of their property as they could lay hands on easily. We drove off a large number of camels and sheep and brought them to the apostle and I took Riffaa's head to the apostle, who gave me thirteen of the camels to help me with the woman's dowry, and I consummated my marriage.

ABDUL - RAHMAN B. AUF'S RAID ON DUMATUL-JANDAL

One whom I have no reason to suspect told me from Ata b. Abu Ribah that he said that he heard a man of Basra ask Abdullah b. Umar b. al-Khattab about wearing the turban flying loosely behind one. He said that he would give them information on the point. I was', he said, 'the tenth of ten of the apostle's companions in his mosque, namely Abu Bakr, Umar, Uthman, Ali, Abdul-Rahman b. Auf, Ibn Masud, Muadh b. Jabal, Hudhayfa b. al-Yaman, Abu Said al-Khudri, and myself. Suddenly one of the Ansar came and saluted the apostle and sat down and asked the apostle who was the most excellent of the believers. "The best in character," he replied. "And who is the wisest?" "The one who most often remembers death and makes the best preparation for it before it comes to him. Such men are the wise." The man remained silent, and the apostle said to us, "O Muhajirs, there are five things which may befall you and I pray God that you may escape them: moral decay never openly shows itself among a people but they suffer from pestilence and disease such as their fathers have never known; they do not use light weights and measures but they are smitten by famine and the injustice of rulers; they do not hold back the poor-tax from their herds but rain is withheld, for but for the beasts there would be no rain sent; they do not break the covenant with God and His apostle but an enemy is given power over them and takes much of their possessions; and their imams do not give judgement about God's book and behave arrogantly (Wüstenfeld: watahayyaru 'become perplexed'.) in regard to what God has sent down but God brings upon them the calamity they have engendered."

Then he ordered Abdul-Rahman b. Auf to make his preparations for the expedition. In the morning he wore a black turban of cotton. The apostle told him to approach and unbound it and then rewound it leaving four fingers or so loose behind him, saying, "Turban yourself thus, Ibn Auf, for thus it is better and neater (araf perhaps means 'more in keeping with accepted practice'.)" Then he ordered Bilal to give him the standard and he did so. Then he gave praise to God and prayed for himself. He then said, "Take it, Ibn Auf; fight everyone in the way of God and kill those who disbelieve in God. Do not be deceitful with the spoil; do not be treacherous, nor mutilate, nor kill children. This is God's ordinance and the practice (sira.) of his prophet among you." Thereupon Abdul-Rahman took the standard' (912).

ABUL BAYDA B. AL-JARRAH'S RAID TO THE COAST

Ubada b. al-Walid b. Ubada b. al-Samit from his father from his grandfather Ubada b. al-Samit told me: The apostle sent a force to the coast commanded by Abu Ubayda and furnished them with a supply of dates. He began to ration them until the day came when he had to count them, and finally he could give each man but one date a day. One day he divided them among us and a man lacked even a date and we felt the loss of them that day. When we were exhausted by hunger God brought us a whale from the sea, and we fell upon its flesh and fat and stayed by it for twenty nights until we grew fat and recovered our strength. Our leader took one of its ribs and set it in the way; then he sent for our largest camel and mounted our largest man upon it; he sat on it and came out from under it without lowering his head. When we came to the apostle we gave him the news and asked him what he thought about our having eaten the whale. He said, 'It was food which God provided for you' (913).

(Tabari 1437 and 1438: Ibn Hamid told us from Salama b. al-Fadl from Mohammed b. Ishaq from Jafar b. al-Fadl b. al-Hasan b. Amr b. Umayya al-Damri from his father from his grandfather Amr b. Umayya that the last-named said: After the killing of Khubayb and his companions the apostle sent an Ansari with me telling us to go and kill Abu Sufyan, so we set out. My companion had no camel and his leg was injured, so I carried him on my beast as far as the valley of Yajaj where we tethered our beast in the corner of a pass and rested there. I suggested to my companion that we should go to Abu Sufyan's house and I would try to kill him while he kept watch. If there was a commotion or he feared danger he should take to his camel and go to Medina and tell the prophet the news; he could leave me because I knew the country well and was fleet-footed. When we entered Mecca I had a small dagger like an eagle's feather which I held in readiness: if anyone laid hold of me I could kill him with it. My companion asked that we might begin by going round the Kaaba seven times and pray a couple of rakas. I told him that I knew more about the Meccans than he: in the evening their courts are sprinkled with water and they sit there, and I am more easily recognisable than a piebald horse. However, he kept on at me until we did as he wanted, and as we came out of the Kaaba we passed by one of their groups and a man recognized me and called out at the top of his voice, 'This is Amr b. Umayya!' Thereupon the Meccans rushed at us, saying, 'By God, Amr has come for no good. He has never brought anything but evil,' for Amr was a violent unruly fellow in heathen days.

Tabari 1439: They got up to pursue us and I told my companion to escape, for the very thing I feared had happened, and as to Abu Sufyan there was no means of getting at him. So we made off with all speed and climbed the mountain and went into a cave where we spent the night, having successfully eluded them so that they returned to Mecca. When we entered the cave I put some rocks at the entrance as a screen and told my companion to keep quiet until the pursuit should die down, for they would search for us that night and the following day until the evening. While we were in the cave up came Uthman b. Malik b. Ubaydullah al-Taymi cutting grass for a horse of his. He kept coming nearer until he was at the very entrance of the cave. I told my friend who he was and that he would give us away to the Meccans, and I went out and stabbed him under the breast with the dagger. He shrieked so loud that the Meccans heard him and came towards him. I went back to the cave and told my friend to stay where he was. The Meccans hastened in the direction of the sound and found him at the last gasp. They asked him who had stabbed him and he told them that it was I, and died. They did not get to know where we were and said, 'By God, we knew Amr was up to no good.' They were so occupied with the dead man whom they carried off that they could not look for us, and we stayed a couple of days in the cave until the pursuit died down. Then we went to al-Tanim, and lo, Khubayb's cross (See Wüstenfeld 641 supra.). My friend asked if we should take him down from the cross, for there he was.

Tabari 1440: I told him to leave the matter to me and to get away from me for guards were posted round it. If he was afraid of anything he must go to his camel and tell the apostle what had happened. I ran up to Khubayb's cross, freed him from it, and carried him on my back. Hardly had I taken forty steps when they became aware of me and I threw him down and I cannot forget the thud when he dropped. They ran after me and I took the way to al-Safra and when they wearied of the pursuit they went back and my friend rode to the prophet and told him our news. I continued on foot until I looked down on the valley of Dajnan. I went into a cave there taking my bow and arrows, and while I was there in came a one-eyed man of B. al-Dil driving a sheep of his. When he asked who I was I told him that I was one of (the) B. Bakr. He said that he was also, adding of (the) B. al-Dil clan. Then he lay down beside me and lifting up his voice began to sing:

I will not be a Muslim as long as I live,
Nor heed to their religion give.

I said (to myself), 'You will soon know!' and as soon as the badu was asleep and snoring I got up and killed him in a more horrible way than any man has been killed. I put the end of my bow in his sound eye, then I bore down on it until I forced it out at the back of his neck. Then I came out like a beast of prey and took the highroad like an eagle hastening until I came out at a village which, (said the narrator), he described; then to Rakuba and al-Naqi where suddenly there appeared two Meccans whom Tabari 1441: (The) Quraysh had sent to spy on the apostle. I recognised them and called on them to surrender, and when they refused I shot one and killed him, and the other surrendered. I bound him and took him to the apostle. Ibn Ishaq from Sulayman b. Wardan from his father from Amr b. Umayya: 'When I got to Medina I passed some shaykhs of the Ansar and when they exclaimed at me some young men heard my name and ran to tell the apostle. Now I had bound my prisoner's thumbs with my bowstring, and when the apostle looked at him he laughed so that one could see his back teeth. He asked my news and when I told him what had happened he blessed me' [Ibn Hisham's account will be found in the section devoted to his additions.] (914).

SALIM B. Umayr's EXPEDITION TO KILL ABU AFAK

Abu Afak was one of B. Amr. Auf of the B. Ubayda clan. He showed his disaffection when the apostle killed al-Harith b. Suwayd b. Samit and said:

Long have I lived but never have I seen
An assembly or collection of people
More faithful to their undertaking
And their allies when called upon
Than the sons of Qayla (Qayla was the putative ancestress of Aus and Khazraj. when they assembled,
Men who overthrew mountains and never submitted.
A rider who came to them split them in two (saying)
'Permitted', 'Forbidden' (A gibe at the language of the Koran.) of all sorts of things.

Had you believed in glory or kingship
You would have followed Tubba (i.e. You resisted Tubba who, after all, was a king in fact and a man of great reputation, so why believe in Mohammed's claims?)

The apostle said, 'Who will deal with this rascal for me?' whereupon Salim b. Umayr, brother of B. Amr b. Auf one of the 'weepers', went forth and killed him. Umama b. Muzayriya said concerning that:

You gave the lie to God's religion and the man Ahmad!

By him who was your father, evil is the son he produced!

A hanf gave you a thrust in the night saying 'Take that Abu Afak in spite of your age!'

Though I knew whether it was man or jinn Waq.
Who slew you in the dead of night (I would say naught). (Wüstenfeld, p. 91, proposed an emendation of the text which hardly seems necessary. This line is not in Wellhausen.)

UMAYR B. ADIY'S JOURNEY TO KILL ASMA D. MARWAN

She was of B. Umayya b. Zayd. When Abu Afak had been killed she displayed disaffection. Abdullah b. al-Harith b. al-Fudayl from his father said that she was married to a man of B. Khatma called Yazid b. Zayd. Blaming Islam and its followers she said:

I despise B. Malik and al-Nabit
And Auf and (the) B. al-Khazraj.
You obey a stranger who is none of yours,
One not of Murad or Madhij (Two tribes of Yamani / Yemenite origin.).

Do you expect good from him after the killing of your chiefs

Like a hungry man waiting for a cook's broth?
Is there no man of pride who would attack him by surprise

And cut off the hopes of those who expect aught from him?

Hassan b. Thabit answered her:
(The) Banu Wail and (the) B. Waqif and Khatma
Are inferior to (the) B. al-Khazraj.
When she called for folly woe to her in her weeping,
For death is coming.

She stirred up a man of glorious origin,
Noble in his going out and his coming in.
Before midnight he dyed her in her blood
And incurred no guilt thereby.

When the apostle heard what she had said, 'Who will rid me of Marwan's daughter?' Umayr b. Adiy al-Khatmi who was with him heard him, and that very night he went to her house and killed her. In the morning he came to the apostle and told him what he had done and he said, 'You have helped God and His apostle, O Umayr!' When he asked if he would have to bear any evil consequences the apostle said, 'Two goats will not butt their heads about her,' so Umayr went back to his people.

Now there was a great commotion among (the) B. Khatma that day about the affair of Bint Marwan. She had five sons, and when Umayr went to them from the apostle he said, 'I have killed Bint Marwan, O sons of Khatma. Withstand me if you can; don't keep me waiting (Koran 11.58).' That was the first day that Islam became powerful among B. Khatma; before that those who were Muslims concealed the fact. The first of them to accept Islam was Umayr b. Adiy who was called 'the Reader', and Abdullah b. Aus and Khuzayma b. Thabit. The day after Bint Marwan was killed the men of (the) B. Khatma became Muslims because they saw the power of Islam.

THE CAPTURE OF THUMAMA B. ATHAL AL-HANAFI

I heard on the authority of Abu Said al-Maqburi from Abu Hurayra that the latter said: The apostle's cavalry went out and captured a man of (the) B. Hanifa not knowing who he was until they brought him to the apostle who told them that he was Thumama b. Athal al-Hanafi and that they must treat him honourably in his captivity. The apostle went back to his house and told them to send what food they had to him, and ordered that his milch-camel should be taken to him night and morning; but this failed to satisfy Thumama. The apostle went to him and urged him to accept Islam. He said, 'Enough, Mohammed; if you kill me you kill one whose blood must be paid for, if you want a ransom, ask what you like.' Matters remained thus so long as God willed and then the apostle said that Thumama was to be released. When they let him go he went as far as al-Baqi, where he purified himself and then returned and paid homage to the prophet in Islam. When evening came they brought him food as usual, but he would take only a little of it and only a small quantity of the camel's milk. The Muslims were astonished at this; but when the apostle heard of it he said, 'Why are you astonished? At a man who at the beginning of the day ate with an unbeliever's stomach and at the end of the day with a Muslim's? An unbeliever eats with seven stomachs: the believer with one only' (915).

THE EXPEDITION OF ALQAMA B. MUJAZZIZ

When Waqqas b. Mujazziz al-Mudlijji was killed on the day of Dhu Qarad, Alqama b. Mujazziz asked the apostle to send him on the track of the people so that he might take vengeance on them. Abdul-Aziz b. Mohammed from Mohammed b. Amr b. Alqama from Umar b. al-Hakam b. Thauban from Abu Said al-Khudri said: The apostle sent Alqama b. Mujazziz, I being with the force, and when we were on the way he summoned a part of the force and appointed Abdullah b. Hudhafa al-Sahmi their leader. He was one of the apostle's companions—a facetious fellow, and when they were on the way he kindled a fire and said to the men: 'Have I not claim on your obedience so that if I order you to do something you must do it?' and when they agreed he said, 'Then by virtue of my claim on your obedience I order you to leap into this fire.' Some of them began to gird up their loins so that he thought that they would leap into the fire, and then he said, 'Sit down, I was only laughing at you!' When the apostle was told of this after they had returned he said, 'If anyone orders you to do something which you ought not to do, do not obey him.'

Mohammed b. Jalha said that Alqama and his companions returned without fighting.

KURZ B. JABIR'S EXPEDITION TO KILL THE BAJILIS WHO HAD KILLED YASAR

A traditionist told me from one who had told him from Mohammed b. Talha from Uthman b. Abdul-Rahman that in the raid of Muharib and (the) B. Thalaba the apostle had captured a slave called Yasar, and he put him in charge of his milch-camels to shepherd them in the neighbourhood of al-Jamma. Some men of Qays of Kubba of Bajila came to the apostle suffering from an epidemic and enlarged spleens, and the apostle told them that if they went to the milch-camels and drank their milk and urine they would recover, so off they went. When they recovered their health and their bellies contracted to their normal size they fell upon the apostle's shepherd Yasar and killed him and stuck thorns in his eyes and drove away his camels. The apostle sent Kurz b. Jabir in pursuit and he overtook them and brought them to the apostle as he returned from the raid of Dhu Qarad. He cut off their hands and feet and gouged out their eyes.

ALI'S RAID ON THE YAMAN

Ali raided the Yaman (Yemen) twice (916).

USAMA B. ZAYD'S MISSION TO PALESTINE

The apostle sent Usama to Syria and commanded him to take the cavalry into the borders of the Balqa and al-Dartim in the land of Judaea. So the men got ready and all the first emigrants went with Usama (917).

THE BEGINNING OF THE APOSTLE'S ILLNESS

While matters were thus the apostle began to suffer from the illness by which God took him to what honour and compassion He intended for him shortly before the end of Safar or in the beginning of Rabiul-awwal. It began, so I have been told, when he went to Baqiul-Gharqad in the middle of the night and prayed for the dead. Then he returned to his family and in the morning his sufferings began.

Abdullah b. Umar from Ubayd b. Jubayr, a freedman of al-Hakam b. Abul-As, from Abdullah b. Amr b. al-As from Abu Muwayhiba, a freedman of the apostle, said: In the middle of the night the apostle sent for me and told me that he was ordered to pray for the dead in this cemetery and that I was to go with him. I went; and when he stood among them he said, 'Peace upon you, O people of the graves! Happy are you that you are so much better off than men here. Dissensions have come like waves of darkness one after the other, the last being worse than the first.' Then he turned to me and said, 'I have been given the choice between the keys of the treasures of this world and long life here followed by Paradise, and meeting my Lord and Paradise (at once).' I urged him to choose the former, but he said that he had chosen the latter. Then he prayed for the dead there and went away. Then it was that the illness through which God took him began.

Yaqub b. Utba from Mohammed b. Muslim al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba b. Masud from Aisha, the prophet's wife, said: The apostle returned from the cemetery to find me suffering from a severe headache and I was saying, 'O my head!' He said, 'Nay, Aisha, O my head!' Then he said, 'Would it distress you if you were to die before me so that I might wrap you in your shroud and pray over you and bury you?' I said, 'Methinks I see you if you had done that returning to my house and spending a bridal night therein with one of your wives.' The apostle smiled and then his pain overcame him as he was going the round of his wives, until he was overpowered in the house of Maymuna. He called his wives and asked their permission to be nursed in my house, and they agreed (918).

THE APOSTLE'S ILLNESS IN THE HOUSE OF AISHA. (Ibn Ishaq's tradition from Aisha continues.)

The apostle went out walking between two men of his family, one of whom was al-Fadl b. al-Abbas. His head was bound in a cloth and his feet were dragging as he came to my house. Ubaydullah told this tradition to Abdullah b. al-Abbas who told him that the other man was Ali (Tabari but that Aisha could not bring herself to speak well of him though she was able to do so).

Then the apostle's illness worsened and he suffered much pain. He said, 'Pour seven skins of water from different wells over me so that I may go out to the men and instruct them.' We made him sit down in a tub belonging to Hafsa d. Umar and we poured water over him until he cried, 'Enough, enough!'

Al-Zuhri said that Ayyub b. Bashir told him that the apostle went out with his head bound up and sat in the pulpit. The first thing he uttered was a prayer over the men of Uhud asking God's forgiveness for them and praying for them a long time; then he said, 'God has given one of his servants the choice between this world and that which is with God and he has chosen the latter.' Abu Bakr perceived that he meant himself and he wept, saying, 'Nay, we and our children will be your ransom.' He replied, 'Gently, Abu Bakr,' adding, 'See to these doors that open on to the mosque and shut them except one from Abu Bakr's house, for I know no one who is a better friend to me than he' (919).

Abdul-Rahman b. Abdullah told me from one of the family of Said b. al-Mualla that the apostle said in his speech that day, 'If I were able to choose a friend on earth I would choose Abu Bakr, but comradeship and brotherhood in the faith remain until God unites us in His presence.'

Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr told me from Urwa b. al-Zubayr and other learned men that the apostle found the people tardy in joining the expedition of Usama b. Zayd while he was suffering, so he went out with his head bound up until he sat in the pulpit. Now people had criticised the leadership of Usama, saying, 'He has put a young man in command of the best of the emigrants and the helpers.' After praising God as is His due he said, 'O men, dispatch Usama's force, for though you criticize his leadership as you criticised the leadership of his father before him, he is just as worthy of the command as his father was.' Then he came down and the people hurried on with their preparations. The apostle's pain became severe and Usama and his army went out as far as al-Jurf, about a stage from Medina, and encamped there and men gathered to him. When the apostle became seriously ill Usama and his men stayed there to see what God would decide about the apostle.

Zuhri said that Abdullah b. Kab b. Malik told him that the apostle said on the day that he asked God's forgiveness for the men of Uhud, 'O Muhajirs, behave kindly to the Ansar, for other men increase but they in the nature of things cannot grow more numerous. They were my constant comfort and support. So treat their good men well and forgive those of them who are remiss.' Then he came down and entered his house and his pain increased until he was exhausted. Then some of his wives gathered to him, Umm Salama and Maymuna and some of the wives of the Muslims, among them Asma d. Umays while his uncle Abbas was with him, and they agreed to force him to take medicine. Abbas said, 'Let me force him,' but they did it. When he recovered he asked who had treated him thus. When they told him it was his uncle he said, 'This is a medicine which women have brought from that country,' and he pointed in the direction of Abyssinia. When he asked why they had done that his uncle said, 'We were afraid that you would get pleurisy,' he replied, 'That is a disease which God would not afflict me with. Let no one stop in the house until they have been forced to take this medicine, except my uncle.' Maymuna was forced to take it although she was fasting because of the apostle's oath, as a punishment for what they had done to him.

(Tabari 1809: Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr told me from Urwa b. al-Zubayr that Aisha told him that when they said that they were afraid that he would get pleurisy he said, 'That is something which comes from the devil, and God would not let it have power over me.')

Said b. Ubayd b. al-Sabbag from Mohammed b. Usama from his father told me that when the apostle's illness became severe he and the men came down to Medina and he went in to the apostle who was unable to speak. He began to lift his hand towards heaven and then bring it down upon him, from which he knew that he was blessing him.

Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri told me from Ubayd b. Abdullah b. Utba from Aisha that she used to hear the apostle say, 'God never takes a prophet to Himself without giving him the choice.' When he was at the point of death the last word I heard the apostle saying was, 'Nay, rather the Exalted Companion of paradise (Koran 4.71).' I said (to myself), Then by God he is not choosing us! And I knew that that was what he used to tell us, namely that a prophet does not die without being given the choice.

Al-Zuhri said, Hamza b. Abdullah b. Umar told me that Aisha said: 'When the prophet became seriously ill he ordered the people to tell Abu Bakr to superintend the prayers. Aisha told him that Abu Bakr was a delicate man with a weak voice who wept much when he read the Koran. He repeated his order nevertheless, and I repeated my objection. He said, "You are like Joseph's companions; tell him to preside at prayers." My only reason for saying what I did was that I wanted Abu Bakr to be spared this task, because I knew that people would never like a man who occupied the apostle's place, and would blame him for every misfortune that occurred, and I wanted Abu Bakr to be spared this.'

Ibn Shihab said, Abdullah b. Abu Bakr b. Abdul-Rahman b. al-Harith b. Hisham told me from his father from Abdullah b. Zamaa b. al-Aswad b. al-Muttalib b. Asad that when the apostle was seriously ill and I with a number of Muslims was with him Bilal called him to prayer, and he told us to order someone to preside at prayers. So I went out and there was Umar with the people, but Abu Bakr was not there. I told Umar to get up and lead the prayers, so he did so, and when he shouted Allah Akbar the apostle heard his voice, for he had a powerful voice, and he asked where Abu Bakr was, saying twice over, 'God and the Muslims forbid that.' So I was sent to Abu Bakr and he came after Umar had finished that prayer and presided. Umar asked me what on earth I had done, saying, 'When you told me to take the prayers I thought that the apostle had given you orders to that effect; but for that I would not have done so.' I replied that he had not ordered me to do so, but when I could not see Abu Bakr I thought that he was most worthy of those present to preside at prayers.

Al-Zuhri said that Anas b. Malik told him that on the Monday (Tabari: the day) on which God took His apostle he went out to the people as they were praying the morning prayer. The curtain was lifted and the door opened and out came the apostle and stood at Aisha's door. The Muslims were almost seduced from their prayers for joy at seeing him, and he motioned to them (Tabari: with his hand) that they should continue their prayers. The apostle smiled with joy when he marked their mien in prayer, and I never saw him with a nobler expression than he had that day. Then he went back and the people went away thinking that the apostle had recovered from his illness. Abu Bakr returned to his wife in al-Sunh.

Mohammed b. Ibrahim b. al-Harith told me from al-Qasim b. Mohammed that when the apostle heard Umar saying Allah Akbar in the prayer he asked where Abu Bakr was. 'God and the Muslims forbid this.' Had it not been for what Umar said when he died, the Muslims would not have doubted that the apostle had appointed Abu Bakr his successor; but he said when he died, 'If I appoint a successor, one better than I did so; and if I leave them (to elect my successor) one better than I did so.' So the people knew that the apostle had not appointed a successor and Umar was not suspected of hostility towards Abu Bakr (Abu Bakr appointed Umar to succeed him; the prophet made no appointment).

Abu Bakr b. Abdullah b. Abu Mulyka told me that when the Monday came the apostle went out to morning prayer with his head wrapped up while Abu Bakr was leading the prayers. When the apostle went out the people's attention wavered, and Abu Bakr knew that the people would not behave thus unless the apostle had come, so he withdrew from his place; but the apostle pushed him in the back, saying, 'Lead the men in prayer,' and the apostle sat at his side praying in a sitting posture on the right of Abu Bakr. When he had ended prayer he turned to the men and spoke to them with a loud voice which could be heard outside the mosque: 'O men, the fire is kindled, and rebellions come like the darkness of the night. By God, you can lay nothing to my charge. I allow only what the Koran allows and forbid only what the Koran forbids.' When he had ended these words Abu Bakr said to him: 'O prophet of God, I see that this morning you enjoy the favour and goodness of God as we desire; today is the day of Bint Kharija. May I go to her?' The apostle agreed and went indoors and Abu Bakr went to his wife in al-Sunh.

Al-Zuhri said, and Abdullah b. Kab b. Malik from Abdullah b. Abbas told me: That day Ali went out from the apostle and the men asked him how the apostle was and he replied that thanks be to God he had recovered.

Abbas took him by the hand and said, 'Ali, three nights hence you will be a slave. I swear by God that I recognised death in the apostle's face as I used to recognise it in the faces of the sons of Abdul-Muttalib. So let us go to the apostle; if authority is to be with us, we shall know it, and if it is to be with others we will request him to enjoin the people to treat us well.' Ali answered: 'By God, I will not. If it is withheld from us none after him will give it to us.' The apostle died with the heat of noon that day.

Yaqub (Jacob) b. Utba from al-Zuhri from Urwa from Aisha said: The apostle came back to me from the mosque that day and lay in my bosom. A man of Abu Bakr's family came in to me with a toothpick in his hand and the apostle looked at it in such a way that I knew he wanted it, and when I asked him if he wanted me to give it him he said Yes; so I took it and chewed it for him to soften it and gave it to him. He rubbed his teeth with it more energetically than I had ever seen him rub before; then he laid it down. I found him heavy in my bosom and as I looked into his face, his eyes were fixed and he was saying, 'Nay, the most Exalted Companion is of paradise.' I said, 'You were given the choice and you have chosen, by Him Who sent you with the truth!' And so the apostle was taken.

Yahya (John) b. Abbab b. Abdullah b. al-Zubayr from his father told me that he heard Aisha say: The apostle died in my bosom during my turn: I had wronged none in regard to him. It was due to my ignorance and extreme youth that the apostle died in my arms. Then I laid his head on a pillow and got up beating my breast and slapping my face along with the other women.

Al-Zuhri said, and Said b. al-Musayyib from Abu Hurayra told me: When the apostle was dead Umar got up and said: 'Some of the disaffected will allege that the apostle is dead, but by God he is not dead: he has gone to his Lord as Moses b. Imran went and was hidden from his people for forty days, returning to them after it was said that he had died. By God, the apostle will return as Moses returned and will cut off the hands and feet of men who allege that the apostle is dead.' When Abu Bakr heard what was happening he came to the door of the mosque as Umar was speaking to the people. He paid no attention but went in to Aisha's house to the apostle, who was lying covered by a mantle of Yamani cloth. He went and uncovered his face and kissed him, saying, 'You are dearer than my father and mother. You have tasted the death which God had decreed: a second death will never overtake you.' Then he replaced the mantle on the apostle's face and went out. Umar was still speaking and he said, 'Gently, Umar, be quiet.' But Umar refused and went on talking, and when Abu Bakr saw that he would not be silent he went forward to the people who, when they heard his words, came to him and left Umar. Giving thanks and praise to God he said: 'O men, if anyone worships Mohammed, Mohammed is dead: if anyone worships God, God is alive, immortal.' Then he recited this verse: 'Mohammed is nothing but an apostle. Apostles have passed away before him. Can it be that if he were to die or be killed you would turn back on your heels? He who turns back does no harm to God and God will reward the grateful (Koran 3.138).' By God, it was as though the people did not know that this verse (Tabari: concerning the apostle) had come down until Abu Bakr recited it that day. The people took it from him and it was (constantly) in their mouths. Umar said, 'By God, when I heard Abu Bakr recite these words I was dumbfounded so that my legs would not bear me and I fell to the ground knowing that the apostle was indeed dead.'

THE MEETING IN THE HALL OF THE B. SAIDA

When the apostle was taken this clan of the Ansar gathered round Sad b. Ubada in the hall of (the) B. Saida, and Ali and al-Zubayr b. al-Awwam and Talha b. Ubaydullah separated themselves in Fatima's house while the rest of the Muhajirin gathered round Abu Bakr accompanied by Usayd b. Hudayr with the B. Abdul-Ashhal. Then someone came to Abu Bakr and Umar telling them that this clan of the Ansar had gathered round Sad in the hall of (the) B. Saida. If you want to have command of the people, then take it before their action becomes serious.' Now the apostle was still in his house, the burial arrangements not having been completed, and his family had locked the door of the house. Umar said, I said to Abu Bakr, Let us go to these our brothers of the Ansar to see what they are doing.'

In connexion with these events Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me from Ibn Shihab al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba b. Masud from Abdullah b. Abbas who said, I was waiting for Abdul-Rahman b. Auf in his station in Mina while he was with Umar in the last pilgrimage which Umar performed. When he returned he found me waiting, for I was teaching him to read the Koran. Abdul-Rahman said to me: I wish you could have seen a man who came to the commander of the faithful and said, "O commander of the faithful, would you like a man who said, By God, if Umar were dead I would hail So-and-so. Fealty given to Abu Bakr was a hasty mistake and was ratified." Umar was angry and said, 'God willing, I shall get up among the men tonight and warn them against those who want to usurp power over them.' I said, Do not do it, commander of the faithful, for the festival brings together the riff-raff and the lowest of the people; they are the ones who will be in the majority in your proximity (Tabari: your assembly) when you stand among the people. And I am afraid lest you should get up and say something which they will repeat everywhere, not understanding what you say or interpreting it aright; so wait until you come to Medina, for it is the home of the sunna and you can confer privately with the lawyers and the nobles of the people. (Tabari: you will come to the home of the hijra and the sunna and you can confer privately with the apostle's companions both muhajirin and ansar.) (The difference between the two reports of what Ibn Ishaq said is interesting. Ziyad makes the lawyers and the sharifs the ultimate authority while Tabari has nothing to say about them and regards the prophet's companions as the real authorities. If the tradition is genuine Tabari's version must be authentic because there can hardly have been lawyers in Umar's day. However, it is possible that at that time fiqh did not bear its later meaning.) You can say what you will and the lawyers (Tabari: they) will understand what you say and interpret it properly.' Umar replied, 'By God, if He will I will do so as soon as I get to Medina.'

We came to Medina at the end of Dhul-Hijja and on the Friday I returned quickly when the sun had set and found Said b. Zayd b. Amr b. Nufayl sitting by the support of the pulpit and I sat opposite him knee to knee. Immediately Umar came out and when I saw him coming I said to Said, 'He will say something tonight on this pulpit which he has never said since he was made caliph.' Said was annoyed and asked, 'What do you suppose that he is going to say that he has never said before?' Umar sat in the pulpit, and when the muezzins were silent he praised God as was fitting and said: I am about to say to you today something which God has willed that I should say and I do not know whether perhaps it is my last utterance. He who understands and heeds it let him take it with him whithersoever he goes; and as for him who fears that he will not heed it, he may not deny that I said it. God sent Mohammed and sent down the scripture to him. Part of what he sent down was the passage on stoning; we read it, we were taught it, and we heeded it. The apostle stoned (adulterers) and we stoned them after him. I fear that in time to come men will say that they find no mention of stoning in God's book and thereby go astray by neglecting an ordinance which God has sent down. Verily stoning in the book of God is a penalty laid on married men and women who commit adultery, if proof stands or pregnancy is clear or confession is made. Then we read in what we read from God's book: "Do not desire to have ancestors other than your own for it is infidelity so to do." (This citation, which on the face of it has nothing to do with adultery, shows that the dya of which it is the beginning was well known in Ibn Ishaq's time. It continues: If an adult man or woman commit adultery stone them without exception as a punishment from God. God is mighty and wise.' See Nöldeke-Schwally, Geschichte des Qorans, i. 248, where the authorities are given. If it was part of the Koran it is difficult to see where it stood originally. Muslim authorities suggest Sura 33, but the rhyme forbids this; and Sura 24, but there the punishment is scourging. Most commentators hold that the verse is one of those that was afterwards abrogated, while others say that it was accidentally lost owing to a domestic animal eating the part of the page on which the revelation was written. Cf. Zamakhshari on Sura 33, and others. This tradition which is carried back to Aisha is condemned as the invention of sectarians. There is a real problem which can hardly be satisfactorily solved: on the one hand, the Koran teaches that adulterers must be scourged; on the other hand, this exceeding early tradition—much older than the later canonical collections of hadith—that they must be stoned is evidently the authority which lies behind the penalty prescribed by Muslim lawbooks to this day. See the authorities quoted op. cit., p. 251.

Since the words shaykha and albatta occur nowhere in the Koran and since the first part of the verse appears in a slightly different form as a saying of Mohammed in Muslim's Sahih [Iman 27], the probability is that it never formed part of the Koran. However, if the traditional form of Umar's speech as given by Ibn Ishaq (and by Tabari on another authority) is authentic, it remains to be explained why Umar, who was a most truthful man, should have stated publicly in the strongest possible terms that the verse was to be read in the Koran.)

Did not the apostle say, 'Do not praise me extravagantly as Jesus son of Mary was praised and say The servant and the apostle of God?' I have heard that someone said, If Umar were dead I would hail So-and-so.' Do not let a man deceive himself by saying that the acceptance of Abu Bakr was an unpremeditated affair* which was ratified. (* The exact meaning is somewhat elusive.) Admittedly it was that, but God averted the evil of it. There is none among you to whom people would devote themselves as they did to Abu Bakr. He who accepts a man as ruler without consulting the Muslims, such acceptance has no validity for either of them: they are in danger of being killed. What happened was that when God took away His apostle the Ansar opposed us and gathered with their chiefs in the hall of (the) B. Saida; and Ali and al-Zubayr and their companions withdrew from us; while the Muhajirin gathered to Abu Bakr.

I told Abu Bakr that we should go to our brothers the Ansar, so we went off to go to them when two honest fellows met us and told us of the conclusion the people had come to. They asked us where we were going, and when we told them they said that there was no need for us to approach them and we must make our own decision. I said, 'By God, we will go to them,' and we found them in the hall of (the) B. Saida. In the middle of them was a man wrapped up. In answer to my inquiries they said that he was Sad b. Ubada and that he was ill. When we sat down their speaker pronounced the shahdda and praised God as was fitting and then continued: 'We are God's Helpers and the squadron of Islam. You, O Muhajirin, are a family of ours and a company of your people have come to settle.' (Umar) said, And lo, they were trying to cut us off from our origin and wrest authority from us.' (The crucial word qala indicating that Umar was the speaker is missing from Wüstenfeld. Tabari 1822 makes the passage perfectly clear. 'He said When I saw that they wanted to cut us off from (yakhtazilu) our origin and wrest authority from us and I had prepared,' etc. The passage is of great importance in that it shows how the Emigrants were then the dominating party and henceforth the Ansar would have to take a subordinate place.) When he had finished I wanted to speak, for I had prepared a speech in my mind which pleased me much. I wanted to produce it before Abu Bakr and I was trying to soften a certain asperity of his; but Abu Bakr said, 'Gently, Umar!' I did not like to anger him and so he spoke. He was a man with more knowledge and dignity than I, and by God he did not omit a single word which I had thought of and he uttered it in his inimitable way better than I could have done. He said: All the good that you have said about yourselves is deserved. But the Arabs will recognise authority only in this clan of (the) Quraysh, they being the best of the Arabs in blood and country. I offer you one of these two men: accept which you please.' Thus saying he took hold of my hand and that of Abu Ubayda b. al-Jarrah who was sitting between us. Nothing he said displeased me more than that. By God, I would rather have come forward and have had my head struck off—if that were no sin—than rule over a people of whom Abu Bakr was one.

One of the Ansar said: I am the rubbing post and the fruitful propped-up palm (i.e. a man who can cure people's ills and is held in high esteem because of his great experience.). Let us have one ruler and you another, O Quraysh.' Altercation waxed hotter and voices were raised until when a complete breach was to be feared I said, 'Stretch out your hand, Abu Bakr.' He did so and I paid him homage; the Muhajirin followed and then the Ansar. (In doing so) we jumped on Sad b. Ubada and someone said that we had killed him I said, 'God kill him.'

Al-Zuhri said that Urwa b. al-Zubayr told him that one of the two men whom they met on the way to the hall was Uwaym b. Saïda and the other was Man b. Adiy, brother of (the) B. al-Ajlan. Concerning Uwaym we have heard that when the apostle was asked who were those of whom God said In it are men who love to purify themselves and God loves those who purify themselves' (Koran 1.109), the apostle said that the best man of them was Uwaym b. Saïda. As to Man, we have heard that when meⁿ wept over the apostle's death and said that they wished that they had died before him because they feared that they would split up into factions, he said that he did not want to die before him so that he could bear witness to his truth when he was dead as he had done when he was alive. Man was killed on the day of al-Yamama as a martyr in the caliphate of Abu Bakr, the day of Musaylima the arch-liar. Al-Zuhri told me on the authority of Anas b. Malik: On the morrow of Abu Bakr's acceptance in the hall he sat in the pulpit and Umar got up and spoke before him, and after praising God as was meet he said, 'O men, yesterday I said something (Tabari 1828: based on my own opinion and) which I do not find in God's book nor was it something which the apostle entrusted to me; but I thought that the apostle would order our affairs (until) he was the last of us (alive). God has left His book with you, that by which He guided His apostle, and if you hold fast to that God will guide you as He guided him. God has placed your affairs in the hands of the best one among you, the companion of the apostle, "the second of the two when they were in the cave" (Koran 9.40), so arise and swear fealty to him.' Thereupon the people swore fealty to Abu Bakr as a body after the pledge in the hall.

Abu Bakr said after praising God: I have been given authority over you but I am not the best of you. If I do well, help me, and if I do ill, then put me right. Truth consists in loyalty and falsehood in treachery. The weak among you shall be strong in my eyes until I secure his right if God will; and the strong among you shall be weak in my eyes until I wrest the right from him. If a people refrain from fighting in the way of God, God will smite them with disgrace. Wickedness is never widespread in a people but God brings calamity upon them all. Obey me as long as I obey God and His apostle, and if I disobey them you owe me no obedience. Arise to prayer. God have mercy on you.'

Husayn b. Abdullah told me from Ikrima from Ibn Abbas who said: 'When Umar was caliph I was walking with him while he was intent on business of his. We were alone and he had a whip in his Hand, and as he talked to himself he swished the side of his legs with his whip. As he turned to me he asked me if I knew what induced him to speak as he did when the apostle died. I said that only he could know that, and he went on: "It was because I used to read 'thus we have made you a middle people that you may be witnesses against men and that the apostle may be a witness against you (Koran 1.37);' and by God I thought that the apostle would remain among his people until he could witness against them as to the last things they did. That was what induced me to say what I did."'

THE BURIAL PREPARATIONS

When fealty had been sworn to Abu Bakr men came to prepare the apostle for burial on the Tuesday. Abdullah b. Abu Bakr and Husayn b. Abdullah and others of our companions told me that Ali and Abbas and his sons al-Fadl and Outham, and Usama b. Zayd, and Shuqran freedman of the apostle were those who took charge of the washing of him; and that Aus b. Khauli, one of (the) B. Auf b. al-Khazraj, said, I adjure you by God, Ali, and by our share in the apostle (i.e. 'that you will let me take part' or some such apodosis.)' Aus was one of the apostle's companions who had been at Badr. Ali gave him permission to enter and he came in and sat down and was present at the washing of the apostle. Ali drew him on to his breast and Abbas and al-Fadl and Outham turned him over along with him. Usama and Shuqran poured the water over him, while Ali washed him, having drawn him towards his breast. He still wore his shirt with which he rubbed him from the outside without touching the apostle's body with his hand while he said, 'Dearer than my father and my mother, how sweet you are alive and dead! The apostle's body did not present the appearance of an ordinary corpse.

Yahya b. Abbad b. Abdullah b. al-Zubayr from his father Abbad from Aisha: When they wanted to wash the apostle dispute arose. They did not know whether they were to strip him of his clothes as they stripped their dead or to wash him with his clothes on. As they disputed God cast a deep sleep upon them so that every man's chin was sunk on his chest. Then a voice came from the direction of the house, none knowing who it was: 'Wash the apostle with his clothes on.' So they got up and went to the apostle and washed him with his shirt on, pouring water on the shirt, and rubbing him with the shirt between him and them (Tabari: Aisha used to say, 'Had I known at the beginning of my affair what I knew at the end of it none but his wives would have washed him').

Jafar b. Mohammed b. Ali b. al-Husayn from his father from his grandfather Ali b. al-Husayn, and al-Zuhri from Ali b. al-Husayn, said that when the apostle had been washed he was wrapped in three garments, two of Suhar make (There are two towns of this name, one in the Yaman and the other in al-Yamama in the B. Tamim territory.) and a striped mantle wrapped the one over the other.

Husayn b. Abdullah told me from Ikrima from Ibn Abbas: Now Abu Ubayda b. al-Jarrah used to open the ground as the Meccans dig, and Abu Talha Zayd b. Sahl used to dig graves for the Medinans and to make a niche in them and when they wanted to bury the apostle al-Abbas called two men and told one to go to Abu Ubayda and the other to Abu Talha saying, 'O God, choose for (thy) the apostle.' The one sent to Abu Talha found his man and brought him and he dug the grave with the niche for the apostle (All Muslim graves contain this niche or recess.).

When the preparations for burial had been completed on the Tuesday he was laid upon his bed in his house. The Muslims had disputed over the place of burial. Some were in favour of burying him in his mosque, while others wanted to bury him with his companions. Abu Bakr said, I heard the apostle say, "No prophet dies but he is buried where he died"; so the bed on which he died was taken up and they made a grave beneath it. Then the people came to visit the apostle praying over him by companies: first came the men, then the women, then the children (Tabari: then the slaves). No man acted as imam in the prayers over the apostle. The apostle was buried in the middle of the night of the Wednesday.

Abdullah b. Abu Bakr told me from his wife Fatima d. (Mohammed b.) Umara from Amra d. Abdul-Rahman b. Sad b. Zurara that Aisha said: We knew nothing about the burial of the apostle until we heard the sound of the pickaxes in the middle of the Wednesday night. Ibn Ishaq said: Fatima told me this tradition.

Those who descended into the grave were Ali and al-Fadl and Outham the sons of Abbas, and Shuqran. Aus implored Ali in the name of God and his share in the apostle to let him descend, and he let him go with the others. When the apostle was laid in his grave and the earth was laid over him Shuqran his freedman took a garment which the apostle used to wear and use as a rug and buried (Tabari: cast) it in the grave saying, 'By God, none shall ever wear it after you,' so it was buried with the apostle.

Al-Mughira b. Shuba used to claim that he was the last man to be with the apostle. He used to say, I took my ring and let it fall into the grave and said, My ring has dropped. But I threw it in purposely that I might touch the apostle and be the last man to be with him.'

My father Ishaq b. Yasar told me from Miqsam, freedman of Abdullah b. al-Harith b. Naufal, from his freedman Abdullah b. al-Harith: I went on the little pilgrimage with Ali in the time of Umar or Uthman and he visited his sister Umm Hani d. Abu Talib. When he had finished his pilgrimage (Tabari: I poured out) ablution water was poured out for him and he washed. When he had finished some Iraqis came in saying that they had come to ask him about a matter on which they would like him to give them some information. He said, I suppose that al-Mughira tells you that he was the last person to be with the apostle?' When they said that that was so, he said, 'He lies. The last man to be with the apostle was Outham b. Abbas.'

Salih b. Kaysan told me from al-Zuhri from Ubaydullah b. Abdullah b. Utba that Aisha told him: The apostle wore a black cloak when he suffered severe pain. Sometimes he would put it over his face, at others he would take it off, saying the while, 'God slay a people who choose the graves of their prophets as mosques,' warning his community against such a practice.

On the same authority I was told that the last injunction the apostle gave was in his words 'Let not two religions be left in the Arabian peninsula.'

(Tabari 1834: The apostle died on the 12th Rabiul-awwal on the very day that he came to Medina as an emigrant, having completed exactly twelve years in his migration.) When the apostle was dead the Muslims were sore stricken. I have heard that Aisha used to say, 'When the apostle died the Arabs apostatised and Christianity and Judaism raised their heads and disaffection appeared. The Muslims became as sheep exposed to rain on a winter's night through the loss of their prophet until God united them under Abu Bakr' (920).

Hassan said mourning the apostle:

Tell the poor that plenty has left them
With the prophet who departed from them this morning.

Who was it who has a saddle and a camel for me,
My family's sustenance when rain fails?
Or with whom can we argue without anxiety
When the tongue runs away with a man?
He was the light and the brilliance we followed.
He was sight and hearing second only to God.

The day they laid him in the grave
And cast the earth upon him
Would that God had not left one of us
And neither man nor woman had survived him!
The BanG'I-Najjar were utterly abased,
But it was a thing decreed by God.

The booty was divided to the exclusion of all the people

And they scattered it openly and uselessly among themselves (Apparently 'the people' are the Ansar and 'they' are the Quraysh. The connexion of this line with the preceding is obscure. This and the following poem come via Ibn Ishaq.)

Hassan also said:

I swear that no man is more careful than I
In swearing an oath true and without falsehood.
By God, no woman has conceived and given birth
To one like the apostle the prophet and guide of his people;

Nor has God created among his creatures
One more faithful to his sojourner or his promise
Than he who was the source of our light,
Blessed in his deeds, just, and upright.
Your wives stripped the tents in mourning
And did hot strike the pegs behind the curtains.
Like nuns they put on garments of hair
Certain of misery after happiness.
O best of men, I was as it were in a river
Without which I have become lonely in my thirst (921).

IBN HISHAM'S NOTES

(Ibn Hisham's Notes contain more than 900 supplements on genealogy, marriage, names and other minor issues. They will not all be displayed here. However, we will show here some issues from the beginning of Ibn Hisham's Notes, as well as points 913 to 918 from the end of the Notes, as they might be of significance.)

10. What I have just written about the prophet's genealogy back to Adam and about Idris and others I was told by Ziyad b. Abdullah al-Bakkai on the authority of Mohammed b. Ishaq.

Khallad b. Qurra b. Khalid al-Sadusi on the authority of Shayban b. Zuhayr b. Shaiq from Qatada b. Diama gave a slightly different version from Ismail upwards, namely: Asragh-Arguh-Falikh-Abir and (later) Mahlail b. Qayin b. Anush.

God willing I shall begin this book with Ismail son of Ibrahim and mention those of his offspring who were the ancestors of God's apostle one by one with what is known about them, taking no account of Ismail's other children, for the sake of brevity, confining myself to the prophet's biography and omitting some of the things which Ibn Ishaq has recorded in this book in which there is no mention of the apostle and about which the Koran says nothing and which are not relevant to anything in this book or an explanation of it or evidence for it; poems which he quotes that no authority on poetry whom I have met knows of; things which it is disgraceful to discuss; matters which would distress certain people; and such reports as al-Bakkai told me he could not accept as trustworthy—all these things I have omitted. But God willing I shall give a full account of everything else so far as it is known and trustworthy tradition is available.

12. The Arabs say Hajar and Ajar, changing the h into a as in the verb haraqa and ardqa 'to pour out'. Hajar was an Egyptian. Abdullah b. Wahb from Abdullah b. Lahia on the authority of Umar client of Ghufra told me that the apostle said: 'Show piety in dealing with the protected peoples, those of the settled lands, the black, the crinkly haired, for they have a noble ancestor and marriage ties (with us).' The said Umar explained that by ancestry the prophet referred to the fact that the prophet Ismail's mother came from them, and the marriage tie was contracted when the apostle took one of them as concubine.

Ibn Lahia said: Ismail's mother Hagar, the mother of the Arabs, came from a town in Egypt facing Farama

(Said to be the ancient Pelusium.); and Ibrahim's mother Maria, the prophet's concubine whom the Muquqis gave him, came from Hafn (In the Said on the east bank of the Nile.) in the province of Ansina.

13. All the Arabs are descended from Ismail and Qahtan. Some of the people of the Yaman claim that Qahfan was a son of Ismail and so according to them Ismail is the father of all the Arabs. (with comments like this, the Arabs tried to hide their humble background and to portray themselves as superior race)

14. Akk dwelt in the Yaman because he took a wife among the Asharites and lived with them and adopted their language. The Asharites are descended from Ashar b. Nabt b. Udab b. Zayd b. Humaysa b. Amr b. Arib b. Yashjub b. Zayd b. Kahlan b. Saba b. Yashjub b- Yarub b. Qahtan. Others say Ashar is Nabt b. Udab; or that AshAr was the son of Malik who was Madhhij b. Udab b. Zayd b. Humaysa; or Ashar is the son of Saba b. Yashjub.

Abu Muhriz Khalaf al-Ahmar and Abu Ubayda quoted to me the following verse of Abbas b. Mirdas who belonged to B. Sulaym b. Mansur b. Ikrima b. Khasafa b. Qays b. Aylan b. Mudar b. Nizar b. Maadd b. Adnan in which he boasted of his descent from Akk:

And Akk b. Adnan who made a mock of Ghassan
Until they were driven out completely.

Ghassan is the name of the water got from the dam at Marib in the Yaman which was drunk by the descendants of Mazin b. al-Asd b. al-Ghauth and they were named after it. Others say that Ghassan is the name of water at al-Mushallal near al-Juhfa (Mushallal is a mountain near Medina. Al-Juhfa lies on the Medina-Mecca road.), and those who drink of it and take their name from it are the tribes descended from Mazin b. al-Asd b. al-Ghauth b. Nabt b. Malik b. Zayd b. Kahlan b. Saba b. Yashjub b. Yarub b. Qahtan. Among the verses of Hassan b. Thabit al-Ansari—the Ansar being the tribes of Aus and Khazraj, the two sons of Haritha b. Thalaba b. Amr b. Amir b. Haritha b. Imruul-Qays b. Thalaba b. Mazin b. al-Asd b. al-Ghauth is this:

If you ask about us we are a noble people.
Al-Asd is our forefather and Ghassan our water.

The Yamanites and some of the Akk who live in Khurasan report their descent from Akk b. Adnan b. Abdullah b. al-Asd b. al-Ghauth. Others say Udthan in the place of Adnan.

17. Lakhm was the son of Adiy b. al-Harith b. Murra b. Udab b. Zayd b. Humaysa b. Amr b. Arib b. Yashjub b. Zayd b. Kahlan b. Saba. Others say of Adiy b. Amr b. Saba. According to others Rabia b. Nasr b. Abu Haritha b. Amr b. Amir. He remained behind in the Yaman after Amr b. Amir's migration thence.

HOW AMR B. AMIR LEFT THE YAMAN
AND THE STORY OF THE DAM OF MARIB

The cause of Amr's migration from the Yaman as it was told me by Abu Zayd al-Ansari is as follows: Amr saw a rat burrowing in the dam at Marib where they used to hold back the water and then direct it where it was most needed. He perceived that the dam could not last and he determined to leave the Yaman. He proposed to deceive his people in this wise. He ordered his youngest son to get up and hit him in retaliation for his rough treatment; and when he did so Amr said publicly that he would not go on living in a land where the youngest son could slap his father's face. He offered his goods for sale and the principal men of the Yaman took advantage, as they thought, of his rage, and bought his property, and he went off with his sons and grandchildren. The Azdites said that they would not remain if Amr left the country so they sold their property and went with him. They travelled until they came to the land of the Akk tribe which they penetrated, desiring to find settlements. Akk took up arms against them, but the fighting was indecisive. It was of this that Abbas b. Mirdas composed the verse on p. 6. After this they moved on and went their several ways in the lands. The family of Jafna b. Amr b. Amir settled in Syria; Aus and Khazraj in Yathrib; Khuzaa in Marr (Marr, called Marr al-Zaharan (and Marr Zaharim). is a day's journey from Mecca.); Azd al-Sarat in Al-Sarat (Said to be a mountain overlooking Arafa. See further Yaquut, Mujam.) and Azd Uman in Uman (Oman.).

Then God sent a torrent against the dam and destroyed it. Concerning this event God revealed to his prophet Mohammed: 'Saba' in their dwelling-place had a sign: two gardens one to the right and another to the left; (they were commanded) Eat from what your Lord has furnished and be grateful to Him. It is a goodly land and a forgiving Lord. But they turned away and We sent against them the torrent of al-Arim (Koran 34.14).' This latter word means 'dams'; its singular is arima according to what Abu Ubayda told me.

Al-Asha of (the) B. Qays b. Thalaba b. Ukaba b. Sab b. Aly b. Bakr b. Wail b. Hinb b. Afsa b. Jadila b. Asad b. Rabfa b. Nizar b. Maadd. (Others say Afsa b. Dumi b. Jadila.) Al-Asha (Maymun b. Qays b. Jandal b. Sharahil b. Auf b. Sad b. Dubaya b. Qays b. Thalaba) wrote the following lines:

Herein is a moral for him who looks for it.
The dams (that were breached) destroyed Marib.
(Himyar had built them of marble for them.
When the floods rose high they stood fast.
When their water was sent out in channels
It watered the crops and the vines).
Then they became wanderers unable
To give drink to their tender bahes.

Umayya b. Abu al-Salt the Thaqafite—the name of Thaqif is Qasiy b. Munabbih b. Bakr b. Hawazin b. Mansur b. Ikrima b. Khasafa b. Qays b. Aylan b. Mudar b. Nizar b. Maadd b. Adnan-recited:

From Saba who dwelt in Marib when They built dams against its torrent.

This verse occurs in a poem of his, but it is also attributed to al-Nabigah al-Jadi whose name was Qays b. Abdullah, one of (the) B. Jada b. Kab b. Rabfa b. Amir b. Sasaa b. Muawiya b. Bakr b. Hawazin. But this is a long story which I am compelled to cut short for the reasons I have already given.

(As Ibn Hisham has obviously cut out much of what Ibn Ishaq had written and so the following extract from Tabari's version of Ibn Ishaq is left in the air, I have included it here.)

(Tabari 909: Before that a soothsayer Shaft' b. Kulayb al-Sadafi had come to Tubba and lived with him and when he wished to bid him farewell Tubba asked him whether he had anything of importance to communicate, and in the customary rhymes of saj he told him in reply to the question whether any king would fight with Tubba, 'No, but the king of Ghassan had a son whose kingdom would be surpassed by a man of great piety, helped by the Almighty, described in the psalms; his people would be favoured by revelation, he would dispel darkness by light, Ahmad the prophet. How blessed his people when he comes, one of the sons of Luayy of (the) B. Quasayy! Tubba sent for a copy of the psalms, examined them, and found the description of the prophet (New religions have a great problem. Most people would meet them with suspicion. Therefore, early Muslims deparately tried to find points in Jewish and Christian text that could in any way be used as 'proof' for the legitimacy of Mohammed's Islam. The early Christians did pretty much the same thing with the Tanakh / the Old Testament. They wrote their gospels in a kind of 'referring style' which is also called 'Typology'. Passages were written in a way that reminded the readers of the texts in the Old Testament. At the same time, those borrowing new religion try to degrade their sources verbally or literally, or even shun them.)

Ibn Ishaq gleaned and assembled the following traditions from what Said b. Jubayr told him from Ibn Abbas and some learned Yamani traditionist: A Lakhmid king was in Yaman in the territory of the Tubba's of Himyar called Rabfa b. Nasr. Before him there had reigned in the Yaman Tubba I, Zayd b. Sahl (Here follows his genealogy which is given by Ibn Ishaq when he deals with Abu Karib.). With him came Shamir Yurish b. Yasir Yunim b. Amr Dhul-Adhar his cousin and Shamir Yurish who raided China and built Samarqand and discomfited al-Hira (A poor pun.). He it was who said:

I am Shamir Abu Karib al-Yamani.

I imported horses from Yaman and Syria

That I might send the slaves who rebelled against us
In Athm and Yam beyond China. (Yam is in the Yaman [in Yemen]. The name Athm is unknown and the reading is not certain.)

We rule in their land by a just law

That no creature can transgress.)

913. THE SENDING OF AMR B. Umayya AL-DAMRI TO KILL ABU SUFYAN B. HARB AND WHAT HE DID ON THE WAY

Among the missions and expeditions which the apostle sent out which Ibn Ishaq does not record* is the mission of Amr b. Umayya al-Damri, whom the apostle sent to Mecca—according to what a trustworthy traditionist told me—after the killing of Khubayb b. Adiy and his companions, ordering him to kill Abu Sufyan b. Harb. With him he sent Jabbar b. Sakhr al-Ansari.

(* This statement implies that the Manuscript which Ibn Hisham had contained no account of these happenings, but the extract from Tabari 1437 f. which I have restored to the text gives a graphic description on the authority of Ibn Ishaq. S. also points out that Ibn Hisham is in error in saying that Ibn Ishaq does not report the story.)

When they reached Mecca they tied their two camels in one of the narrow passes of Yajaj and entered the town by night. Jabbar suggested to Amr that they should circumambulate the temple and pray two rak'As, to which Amr replied that at night the inhabitants were wont to sit in their courtyards. 'God willing they will not be,' he replied. Amr said: We went round the temple and prayed and then came away making for Abu Sufyan. As we were walking in the town a man looked at me and recognised me and cried, It is Amr b. Umayya. By God, he has come only for some evil purpose.' I told my companion to run and we went out quickly and got up a mountain, and they came out in pursuit of us and did not desist until we had got to its top. We came back and went into a cave in the mountain and passed the night there, having piled rocks in front of it. In the morning came a man of Quraysh leading a horse, cutting grass for it, drawing near to us as we were in the cave. I said, If he sees us he will give the alarm and we shall be taken and killed.' Now I had a dagger with me which I had got ready for Abu Sufyan, and I stabbed him in the chest and he gave a cry which reached the ears of the Meccans, so I went back and entered the cave. The men came running to him as he was at the last gasp and asked him who had stabbed him and he said Amr b. Umayya, and died on the spot without having revealed where we were. They carried him away. When night fell I told my companion that we must get away, so we left Mecca making for Medina. We passed by some guards who were watching the corpse of Khubayb b. Adiy when one of them said, 'By God, I have never seen before tonight anything more like the gait of Amr b. Umayya: were it not that he is in Medina should have said that it was he.' When he came in face of the gallowes he ran to it and took it and carried it away, and the two of them hurried off, while they (the guards) came behind him, until he came to a hollow in the cliff at the ravine of Yajaj where he threw the gallowes into the hollow and God hid him from them while they could do nothing. I said to my companion, 'Escape! Escape! until you get to your camel and mount it while I occupy the men so that they cannot hinder you', for the Ansari could hardly walk.

I went on until I came out at Dajnan; then I betook me to a mountain and entered a cave. While I was there suddenly an old man of (B. al-Dil, a one-eyed man, came in with a young sheep and asked who I was. I told him I was of (the) B. Bakr and he said he was too. I said 'Welcome,' and as he stretched himself out he lifted up his voice and said:

I will not be a Muslim as long as I live
Nor heed to their religion give.

I said to myself 'You will soon know!' I gave him time until when he was asleep I took my bow and inserted the end of it in his sound eye and bore down upon it until it reached the bone. Then I hurried off until I came to al-Arj (A place on the Mecca road. The name is also given to a wadi in the Hijaz.), then Rakuba (A pass between the two harems.) until I dropped down to al-Naql (In Muzayna country about two nights' journey from Medina.) where there were two polytheists of Quraysh who had been sent as spies to Medina. I called on them to surrender but they refused, so I shot one and killed him and the other surrendered. I bound him tightly and took him to Medina.

914. ZAYD B. HARITHA'S EXPEDITION TO MADIYAN

This is recorded by Abdullah b. Hasan b. Hasan from his mother Fatima d. al-Husayn b. Ali Zayd was accompanied by Dumayra, a client of Ali's, and a brother of his. They took several captives from the people of Mina which is on the shore, a mixed lot among them. They were sold as slaves and families were separated. The apostle arrived as they were weeping and inquired the reason. When he was told he said, 'Sell them only in lots', meaning the mothers with the children.

915. I have heard that when he went on the little pilgrimage he uttered the cry 'Labbayka' in the vale of Mecca. He was the first to enter Mecca with the cry. Quraysh seized him and exclaimed at his audacity. They were about to strike off his head when one of them said, 'Let him alone, for you have need of al-Yamama for your food' so they let him go his way.

Concerning this al-Hanafi said:

It was our man who said publicly in Mecca

In the sacred months 'labbayka' despite Abu Sufyan.

I was told that when he became a Muslim he said to the apostle: 'Your face used to be the most hateful to me, but now it is the most beloved.' He spoke similarly about (his) religion and country. Then he went on the little pilgrimage, and when he came to Mecca they said, 'Have you changed your religion, Thumama?' 'No,' he said, 'but I follow the best religion, the religion of Mohammed; and by God not a grain of corn will reach you from al-Yamama until the apostle gives permission.' He went back to al-Yamama and prevented them from sending anything to Mecca. Then the people wrote to the apostle: 'You order that ties of kinship should be observed, yet you sever those with us; you have killed the fathers with the sword and the children with hunger.' So the apostle wrote to him to let the carriage of food go on.

916. Abu Amr al-Madani said: The apostle sent Ali to the Yaman and sent Khalid b. al-Walid with another force and ordered that when the forces met Ali was to be in supreme command. Ibn Ishaq mentioned the sending of Khalid in his account, but he did not reckon it among the missions and expeditions so that the number of them in his account ought to be 39.

918. THE APOSTLE'S WIVES

They were nine: Aisha d. Abu Bakr; Hafsa d. Umar; Umm Habiba d. Abu Sufyan; Umm Salama d. Abu Umjryya b. al-Mughira; Sauda d. Zamaa b. Qays; Zaynab d. Jahsh b. Riab; Maymuna d. al-Harith b. Hazn; Juwayriya d. al-Harith b. Abu Pirar; and Safiya d. Huyay b. Akhfab according to what more than one traditionist has told me.

He married thirteen women: Khadija d. Khuwaylid, his first wife whom her father Khuwaylid b. Asad, or according to others her brother Amr, married to him. The apostle gave her as dowry twenty she-camels. She bare all the apostle's children except Ibrahim. She had been previously married to Abu Hala b. Malik, one of (the) B. Usayyid b. Amr b. Tamim, an ally of (the) B. Abdul-Dar to whom she bore Hind b. Abu Hala and Zaynab. Before that she had been married to Utayyiq b. Abid b. Abdullah b. Umar b. Makhzum to whom she bore Abdullah and Jariya.

He married Aisha in Mecca when she was a child of seven and lived with her in Medina when she was nine or ten. She was the only virgin that he married. Her father, Abu Bakr, married her to him and the apostle gave her four hundred dirhams.

He married Sauda d. Zamaa b. Qays b. Abdu Shams b. Abdu Wudd b. Nasr b. Malik b. Hisl b. Amir b. Luayy. Sail b. Amr, or according to others Abu Hafib b. Amr, married her to him, and the apostle gave her four hundred dirhams.

Ibn Ishaq contradicts this tradition saying that Salif and Abu Hafib were absent in Abyssinia at this time. Before that she had been married to al-Sakran b. Amr b. Abdu Shams.

He married Zaynab d. Jahsh b. Riab al-Asadiya. Her brother Abu Ahmad married her to him and the apostle gave her four hundred dirhams. She had been previously married to Zayd b. Haritha, the freed slave of the apostle, and it was about her that God sent down: 'So when Zayd had done as he wished in divorcing her We married her to you (Koran 33.37).'

He married Umm Salama d. Abu Umayya b. al-Mughira al-Makhzumiya. Her name was Hind (This name is closely related to the word 'Hindu'. She therefore might have been a Hindu or came from India.). Her son Salama b. Abu Salama married her to him and the apostle gave her a bed stuffed with palm-leaves a bowl, a dish, and a handmill. She had been married to Abu Salama b. Abdul-Asad whose name was Abdullah. She had borne him Salama, Umar, Zaynab, and Ruqayya.

He married Hafsa d. Umar with her father's consent and the apostle gave her four hundred dirhams. She had been married to Khunays b. Hudhafa al-Sahmi.

He married Umm Habiba whose name was Ramla d. Abu Sufyan. Khalid b. Said b. al-As married her to him when they were both in Abyssinia and the Negus (the emperor of Ethiopia.) gave her on behalf of the apostle four hundred dinars. It was he who arranged the marriage for the apostle. She had been married to Ubaydullah b. Jahsh al-Asadi.

He married Juwayriya d. al-Harith b. Abu pirar al-Khuza Iya who was among the captives of (the) B. Mustaliq of Khuza a. She had fallen to the lot of Thabit b. Qays b. al-Shammas al-Ansari and he wrote a contract of redemption which she brought to the apostle asking his help. He asked her if she would like something better than that, and when she asked what that could be he said, 'Shall I rid you of the contract and marry you myself? She said Yes, and so he married her. This tradition was given us by Ziyad b. Abdullah al-Bakkai from Mohammed b. Ishaq from Mohammed b. Jafar b. al-Zubayr from Urwa from Aisha.

It is said that when the apostle came back from the raid on (the) B. al-Mustaliq with Juwayriya and was in the midst of the army he gave Juwayriya to one of the Ansar and ordered him to guard her. When the apostle reached Medina her father al-Harith came to him with his daughter's ransom. When he was in al-Aqiq he had looked at the camels which he had brought for the ransom and admired two of them greatly, so he hid them in one of the passes of al-Aqiq. Then he came to the prophet saying, 'Here is my daughter's ransom.' The apostle said: 'But where are the two camels which you hid in al-Aqiq in such-and-such a pass?' Al-Harith said, I testify that there is no God but Allah and that you are the apostle of God, for by God none could have known of that but God most High'; so he became a Muslim, as did two of his sons who were with him and some of his people. He sent and fetched the two camels and handed them over to the prophet and his daughter Juwayriya was given back to him. She became an excellent Muslim. The apostle asked her father to let him marry her and he agreed and the apostle gave her four hundred dirhams. She had been previously married to a cousin of hers called Abdullah. It is said that the apostle bought her from Thabit b. Qays, freed her, married her, and gave her four hundred dirhams.

He married Safiya d. Huyay b. Akhab whom he had captured at Khaybar and chosen for himself. The apostle made a feast of gruel and dates: there was no meat or fat (Presumably because she was a Jewess and would eat only kosher meat.)

She had been married to Kinana b. al-Rabi b. Abul-Huqayq. He married Maymuna d. al-Harith b. Hazn b. Bahir b. Huzam b. Ruwayba b. Abdullah b. Hilal b. Amir b. Sasaa. Al-Abbas b. Abdul-Muttalib married her to him and gave her on the apostle's behalf four hundred dirhams. She had been married to Abu Ruhm b. Abdul-Uzza b. Abu Qays b. Abdu Wudd b. Nasr b. Malik b. Hishl b. Amir b. Luayy. It is said that it was she who gave herself to the prophet because his offer of marriage came to her when she was on her camel. She said, 'The camel and what is on it belongs to God and His apostle.' So God sent down: And a believing woman if she gives herself to the prophet (Koran 33.49).'

It is said that the one who gave herself to the prophet was Zaynab d. Jahsh, or Umm Shank Ghaziya d. Jabir b. Wahb of (the) B. Munqidh b. Amr b. Mais b. Amir b. Luayy. Others say it was a woman of B. Sama b. Luayy and the apostle postponed the matter.

He married Zaynab d. Khuzayma b. al-Harith b. Abdullah b. Amr b. Abdu Manaf b. Hilal b. Amir b. Sasaa who was called 'Mother of the Poor' because of her kindness to them and her pity for them. Qabisa b. Amr al-Hilali married her to him and the apostle gave her four hundred dirhams. She had been married to Ubayda b. al-Harith b. al-Muttalib b. Abdu Manaf; before that to Jahm b. Amr b. al-Harith who was her cousin.

The apostle consummated his marriage with eleven women, two of whom died before him, namely Khadija and Zaynab. He died leaving the nine we have mentioned. With two he had no marital relations, namely Asma d. al-Numan, the Kindite woman, whom he married and found to be suffering from leprosy and so returned to her people with a suitable gift; and Amra d. Yazid the Kilab woman who was recently an unbeliever. When she came to the apostle she said I seek God's protection against you,' and he replied that one who did that was inviolable so he sent her back to her people. Others say that the one who said this was a Kindite woman, a cousin of Asma d. al-Numan, and that the apostle summoned her and she said 'We are a people to whom others come; we come to none!' so he returned her to her people.

There were six Quraysh women among the prophet's wives, namely, Khadija, Aisha, Hafsa, Umm Habiba, Umm Salama, and Sauda.

The Arab women and others were seven, namely, Zaynab d. Jahsh, Maymuna, Zaynab d. Khuzayma, Juwayriya, Asma, and Amra. The non-Arab woman was Safiya d. Huyay b. Akhtab of (the) B. al-Nadiri.

AFTERMATH

(Taken from The Life of Mahomet, edited by William Muir, 1861)

Campaign of Osama on the Syrian Border. Concluding Observations.

The first concern of Abu Bakr, on assuming the Caliphate, was to despatch the Syrian army, and thus fulfil the dying wish of Mahomet. But the horizon all around was lowering; and many urged that the Moslem force should not be sent upon this distant expedition. Even Omar joined in the cry,—"Scatter not the believers; rather keep our soldiers here together: we may yet have need of them to defend the city." "Never!" replied Abu Bakr;—"the command of the Prophet shall be carried out, even if I be left here in the city all alone, a prey to the wolves and beasts of the desert." Then they besought that a more experienced soldier might be appointed to the chief command. Abu Bakr arose in wrath:—"Out upon thee!" he cried, as he seized Omar by the beard;—"hath the Prophet of the Lord named Osama to the leadership, and dost thou counsel me to take it from him!" The Caliph would admit of no excuse and no delay; the force was soon marshalled again at Jorf. Abu Bakr repaired to the camp, and treating Osama with the profound respect due to a commander appointed by Mahomet himself, begged permission that Omar might be left behind at Medina as his counsellor. The request was granted. Abu Bakr then, bidding Osama farewell, exhorted him to go forward in the name of the Lord, and fulfil the commission he had received at the Prophet's hands. The army marched; and the Caliph, with Omar alone, returned to Medina. (Tabari [Kosegarten, pp. 42, 51; K. Wackidi, 138.] The period at which the expedition started is given by the Secretary as the beginning of the 2nd Rabi, that is, more than a fortnight after the Prophet's burial. The narrative given by Tabari would lead to the supposition that Osama marched earlier; since Abu Bakr is represented as ordering the fulfilment of Mahomet's commands regarding the campaign a day or two after his death. On the other hand, the general anxiety to keep the troops back, in consequence of the threatened rising of the Arabs, makes it probable that some little time had elapsed.

According to the Secretary, it was Abu Bakr who desired to keep back the troops from their march, in consequence of the rebellion of the Arabs; and it was Osama who insisted on an immediate march, in pursuance of the command of Mahomet. [K. Wackidi, 139.] But the traditions on the subject in Tabari seem stronger, and I have followed them.)

Within twenty days of his departure from Jorf, Osama had overrun the province of "Belcaa". In fire and blood, he avenged his father's death and the disastrous field of Muta. "They ravaged the land," says the historian, "with the well-known cry of Ya Mansur Amit ('Strike, ye conquerors!') they slew all who ventured to oppose them in the field, and carried off captive the remainder. They burned the villages, the fields of standing corn, and the groves of palm trees:

and there went up behind them, as it were, a whirlwind of fire and smoke (K. Wackidi, 139: The Secretary represents Osama as killing in battle the very man that slew his father.)

Having thus fulfilled the Prophet's last command, they retraced their steps. It was a triumphal procession as they approached Medina; Osama rode upon his father's horse, and the banner, bound so lately by Mahomet's own hand, floated before him. Abu Bakr and the citizens went forth to meet him, and received the army with acclamations of joy. Attended by the Caliph, and the chief companions of the Prophet, Osama proceeded to the Mosque, and offered up prayer with thanksgiving for the success which had so richly crowned his arms. (The tidings of this bloody expedition alarmed Heraclius, and he sent a strong force into Belcaa. The attention of Abu Bakr had first to be directed nearer home. Reinforced by the army of Osama, he had to quell the fierce spirit of insurrection rising all around. But a year had not elapsed, when he was again in a position to take the field in Syria, and to enter on the career of conquest which quickly wrested that fair province from Christendom.)

With the return of Osama's army to Medina a new era opens upon us. The Prophet had hardly departed this life when Arabia was convulsed by the violent endeavour of its tribes to shake off the trammels of Islam, and regain their previous freedom. The hordes of the desert rose up in rebellion, and during the first year of his Caliphate Abu Bakr had to struggle for the very existence of the faith. Step by step the wild Bedouins were subdued, and forced to tender their submission. By a master stroke of policy, they were induced again to take up their arms, and aroused, by the prospect of boundless spoil, to wield them on the side of Islam. Like blood-hounds eager for the chase, the Arabs were let forth upon mankind,—the whole world their prey. They gloried in the belief that they were the hosts of God, destined for the conversion of his elect,—for the destruction of his enemies. The pretexts of religion thus disguised and gilded every baser motive. The vast plunder of Syria was accepted as but the earnest of a greater destiny yet in store. Once maddened by the taste of blood into a wild and irresistible fanaticism, the armies of Arabia swept their enemies everywhere before them. Checked towards the north by the strongholds of the Bosphorus, the surging wave spread to the east and to the west with incredible rapidity, till in a few short years it had engulfed in a common ruin the earliest seats of Christianity, and the faith of Zoroaster.

But this is a province of history upon which it is not my object to enter. In some respects, indeed, it might be connected indirectly with the subject of these volumes. The simplicity and earnestness of the early caliphs, and the first burst of zeal and devotion exhibited by his followers after the Prophet's death, are strong evidence of their belief in his sincerity: and the belief of these men must carry undeniable weight in the formation of our own estimate of his sincerity, since the opportunities they enjoyed for testing the grounds of their convictions were both close and long continued. It is enough, that I here barely allude to this consideration, as strengthening generally the view of Mahomet's character, which in these volumes I have endeavoured to support.

APPENDIX

EARLY TIMELINE OF ISLAM

This is a timeline of the early history of Islam during the lifetime of Mohammed (610–632). The information provided in this article is based on Islamic oral tradition, not on historical or archaeological evidence.

- Mohammed's first revelation (Koran 96:1–5): According to Islamic tradition, the archangel Gabriel appeared before Mohammed in the year 610 AD and said, 'Recite', upon which he replied, I am unable to recite'. Thereupon the angel caught hold of him and embraced him heavily. This happened two more time after which the angel commanded Mohammed to recite the following verses: "Proclaim! (or read!) in the name of thy Lord and Cherisher, Who Created man, out of a (mere) clot of congealed blood: Proclaim! And thy Lord is Most Bountiful,- Who taught (the use of) the pen,- Taught man that which he knew not." (Sahih al-Bukhari, 1:1:3)

- First Muslim convert was a woman, not a man: Khadija, Mohammed's first wife, 610: When Mohammed reported his first revelation from the Angel Gabriel (Jibril), Khadija was the first person to convert to Islam. (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah)

First Male Muslim convert: Ali Ibn Abi Talib, 610: Ali Ibn Abi Talib is considered the first Muslim convert. The early historian Ibn Ishaq and Tabari puts Ali Mohammed's cousin and son-in-law as the first male convert; Mohammed Ibn Jarir al-Tabari presents three candidates, and does not decide between them.

Another account in Tabari says that the first male convert was Zayd Ibn Harithah, a freed slave who had become Mohammed's adopted son. It is known that Ali was indeed the first person to convert to Islam, however some dispute this arguing he was only 12 years old at the time he embraced Islam. (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Tabari, Volume 6)

- First Public Dawah (preach in order to convert non-Muslims to convert to Islam), 613: Around 613, Mohammed began to preach to the public (Koran 26:214). Most Meccans ignored him and mocked him, though a few became his followers. There were three main groups of early converts to Islam: younger brothers and sons of great merchants; people who had fallen out of the first rank in their tribe or failed to attain it; and the weak, mostly unprotected foreigners. (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah)

- First Muslim Martyrs: first Muslim to be killed or tortured: Sumayyah bint Khabbab, 615: Tradition records at great length about persecution and ill-treatment towards Mohammed and his followers was used as propaganda tool from early on: Sumayyah bint Khabbab, a slave of a prominent Meccan leader Abu Jahl, is famous as the first martyr of Islam; killed with a spear by her master when she refused to give up her faith. (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah)

First Muslim to be tortured: Bilal Ibn Ribah, 615: When Bilal's master, Umayyah Ibn Khalaf found out he had converted to Islam, he violently tortured Bilal. After news of this slave reached Mohammed, he then sent Abu Bakr. Eventually, Abu Bakr negotiated a deal with Umayyah to purchase Bilal and emancipate him from slavery. (Tabari, Volume 6)

- First migration to another country: Ethiopia 615: In 615, some of Mohammed's followers emigrated to the Ethiopian Aksumite Empire and founded a small colony. This was known as the Hijrah. (Tabari, Volume 6; Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah)

- First Muslim Ambassador and Envoy: Musab Ibn Umair, September 621: Musab Ibn Umair al-Abdari was the first Muslim Ambassador. He was sent to Yathrib (now Medina) to teach the people the doctrines of Islam and give them guidance (Tabari, Volume 6; Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah)

- First pledge of war made amongst Muslims: Second pledge at al-Aqabah, 622. Converts to Islam came from nearly all Arab tribes present in Medina, such that by June of the subsequent year there were seventy-five Muslims coming to Mecca for pilgrimage and to meet Mohammed. Meeting him secretly by night, the group made what was known as the "Second Pledge of al-Aqaba", or "The Second Pledge of Mount Aqabah" where the pledge was made. It has been described by both Orientalists and Muslim scholars as "Pledge of War". Conditions of the pledge, many of which similar to the first, included obedience to Mohammed, "enjoining good and forbidding evil" as well as responding to the call to arms when required. Tabari also refers it to a pledge of war, he wrote: "the second al-Aqabah took the pledge of war" (Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:58:229; Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Tabari, Volume 6)

- First military operation, and first offensive campaign: Al-Is Caravan Raid

According to Ar-Raheeq Al-Makhtum (The Sealed Nectar), a modern Islamic hagiography of Mohammed written by the Indian Muslim author Safi ur-Rahman Mubarakpuri, Mohammed ordered the first caravan raid led by Hamza Ibn Abd al-Muttalib (Mohammed's uncle) seven to nine months after the Hijra. A party of thirty to forty men assembled at the seacoast near al-Is, between Mecca and Medina, where Amr Ibn Hisham (Abu Jahl), the leader of the caravan was camping with three hundred Meccan riders.

- First Muslim military commander: Hamza Ibn Abd-Muttalib, a foster brother to Mohammed, 623 Hamza met Abu Jahl there with a view to attack the caravan, but Majdi bin Amr al-Juhani, a Quraysh who was friendly to both the parties intervened between them; so, both parties separated without fighting.

It is mentioned in Ibn Hisham and Ibn Ishaq's biography of Mohammed (the earliest surviving biography of Mohammed from the 7th century), that for these caravan raids Mohammed gave permission to "plunder" the caravans of their enemies and seize their goods and property(s) and said: "Go forth against this caravan; it may be that Allah will grant you plunder" (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Al-Waqidi, Kitab al-Maghazi)

- First Muslim to take part in actual fighting in the name of Islam: Sa'd Ibn Abi Waqqas, 623: In 623, Mohammed ordered the Batn Rabigh Caravan Raid to raid Quraysh caravan to relieve themselves from poverty. Sa'd Ibn Abi Waqqas was the first person to fire an arrow in the name of Islam, it mentioned in the Sunni hadith collection Sahih al-Bukhari "I heard Sa'd saying, "I was the first amongst the Arabs who shot an arrow for Allah's Cause. We used to fight along with the Prophet." (Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:57:74)

- First peace treaty: Banu Darhma peace treaty, August 623: Mohammed ordered the Invasion of Waddan with the purpose of raiding Quraysh caravan to relieve themselves from poverty. But the Caravan of Amr Bin Makhshi Al Dhamri of the Banu Damrah tribe was raided instead. Negotiations began and the two leaders signed a treaty with Banu Damrah. According to Muslim scholar Mohammed al-Zurqani, the provisions of the pact/treaty go as follows: "This document is from Mohammed, the messenger of Allah, concerning the Banu Darmah. In which he (Muhammad) established them safety and security in their wealth and lives. They can expect support from the Muslims, unless they oppose the religion of Allah. They are also expected to respond positively if the prophet sought their help." The treaty meant that both parties were forbidden from raiding each other, to join hostile concentrations against each other and to support each other's enemies. William Montgomery Watt, saw this as a deliberate attempt by Mohammed to provoke the Meccans'. (Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:57:74; Ibn Sa'd, Kitab al-tabaqat al-kabir, Volume 2; Ibn Sa'd, Kitab al-tabaqat al-kabir, Volume 2)

- First person(s) taken captive by Muslims: Uthman Ibn Abdullah and Nawfal bin Abdullah, January 624: Also during the Nakhla Raid, Nawfal bin Abdullah was captured and taken prisoner by

Abd-Allah Ibn Jahsh According to the Muslim scholar Ibn Kathir, Mohammed refused to accept ransom for Nawfal bin Abdullah and another captive, until he was sure his companions were safe, he also threatened to kill the captives. Mohammed said: "For we fear for their safety with you. If you kill them, we will kill your people", Ibn Kathir cites Ibn Ishaq's 7th century biography of Mohammed as the primary source for this quote. The 2 companions in question were Sa'd bin Abu Waqqas and 'Utbah bin Ghazwan who had lost their camels and gotten lost, Mohammed feared the Quraysh my find them and kill them. (Mohammed Saed Abdul-Rahman, Tafsir Ibn Kathir Juz' 2 (Part 2): Al-Baqarah 142 to Al-Baqarah 252 2nd Edition, p. 139)

- First Muslim to murder another person in the name of Islam, January 624: Waqid Ibn Abdullah participated in the Nakhla Raid that was ordered by Mohammed. He was the first person to kill someone in the name of Islam. While they (the Quraysh) were busy preparing food during the Nakhla Raid, the Muslims attacked. In the short battle that took place, Waqid Ibn Abdullah killed Amr Ibn Hadrami by shooting arrow at the leader of the Quraysh caravan. Nawfal Ibn Abdullah managed to escape. The Muslims took Uthman Ibn Abdullah and al-Hakam Ibn Kaysan as captives. Abdullah Ibn Jahsh returned to Medina with the booty and with the two captured Quraysh tribe members. The followers planned to give one-fifth of the booty to Mohammed. (Koran 2:217)

- The first murder of people who spoke out and protested against Islam: Asma bint Marwan and Ka'b Ibn al-Ashraf, January 624: Mohammed ordered the killing of Asma' bint Marwan for opposing Mohammed with poetry and for provoking others to attack him.

For those scholar who consider this as unreliable, Ka'b Ibn al-Ashraf is considered the first person to be assassinated by Muslims: September 624: According to Ibn Ishaq, Mohammed ordered his followers to kill Ka'b because he "had gone to Mecca after Badr and inveighed against Mohammed. He also composed verses in which he bewailed the victims of Quraysh who had been killed at Badr. Shortly afterwards he returned to Medina and composed amatory verses of an insulting nature about the Muslim women". (Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:59:369; Sahih Muslim, 19:4436; Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Ibn Sa'd, Kitab al-tabaqat al-kabir, Volume 2)

- First person(s) to be beheaded and executed by Muslims: Nadr Ibn al-Harith and Uqba Ibn Abu Mu'ayt, March 624: According to the Muslim scholar Safiur Rahman al-Mubarakpuri, after the Battle of Badr two captives – Nadr bin Harith and Uqba Ibn Abū Mu'ayt were beheaded by Ali. (Sunan Abu Dawud no 2686; Anwal Ma'bud 3/12; Koran 8:31; Sunan Abu Dawud no 2686; Anwal Ma'bud 3/12; Koran 8:31)

- First Siege carried out by Muslims: Invasion of Banu Qaynuqa, February 624: Mohammed ordered his followers to attack the Banu Qaynuqa Jews for allegedly breaking the treaty known as the Constitution of Medina by pinning the clothes of a Muslim woman, which led to her being stripped naked. As a result, a Muslim killed a Jew in retaliation, and the Jews in turn killed the Muslim man. This escalated to a chain of revenge killings, and enmity grew between Muslims and the Banu Qaynuqa, leading to the siege of their fortress. The tribe eventually surrendered to Mohammed, who initially wanted to kill the members of Banu Qaynuqa but ultimately yielded to Abdullah Ibn Ubayy's insistence and agreed to expel the Qaynuqa. (Koran 8:58, 3:118, 3:12, 3:13; Sahih Muslim, 19:4364; Ibn Sa'd, Kitab al-tabaqat al-kabir, Volume 2; Tabari, Volume 7.)

- First person to try and assassinate Mohammed: Ghwarath Ibn al-Harith during the Invasion of Dhi Amr, September 624. (Ghwarath Ibn al-Harith was the first person to try and assassinate Mohammed during the Invasion of Dhi Amr. According to Muslim scholar Sami Strauch, it is reported in Sahih Bukhari that it was raining, and Mohammed took his garments off and hung it on a tree to dry, while the enemy was watching, Ghwarath ibn al-Harith went to attack Mohammed. He threatened Mohammed with his sword and said "who will protect you from me on this day". Then according to Muslim Scholars the Angel Gabriel came and thumped Ghawrath in the chest and forced him to drop his sword. Mohammed then picked up the sword and said "who will protect you from me". (Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:59:458; Ibn Sa'd, Kitab al-tabaqat al-kabir, Volume 2)

- First defensive military campaign: Battle of Uhud, March 625: The purpose of the Battle of Uhud was to defend against a Quraysh attack. According to the Muslim scholar Dr. Mosab Hawarey, this battle was the first truly defensive military campaign. All military campaigns prior to this were of an offensive nature. (Koran 8:36, 3:122, 3:167; Sahih al-Bukhari, 4:52:276, 3:30:108.

- First Muslim missionaries to be killed: Asim ibn Thabit, Khubayb bin Adi and Zayd bin al-Dathinnah during the Expedition of Al Raji 625: Some men requested that Mohammed send instructors to teach them Islam, but the men were bribed by the two tribes of Khuzaymah who wanted revenge for the assassination of Khalid bin Sufyan (chief of the Banu Lahyan tribe) by Mohammed's followers. 8 or 10 Muslims were killed. According to William Montgomery Watt the seven men Mohammed sent may have been spies for Mohammed and instructors for Arab tribes. Watt's claim that they were spies and not missionaries is mentioned in the Sunni Hadith collection Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:59:412 The 7th century Muslim scholar al-Waqidi also mentioned that they were spies but a tribe did come to them requesting to teach Islam but Mohammed decided to send them for spying to inform him about the Quraysh. (Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:59:412, Sahih Muslim, 4:1442; Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Ibn Sa'd, Kitab al-tabaqat al-kabir, Volume 2

- First Massacre of Muslims: Expedition of Bir Maona, July 625: Mohammed sends Missionaries at request of some men from the Banu Amir tribe, but the Muslims are killed as revenge for the assassination of Khalid bin Sufyan by Mohammed's followers. 70 Muslims were killed and 2 Non-Muslims were killed. (Koran 3:169-173; Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Sahih al-Bukhari, 5:59:405, Sahih Muslim, 4:1433)

- First massacre carried out by Muslims: Mass murder of Banu Qurayza

February–March 627 AD: Mohammed ordered his followers to attack the Banu Qurayza. Al-Waqidi claims Mohammed had a treaty with the tribe which was torn apart. After the Qurayza surrendered to Mohammed, he ordered 600-900 members of the Banu Qurayza to be beheaded in a grand execution spectacle (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah; Tabari, Ibn Hisham; Koran 33:09, 33:10, 33:26; Sunan Abu Dawood, 38:4390; Sahih al-Bukhari, 4:52:68, 4:57:66ff; Tabari, Volume 8, Victory of Islam

- First woman captured by Mohammed as war booty: Rayhana, March 627. After the Invasion of Banu Qurayza as part of his share of the spoils, Mohammed selected one of the women, Rayhana, for himself and took her as part of his booty. Mohammed offered to free and marry her and according to some sources she accepted his proposal, while according to others she rejected it and remained Mohammed's slave. She is said to have later become a Muslim. Watt, "Kurayza, Banu" Encyclopaedia of Islam (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah)

- First Muslim treasurer: Bilal ibn Ribah 630. Mohammed appointed Bilal ibn Ribah as the first Muslim treasurer after he completed his conquest of the Arabian Peninsula (Tabari, Volume 5)

CURRENCY:

- dirham, dirhem or dirhm was and, in some cases, still is a unit of currency in several Arab states. It was formerly the related unit of mass, the Ottoman 'dram', in the Ottoman Empire and old Persian states. One silver dirham used to weigh circa 3.36 grammes, 4,000 dirhams weigh almost 14.5 kg. The name derives from the name of the ancient Greek currency, drachma or drachmon. The dirham / drachma is equivalent to one denarius (dinar). One denarius was equal to 4 sesterces.

Religious literature, such as the Pahlavi Videvdad, provide an idea of the purchasing power of the drachma: One sheep cost three sters or sestertius (Vd. 4.2); a cow 12, 14, or 30 sters, depending on whether it was of inferior, medium, or superior quality (Vd. 7.41); and a man 125 sters. According to Madayan i hazar dadestan (12.7-9), a slave was sold for 500 drachmas and a sheep for 10 (104.6), but a good piece of land was worth more than 500 drachmas (Vd. 4.2). According to this, 4,000 dirhams are a huge amount of money.). Other Islamic currencies: oke, piastre.

IMPORTANT PERSONS:

- Mohammed = Mohammed (Muhammad) ibn Abdullah (Mohammed son of Abdullah; full name: Mohammed ibn Abd Allah ibn Abd al-Muttalib ibn Hashim ibn Abd Manaf ibn Qusai ibn Kilab), the so-called "messenger" or "prophet" of Allah and Islam (c.570 – c. 632). Mohammed was a member of the Banu Hashim or "Hashemite" clan in the Arab-Nabataean Quraysh tribe. His great-grandfather was Hashim ibn Abd Manaf, for whom the clan is named. Members of this clan are referred to as Hashemites. They still live in Jordan and the north-west of Saudi-Arabia. The monarchs of Jordan are Hashemites. All Islamic scripture are based on the deeds and sayings of Mohammed. And this point must be understood: As Mohammed is understood as "the perfect man", the Islamic scripture such as the Sira, Koran and the Hadith are considered perfect too. Remember: In any kind of debate about Islam, Mohammed has absolute authority and always prevails over private opinions that a Muslim might have!

- Abu Talib = Abu Talib ibn Abd al-Muttalib (c.539 – c. 619), He was the uncle and protector of Mohammed, and father of the (fourth) Caliph Ali. He was the leader of Banu Hashim, a clan of the Quraysh tribe of Mecca in the Hejazi region of the Arabian Peninsula. After the death of his father Abd al-Muttalib ibn Hashim ibn Abd Manaf, he inherited this position, and the offices of Siqaya and Rifada. He was well-respected in Mecca despite a declining fortune. There is a debate among Muslim scholars on whether he died a Muslim or a non-Muslim.

- Kadijah = Khadijah bint Khuwaylid or Khadijah al-Kubra (Khadijah the Great), 555 (or 567 AD)– 22 November 619) was the first wife and first follower of the Islamic prophet Mohammed. She is commonly regarded by Muslims as the "Mother of the Believers". Like her father, Khadijah was a successful and wealthy merchant in her own rights who possessed the largest caravans in the region and controlled the route between Syria and Yemen. She was from the Quraish tribe. In 595 Khadija needed an agent for a transaction in Syria and hired Mohammed, who was then 25 years old. Khadija, who was 15 years his senior, entrusted a friend to approach Mohammed and ask if he would consider marrying. They agreed and Mohammed was monogamously married to her for 25 years. They had between 6 and 8 children but only Fatimah survived to continue the blood line. Khadija died in about April or May 620. Mohammed later called this year "the Year of Sorrow", as his uncle and protector Abu Talib also died at this time. After the death of Khadijah, Mohammed re-married several times.

- Fatima / Fatimah = daughter of Mohammed and Kadijah (605–632), although it is sometimes asserted that she was born during the first year of Mohammed's mission (610–611). She had the by-name "The mother of her father", as she took over caring for her father and being a support to her father once her mother died. She married Ali, who became the fourth Caliph in 656. (According to early debate after the death of Mohammed, some would argue that Ali would be the proper succession to Mohammed.) Ali and Fatimah moved to a small village in Ghoba after the marriage, but later moved back to Medina to live next door to Mohammed. Mohammed forbade Ali to take additional wives because, "What caused pain to his daughter grieved him as well." Fatima died in 632 from an attack during a coup-d'etat of Mohammed's succession by men of Umar (who would become the second caliph). All of Mohammed's surviving descendants are by Fatima's children.

- Aisha, full name: Aisha bint Abu Bakr (c. 613/614 – c.678), was Mohammed's third and youngest wife. Aisha had an important role in early Islamic history, both during Mohammed's life and after his death. In Sunni tradition, Aisha is portrayed as scholarly and inquisitive. She contributed to the spread of Mohammed's message and served the Muslim community for 44 years after his death. She is also known for narrating 2210 hadiths, not just on matters related to Mohammed's private life, but also on topics such as inheritance, pilgrimage, and eschatology. Her intellect and knowledge in various subjects, including poetry and medicine, were highly praised by early luminaries such as al-Zuhri and her student Urwa ibn al-Zubayr. Her father, Abu Bakr, became the first caliph to succeed Mohammed, and after two years was succeeded by Umar. During the time of the third caliph Uthman, Aisha had a leading part in the opposition that grew against him, though she did not agree either with those responsible for his assassination nor with the party of Ali. During the reign of Ali, she wanted to avenge Uthman's death, which she attempted to do in the Battle of the Camel. She participated in the battle by giving speeches and leading troops on the back of her camel. She ended up losing the battle, but her involvement and determination left a lasting impression. Because of her involvement in this battle, Shia Muslims have a generally negative view of Aisha. Afterwards, she lived quietly in Medina for more than twenty years, took no part in politics, became reconciled to Ali and did not oppose caliph Muawiyah. Some traditional hadith sources state that Aisha was betrothed to Mohammed at the age of 6 or 7; other sources say she was 9 when she had a small marriage ceremony; some sources put the date in her teens; but both the date and her age at marriage and later consummation with Mohammed in Medina are sources of controversy and discussion amongst scholars. Aisha was probably assassinated by Muawiyah.

- Abu Bakr, 1st (Rashid) caliph, full name: Abdallah ibn Abu Quhafah (c. 573 – 23 August 634), was a companion and—through his daughter Aisha—a father-in-law of the Islamic prophet Mohammed. Abu Bakr was born in Mecca in 573 to Uthman Abu Quhafa and Salma Umm al-Khair. He is commonly regarded as the fourth person to have accepted Islam, after Khadija bint Khuwaylid, Ali ibn Abi Talib, and Zayd ibn Harith. Abu Bakr was present at a number of battles of Islam, such as the Battle of Badr and the Battle of Uhud; his role in the early battles of Islam has been the subject of extensive analysis by historians. Abu Bakr was present at the Farewell Pilgrimage, as well as the event of Ghadir Khumm, in 632. However, shortly after Mohammed died, Abu Bakr and some others left the still-unburied body of Mohammed and gathered at a place known as Saqifa. After lengthy debates that included violence, Umar ibn Al-Khattab pledged allegiance to Abu Bakr at Saqifa; he was followed in this by two others at Saqifa, as well as a group of Bedouin tribesmen who had arrived at the scene. Saqifa was later described by the famous Sunni historian Al-Tabari as "a scene from the period of Jahiliya (the pre-Islamic era)". Abu Bakr thus assumed power, ruling over the Rashidun Caliphate from 632 to 634. Once in power, Abu Bakr launched the Ridda Wars to quell an outbreak of "apostasy" in various lands outside Medina. The Ridda Wars, however, were expanded to include the use of force against Muslims who did not recognise Abu Bakr's government, instead of solely focusing on those who had left Islam. After the conclusion of the Ridda Wars, Abu Bakr launched campaigns into Syria and Persia, but died before their conclusion. Another significant event during Abu Bakr's reign was the seizure of the land of Fadak from Fatimah, Mohammed's daughter. In 634, Abu Bakr fell ill from a sickness or poisoning and died shortly thereafter. He was succeeded by Umar.

• Umar / Omar, 2nd (Rashid) caliph, full name: Umar ibn al-Khattab, "Umar, Son of Al-Khattab"; c. 584– 3 Nov 644), was one of the most powerful and influential Muslim caliphs in history. He was a senior companion of the Islamic prophet Mohammed. He succeeded Abu Bakr (632–634) as the second caliph of the Rashidun Caliphate on 23 August 634. He was an expert Muslim jurist known for his pious and just nature, which earned him the epithet Al-Farooq ("the one who distinguishes (between right and wrong)"). He is sometimes referred to as Umar I by historians of Islam, since a later Umayyad caliph, Umar II, also bore that name. He attacked the Sassanid Persian Empire resulted in its conquest in less than two years (642–644). Under Umar, the caliphate expanded at an unprecedented rate, conquering also more than two-thirds of the Eastern Roman Empire, including the Holy Land. Millions of Christians got killed and many more millions were enslaved by Umar. According to Jewish tradition, Umar set aside the Christian ban on Jews and allowed them into Jerusalem and to worship. Umar created the Edict of Umar, also known as Treaty of Umar, in which he brought Jews and Christians into a "dhimmi" status of semi-slaves in all his empire. During his reign, the Levant, Egypt, Cyrenaica, Tripolitania, Fezzan, Eastern Anatolia, almost the whole of the Sassanid Persian Empire including Bactria, Persia, Azerbaijan, Armenia, Caucasus and Makran were annexed to his Rashidun Caliphate. According to one estimate more than 4,050 (mostly, Christian, Jewish, Zoroastrian, and Buddhist) cities were captured during these military conquests. Prior to his death in 644, Umar had ceased all military expeditions apparently to consolidate his rule in recently conquered Roman Egypt and the newly conquered Persian Sassanid Empire (642–644). His troops blocked the Chinese-Persian-Roman Silk Road and began to attack China. At his death in November 644, his rule extended from present day Libya in the west to the Indus river in the east and the Oxus river in the north. Umar is revered in the Sunni tradition as a great ruler and paragon of Islamic virtues, and some hadiths identify him as the second greatest of the Sahaba after Abu Bakr. He is viewed negatively in the Shia tradition. Jews, Christians, Zoroastrians and Buddhists perceived him as cruel slaughterer who caused millions of deaths by war, execution, famine and plague. Umar was eventually killed, by the Persian slave Piruz Nahavandi (also known as Abu-Lu'lu'ah) as a revenge for the conquest and cruel treatment of his Persian people, in 644.

• Uthman / Usman, 3rd (Rashid) caliph, full name: Uthman ibn Affan (Uthman ibn Affan), also known in English by the Turkish and Persian rendering Osman (579/583 – 17 June 656), was a son-in-law and notable companion of the Islamic prophet Mohammed, the third of the Rashidun, or "Rightly Guided Caliphs". Born into a prominent Meccan clan, Banu Umayya of the Quraysh tribe, he played a major role in early Islamic history, and is known for having ordered the compilation of the standard version of the Koran which we still have today. When Caliph Umar died in office aged 59/60 years, Uthman, aged 64/65 years, succeeded him and was the second-oldest to rule as Caliph. Uthman was married to Ruqayyah, and upon her death, married Umm Kulthum. Both his wives were elder daughters of Mohammed and Khadija. Thus he was also brother-in-law of the fourth Rashidun Caliph Ali. Ali's wife Fatimah was the younger sister of Uthman's wives Ruqayyah and Umm Kulthum. Under Uthman's leadership, the Islamic empire expanded into Fars (present-day Iran) in 650, and some areas of Khorasan (present-day Afghanistan) in 651. The conquest of Armenia had begun by the 640s. His reign also saw widespread protests and unrest that eventually led to armed revolt and his assassination.

• Ali, 4th (Rashid) caliph, full name: Ali ibn Abu Talib (13 September 601 – 29 January 661) was the cousin and son-in-law of Mohammed, the last prophet of Islam. Although he was appointed caliph by Mohammed, he was denied this in a coup-d'etat organised by Abu Bakr and Umar. He ruled as the fourth caliph from 656 to 661, but is regarded as the rightful immediate successor to Mohammed as an Imam by Shia Muslims. Born to Abu Talib and Fatimah bint Asad, Ali was born inside the sacred sanctuary of the Kaaba in Mecca, the holiest place in Islam. Ali was the first male who accepted Islam, and, according to some authors, the first Muslim. Ali protected Mohammed from an early age and took part in almost all the battles fought by the nascent Muslim community. After migrating to Medina, he married Mohammed's daughter Fatimah. He was appointed caliph by Mohammed's companions in 656, after Caliph Uthman ibn Affan was assassinated. Ali's reign saw civil wars and in 661, he was attacked and assassinated by a Kharijite while praying in the Great Mosque of Kufa.

• Hasan, 5th caliph, full name: Al-Hasan ibn Ali ibn Abu Talib (624–670 AD), also spelled Hassan. He was the eldest son of Ali and Mohammed's daughter Fatimah and therefore a grandson of Mohammed. Among Shia Muslims, Hasan is revered as the second Imam. Hasan was elected for the caliphate after his father's death, but surrendered it after six or seven months to Muawiyah I, the founder of the Umayyad dynasty to end the First Fitna (Islamic Civil War). He was probably poisoned to death.

• Muawiyah I, 6th caliph: full name: Muawiyah ibn Abi Sufyan (602–680), was the founder and first caliph of the Umayyad Caliphate. In 639, Muawiyah I was appointed the Governor of Syria by Umar after his elder brother Yazid ibn Abi Sufyan (Governor of Syria) died in a plague. To stop the Romans from reconquering their lost territories by sea during the Arab-Roman Wars, Muawiyah set up a navy in 649, manned by Monophysite Christians, Copts and Jacobite Syrian Christians sailors, and Muslim troops. This resulted in the defeat of the Roman navy at the Battle of the Masts in 655 AD. 500 Roman ships were destroyed in the battle, and Emperor Constans II was almost killed. Under the instructions of the caliph Uthman ibn al-Affan, Muawiyah then prepared for the siege of Constantinople. He was the first who established the Umayyad dynasty in Islam of the caliphate, and was the second caliph from the Umayyad clan, the first being Uthman ibn Affan. By his creation of a fleet, Muawiyah was the driving force of the Muslim effort against the Roman Empire. His navy challenged the Roman navy and raided the Roman islands and coasts at will. The shocking defeat of the imperial fleet by the young Muslim navy at the Battle of the Masts in 655 was a critical turning point. It opened up the Mediterranean Sea, considered a "Roman lake", for the Arabs and closed it down for the Romans. A centuries-long series of naval conflicts over the control of the Mediterranean began and in the end strangled the remaining rump of the Roman Empire to death. This also allowed the expansion of the state into north Africa and Spain. Trade between the Muslim eastern and southern shores and the Christian northern shores almost ceased during this period, isolating western Europe from developments in the Muslim world: "In antiquity, and again in the high Middle Ages, the voyage from Italy to Alexandria was a commonplace; in early Islamic times the two countries were so remote that even the most basic information was unknown". Muawiyah had a few rare virtues. He was politically adept in dealing with the eastern Roman Empire and was therefore made into a secretary by Mohammed. The Battle of Siffin, May–July 657, occurred during the First Fitna, or first Muslim civil war, with the main engagement taking place from July 26 to July 28. It was fought between Ali ibn Abi Talib who ruled as the Fourth Caliph and Muawiyah I, on the banks of the Euphrates river, in what is now Raqqa, Syria. In the Battle of Siffin over 70,000 people (among them many of the last surviving companions of Mohammed) were killed. Notable among the Companions who were killed by Muawiyah's forces in the battle of Siffin. He was ruthless as well as strategically clever. He was probably responsible for the assassination of Aisha. Once peace was established, Muawiyah reconciled many of the people who had been fighting each other by his generosity and fairness. Even the most stubborn of opponents would often melt under his generosity and diplomacy. He also managed by diplomacy to balance out tribal rivalries.

LIST OF MOHAMMED'S 95 BATTLES

In the 13 years between 610 and 622, when Mohammed was a preacher in Mecca, he hardly converted more than 100 people to his invented religion called Islam. After he was forced to leave Mecca (the so-called 'Hijra', the migration) due to his constant troublemakings, Mohammed converted the entire population in the Arabian peninsula to Islam by war, conquest and executions. The list of expeditions either ordered or executed by Mohammed himself. Unless noted otherwise, the dates given in this list are based on Mohammed at Medina by Montgomery Watt, who in turn follows the chronology proposed by Leone Caetani.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

THE CONSTITUTION OF MEDINA

or The Charter of Medina

Translation: Anonymus

Estimated Range of Dating: c. 624 A.D.

(The Constitution of Medina or the Charter of Medina is the constitution of an Islamic State in the city of Medina. It is the very first Islamic document of its kind and it has therefore often the reputation of being a part of The Koran.)

1 This is a document from Mohammed the Prophet, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, governing relations between the Believers and Muslims of Quraysh (the main tribe of Mecca to which also Mohammed belonged) and Yathrib (the City of Medina) and those who followed them and worked hard with them. They form one nation - the Umma.

2 The Quraysh Mohajireen will continue to pay blood money, according to their present custom.

3 In case of war with anybody they will redeem their prisoners with kindness and justice common among Believers. (Not according to pre-Islamic nations where the rich and the poor were treated differently).

4 The Bani Awf will decide the blood money, within themselves, according to their existing custom.

5 In case of war with anybody all parties other than Muslims will redeem their prisoners with kindness and justice according to practice among Believers and not in accordance with pre-Islamic notions.

6 The Bani Saeeda, the Bani Harith, the Bani Jusham and the Bani Najjar will be governed on the lines of the above principles.

7 The Bani Amr, Bani Awf, Bani Al-Nabeet, and Bani Al-Aws will be governed in the same manner.

8 Believers will not fail to redeem their prisoners they will pay blood money on their behalf. It will be a common responsibility of the Ummat and not of the family of the prisoners to pay blood money.

9 A Believer will not make the freedman of another Believer as his ally against the wishes of the other Believers.

10 The Believers, who fear Allah, will oppose the rebellious elements and those that encourage injustice or sin, or enmity or corruption among Believers.

11 If anyone is guilty of any such act all the Believers will oppose him even if he be the son of any one of them.

12 A Believer will not kill another Believer, for the sake of an un-Believer. (i.e. even though the un-Believer is his close relative).

13 No Believer will help an un-Believer against a Believer.

14 Protection (when given) in the Name of Allah will be common. The weakest among Believers may give protection (in the Name of Allah) and it will be binding on all Believers.

15 Believers are all friends to each other to the exclusion of all others.

16 Those Jews who follow the Believers will be helped and will be treated with equality. (Social, legal and economic equality is promised to all loyal citizens of the State).

17 No Jew will be wronged for being a Jew.

18 The enemies of the Jews who follow us will not be helped.

19 The peace of the Believers of the State of Medina cannot be divided. (It is either peace or war for all. It cannot be that a part of the population is at war with the outsiders and a part is at peace).

20 No separate peace will be made by anyone in Medina when Believers are fighting in the Path of Allah.

21 Conditions of peace and war and the accompanying ease or hardships must be fair and equitable to all citizens alike.

22 When going out on expeditions a rider must take his fellow member of the Army-share his ride.

23 The Believers must avenge the blood of one another when fighting in the Path of Allah (This clause was to remind those in front of whom there may be less severe fighting that the cause was common to all. This also meant that although each battle appeared a separate entity it was in fact a part of the War, which affected all Muslims equally).

24 The Believers (because they fear Allah) are better in showing steadfastness and as a result receive guidance from Allah in this respect. Others must also aspire to come up to the same standard of steadfastness.

25 No un-Believer will be permitted to take the property of the Quraysh (the enemy) under his protection. Enemy property must be surrendered to the State.

26 No un-Believer will intervene in favour of a Quraysh, (because the Quraysh having declared war are the enemy).

27 If any un-believer kills a Believer, without good cause, he shall be killed in return, unless the next of kin are satisfied as it creates law and order problems and weakens the defence of the State. All Believers shall be against such a wrong-doer. No Believer will be allowed to shelter such a man.

28 When you differ on anything regarding this Document the matter shall be referred to Allah and Mohammed, may Allah bless him and grant him peace.

29 The Jews will contribute towards the war when fighting alongside the Believers.

30 The Jews of Bani Awf will be treated as one community with the Believers. The Jews have their religion. This will also apply to their freedmen. The exception will be those who act unjustly and sinfully. By so doing they wrong themselves and their families.

31 The same applies to Jews of Bani Al-Najjar, Bani Al Harith, Bani Saeeda, Bani Jusham, Bani Al Aws, Thaalba, and the Jaffna, (a clan of the Bani Thaalba) and the Bani Al Shutayba.

32 Loyalty gives protection against treachery. (Loyal people are protected by their friends against treachery. As long as a person remains loyal to the State he is not likely to succumb to the ideas of being treacherous. He protects himself against weakness).

33 The freedmen of Thaalba will be afforded the same status as Thaalba themselves. This status is for fair dealings and full justice as a right and equal responsibility for military service.

34 Those in alliance with the Jews will be given the same treatment as the Jews.

35 No one (no tribe which is party to the Pact) shall go to war except with the permission of Mohammed, may Allah bless him and grant him peace. If any wrong has been done to any person or party it may be avenged.

36 Any one who kills another without warning (there being no just cause for it) amounts to his slaying himself and his household, unless the killing was done due to a wrong being done to him.

37 The Jews must bear their own expenses (in War) and the Muslims bear their expenses.

38 If anyone attacks anyone who is a party to this Pact the other must come to his help.

39 The parties to this Pact must seek mutual advice and consultation.

40 Loyalty gives protection against treachery. Those who avoid mutual consultation do so because of lack of sincerity and loyalty.

41 A man will not be made liable for misdeeds of his ally.

42 Anyone (any individual or party) who is wronged must be helped.

43 The Jews must pay (for war) with the Muslims. (this clause appears to be for occasions when Jews are not taking part in the war. Section 37 deals with occasions when they are taking part in war).

44 Yathrib (the City of Medina) will be Sanctuary for the people of this Pact.

45 A stranger (individual) who has been given protection (by anyone party to this Pact) will be treated as his host who has given him protection while he is doing no harm and is not committing any crime. Those given protection but indulging in anti-state activities will be liable to punishment.

46 A woman will be given protection only with the consent of her family (Guardian). (a good precaution to avoid inter-tribal conflicts).

47 In case of any dispute or controversy, which may result in trouble the matter must be referred to Allah and Mohammed, may Allah bless him and grant him peace. The Prophet, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, of Allah will accept anything in this document, which is for bringing about piety and goodness.

48 Quraysh and their allies will not be given protection.

49 The parties to this Pact are bound to help each other in the event of an attack on Yathrib.

50 If they the parties to the Pact other than the Muslims are called upon to make and maintain peace within the State they must do so. If a similar demand of making and maintaining peace is made on the Muslims, it must be carried out, except when the Muslims are already engaged in a war in the Path of Allah. (so that no secret ally of the enemy can aid the enemy by calling upon Muslims to end hostilities under this clause).

51 Every individual will have his share of treatment in accordance with what party he belongs to. Individuals must benefit or suffer for the good or bad deed of the group they belong to. Without such a rule party affiliations and discipline cannot be maintained.

52 The Jews of al-Aws, including their freedmen, have the same standing, as other parties to the Pact, as long as they are loyal to the Pact. Loyalty is a protection against treachery.

53 Anyone who acts loyally or otherwise does it for his own good or loss.

54 Allah approves this Document.

55 This document will not be employed to protect one who is unjust or commits a crime against other parties of the Pact.

56 Whether an individual goes out to fight (in accordance with the terms of this Pact) or remains in his home, he will be safe unless he has committed a crime or is a sinner. (i.e. No one will be punished in his individual capacity for not having gone out to fight in accordance with the terms of this Pact).

57 Allah is the Protector of the good people and those who fear Allah, and Mohammed, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, is the Messenger of Allah (He guarantees protection for those who are good and fear Allah).

THE EDICT OF UMAR

The Laws of Umar, or Covenant of Umar, or Treaty of Umar or Pact of Umar

Translation: Anonymus

Estimated Range of Dating: 634-644 AD

(The Laws of Umar are Islamic law texts that clarify the relationship between the superior Muslims on the one side and the inferior Jews and Christians on the other side (who lived in an area that we today call "the Near East" and encompassed all countries either in or around Mesopotamia such as Syria, Iraq, Iran, Jordan, Egypt, Lebanon and the Holy Land). The text later gained a canonical status in Islamic jurisprudence. It specifies rights and restrictions for non-Muslims (dhimmis) living under Islamic rule.

The laws are traditionally attributed to the second Rashidun Caliph Umar I. Some other historians attributed the laws to the Umayyad Caliph Umar II (717-720), or to 9th century Mujtahids (Islamic scholars). Umar I or Omar I (full name: Umar ibn al-Khattab, "Umar, Son of Al-Khattab"; c. 584 – 644 AD), was one of the most powerful and influential Muslim caliphs in history. He was a senior companion of the Islamic prophet Mohammed. He succeeded Abu Bakr (632–634) as the second caliph of the Rashidun Caliphate on 23 August 634. He was an expert Muslim jurist known for his devout nature, which earned him the epithet Al-Farooq ("the one who distinguishes"). He is the most likely one who created this set of laws.

In general, the laws contain a list of rights and restrictions on non-Muslims (dhimmi). By abiding to them, non-Muslims are granted security of their persons, their families, and their possessions. Other rights and stipulations may also apply. According to Ibn Taymiyya, one of the jurists who accepted the authenticity of the pact, the dhimmi (non-Muslims) have the right "to free themselves from the Covenant of Umar and claim equal status with the Muslims if they enlisted in the army of the state and fought alongside the Muslims in battle."

Content:

There are several different versions of the pact that differ both in their language and stipulations.

The points:

- The ruler would provide security for the Christian believers who follow the rules of the pact.
- Prohibition against building new churches, places of worship, monasteries, monks or a new cell. (Hence it was also forbidden to build new synagogues, although it is known that new synagogues were built after the occupation of the Islam, for example in Jerusalem and Ramle. The law that prohibits to build new synagogues was not new for the Jews, it was applied also during the Byzantines. It was new for the Christians.)

- Prohibition against rebuilding destroyed churches, by day or night, in their own neighborhoods or those situated in the quarters of the Muslims.

- Prohibition against hanging a cross on the Churches.

- Muslims should be allowed to enter Churches (for shelter) in any time, both in day and night.

- Obliging the call of prayer by a bell or a kind of Gong (Nakos) to be low in volume.

- Prohibition of Christians and Jews against raising their voices at prayer times.

- Prohibition against teaching non-Muslim children the Koran.

- Christians were forbidden to show their religion in public, or to be seen with Christian books or symbols in public, on the roads or in the markets of the Muslims.

- Palm Sunday and Easter parades were banned.

- Funerals should be conducted quietly.

- Prohibition against burying non-Muslim dead near Muslims.

- Prohibition against raising a pig next to a Muslims neighbour.

- Christian were forbidden to sell Muslims alcoholic beverage.

- Christians were forbidden to provide cover or shelter for spies.

- Prohibition against telling a lie about Muslims.

- Obligation to show deference toward Muslims. If a Muslim wishes to sit, non-Muslim should be rise from his seats and let the Muslim sit.

- Prohibition against preaching to Muslims in an attempt to convert them from Islam.

- Prohibition against preventing the conversion to Islam of some one who wants to convert.

- The appearance of the non-Muslims has to be different from those of the Muslims: Prohibition against wearing Qalansuwa (kind of dome that was used to wear by Bedouin), Bedouin turban (Amamh), Muslims shoes, and Sash to their waists. As to their heads, it was forbidden to comb the hair sidewise as the Muslim custom, and they were forced to cut the hair in the front of the head. Also non-Muslim shall not imitate the Arab-Muslim way of speech nor shall adopt the kunyas (Arabic byname, such as "abu Khattib").

- Obligation to identify non-Muslims as such by clipping the heads' forelocks and by always dressing in the same manner, wherever they go, with binding the zunar (a kind of belt) around the waists. Christians to wear blue belts or turbans, Jews to wear yellow belts or turbans, Zoroastrians to wear black belts or turbans, and Samaritans to wear red belts or turbans.

- Prohibition against riding animals in the Muslim custom, and prohibition against riding with a saddle.

- Prohibition against adopting a Muslim title of honor.

- Prohibition against engraving Arabic inscriptions on signet seals.

- Prohibition against any possession of weapons.

- Non-Muslims must host a Muslim passerby for at least 3 days and feed him.

- Non-Muslims prohibited from buying a Muslim prisoner.

- Prohibition against taking slaves who have been allotted to Muslims.

- Prohibition against non-Muslims to lead, govern or employ Muslims.

- If a non-Muslim beats a Muslim, his Dhimmi is removed.

- The worship places of non-Muslims must be lower in elevation than the lowest mosque in town.

- The houses of non-Muslims must not be taller in elevation than the houses of Muslims.

MOHAMMED'S LETTERS TO THE HEADS OF STATE

[According to al-Tabari in his History of the Prophets and Kings, Mohammed decided after the Treaty of Hudaibiyyah to send letters to many rulers of the world, inviting them to Islam. Historians have disputed this tradition, however. Mohammed, according to traditional Islamic historiography, sent ambassadors with such letters to Heraclius the Caesar of Byzantium, Chosroes II the Khosrau of Persia, the Negus of Abyssinia, Muqawqis the ruler of Egypt, Harith Gassani the governor of Syria, Munzir ibn Sawa and to the ruler of Bahrain.]

- The letter to Roman emperor Flavius Heraclius, as transmitted by Muslim historians, reads as follows:

"In the name of God, the Most Merciful, the Bestower of some Mercy

From Mohammed, son of Abdullah to Heraclius the Leader of the Romans:

Peace be upon he who follows the guidance.

Furthermore, I invite you with the invitation of peace. If you submit then you will find safety and God will double your reward. If you turn away, you will bear the Arians' sins.

"O People of the Scripture! Come to a common word between us and you: that we shall worship none but God, and that we shall ascribe no partner unto Him, and that none of us shall take others for lords beside God. And if they turn away, then say: Bear witness that we are they who have surrendered (unto Him)." (Koran, Chapter: Aal Imran "The House of Joachim" 3:64)

- The letter of Muhammed to Armah, the Negus (Emperor of Ethiopia):

"Letter of the Prophet of Islam, peace be upon him. In the name of God the most beneficial the Merciful. Mohammed the Prophet of Islam to Nagaci king of Ethiopia:

Peace to you that I thank God for you, God, who there is no god but He, the King, the Holy peace insured dominant, and I bear witness that Jesus son of Mary, the Spirit of God and his speech was delivered to the Virgin Mary the good bunker. God created Jesus from his soul, just as he created Adam with his hand, and I invite you and your soldiers to God

Almighty, has reached and advised receive my advice, and peace be upon those who follow guidance."

- The Letter of Muhammed to Munzir ibn Sawa Al Tamimi the governor of Bahrain:

"In the name of Allah the Beneficent, the Merciful: From Mohammed the Messenger of Allah to Munzir bin Sawa, may peace be on you! I praise Allah, who is one and there none to be worshiped but except Him. I bear evidence that there is no God but Allah and that Mohammed is a servant of Allah and His Prophet. Thereafter I remind you of Allah. Whoever accepts admonition does it for his own good. Whoever followed my messengers and acted in accordance their guidance; he, in fact, followed me and accepted my advice. My messengers have highly praised your behavior. You shall continue in your present office. You should remain faithful to Allah and his Prophet. I accept your recommendation regarding the people of Bahrain. I forgive the offenses of the offenders.

Therefore, you may also forgive them of the people of Bahrain whoever want to continue in their Jewish or Majusi faith, should be made to pay Jizia. Seal: Allah's Prophet Mohammed."

- The Letter of Muhammed to the Muqawqis of Egypt.

[The letter that Mohammed sent to al-Muqawqis, through his emissary Hatib ibn Abi Balta'ah, and his reply are both available. Al-Muqawqis is mentioned in Islamic history as a ruler of Egypt, who corresponded with the Islamic prophet Mohammed. He is often identified with Cyrus, Patriarch of Alexandria, who administered Egypt on behalf of the Christian Roman Empire. However, this identification is challenged as being based on untenable assumptions. An alternative view identifies al-Muqawqis with the Sassanid governor of Egypt. He was a Greek man and was known as Kirolos, leader of the Copts.]

The letter reads:

"In the name of Allah the Rahman, the Merciful. From the Apostle of Allah to the Mukaukis, chief of the Copts.

Peace be upon him who follows the guidance. Next, I summon thee with the appeal of establish peace (or submitting your will to Allah): establish peace (submit your will to Allah) and you will have peace. Allah shall give you your reward twofold. But if you decline then on you is the guilt of the Copts.

O ye People of the Book, come unto an equal arrangement between us and you, that we should serve none save Allah, associating nothing with Him, and not taking one another for Lords besides Allah. And if ye decline, then bear witness that we have submitted our will to Allah."

Other translation:

"In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful. This letter is from Mohammed the slave of Allah and his Apostle: to Muqawqis, Vicegerent of Egypt.

Peace be upon him who follows the right path. Furthermore, I invite you to Islam and if you become a Muslim you will be safe, and Allah will double your reward, and if you reject this invitation of Islam you will be committing a sin by misguiding your subjects. (And I recite to you Allah's statement:)

'O People of the Scriptures! Come to a word common to you and us that we worship none but Allah and that we associate nothing in worship with Him, and that none of us shall take others as Lords beside Allah. Then if they turn away, say: Bear witness that we are Muslims (those who have surrendered to Allah)'. Seal: God's Prophet, Mohammed (Koran: 3,64)

[Al-Muqawqis ordered that the letter should be placed in an ivory casket, to be kept safely in the government treasury, and he sent the following reply:]

"From Muqawqis:

I read your letter and understood what you have written. I know that the coming of a Prophet is still due. But I thought, he would be born in Syria – I have treated your messenger with respect and honor. I am sending two maids for you as presents. These maids belong to a very respectable family amongst us. In addition I send for you clothes and a Duldul (steed) for riding. May God bestow security on you."

(The two maids mentioned are Maria al-Qibtiyya and her sister Sirin.)

THE KORAN

(In Theodor Nöldeke's Chronological Order)

The Noble or Glorious Koran,
The Notebook of Mohammed,
The Recitation or The Recital.

Translation: Maulana Muhammad Ali, 1917
Estimated Range of Dating: c. 610-670 A.D.

(In comparison with the Bible, the Koran is a relatively small book. Its size of text is equivalent to circa two thirds of the New Testament. Although the Koran had mainly been propagated through oral transmission, it also had already been recorded in at least three codices, most importantly the codex of Abdullah ibn Masud in Kufa, and the codex of Ubayy ibn Kab in Syria. According to Islamic tradition, Ali ibn Abu Talib, cousin of Mohammed, is mentioned as one of the earliest collectors of Koran texts. He did this on order of Mohammed himself. In Mohammed's house, he found in corners and behind pillows and cushions countless scraps of written notes as well as Koran texts on sheets of papyrus, vellum, and parchment. This event happened when Mohammed was still alive or shortly after. It shows that Mohammed seem to have the ability to read. That the Islamic scripture mentions, Mohammed dictated texts to his scribes shows also that he might not have been very skilled in the art of writing. Ali was able to gather quite a large collection of Koran texts. He most likely kept them in folders of the kind we know from the Nag Hammadi Library. A few Shia scholars argue that Ali had gathered the most complete collection of Koran texts, comprising the interpretation and the revelation, the precise and ambiguous verses, the abrogating and the abrogated verses; nothing was missing from it. It was presented to the community, but they refused to acknowledge his Koran texts. They also believe that Ali's version of the Koran contained verses that are not seen in the Uthmanic codex we have today.

There were 7 main bundles, briefcases, folders, or 'sections', and according to Theodor Nöldeke's research, the chapters (suras) were arranged as follows: 2, 12, 29, 30, 31, 41, 51, 76, 32, 79, 81, 82, 84, 87, 98 (1st Section); 3, 11, 22, 15, 33, 44, 55, 69, 70, 80, 91, 97, 99, 104, 105, 106 (2nd Section); 4, 16, 23, 36, 42, 56, 67, 74, 107, 111, 112, 103, 101, 85, 95, 27 (3rd Section); 5, 10, 19, 26, 43, 49, 50, 54, 60, 86, 90, 94, 100, 108, 109 (4th Section); 6, 17, 21, 25, 28, 40, 58, 59, 62, 63, 68, 71, 72, 77, 93, 102 (5th Section); 7, 14, 18, 24, 38, 39, 45, 98, 57, 73, 75, 78, 88, 89, 92, 110 (6th Section); 8, 9, 20, 35, 37, 46, 48, 52, 53, 61, 64, 65, 83, 113, 114 (7th Section). If this account was historical reality is not clear (because there were also reports that the Koran chapters had in the beginning the order 96, 74, 68, 73, 111, 81, etc.). In Nöldeke's opinion however, the Chapter arrangement of Ali's collection follows a certain pattern and is not accidental. Each of the 7 sections contained 16 or 17 chapters, beginning from low numbers gradually growing to higher numbers, so that each section shows an average representation of the entire Koran.

The different names for 'revelation', like koran, kitab, and wahy, are allusions to its written origin. It seems that Mohammed had somehow endeavoured at a very early time to establish a new document of revelation as well as its written fixation. Already the Meccan sura 29:47 contains an allusion to writing down the revelations.

The Koran as it is known in the present, was first compiled into book format by Mohammed's secretary Zayd ibn Thabit (c. 610-660 AD) under Caliph Uthman ibn Affan (r. 644-56). Sometime between 650 and 656, a committee appointed by Uthman is believed to have produced a singular version in seven copies, and Uthman is said to have sent to every Muslim province one copy of what they had copied, and ordered any other Koranic materials, whether written in fragmentary manuscripts or whole copies, be burnt. This was done to ensure that the collected and authenticated Koranic copy that Uthman collected became the primary source for others to follow, thereby ensuring that Uthman's version of the Koran remained authentic. For this reason, the Koran as it exists today is also known as the "Uthmanic Codex".

How the Koran texts were created in the first place was unclear for hundreds of years. In the Islamic scripture (the Koran, the Sira, and the Hadith) texts refer to "revelations" or "dreams" Mohammed might have had. However, when we browse through non-canonical Jewish and Christian texts of Gnostics, Mandaeans and some older texts from the Messianic Movement (which suffered a catastrophic defeat by the Romans and the survivors fled to Arabia leaving behind their texts in the Qumran caves), we understand that they were in circulation outside of the Roman Empire in the 6th and 7th centuries. It becomes evident that Mohammed got the many Jewish details (and to a lesser degree Christian details) from exactly those ancient texts. Several existed in Arabic translations or in Aramaic and were very popular in Arabia. As Mohammed travelled regularly to Judaea and Syria due to his trading business, it is feasible that he understood Aramaic. He might have discussed religious and legal matters with his acquaintances there.

Although Mohammed possessed some knowledge about Judaism and Christianity, there were some parts he did not properly comprehend. This is one of the reasons why he claimed the Jewish and Christian scripture were "corrupted". One example may be the concept of Christian Trinity which he thought that it would symbolise God, Jesus, and Mary. He was also not aware - like most Christians today - that the origins of the Trinity as a concept was to be found in the Roman Imperial Cult (a kind of ministry of religion) that had a procedure to get the Roman Emperor, his Son and the Pantheon ('holy ghosts') deified by the Senate in Rome. The Pontifex Maximus (the incumbent emperor) implemented the deification and over generations it became a custom, and a tradition when Christianity took possession of the huge beauraucratic apparatus of the Imperial Cult.

Before showing the translation of the Koran, it might be a good idea to review briefly the Prophet's circumstances before and after his emigration, as well as his political position in Medina vis-à-vis the various parties. The difference of the Medina Koran to the Koran from Mecca can be understood by circumstances that Mohammed experienced after the deaths of his supportive uncle and his wife Khadija. At the beginning of the 20th century, Nöldeke analysed and described the situation:

"Political and Religious Conditions at Yathrib before the Hijra

At Mecca Mohammed played the unenviable role of a prophet who appealed to only few men, mainly from the lowest strata of society, and whom most people considered a fool or impostor, and who was protected against personal libel only by his relatives in deference to indivisible family ties. With his emigration he suddenly became a recognised spiritual and, soon thereafter, temporal leader of a large community. In spite of Julius Wüstenfeld's great studies on pre-Islamic Medina, it is not quite clear what caused this remarkable change. For decades before the hijra Medina was the scene of violent feuds among the two great tribes, the Aws and Khazraj. The final great encounter in this struggle, the Battle of Buath, failed to establish the supremacy of the victorious Aws and did not lead to an actual peace; on the contrary, the insecurity of the city became even greater than before, as the various blood-feuds were not officially settled and were left to personal vengeance. That the inhabitants of Yathrib later became so quickly accustomed to the supremacy of a stranger is certainly among the consequences of an anarchical situation that must have become increasingly unbearable as time went on. Nevertheless, contrary to what Leone Caetani argues, this cannot lead to the conclusion that the men of Medina, who had established contacts with Muhammad at Mecca, were politically motivated to pacify their city, even if it is quite possible that such matters had been discussed.

Although tradition explicitly maintains the latter point of view, it emphasises above all the religious aspect, saying that Muhammad had presented his ideas to a group of men from Medina who had come to visit the Kaaba and had encountered receptive hearts. After their return to Medina, the men presented such a lively propaganda for Islam that within less than two years a respectable community had been formed that was prepared to offer the vindicated Prophet a new homeland.

The Unprecedented Success of Islamic Propaganda at Yathrib

In order to explain the unprecedented success of Islam at Yathrib it has been pointed out that the Medinans must already have been familiar with the main tenets of Islam, thanks to the large number of Jews living in the city, as well as to the Christian Arab tribes residing in the vicinity, to whom they were related in part. It is even noted that religious reformers such as the Khazrajite Aws b. Amir al-Rahib appeared among them and had followers. This is undoubtedly correct. Even though similar people existed in Mecca, and the religions of the People of the Book were not unknown there, nevertheless we must assume an incomparably stronger influx of Biblical ideas at Yathrib. The Medinan peasants could well have been more receptive to religion than the merchants of Mecca. Muslim tradition thus remains correct in its estimation that the religious atmosphere at Medina was the decisive moment for the acceptance of Mohammed. In this case, the mutation from spiritual authority to political leadership was not a preconceived idea but rather a result of the prevailing conditions brought about by the clever manipulations of the Prophet, whose political ability achieved here its first success. Not even two years after his emigration he was able to dare to dictate a kind of constitution⁷ to the inhabitants of Yathrib. What he seemed to have had in mind was a theocracy similar to that of Moses, where "Allah and Mohammed" were the last resort in all conflicts.

The "Waverers" (munafiqun)

Among the factions we assume were at Medina only the true Muslims were unconditionally allied with him. This group consisted primarily of the Meccan emigrants and a not insignificant number of the inhabitants of Yathrib, who had enthusiastically embraced Islam and distinguished themselves sufficiently to be named the Helpers (anshar) of the Prophet. Still, many inhabitants of Medina harboured less than friendly sentiments towards Muhammad, neither recognising him as a prophet nor being inclined to accept him as a ruler. Because of his great, enthusiastic following they did not dare to take position against him openly but rather met him with a passive resistance that more than once crossed his plans. Their influence was such that he had to treat them with respect and occasionally even give in. This party of the Hypocrites and "waverers," was not particularly clearcut and simple. Even many who believed in Muhammad remained far from strict obedience, as the bonds of blood and family, uniting its members and making them subservient to the authority of an innate or chosen head, were extremely strong among the contemporary Arabs as well as among all people under a patriarch. The reputation of Abd Allah b. Ubayy b. Salul, the most famous of the Khazraj, who outnumbered the Aws, especially counteracted this. Even after this man had lost his direct political power, his influence was still large enough that Muḥammad, who must have hated him dearly, was obliged until his death to treat him with consideration and nearly as an equal. Otherwise Muḥammad would easily have had the whole clan against him, including the believers. The expression munafiq is occasionally extended also to include true believers, if they became disobedient or lax in the performance of obligations for any reason. The word very likely also referred to the multitude of those who—as the great rabble always does—supported the Prophet in his glory yet were inclined to desert him when things went wrong. The same must apply also to the Arab tribes who, since the Pact of Hudaibiyya, and particularly since the take-over of Mecca, went over to Muḥammad. Some of them became true believers, but the greater part, among them the heads of the Quraysh, particularly the entire Banu Umayya b. Abd al-Shams, accepted Islam only forcedly or for personal advantage, although all of them were recognised as Muslims for political reason only (the War of Apostasy is proof to it).

The Pagan Population and the Jewish Tribes

In their dealings with the Prophet, the energy displayed by the “waverers” was far exceeded by that of the Jewish tribes living in Yathrib proper or in the nearby oases. In addition to their mental superiority over the Arabs, which they derived from an ancient literary tradition—regardless of how little one may value their scholarship—there were also martial bravery and other qualities that enabled them, in the wonderful way of all Jews, to become fully integrated without sacrificing their own identity.

In the beginning, Muḥammad placed great hopes on them as a people who had already become familiar with the revelation. However, as they were not inclined to give up their established view for the sake of the new prophet, whose great deviation from their own faith was for them far easier to discern than for him, the discord increased and did not cease until all the Jews were either killed, banned, or subjugated. The hostility of the Jews was all the more dangerous because they hurt Muḥammad not only by means of war and politics but also by mockery and biting interrogation about religious matters. If their various tribes had not been divided into two parts by the fightings of the Aws and Khazraj, Muḥammad would have hardly been able to decimate them one after the other.

Content and Style of the Medinan Sūras

The pagans, against whom open warfare raged during the Medinan period, are now only rarely the target of verbal attacks. The Christians too, who after all were living far from Yathrib, and with whom Muḥammad had hostile encounters only during his last years, he seldom mentions, although when he does it is rather congenially, accompanied merely by the disapproval of certain dogmas. Muḥammad's assaults upon the Jews, on the other hand, are quite violent. After the hijra, this takes the form of his endeavour to show that they had always been obstinate and are therefore damned by God. The “waverers”, too, are often severely reproved, although Muḥammad frequently had to be more considerate when dealing with them. In the Koran he gives free rein to his feelings, albeit without divulging names. Moreover, the Prophet addresses here almost exclusively the “waverers” of Medina. The other Arabs, who likewise had adopted Islam only superficially, he attempted to win over with kindness instead of discouraging them with strong measures and words.

Finally, these suras are directed at the Muslims, although seldom with a view towards lecturing on dogmatic or moral articles of faith, subjects they were sufficiently familiar with from the Meccan sūras. Instead, he speaks on home ground and as their leader in the field, rebuking or praising, as the case may be, particularly after victory or defeat, putting events in their proper perspective, planning the future or issuing orders and laws. These legal revelations are of particular importance. Some of them are intended for the moment, while others are for eternity. They settle civil and ritual matters without precisely defining them. Just as the Koran follows the dictates of the moment rather than a defined system, so also many of these laws evolve from decisions on contentious issues. Muḥammad often added to the verdicts further regulations regarding issues that could possibly arise.

It is unlikely that such a statute-book evolved totally without concrete and actual issues. Several laws and ordinances also refer to the domestic affairs of the Prophet.

The new subjects which appeared on the Prophet's horizon, and which were dealt with in the suras, would have had to entail—one would think—considerable deviations from the style of the last Meccan period. Nevertheless, this is generally not the case. New expressions and idioms were nearly never applied unless absolutely required by the subject. This is most evident in those laws in whose formulation all rhetorical embellishment is avoided. It is only the rhyme—consisting here often of totally superfluous additions, therefore at times annoying—to which Muḥammad remains enslaved. Since he seldom—as at Mecca—addresses the people in general but rather the respective parties separately, it is very rare here to find the address “O, you people!” In contrast, we frequently find “O, you believers!”, and less frequently “O, you Jews!”, “O, you waverers!”, etc. Incidentally, we also find in these sūras the odd powerful and even poetic passage. In general, the Medinan revelations—which consist of rather brief laws, addresses, orders, etc.—are originally of a smaller volume than the majority of those from the late Meccan period, which tend to be lengthy lectures. On the other hand, the uniformity of the content resulted in disproportionately many single, Medinan revelations being put together to produce a single, collective sūra, so that the current Medinan sūras became the longest in our Koran. The development of the linguistic parlance as it appears before the emigration can later be demonstrated only in isolated instances—if at all. However, this very unreliable device can easily be done away with, as content, steady reference to established events or circumstances, and close connexion with the development of the new state supply much better guidance.

Anyone studying the history of Muḥammad realises immediately the difference between the transmission of events before and after the emigration. In the former case, only a few reliable memoirs from a small circle are available, with uncertain chronology and many legends, whereas in the latter case, pure history predominates, enabling us to trace the events from year to year. We can thus establish a chronology of the Medinan sūras with accurate details. Of course, much still remains uncertain; for many a period we have but approximate chronological limits of origin, and there remain still others where it can only be stated that they originate from the Medinan period.”

The Koran is no narrative or story but merely a collection of sayings, short accounts, quotations from other texts, advice and law, allusions, allegories, propaganda and that what we today would call hate speech. In short, the Koran is a jumble of everything. As the Koran, the “Recital”, was meant to be learnt by heart in its entirety, it was important that the learner could memorise the text with ease. For this reason, the greatest bulk of text was composed in groups of rhymes and endless repetitions. Moses can be found in the Koran 39 times, for instance.

The chapters (suras = folders) of the Koran we can buy in a bookshop are arranged basically from the longest chapters to the shortest chapters. Unfortunately for the reader, this order does not make any sense as the historical context was deliberately torn apart. Muslims claim that “Many chapters were revealed complete, especially the shorter ones; the longer ones, however, were revealed by portions. Chronologically, verses of one chapter were followed by those of a similar topic but from other times, for this reason, the arrangement of verses and chapters is not chronological. Other Muslims say: The Koran bears evidence that the arrangement of its chapters and verses was brought about by Mohammed himself and under the so-called ‘guidance of Divine revelation’ (Koran 75:17-18) and this arrangement did not follow the chronological order of the revelation.” That these are cheap arguments going round the facts is obvious.

The structure of the Koran text is dualistic. The first part of the text refers to Mohammed's more or less peaceful life in MECCA; the largest bulk contains just religious ideas which we know from Judaism already. The second part of the text refers to Mohammed's violent life in MEDINA; it is very revolutionary indeed and it contains hatred against Jews, Christians and any other Kafirs (non-Muslims), contains political ideology and propaganda, a blueprint for an entire new civilisation: a totalitarian theocracy that demands absolute submission under the rule of Mohammed's god Allah and himself! Those who do not want this face damnation, slavery, dimmitude and death. There can be no doubt that this Medina text imposes not only a threat but a real danger towards any non-Muslim society and civilisation that turns a blind eye. The Sharia law is mainly based on this second half of the Koran. This is important to know as the Sharia is used as tool to undermine non-Islamic societies and their organisational structures by pussyfooting ‘harmless’ looking rules into the hosts society such as halal food rules, demanding prayer places and times, and trying to implement Muslim propaganda into the host's educational system, and last but not least, playing the eternal and pityful victim (whilst waging jihad war for the last 1400 years).

What we are going to show here now is the Koran in which the Chapters are arranged chronologically. The German Orientalist Theodor Nöldeke arranged his chronological Koran order according to historical context, wording, writing style, and what kind of rhyme was used.

The Nöldeke Chronology of the 114 chapters of the Koran are ordered in two main groups or periods: 1st, The Mecca Group (which contains 3 distinctive groups); 2nd, The Medina Group.

THE MECCA KORAN, Group 1 (48 Suras): 96, 74, 111, 106, 108, 104, 107, 102, 105, 92, 90, 94, 93, 97, 86, 91, 80, 68, 87, 95, 103, 85, 73, 101, 99, 82, 81, 53, 84, 100, 79, 77, 78, 88, 89, 75, 83, 69, 51, 52, 56, 70, 55, 112, 109, 113, 114, 1; Group 2 (21 Suras): 54, 37, 71, 76, 44, 50, 20, 26, 15, 19, 38, 36, 43, 72, 67, 23, 21, 25, 17, 27, 18; Group 3 (21 Suras): 32, 41, 45, 16, 30, 11, 14, 12, 40, 28, 39, 29, 31, 42, 10, 34, 35, 7, 46, 6, 13.

THE MEDINA KORAN, (24 Suras): 2, 98, 64, 62, 8, 47, 3, 61, 57, 4, 65, 59, 33, 63, 24, 58, 22, 48, 66, 60, 110, 49, 9, 5.

We also show you the traditional chapter arrangement by Ibn Abbas:

THE MECCA KORAN: 96, 68, 73, 74, 1, 111, 81, 87, 92, 89, 93, 94, 103, 100, 108, 102, 107, 109, 105, 113, 114, 112, 53, 80, 97, 91, 85, 95, 106, 101, 75, 104, 77, 50, 90, 86, 54, 38, 7, 72, 36, 25, 35, 19, 20, 56, 26, 27, 28, 17, 10, 11, 12, 15, 6, 37, 31, 34, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 51, 88, 18, 16, 71, 14, 21, 23, 32, 52, 67, 69, 70, 78, 79, 82, 84, 30, 29, 83.

THE MEDINA KORAN: 2, 8, 3, 33, 60, 4, 99, 57, 47, 13, 55, 76, 65, 98, 59, 24, 22, 63, 58, 49, 66, 64, 61, 62, 48, 5, 9, 110.

Whatever number system you prefer to use, in terms of the dualistic Koran division they are almost the same, therefore: any nice and peaceful text from Mecca can be abrogated by the hateful and violent verses of the Medina Koran in either system. Instructions for the use of abrogation: When there is a text in the Koran that contradicts another text in the Koran, then the younger text automatically has authority over the older text! This is the reason why the chapters 9 and 5, for example, outweigh any of the other chapters!)

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

PART 1 THE KORAN OF MECCA Estimated Range of Dating: c. 610 - 622

(Although it is possible and even desirable to arrange the Koran chapters in a chronological way, it is however not easy to define the exact position of some of the verses. As their correct place is still a matter of debate among scholars, we have decided not to change the traditional places of the verses within a chapter.

*We have instead placed an asterisk * right behind the verse number when scholars believe that this particular verse belongs into the Koran of Medina. Three asterisks * * * indicate that the following verses belong to another chapter, topic, collection, or time.*

We have here preserved the official verse numbers. As you can see, we begin with Chapter 96 which should be, according to Noldeke's chronological sequence, the first chapter.)

GROUP 1 (Mohammed's first 5 years as preacher, 48 SURAS): 96; 74; 111; 106; 108; 104; 107; 102; 105; 92; 90; 94; 93; 97; 86; 91; 80; 68; 87; 95; 103; 85; 73; 101; 99; 82; 81; 53; 84; 100; 79; 77; 78; 88; 89; 75; 83; 69; 51; 52; 56; 70; 55; 112; 109; 113; 114; 1

KORAN CHAPTER 1 / Sura 96
The Clot / Al-Alaq
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
96:1 Read in the name of thy Lord who creates —
96:2 Creates man from a clot,
96:3 Read and thy Lord is most Generous,
96:4 Who taught by the pen,
96:5 Taught man what he knew not.
96:6 Nay, man is surely inordinate,
96:7 Because he looks upon himself as self-sufficient.
96:8 Surely to thy Lord is the return.
96:9 Hast thou seen him who forbids
96:10 A servant when he prays?
96:11 Seest thou if he is on the right way,
96:12 Or enjoins observance of duty?
96:13 Seest thou if he denies and turns away?
96:14 Knows he not that Allah sees?
96:15 Nay, if he desist not, We will seize him by the forelock —
96:16 A lying, sinful forelock!
96:17 Then let him summon his council,
96:18 We will summon the braves of the army.
96:19 Nay! Obey him not, but prostrate thyself, and draw nigh (to Allah).

KORAN CHAPTER 2 / Sura 74
The Clothed One (The One Wrapping Himself Up) / Al-Muddaththir
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
74:1 O thou who wrappes thyself up,
74:2 Arise and warn,
74:3 And thy Lord do magnify,
74:4 And thy garments do purify,
74:5 And uncleanness do shun,
74:6 And do no favour seeking gain,
74:7 And for the sake of thy Lord, be patient.
74:8 For when the trumpet is sounded,
74:9 That will be that day — a difficult day,
74:10 For the disbelievers, anything but easy.
74:11 Leave Me alone with him whom I created,

74:12 And gave him vast riches,
74:13 And sons dwelling in his presence,
74:14 And made matters easy for him,
74:15 And yet he desires that I should give more!
74:16 By no means! Surely he is inimical to Our messages.
74:17 I will make a distressing punishment overtake him.
74:18 Surely he reflected and determined,
74:19 But may he be destroyed how he determined!
74:20 Again, may he be destroyed how he determined!
74:21 Then he looked,
74:22 Then frowned and scowled,
74:23 Then turned back and was big with pride,
74:24 Then said: This is naught but magic from of old!
74:25 This is naught but the word of a mortal!
74:26 I will cast him into hell.
74:27 And what will make thee realize what hell is?
74:28 It leaves naught, and spares naught.
74:29 It scorches the mortal.
74:30 Over it are nineteen.
74:31 And We have made none but angels wardens of the Fire, and We have not made their number but as a trial for those who disbelieve, that those who have been given the Book may be certain and those who believe may increase in faith, and those who have been given the Book and the believers may not doubt; and that those in whose hearts is a disease and the disbelievers may say: What does Allah mean by this parable? Thus Allah leaves in error whom He pleases, and guides whom He pleases. And none knows the hosts of thy Lord but He. And this is naught but a Reminder to mortals.

* * *
74:32 Nay, by the moon!
74:33 And the night when it departs!
74:34 And the dawn when it shines!
74:35 Surely it is one of the gravest (misfortunes),
74:36 A warning to mortals,
74:37 To him among you who will go forward or will remain behind.
74:38 Every soul is held in pledge for what it earns,
74:39 Except the people of the right hand.
74:40 In Gardens, they ask one another,
74:41 About the guilty:
74:42 What has brought you into hell?
74:43 They will say: We were not of those who prayed;
74:44 Nor did we feed the poor;
74:45 And we indulged in vain talk with vain talkers;
74:46 And we called the day of Judgement a lie;
74:47 Till the inevitable overtook us.
74:48 So the intercession or intercessors will not avail them.
74:49 What is then the matter with them, that they turn away from the Reminder.
74:50 As if they were frightened asses,
74:51 Fleeing from a lion?
74:52 Nay, every one of them desires that he should be given pages spread out — 74:53 By no means! But they fear not the Hereafter.
74:54 Nay, it is surely a Reminder.
74:55 So whoever pleases may mind it.
74:56 And they will not mind unless Allah please.
He is Worthy that duty should be kept to Him and Worthy to forgive.

KORAN CHAPTER 3 / Sura 111
The Flame / Al-Lahab
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
111:1 Abu Lahab's hands will perish and he will perish.
111:2 His wealth and that which he earns will not avail him.
111:3 He will burn in fire giving rise to flames —
111:4 And his wife the bearer of slander;
111:5 Upon her neck a halter of twisted rope!

KORAN CHAPTER 4 / Sura 106
The Quraish (Mohammed's Tribe) / Al-Quraish
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
106:1 For the protection of the Quraish —
106:2 Their protection during their journey in the winter and the summer.
106:3 So let them serve the Lord of this House, feeds them against hunger, 106:4 Who and gives them security against fear.

KORAN CHAPTER 5 / Sura 108
The Abundance of Good / Al-Kauthar
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
108:1 I Surely We have given thee abundance of good.
108:2 So pray to thy Lord and sacrifice.
108:3 Surely thy enemy is cut off (from good).

KORAN CHAPTER 6 / Sura 104
The Slanderer / Al-Humazah
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
104:1 Woe to every slanderer, defamer!
104:2 Who amasses wealth and counts it —
104:3 He thinks that his wealth will make him abide.
104:4 Nay, he will certainly be hurled into the crushing disaster;
104:5 And what will make thee realize what the crushing disaster is?
104:6 It is the Fire kindled by Allah,
104:7 Which rises over the hearts.
104:8 Surely it is closed in on them,
104:9 In extended columns.

KORAN CHAPTER 7 / Sura 107
Acts of Kindness (The Daily Necessaries) / Al-Maun
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
107:1 Hast thou seen him who belies religion?
107:2 That is the one who is rough to the orphan,
107:3 And urges not the feeding of the needy.
107:4* So woe to the praying ones,
107:5* Who are unmindful of their prayer!
107:6* Who do (good) to be seen,
107:7* And refrain from acts of kindness!

KORAN CHAPTER 8 / Sura 102
Worldly Gain (The Abundance of Wealth) / Al-Takathur
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
102:1 Abundance diverts you,
102:2 Until you come to the graves.
102:3 Nay, you will soon know,
102:4 Nay, again, you will soon know.
102:5 Nay, would that you knew with a certain knowledge!
102:6 You will certainly see hell;
102:7 Then you will see it with certainty of sight;
102:8 Then on that day you shall certainly be questioned about the boons.

KORAN CHAPTER 9 / Sura 105
The Elephant / Al-Fil
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
105:1 Hast thou not seen how thy Lord dealt with the possessors of the elephant?
105:2 Did He not cause their war to end in confusion?
105:3 And send against them birds in flocks?
105:4 Casting at them decreed stones —
105:5 So He rendered them like straw eaten up?

KORAN CHAPTER 10 / Sura 92
The Night / Al-Lail
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
92:1 By the night when it draws a veil!
92:2 And the day when it shines!
92:3 And the creating of the male and the female! — 92:4 Your striving is surely (for) diverse (ends).
92:5 Then as for him who gives and keeps his duty,
92:6 And accepts what is good —
92:7 We facilitate for him (the way to) ease.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

92:8 And as for him who is niggardly and considers himself self-sufficient, 92:9 And rejects what is good —
 92:10 We facilitate for him (the way to) distress.
 92:11 And his wealth will not avail him when he perishes.
 92:12 Surely Ours is it to show the way,
 92:13 And surely Ours is the Hereafter and the former.
 92:14 So I warn you of the Fire that flames.
 92:15 None will enter it but the most unfortunate,
 92:16 Who rejects (the truth) and turns (his) back.
 92:17 And away from it shall be kept the most faithful to duty,
 92:18 Who gives his wealth, purifying himself,
 92:19 And none has with him any boon for a reward,
 92:20 Except the seeking of the pleasure of his Lord, the Most High.
 92:21 And he will soon be well-pleased.

KORAN CHAPTER 11 / Sura 90

The City / Al-Balad
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 90:1 Nay, I call to witness this City!
 90:2 And thou wilt be made free from obligation in this City —
 90:3 And the begetter and he whom he begot!
 90:4 We have certainly created man to face difficulties.
 90:5 Does he think that no one has power over him?
 90:6 He will say I have wasted much wealth.
 90:7 Does he think that no one sees him?
 90:8 Have We not given him two eyes,
 90:9 And a tongue and two lips,
 90:10 And pointed out to him the two conspicuous ways?
 90:11 But he attempts not the uphill road;
 90:12 And what will make thee comprehend what the uphill road is?
 90:13 (It is) to free a slave,
 90:14 Or to feed in a day of hunger
 90:15 An orphan nearly related,
 90:16 Or the poor man lying in the dust.
 90:17 Then he is of those who believe and exhort one another to patience, and exhort one another to mercy.
 90:18 These are the people of the right hand.
 90:19 And those who disbelieve in Our messages, they are the people of the left hand.
 90:20 On them is Fire closed over.

KORAN CHAPTER 12 / Sura 94

The Expansion / Al-Inshirah
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 94:1 Have We not expanded for thee thy breast,
 94:2 And removed from thee thy burden,
 94:3 Which weighed down thy back,
 94:4 And exalted for thee thy mention?
 94:5 Surely with difficulty is ease,
 94:6 With difficulty is surely ease:
 94:7 So when thou art free (from anxiety), work hard,
 94:8 And make thy Lord thy exclusive object.

KORAN CHAPTER 13 / Sura 93

The Brightness of the Day (The Early Hours) / Al-Duha
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 93:1 By the brightness of the day!
 93:2 And the night when it is still! —
 93:3 Thy Lord has not forsaken thee, not is He displeased.
 93:4 And surely the latter state is better for thee than the former.
 93:5 And soon will thy Lord give thee so that thou wilt be well pleased.
 93:6 Did He not find thee an orphan and give (thee) shelter?
 93:7 And find thee groping, so He showed the way?
 93:8 And find thee in want, so He enriched thee?

93:9 Therefore the orphan, oppress not.
 93:10 And him who asks, chide not.
 93:11 And the favour of thy Lord, proclaim.

KORAN CHAPTER 14 / Sura 97

The Majesty / Al-Qadr
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 97:1 Surely We revealed it on the Night of Majesty —
 97:2 And what will make thee comprehend what the Night of Majesty is?
 97:3 The Night of Majesty is better than a thousand months.
 97:4 The angels and the Spirit descend in it by the permission of their Lord — for every affair —
 97:5 Peace it is till the rising of the morning.

KORAN CHAPTER 15 / Sura 86

The Comer by Night (The Night-Comer) / Al-Tariq
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 86:1 By the heaven and the Comer by night!
 86:2 And what will make thee know what the Comer by night is?
 86:3 The star of piercing brightness —
 86:4 There is nor a soul but over it is a keeper.
 86:5 So let man consider of what he is ejected.
 86:6 He is created of water pouring forth,
 86:7 Coming from between the back and the ribs.
 86:8 Surely He is able to return him (to life).
 86:9 On the day when hidden things are manifested,
 86:10 Then he will have no strength nor helper.
 86:11 By the cloud giving rain,
 86:12 And the earth opening (with herbage)!
 86:13 Surely it is a decisive word,
 86:14 And it is not a joke.
 86:15 Surely they plan a plan,
 86:16 And I plan a plan.
 86:17 So grant the disbelievers a respite — let them alone for a while.

KORAN CHAPTER 16 / Sura 91

The Sun / Al-Shams
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 91:1 By the sun and his brightness!
 91:2 And the moon when she borrows light from him!
 91:3 And the day when it exposes it to view!
 91:4 And the night when it draws a veil over it!
 91:5 And the heaven and its make!
 91:6 And the earth and its extension!
 91:7 And the soul and its perfection!
 91:8 So He reveals to it its way of evil and its way of good;
 91:9 He is indeed successful who causes it to grow,
 91:10 And he indeed fails who buries it.
 91:11 Thamud rejected (the truth) in their inordinacy,
 91:12 When the basest of them broke forth with mischief —
 91:13 So Allah's messenger said to them (Leave alone) Allah's she-camel, and (give) her (to) drink.
 91:14 But they called him a liar and slaughtered her.
 So their Lord destroyed them for their sin and levelled them (with the ground)
 91:15 And He fears not its consequence.

KORAN CHAPTER 17 / Sura 80

Frowned (He Frowned) / Abasa
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 80:1 He frowned and turned away,
 80:2 Because the blind man came to him.
 80:3 And what would make thee know that he might purify himself,
 80:4 Or be mindful, so the Reminder should profit him?
 80:5 As for him who considers himself free from need
 80:6 To him thou dost attend.
 80:7 And no blame is on thee, if he purify himself not.
 80:8 And as to him who comes to thee striving hard,

80:9 And he fears —
 80:10 To him thou payest no regard.
 80:11 Nay, surely it is a Reminder.
 80:12 So let him who will mind it.
 80:13 In honoured books,
 80:14 Exalted, purified,
 80:15 In the hands of scribes,
 80:16 Noble, virtuous.
 80:17 Woe to man! How ungrateful is he!
 80:18 Of what thing did He create him?
 80:19 Of a small life-germ. He creates him, then proportions him,
 80:20 Then makes the way easy for him,
 80:21 Then He causes him to die, then assigns to him a grave,
 80:22 Then; when He will, He raises him to life again.
 80:23 Nay, but he does not what He commands him.
 80:24 Then let man look at his food —
 80:25 How We pour down abundant water,
 80:26 Then cleave the earth, cleaving (it) asunder,
 80:27 Then cause the grain to grow therein,
 80:28 And grapes and clover,
 80:29 And the olive and the palm,
 80:30 And thick gardens,
 80:31 And fruits and herbage —
 80:32 A provision for you and your cattle.
 80:33 But when the deafening cry comes,
 80:34 The day when a man flees from his brother,
 80:35 And his mother and his father,
 80:36 And his spouse and his sons.
 80:37 Every man of them, that day, will have concern enough to make him indifferent to others.
 80:38 Faces on that day will be bright,
 80:39 Laughing, joyous.
 80:40 And faces on that day will have dust on them,
 80:41 Darkness covering them?
 80:42 Those are the disbelievers, the wicked.

KORAN CHAPTER 18 / Sura 68

The Pen / Al-Qalam
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 68:1 (By) the inkstand and the pen and that which they write!
 68:2 By the grace of thy Lord thou art not mad.
 68:3 And surely thine is a reward never to be cut off.
 68:4 And surely thou hast sublime morals.
 68:5 So thou wilt see, and they (too) will see,
 68:6 Which of you is mad.
 68:7 Surely thy Lord knows best who is erring from His way, and He knows best those who go aright.
 68:8 So obey not the rejectors.
 68:9 They wish that thou shouldst be pliant, so they (too) would be pliant.
 68:10 And obey not any mean swearer,
 68:11 Defamer, going about with slander,
 68:12 Hinderer of good, out-stepping the limits, sinful,
 68:13 Ignoble, besides all that, notoriously mischievous —
 68:14 Because he possesses wealth and sons.
 68:15 When Our messages are recited to him, he says: Stories of those of yore!
 68:16 We shall brand him on the snout.
 68:17* We shall try them as We tried the owners of the garden, when they swore to pluck its fruits in the morning, 68:18* And would not set aside a portion (for the poor).
 68:19* But a visitation from thy Lord came on it, While they slept.
 68:20* So it became as black, barren land —
 68:21* Then they called out one to another in the morning,
 68:22* Saying: Go early to your tilth, if you would pluck (the fruit).
 68:23* So they went, while they said one to another in low tones:
 68:24* No poor man shall enter it to-day to you —

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

68:25* And in the morning they went, having the power to prevent.

68:26* But when they saw it, they said: Surely we are in error;

68:27* Nay, we are made to suffer privation.

68:28* The best of them said: Said I not to you, Why do you not glorify (Allah)?

68:29* They said: Glory be to our Lord! surely we were unjust.

68:30* Then some of them advanced against others, blaming each other.

68:31* Said they: O woe to us! Surely we were inordinate —

68:32* Maybe, our Lord will give us instead one better than it surely to our Lord we make petition.

68:33* Such is the chastisement. And certainly the chastisement of the Hereafter is greater, did they but know!

68:34 Surely the dutiful have with their Lord Gardens of bliss.

68:35 Shall We then make those who submit as the guilty?

68:36 What is the matter with you? How do you judge?

68:37 Or have you a book wherein you read

68:38 That you shall surely have therein what you choose?

68:39 Or have you covenants from Us on oath, extending to the day of Resurrection, that yours is surely what you judge?

68:40 Ask them which of them will vouch for that.

68:41 Or have they associate-gods? Then let them bring their associates, if they are truthful.

68:42 On the day when there is a severe affliction, and they are called upon to prostrate themselves, but they are not able —

68:43 Their looks cast down, abasement will cover them. And they were indeed called upon to prostrate themselves, while yet they were safe.

68:44 So leave Me alone with him who rejects this announcement. We shall overtake them by degrees, from whence they know not.

68:45 And I bear with them, surely My plan is firm.

68:46 Or dost thou ask from them a reward, so that they are burdened with debt?

68:47 Or is the unseen with them so that they write (it) down?

68:48* So wait patiently for the judgement of thy Lord, and be not like the Companion of the fish, when he cried while he was in distress.

68:49* Had not favour from his Lord reached him, he would certainly have been cast down on naked ground, while he was blamed.

68:50* Then his Lord chose him, and He made him of the righteous.

68:51 And those who disbelieve would almost smite thee with their eyes when they hear the Reminder, and they say: Surely he is mad!

68:52 And it is naught but a Reminder for the nations.

KORAN CHAPTER 19 / Sura 27

The Most High / Al-Ala

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

87:1 Glorify the name of thy Lord, the Most High!

87:2 Who creates, then makes complete,

87:3 And Who measures, then guides,

87:4 And Who brings forth herbage,

87:5 Then makes it dried up, dust-coloured.

87:6 We shall make thee recite so thou shalt not forget —

87:7 Except what Allah please. Surely He knows the manifest, and what is hidden.

87:8 And We shall make thy way smooth to a state of ease.

87:9 So remind, reminding indeed profits.

87:10 He who fears will mind,

87:11 And the most unfortunate one will avoid it,

87:12 Who will burn in the great Fire.

87:13 Then therein he will neither live nor die.

87:14 He indeed is successful who purifies himself,

87:15 And remembers the name of his Lord, then prays.

87:16 But, you prefer the life of this world,

87:17 While the Hereafter is better and mote lasting.

87:18 Surely this is in the earlier scriptures

87:19 The scriptures of Abraham and Moses.

KORAN CHAPTER 20 / Sura 95

The Fig / Al-Tin

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

95:1 By the fig and the olive!

95:2 And mount Sinai!

95:3 And this City made secure! —

95:4 Certainly We created man in the best make.

95:5 Then We render him the lowest of the low,

95:6 Except those who believe and do good: so theirs is a reward never to be cut off.

95:7 So who can give the lie to thee after (this) about the Judgement?

95:8 Is not Allah the Best of the Judges?

KORAN CHAPTER 21 / Sura 103

The Time / Al-Asr

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

103:1 By the time!

103:2 Surely man is in loss,

103:3 Except those who believe and do good, and exhort one another to Truth, and exhort one another to patience.

KORAN CHAPTER 22 / Sura 85

The Stars (The Constellations) / Al-Buruj

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

85:1 By the heaven full of stars!

85:2 And the Promised day!

85:3 And the bearer of witness and that to which witness is borne!

85:4 Destruction overtake the companions of the trench!

85:5 The fire fed with fuel —

85:6 When they sit by it,

85:7 And they are witnesses of what they do with the believers.

85:8 And they punished them for naught but that they believed in Allah, the Mighty, the Praised, 85:9 Whose is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. And Allah is Witness of all things.

85:10 Those who persecute believing men and believing women, then repent not, theirs is the chastisement of hell, and theirs the chastisement of burning.

85:11 Those who believe and do good, theirs are Gardens wherein flow rivers. That is the great achievement.

85:12 Surely the grip of thy Lord is severe.

85:13 Surely He it is Who creates first and reproduces;

85:14 And He is the Forgiving, the Loving,

85:15 Lord of the Throne of Power, the Glorious,

85:16 Doer of what He intends.

85:17 Has not there come to thee the story of the hosts,

85:18 Of Pharaoh and Thamud?

85:19 Nay, those who disbelieve give the lie —

85:20 And Allah encompasses them on all sides.

85:21 Nay, it is a glorious Koran,

85:22 In a guarded tablet.

KORAN CHAPTER 23 / Sura 73

The Mantled One (The One Covering Himself Up) / Al-Muzzammil

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

73:1 O thou covering thyself up!

73:2 Rise to pray by night except a little,

73:3 Half of it, or lessen it a little,

73:4 Or add to it, and recite the Koran in a leisurely manner.

73:5 Surely We shall charge thee with a weighty word.

73:6 The rising by night is surely the firmest way to tread and most effective in speech.

73:7 Truly thou hast by day prolonged occupation.

73:8 And remember the name of thy Lord and devote thyself to Him with (complete) devotion.

73:9 The Lord of the East and the West — there is no God but He — so take Him for Protector.

73:10* And bear patiently what they say and forsake them with a becoming withdrawal.

73:11* And leave Me and the deniers, possessors of plenty, and respite them a little.

73:12 Surely with Us are heavy fetters and a flaming Fire, 73:13 And food that chokes and a painful chastisement.

73:14 On the day when the earth and the mountains quake and the mountains become (as) heaps of sand let loose.

73:15 Surely We have sent to you a Messenger, a witness against you, as We sent a messenger to Pharaoh.

73:16 But Pharaoh disobeyed the messenger, so We seized him with a violent grip.

73:17 How, then, if you disbelieve, will you guard yourselves on the day which will make children grey-headed?

73:18 The heaven being rent asunder thereby. His promise is ever fulfilled.

73:19 Surely this is a Reminder so let him, who will, take a way to his Lord.

73:20* Thy Lord knows indeed that thou passet in prayer nearly two-thirds of the night, and (sometimes) half of it, and (sometimes) a third of it, as do a party of those with thee. And Allah measures the night and the day. He knows that (all of) you are not able to do it, so He has turned to you (mercifully); so read of the Koran that which is easy for you. He knows that there are sick among you, and others who travel in the land seeking of Allah's bounty, and others who fight in Allah's way. So read as much of it as is easy (for you), and keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and offer to Allah a goodly gift. And whatever of good you send on before hand for yourselves, you will find it with Allah — that is best and greatest in reward. And ask forgiveness of Allah. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

KORAN CHAPTER 24 / Sura 101

The Calamity (The Terrible Calamity) / Al-QariAh

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

101:1 The calamity!

101:2 What is the calamity?

101:3 And what will make thee know how terrible is the calamity?

101:4 The day wherein men will be as scattered moths,

101:5 And the mountains will be as carded wool.

101:6 Then as for him whose measure (of good deeds) is heavy,

101:7 He will live a pleasant life.

101:8 And as for him whose measure (of good deeds) is light,

101:9 The abyss is a mother to him.

101:10 And what will make thee know what that is?

101:11 A burning Fire.

KORAN CHAPTER 25 / Sura 99

The Shaking / Al-Zilzal

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

99:1 When the earth is shaken with her shaking,

99:2 And the earth brings forth her burdens,

99:3 And man says: What has befallen her?

99:4 On that day she will tell her news,

99:5 As if thy Lord had revealed to her.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

- 100:11 Surely their Lord this day is Aware of them.
- KORAN CHAPTER 31 / Sura 79
 Those Who Yearn (Those Who Pull Out) / Al-NaziAt
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 79:1 By those yearning vehemently!
 79:2 And those going forth cheerfully!
 79:3 And those running swiftly!
 79:4 And those that are foremost going ahead!
 79:5 And those regulating the Affair!
 79:6 The day when the quaking one shall quake —
 79:7 The consequence will follow it.
 79:8 Hearts that day will palpitate,
 79:9 Their eyes downcast.
 79:10 They say: Shall we indeed be restored to (out) first state?
 79:11 What! After we are rotten bones?
 79:12 They say: That would then be a return with loss.
 79:13 It is only a single cry,
 79:14 When lo! they will be awakened.
 79:15 Has not there come to thee the story of Moses,
 79:16 When his Lord called him in the holy valley, Tuwa?
 79:17 Go to Pharaoh, surely he has rebelled.
 79:18 And say: Wilt thou purify thyself?
 79:19 And I will guide thee to thy Lord so that thou fear (Him).
 79:20 So he showed him the mighty sign;
 79:21 But he denied and disobeyed.
 79:22 Then he went back hastily,
 79:23 So he gathered and called out.
 79:24 Then he said: I am your Lord, the most High.
 79:25 So Allah seized him with the punishment of the Hereafter and of this life.
 79:26 Surely there is in this a lesson for him who fears.
 * * *
- 79:27 Are you the stronger in creation or the heaven? He made it.
 79:28 He raised high its height, and made it perfect,
 79:29 And He made dark its night and brought out its light.
 79:30 And the earth, He cast It after that.
 79:31 He brought forth from it its water and its pasture.
 79:32 And the mountains, He made them firm,
 79:33 A provision for you and for your cattle.
 79:34 So when the great Calamity comes;
 79:35 The day when man remembers all that he strove for,
 79:36 And hell is made manifest to him who sees.
 79:37 Then as for him who is inordinate,
 79:38 And prefers the life of this world,
 79:39 Hell is surely the abode.
 79:40 And as for him who fears to stand before his Lord and restrains himself from low desires, 79:41 The Garden is surely the abode.
 79:42 They ask thee about the Hour, When will that take place,
 79:43 About which thou remindest?
 79:44 To thy Lord is the goal of it.
 79:45 Thou art only a warner to him who fears it.
 79:46 On the day when they see it, it will be as if they had but tarried for an evening or a morning.
- KORAN CHAPTER 32 / Sura 77
 The Emissaries (Those Sent Forth) / Al-Mursalat
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 77:1 By those sent forth to spread goodness!
 77:2 Then those driving off the chaff!
 77:3 And those spreading (goodness), far and wide 77:4 Then those making a distinction!
 77:5 Then those offering the Reminder,
 77:6 To clear or to warn! —
 77:7 Surely that which you are promised will come to pass.
 77:8 So when the stars are made to disappear,
- 77:9 And when the heaven is rent asunder,
 77:10 And when the mountains are carried away as dust,
 77:11 And when the messengers are made to reach their appointed time,
 77:12 To what day is the doom fixed?
 77:13 To the day of Decision.
 77:14 And what will make thee comprehend what the day of Decision is?
 77:15 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:16 Did We not destroy the former generations?
 77:17 Then We followed them up with later ones.
 77:18 Thus do We deal with the guilty.
 77:19 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:20 Did We not create you from ordinary water?
 77:21 Then We placed it in a secure resting-place,
 77:22 Till an appointed term,
 77:23 So We determined — how well are We at determining!
 77:24 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:25 Have We not made the earth draw to itself
 77:26 The living and the dead,
 77:27 And made therein lofty mountains, and given you to drink of sweet water?
 77:28 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:29 Walk on to that which you called a lie.
 77:30 Walk on to the shadow, having three branches,
 77:31 Neither cool, nor availing against the flame.
 77:32 It sends up sparks like palaces,
 77:33 As if they were tawny camels.
 77:34 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:35 This is the day on which they speak not,
 77:36 Nor are they allowed to offer excuses.
 77:37 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:38 This is the day of Decision We have gathered you and those of yore.
 77:39 So if you have a plan, plan against me (now).
 77:40 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 * * *
- 77:41 Surely the dutiful are amid shades and fountains,
 77:42 And fruits such as they desire.
 77:43 Eat and drink pleasantly for what you did.
 77:44 Thus do We reward the doers of good.
 77:45 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:46 Eat and enjoy yourselves for a little; surely you are guilty.
 77:47 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:48* And when it is said to them, Bow down, they bow not down.
 77:49 Woe on that day to the rejectors!
 77:50 In what narration after it, will they believe?
- KORAN CHAPTER 33 / Sura 78
 The Announcement (The Tidings) / Al-Naba
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 78:1 Of what do they ask one another?
 78:2 Of the tremendous announcement
 78:3 About which they differ.
 78:4 Nay, they will soon know;
 78:5 Nay, again, they will soon know.
 78:6 Have We not made the earth an expanse
 78:7 And the mountains as pegs?
 78:8 And We have created you in pairs,
 78:9 And made your sleep for rest,
 78:10 And made the night a covering,
 78:11 And made the day for seeking livelihood.
 78:12 And We have made above you seven strong (bodies),
 78:13 And made a shining lamp,
 78:14 And We send down from the clouds water pouring forth in abundance, 78:15 That We may bring forth thereby grain and herbs,
 78:16 And luxuriant gardens.
 78:17 Surely the day of Decision is appointed — 78:18 The day when the trumpet is blown, so you come forth in hosts,
- 78:19 And the heaven is opened so it becomes as doors, 78:20 And the mountains are moved off, so they remain a semblance.
 78:21 Surely hell lies in wait,
 78:22 A resort for the inordinate,
 78:23 Living therein for long years.
 78:24 They taste not therein coolness nor drink,
 78:25 But boiling and intensely cold water,
 78:26 Requital corresponding.
 78:27 Surely they feared not the reckoning,
 78:28 And rejected Our messages, giving the lie (thereto).
 78:29 And We have recorded every thing in a book, 78:30 So taste, for We shall add to you naught but chastisement.
 * * *
- 78:31 Surely for those who keep their duty is achievement,
 78:32 Gardens and vineyards,
 78:33 And youthful (companions), equals in age,
 78:34 And a pure cup.
 78:35 They hear not therein vain words, nor lying —
- 78:36 A reward from thy Lord, a gift sufficient;
 78:37 The Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them— the Beneficent, they are not able to address Him.
 78:38 The day when the spirit and the angels stand in ranks: none shall speak except he whom the Beneficent permits and he speaks aright.
 78:39 That is the True Day, so whoever desires may take refuge with his Lord.
 78:40 Truly We warn you of a chastisement near at hand — the day when man will see what his hands have sent before, and the disbeliever will say O would that I were dust!
- KORAN CHAPTER 34 / Sura 88
 The Overwhelming Event (The Overwhelming Calamity) / Al-Ghashiyah
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 88:1 Has there come to thee the news of the Overwhelming Event?
 88:2 Faces on that day will be downcast,
 88:3 Labouring, toiling,
 88:4 Entering burning Fire,
 88:5 Made to drink from a boiling spring.
 88:6 They will have no food but of thorns,
 88:7 Neither nourishing nor satisfying hunger.
 88:8 Faces on that day will be happy,
 88:9 Glad for their striving,
 88:10 In a lofty Garden,
 88:11 Wherein thou wilt hear no vain talk.
 88:12 Therein is a fountain flowing.
 88:13 Therein are thrones raised high,
 88:14 And drinking-cups ready placed,
 88:15 And cushions set in rows,
 88:16 And carpets spread out.
 88:17 See they not the clouds, how they are created?
 88:18 And the heaven, how it is raised high?
 88:19 And the mountains, how they are fixed?
 88:20 And the earth, how it is spread out?
 88:21 So remind. Thou art only one to remind.
 88:22 Thou art not a warder over them —
 88:23 But whoever turns back and disbelieves,
 88:24 Allah will chastise him with the greatest chastisement.
 88:25 Surely to Us is their return,
 88:26 Then it is for Us to call them to account.
- KORAN CHAPTER 35 / Sura 89
 The Daybreak (The Dawn) / Al-Fajr
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 89:1 By the daybreak!
 89:2 And the ten nights!
 89:3 And the even and the odd!
 89:4 And the night when it departs!

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

69:47 And not one of you could have withheld Us from him.
 69:48 And surely it is a Reminder for the dutiful.
 69:49 And We certainly know that some of you are rejectors.
 69:50 And it is indeed a (source of) grief to the disbelievers.
 69:51 And surely it is the certain Truth.
 69:52 So glorify the name of thy Lord, the Incomparably Great.

KORAN CHAPTER 39 / Sura 51

The Scatterers / Al-Dhariyat
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 51:1 By those scattering broadcast
 51:2 And those bearing the load!
 51:3 And those running easily!
 51:4 And those distributing the Affair! —
 51:5 What you are promised is surely true,
 51:6 And the Judgement will surely come to pass.
 51:7 By the heaven full of paths!
 51:8 Surely you are of varying opinion —
 51:9 He is turned away from it who would be turned away.
 51:10 Cursed be the liars!
 51:11 Who are in an abyss, neglectful;
 51:12 They ask: When is the day of Judgement?
 51:13 (It is) the day when they are tried at the Fire.
 51:14 Taste your persecution! This is what you would hasten on.
 51:15 Surely the dutiful are amidst Gardens and fountains, 51:16 Taking that which their Lord gives them. Surely they were before that the doers of good.
 51:17 They used to sleep but little at night.
 51:18 And in the morning they asked (Divine) protection.
 51:19 And in their wealth there was a due share for the beggar and for one who is denied (good).
 51:20 And in the earth are signs for those who are sure, 51:21 And in yourselves do you not see?
 51:22 And in the heavens is your sustenance and that which you are promised.
 51:23 So by the Lord of the heavens and the earth! it is surely the truth, just as you speak.
 * * *
 51:24 Has the story of Abraham's honoured guests reached thee?
 51:25 When they came to him, they said Peace! Peace! said he. Strangers!
 51:26 Then he turned aside to his family and brought a fat calf.
 51:27 So he placed it before them. He said: Will you not eat?
 51:28 So he conceived a fear of them. They said: Fear not. And they gave him the good news of a boy possessing knowledge.
 51:29 Then his wife came up in grief, and she smote her face and said: A barren old woman!
 51:30 They said: Thus says thy Lord. Surely He is the Wise, the Knowing.
 * * *
 51:31 He said: What is your errand, O messengers!
 51:32 They said: We have been sent to a guilty people
 51:33 That we may send upon them stones of clay,
 51:34 Marked from thy Lord for the prodigal.
 51:35 Then We brought forth such believers as were there.
 51:36 And We found there but a (single) house of Muslims.
 51:37 And We left therein a sign for those who fear the painful chastisement.
 51:38 And in Moses, when We sent him to Pharaoh with clear authority.
 51:39 But he turned away on account of his might and said: An enchanter or a madman!

51:40 So We seized him and his hosts and hurled them into the sea, and he was blameable.
 51:41 And in Ad, when We sent upon them the destructive wind.
 51:42 It spared naught that it came against, but it made it like ashes.
 51:43 And in Thamad, when it was said to them: Enjoy yourselves for a while.
 51:44 But they revolted against the commandment of their Lord, so the punishment overtook them, while they saw.
 51:45 So they were unable to rise up, nor could they defend themselves;
 51:46 And the people of Noah before. Surely they were a transgressing people.
 * * *
 51:47 And the heaven, We raised it high with power, and We are Makers of the vast extent.
 51:48 And the earth, We have spread it out. How well We prepared it!
 51:49 And of everything We have created pairs that you may be mindful.
 51:50 So flee to Allah. Surely I am a plain warner to you from Him.
 51:51 And do not set up with Allah another god. Surely I am a plain warner to you from Him.
 51:52 Thus there came not a messenger to those before them but they said: An enchanter or a madman!
 51:53 Have they charged each other with this? Nay, they are an inordinate people.
 51:54 So turn away from them, for thou art not to blame;
 51:55 And remind, for reminding profits the believers.
 51:56 And I have not created the jinn and the men except that they should serve Me.
 51:57 I desire no sustenance from them, nor do I desire that they should feed Me.
 51:58 Surely Allah is the Bestower of sustenance, the Lord of Power, the Strong.
 51:59 Surely the lot of the wrongdoers is as was the lot of their companions, so let them not ask Me to hasten on.
 51:60 Woe, then, to those who disbelieve because of that day of theirs which they are promised!

KORAN CHAPTER 40 / Sura 52

The Mountain / Al-Tur
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 52:1 By the Mountain!
 52:2 And a Book written
 52:3 On unfolded vellum!
 52:4 And the frequented House,
 52:5 And the elevated canopy,
 52:6 And the swollen sea!
 52:7 The chastisement of thy Lord will surely come to pass —
 52:8 There is none to avert it;
 52:9 On the day when the heaven will be in a state of commotion,
 52:10 And the mountains will pass away, fleeing.
 52:11 Woe on that day to the deniers,
 52:12 Who amuse themselves by vain talk.
 52:13 The day when they are driven to hell-fire with violence.
 52:14 This is the Fire, which you gave the lie to.
 52:15 Is it magic or do you not see?
 52:16 Burn in it, then bear (it) patiently, or bear (it) not, it is the same to you. You are requited only for what you did.
 52:17 The dutiful will be surely in Gardens and bliss, 52:18 Rejoicing because of what their Lord has given them; and their Lord saved them from the chastisement of the burning Fire.
 52:19 Eat and drink with pleasure for what you did,
 52:20 Reclining on thrones set in lines, and We shall join them to pure beautiful ones.
 52:21 And those who believe and whose offspring follow them in faith — We unite with them their offspring and We shall deprive them of naught of their work. Every man is pledged for what he does.

 52:22 And We shall aid them with fruit and flesh, as they desire.
 52:23 They pass therein from one to another a cup, wherein is neither vanity, nor sin.
 52:24 And round them go boys of theirs as if they were hidden pearls.
 52:25 And they will advance to each other, questioning
 52:26 Saying: Surely we feared before on account of our families.
 52:27 But Allah has been gracious to us and He has saved us from the chastisement of the hot wind.
 52:28 Surely We called upon Him before. Surely, He is the Benign, the Merciful.
 * * *

52:29 So remind for, by the grace of thy Lord thou art no soothsayer, nor madman.
 52:30 Or say they: A poet — we wait for him the evil accidents of time.
 52:31 Say: Wait, I too wait along with you.
 52:32 Or do their understandings bid them this? Or are they an inordinate people?
 52:33 Or say they: He has forged it. Nay, they have no faith.
 52:34 Then let them bring a saying like it, if they are truthful.
 52:35 Or were they created without a (creative) agency? Or are they the creators?
 52:36 Or did they create the heavens and the earth? Nay, they are sure of nothing.
 52:37 Or have they the treasures of thy Lord with them? Or have they absolute authority?
 52:38 Or have they the means by which they listen? Then let their listener bring a clear authority.
 52:39 Or has He daughters and you have sons?
 52:40 Or askest thou a reward from them so that they are over-burdened by a debt?
 52:41 Or possess they the unseen, so they write (it) down?
 52:42 Or do they intend a plot? But those who disbelieve will be the ensnared ones in the plot.
 52:43 Or have they a god other than Allah? Glory be to Allah from what they set up (with Him)
 52:44 And if they were to see a portion of the heaven coming down, they would say: Piled-up clouds!
 52:45 Leave them then till they meet that day of theirs wherein they are smitten with punishment:
 52:46 The day when their struggle will avail them naught, nor will they be helped.
 52:47 And surely for those who do wrong there is a chastisement besides that; but most of them know not.
 52:48 And wait patiently for the judgement of thy Lord, for surely thou art before Our eyes, and celebrate the praise of thy Lord, when thou risest, 52:49 And in the night, give Him glory, too, and at the setting of the stars.

KORAN CHAPTER 41 / Sura 56

The Event (That Which is Coming) / Al-Waqi'ah
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 56:1 When the Event comes to pass —
 56:2 There is no belying its coming to pass-3 Abasing (some), exalting (others) —
 56:4 When the earth is shaken with a (severe) shaking,
 56:5 And the mountains are crumbled to pieces,
 56:6 So they are as scattered dust,
 56:7 And you are three sorts.
 56:8 So those on the right-hand how (happy) are those on the right-hand!
 56:9 And those on the left; how (wretched) are those on the left!
 56:10 And the foremost are the foremost — 56:11 These are drawn nigh (to Allah).
 56:12 In Gardens of bliss
 56:13 A multitude from among the first,
 56:14 And a few from among those of later times,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

56:15 On thrones inwrought,
 56:16 Reclining on them, facing each other.
 56:17 Round about them will go youths never altering in age,
 56:18 With goblets and ewers, and a cup of pure drink —
 56:19 They are not affected with headache thereby, nor are they intoxicated, 56:20 And fruits that they choose,
 56:21 And flesh of fowl that they desire,
 56:22 And pure, beautiful ones,
 56:23 Like to hidden pearls.
 56:24 A reward for what they did.
 56:25 They hear therein no vain or sinful talk —
 56:26 But only the saying, Peace! Peace!
 56:27 And those on the right hand; how (happy) are those on the right hand!
 56:28 Amid thornless lote-trees,
 56:29 And clustered banana-trees,
 56:30 And extensive shade,
 56:31 And water gushing,
 56:32 And abundant fruit.
 56:33 Neither intercepted, nor forbidden,
 56:34 And exalted couches.
 56:35 Surely We have created them a (new) creation,
 56:36 So We have made them virgins,
 56:37 Loving, equals in age,
 56:38 For those on the right hand.
 56:39 A multitude from among the first,
 56:40 And a multitude from among those of later times.
 * * *

56:41 And those on the left hand; how (wretched) are those on the left hand!
 56:42 In hot wind and boiling water,
 56:43 And shadow of black smoke,
 56:44 Neither cool nor refreshing.
 56:45 Surely they lived before that in ease.
 56:46 And they persisted in the great violation.
 56:47 And they used to say: When we die and become dust and bones, shall we then indeed be raised?
 56:48 Or our fathers of yore?
 56:49 Say: The ancients and those of later times
 56:50 Will surely be gathered together for the appointed hour of a known day.
 56:51 Then shall you, O you who err and deny,
 56:52 Eat of the tree of Zaqqum,
 56:53 And fill (your) bellies with it
 56:54 Then drink after it of boiling water;
 56:55 And drink as drinks the thirsty camel.
 56:56 This is their entertainment on the day of Requital.
 56:57 We have created you, why do you not then accept?
 56:58 See you that which you emit?
 56:59 Is it you that create it or are We the Creators?
 56:60 We have ordained death among you and We are not to be overcome, 56:61 That We may change your state and make you grow into what you know not.
 56:62 And certainly you know the first growth, why do you not then mind?
 56:63 See you what you sow?
 56:64 Is it you that cause it to grow, or are We the Causer of growth.
 56:65 If We pleased, We would make it chaff, then would you lament:
 56:66 Surely we are burdened with debt:
 56:67 Nay, we are deprived.
 56:68 See you the water which you drink?
 56:69 Do you bring it down from the clouds, or are We the Bringer?
 56:70 If We pleased, We could make it saltish; why give you not thanks?
 56:71 See you the fire which you kindle?
 56:72 Is it you that produce the trees for it, or are We the Producer?
 56:73 We have made it a reminder and an advantage for the wayfarers of the desert.

56:74 So glorify the name of thy Lord, the Incomparably Great.
 * * *

56:75 But nay, I swear by revelation of portions (of the Koran)
 56:76 And it is a great oath indeed, if you knew — 56:77 Surely it is a bounteous Koran,
 56:78 In a book that is protected,
 56:79 Which none touches save the purified ones.
 56:80 A revelation from the Lord of the worlds.
 56:81* Is it this announcement that you disdain?
 56:82* And make your denial your means of subsistence. —
 56:83 Why is it nor then that when it comes up to the throat, 56:84 And you at that time look on — 56:85 And We are nearer to it than you, but you see not — 56:86 Why then, if you are not held under authority,
 56:87 Do you not send it back, if you are truthful?
 56:88 Then if he is one of those drawn nigh (to Allah),
 56:89 Then happiness and bounty and a Garden of bliss.
 56:90 And if he is one of those on the right hand,
 56:91 Then peace to thee from those on the right hand.
 56:92 And if he is one of the rejectors, the erring ones,
 56:93 He has an entertainment of boiling water,
 56:94 And burning in hell.
 56:95 Surely this is a certain truth.
 56:96 So glorify the name of thy Lord. the Incomparably Great.

KORAN CHAPTER 42 / Sura 70

The Ways of Ascent (The Ladders) / Al-MaArij
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 70:1 A questioner asks about the chastisement to befall
 70:2 The disbelievers — there is none to avert it — 70:3 From Allah, Lord of the ways of Ascent.
 70:4 To Him ascend the angels and the Spirit in a day the measure of which is fifty thousand years.
 70:5 So be patient with a goodly patience.
 70:6 Surely they see it far off,
 70:7 And We see it nigh.
 70:8 The day when the heaven is as molten brass,
 70:9 And the mountains are as wool;
 70:10 And no friend will ask of friend,
 70:11 (Though) they are made to see them. The guilty one would fain redeem himself from the chastisement of that day by his children,
 70:12 And his wife and his brother,
 70:13 And his kin that gave him shelter,
 70:14 And all that are in the earth — then deliver him —
 70:15 By no means! Surely it is a flaming Fire,
 70:16 Plucking out the extremities —
 70:17 It shall claim him who retreats and turns his back,
 70:18 And hoards then withholds.
 70:19 Surely man is created impatient —
 70:20 Fretful when evil afflicts him,
 70:21 And niggardly when good befalls him —
 70:22 Except those who pray,
 70:23 Who are constant at their prayer,
 70:24 And in whose wealth there is a known right
 70:25 For the beggar and the destitute,
 70:26 And those who accept the truth of the day of Judgement:
 70:27 And those who are fearful of the chastisement of their Lord —
 70:28 Surely the chastisement of their Lord is (a thing) not to be felt secure from — 70:29 And those who restrain their sexual passions,
 70:30 Except in the presence of their mates or those whom their right hands possess — for such surely are not to be blamed, 70:31 But he who seeks to go beyond this, these are the transgressors.

 70:32 And those who are faithful to their trusts and their covenant, 70:33 And those who are upright in their testimonies,
 70:34 And those who keep a guard on their prayer.
 70:35 These are in Gardens, honoured.
 * * *

70:36 But what is the matter with those who disbelieve, that they hasten on to thee, 70:37 On the right hand and on the left, in sundry parties?
 70:38 Does every man of them desire to be admitted to the Garden of bliss?
 70:39 By no means! Surely We have created them for what they know.
 70:40 But nay I swear by the Lord of the Eastern lands and the Western lands that We are certainly Powerful 70:41 To bring in their place (others) better than them, and We shall not be overcome.
 70:42 So leave them alone to plunge in vain talk and to sport, until they come face to face with that day of theirs which they are promised — 70:43 The day when they come forth from the graves in haste, as hastening on to a goal, 70:44 Their eyes cast down, disgrace covering them. Such is the day which they are promised.

KORAN CHAPTER 43 / Sura 55

The Beneficent (The Merciful) / Al-Rahman
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 55:1 The Beneficent
 55:2 Taught the Koran.
 55:3 He created man,
 55:4 Taught him expression.
 55:5 The sun and the moon follow a reckoning,
 55:6 And the herbs and the trees adore (Him).
 55:7 And the heaven, He raised it high, and He set up the measure,
 55:8 That you may not exceed the measure,
 55:9 And keep up the balance with equity, nor fall short in the measure.
 55:10 And the earth, He has set it for (His) creatures;
 55:11 Therein is fruit and palms having sheathed clusters,
 55:12 And the grain with (its) husk and fragrance.
 55:13 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?
 55:14 He created man from dry clay like earthen vessels,
 55:15 And He created the jinn of a flame of fire.
 55:16 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?
 55:17 Lord of the two Easts, and Lord of the two Wests.
 55:18 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?
 55:19 He has made the two seas to flow freely they meet:
 55:20 Between them is a barrier which they cannot pass.
 55:21 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?
 55:22 There come forth from them both, pearls large and small.
 55:23 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?
 55:24 And His are the ships reared aloft in the sea like mountains.
 55:25 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?
 * * *

55:26 Every one on it passes away —
 55:27 And there endures for ever the person of thy Lord, the Lord of glory and honour.
 55:28 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

55:29 All those in the heavens and the earth ask of Him. Every moment He is in a state (of glory).

55:30 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:31 Soon shall We apply Ourselves to you, O you two armies.

55:32 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:33 O assembly of jinn and men, if you are able to pass through the regions of the heavens and the earth, then pass through. You cannot pass through but with authority.

55:34 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:35 The flames of fire and sparks of brass will be sent upon you, then you will not be able to defend yourselves.

55:36 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:37 So when the heaven is rent asunder, so it becomes red like red hide.

55:38 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:39 So on that day neither man nor jinni will be asked about his sin.

55:40 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:41 The guilty will be known by their marks, so they shall be seized by the forelocks and the feet.

55:42 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:43 This is the hell which the guilty deny.

55:44 Round about shall they go between it and hot, boiling water.

55:45 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:46 And for him who fears to stand before his Lord are two Gardens.

55:47 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:48 Full of varieties,

55:49 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:50 Therein are two fountains flowing.

55:51 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:52 Therein are pairs of every fruit.

55:53 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:54 Reclining on beds, whose inner coverings are of silk brocade. And the fruits of the two Gardens are within reach.

55:55 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:56 Therein are those restraining their glances, whom no man nor jinni has touched before them.

55:57 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:58 As though they were rubies and pearls.

55:59 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:60 Is the reward of goodness aught but goodness?

55:61 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:62 And besides those are two (other) Gardens.

55:63 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:64 Inclining to blackness.

55:65 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:66 Therein are two springs gushing forth.

55:67 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:68 Therein are fruits and palms and pomegranates.

55:69 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:70 Therein are goodly beautiful ones.

55:71 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:72 Pure ones confined to pavilions.

55:73 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:74 Before them man has not touched them, nor jinni.

55:75 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:76 Reclining on green cushions and beautiful carpets.

55:77 Which then of the bounties of your Lord will you deny?

55:78 Blessed be the name of thy Lord, the Lord of Glory and Honour!

KORAN CHAPTER 44 / Sura 112

The Unity (The One God) / Al-Ikhlâs

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

112:1 Say: He, Allah, is One.

112:2 Allah is He on Whom all depend.

112:3 He begets not, nor is He begotten;

112:4 And none is like Him.

KORAN CHAPTER 45 / Sura 109

The Kafirs (The Disbelievers, Unbelievers, Non-Believers, Non-Muslims) / Al-Kafirun

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

109:1 Say: O disbelievers,

109:2 I serve not that which you serve,

109:3 Nor do you serve Him Whom I serve,

109:4 Nor shall I serve that which ye serve,

109:5 Nor do you serve Him Whom I serve.

109:6 For you is your recompense and for me my recompense.

KORAN CHAPTER 46 / Sura 113

The Dawn (The Daybreak) / Al-Falaq

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

113:1 Say: I seek refuge in the Lord of the dawn,

113:2 From the evil of that which He has created,

113:3 And from the evil of intense darkness, when it comes,

113:4 And from the evil of those who cast (evil suggestions) in firm resolutions, 113:5 And from the evil of the envier when he envies.

KORAN CHAPTER 47 / 114

The Men / Al-Nas

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

114:1 Say I seek refuge in the Lord of men,

114:2 The King of men,

114:3 The God of men,

114:4 From the evil of the whisperings of the stinking (devil),

114:5 Who whispers into the hearts of men,

114:6 From among the jinn and the men.

KORAN CHAPTER 48 / Sura 1

The Praise (The Opening) / Al-Fatihah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

1:1 Praise be to God, the Lord of the worlds,

1:2 The Beneficent, the Merciful,

1:3 Master of the day of Requital.

1:4 Thee do we serve and Thee do we beseech for help.

1:5 Guide us on the right path,

1:6 The path of those upon whom Thou hast bestowed favours,

1:7 Not those upon whom wrath is brought down, nor those who go astray.

GROUP 2 (Mohammed's 6th and 7th years as preacher, 21 SURAS): 54, 37, 71, 76, 44, 50, 20, 26, 15, 19, 38, 36, 43, 72, 67, 23, 21, 25, 17, 27, 18.

KORAN CHAPTER 49 / Sura 54

The Moon / Al-Qamar

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

54:1 The hour drew nigh and the moon was rent asunder.

54:2 And if they see a sign, they turn away and say: Strong enchantment!

54:3 And they deny and follow their low desires; and every affair is settled.

54:4 And certainly narratives have come to them, which should deter —

54:5 Consummate wisdom but warnings avail not;

54:6 So turn away from them. On the day when the Inviter invites them to a hard task —

54:7 Their eyes cast down, they will go forth from their graves as if they were scattered locusts, 54:8 Hastening to the Inviter. The disbelievers will say: This is a hard day!

54:9 Before them the people of Noah rejected — they rejected Our servant and called (him) mad, and he was driven away.

54:10 So he called upon his Lord: I am overcome, so do Thou help.

54:11 Then We opened the gates of heaven with water pouring down,

54:12 And made water to flow forth in the land in springs, so the water gathered together according to a measure already ordained.

54:13 And We bore him on that which was made of planks and nails, 54:14 Floating on, before Our eyes — a reward for him who was denied.

54:15 And certainly We left it as a sign, but is there any that will mind?

54:16 How terrible was then My chastisement and My warning!

54:17 And certainly We have made the Koran easy to remember, but is there any one who will mind?

54:18 Ad denied, so how terrible was My chastisement and My warning!

54:19 Surely We sent on them a furious wind in a day of bitter ill-luck, 54:20 Tearing men away as if they were the trunks of palm-trees torn up.

54:21 How terrible was then My chastisement and My warning!

54:22 And certainly We have made the Koran easy to remember, but is there any one who will mind?

54:23 Thamud rejected the warning.

54:24 So they said: What! A single mortal from among us! Shall we follow him? We shall then be in sure error and distress.

54:25 Has the reminder been sent to him from among us? Nay, he is an insolent liar!

54:26 To-morrow they will know who is the liar, the insolent one.

54:27 Surely We are going to send the she-camel as a trial for them; so watch them and have patience.

54:28 And inform them that the water is shared between them; every share of the water shall be attended.

54:29 But they called their companion, so he took (a sword) and hamstrung (her).

54:30 How (terrible) was then My chastisement and My warning!

54:31 Surely We sent upon them a single cry, so they were like the dry fragments of trees, which the maker of an enclosure collects.

54:32 And certainly We have made the Koran easy to remember, but is there any one who will mind?

54:33 The people of Lot treated the warning as a lie.

54:34 Surely We sent upon them a stone-storm, except Lot's followers; We saved them a little before daybreak —

54:35 A favour from Us. Thus do We reward him who gives thanks.

54:36 And certainly he warned them of Our violent seizure, but they disputed the warning.

54:37 And certainly they endeavoured to turn him from his guests, but We blinded their eyes so taste My chastisement and My warning.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

- 54:38 And certainly a lasting chastisement overtook them in the morning.
 54:39 So taste My chastisement and My warning.
 54:40 And certainly We have made the Koran easy to remember, but is there any one who will mind?
 * * *
- 54:41 And certainly the warning came to Pharaoh's people.
 54:42 They rejected all Our signs, so We overtook them with the seizing of the Mighty, the Powerful.
 54:43 Are your disbelievers better than these, or have you an immunity in the scriptures?
 54:44* Or say they We are a host allied together to help each other?
 54:45* Soon shall the hosts be routed, and they will show (their) backs.
 54:46* Nay, the Hour is their promised time, and the Hour is most grievous and bitter, 54:47 Surely the guilty are in error and distress,
 54:48 On the day when they are dragged into the Fire upon their faces: Taste the touch of hell.
 54:49 Surely We have created everything according to a measure.
 54:50 And Our command is but once, as the twinkling of an eye.
 54:51 And certainly We destroyed your fellows, but is there any one who will mind?
 54:52 And everything they do is in the writings.
 54:53 And everything small and great is written down.
 54:54 Surely the dutiful will be among Gardens and rivers, 54:55 In the seat of truth, with a most Powerful King.
- KORAN CHAPTER 50 / Sura 37
 Those Ranging in Ranks (The Rangers) / Al-Saffat
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 37:1 By those ranging in ranks,
 37:2 And those who restrain holding in restraint,
 37:3 And those who recite the Reminder,
 37:4 Surely your God is One.
 37:5 The Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, and the Lord of the eastern lands.
 37:6 Surely We have adorned the lower heaven with an adornment, the stars, 37:7 And (there is) a safeguard against every rebellious devil.
 37:8 They cannot listen to the exalted assembly and they are reproached from every side,
 37:9 Driven off; and for them is a perpetual chastisement,
 37:10 Except him who snatches away but once, then there follows him a brightly shining flame.
 37:11 So ask them whether they are stronger in creation or those (others) whom We have created. Surely We created them of firm clay.
 37:12 Nay, thou wonderest, while they mock,
 37:13 And when they are reminded, they mind not,
 37:14 And when they see a sign, they seek to scoff,
 37:15 And say: This is nothing but clear enchantment.
 37:16 When we are dead and have become dust and bones; shall we then be raised,
 37:17 Or our fathers of yore?
 37:18 Say: Yea, and you will be humiliated.
 37:19 So it will be but one cry, when lo! they will see.
 37:20 And they will say: O woe to us! This is the day of Requital.
 37:21 This is the day of Judgement, which you called a lie.
 * * *
- 37:22 Gather together those who did wrong and their associates, and what they worshipped 37:23 Besides Allah, then lead them to the way to hell.
 37:24 And stop them, for they shall be questioned:
 37:25 What is the matter with you that you help not one another?
 37:26 Nay, on that day they will be submissive.
 37:27 And some of them will turn to others mutually questioning —
 37:28 Saying: Surely you used to come to us from the right side.
 37:29 They will say: Nay, you (yourselves) were not believers.
 37:30 And we had no authority over you, but you were an inordinate people.
 37:31 So the word of our Lord has proved true against us: we shall surely taste.
 37:32 We led you astray, for we ourselves were erring.
 37:33 So, that day they will be sharers in the chastisement.
 37:34 Thus do We deal with the guilty.
 37:35 They indeed were arrogant, when it was said to them: There is no god but Allah;
 37:36 And said: Shall we give up our gods for a mad poet?
 37:37 Nay, he has brought the Truth and verifies the messengers.
 37:38 Surely you will taste the painful chastisement.
 37:39 And you are requited naught but for what you did — 37:40 Save the servants of Allah, the purified ones.
 37:41 For them is a known sustenance:
 37:42 Fruits. And they are honoured,
 37:43 In Gardens of delight,
 37:44 On thrones, facing each other.
 37:45 A bowl of running water will be made to go round them,
 37:46 White, delicious to those who drink.
 37:47 It deprives not of reason, nor are they exhausted therewith.
 37:48 And with them are those modest in gaze, having beautiful eyes, 37:49 As if they were eggs, carefully protected.
 37:50 Then some of them will turn to others, questioning mutually.
 37:51 A speaker of them will say: Surely I had a comrade, 37:52 Who said: Art thou indeed of those who accept?
 37:53 When we are dead and have become dust and bones, shall we then be requited?
 37:54 He will say: Will you look?
 37:55 Then he looked down and saw him in the midst of hell.
 37:56 He will say: By Allah! thou hadst almost caused me to perish
 37:57 And had it not been for favour of my Lord, I should have been among those brought up.
 37:58 Are we not to die,
 37:59 Except our previous death? And are we not to be chastised?
 37:60 Surely this is the mighty achievement.
 37:61 For the like of this, then, let the workers work.
 37:62 Is this the better entertainment or the tree of Zaqqum?
 37:63 Surely We have made it a trial for the wrongdoers.
 37:64 It is a tree that grows in the bottom of hell —
 37:65 Its produce is as it were the heads of serpents.
 37:66 Then truly they will eat of it and fill (their) bellies with it.
 37:67 Then surely they shall have after it a drink of boiling water.
 37:68 Then their return is surety to the flaming Fire.
 37:69 They indeed found their fathers astray,
 37:70 So in their footsteps they are hastening on.
 37:71 And most of the ancients surely went astray before them,
 37:72 And indeed We sent among them warners.
 37:73 Then see what was the end of those warned —
 37:74 Except the servants of Allah, the purified ones.
 * * *
- 37:75 And Noah certainly called upon Us, and excellent Answerer of prayers are We!
 37:76 And We delivered him and his people from the great distress;
 37:77 And made his offspring the survivors,
 37:78 And left for him (praise) among the later generations,
 37:79 Peace be to Noah among the nations!
 37:80 Thus indeed do We reward the doers of good.
 37:81 Surely he was of Our believing servants.
 37:82 Then We drowned the others.
 37:83 And surely of his party was Abraham.
 37:84 When he came to his Lord with a secure heart.
 37:85 When he said to his sire and his people: What is it that you worship?
 37:86 A lie — gods besides Allah do you desire?
 37:87 What is then your idea about the Lord of the worlds?
 37:88 Then he glanced a glance at the stars,
 37:89 And said: Surely I am sick (of your deities).
 37:90 So they turned their backs on him, going away.
 37:91 Then he turned to their gods and said: Do you not eat?
 37:92 What is the matter with you that you speak not?
 37:93 So he turned upon them, smiting with the right hand.
 37:94 Then they came to him, hastening.
 37:95 He said: Do you worship that which you hew out?
 37:96 And Allah has created you and what you make.
 37:97 They said: Build for him a building, then cast him into the flaming fire.
 37:98 And they designed a plan against him, but We brought them low.
 37:99 And he said: Surely I flee to my Lord — He will guide me.
 37:100 My Lord, grant me a doer of good deeds.
 37:101 So We gave him the good news of a forbearing son.
 37:102 But when he became of (age to) work with him, he said: O my son, I have seen in a dream that I should sacrifice thee: so consider what thou seest. He said: O my father, do as thou art commanded; if Allah please, thou wilt find me patient.
 37:103 So when they both submitted and he had thrown him down upon his forehead,
 37:104 And We called out to him saying, O Abraham, 37:105 Thou hast indeed fulfilled the vision. Thus do We reward the doers of good.
 37:106 Surely this is a manifest trial.
 37:107 And We ransomed him with a great sacrifice.
 37:108 And We granted him among the later generations (the salutation), 37:109 Peace be to Abraham!
 37:110 Thus do We reward the doers of good.
 37:111 Surely he was one of Our believing servants.
 37:112 And We gave him the good news of Isaac, a prophet, a righteous one.
 37:113 And We blessed him and Isaac. And of their offspring some are doers of good, but some are clearly unjust to themselves.
 * * *
- 37:114 And certainly We conferred a favour on Moses and Aaron.
 37:115 And We delivered them, and their people from the mighty distress.
 37:116 And We helped them, so they were the vanquishers.
 37:117 And We gave them both the clear Book.
 37:118 And We guided them on the right way.
 37:119 And We granted them among the later generations (the salutation), 37:120 Peace be to Moses and Aaron!
 37:121 Thus do We reward the doers of good.
 37:122 Surely they were both of Our believing servants.
 37:123 And Elias was surely of those sent.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

37:124 When he said to his people: Will you not guard against evil?

37:125 Do you call upon Ba'1 and forsake the Best of the creators, 37:126 Allah, your Lord and the Lord of your fathers of yore?

37:127 But they rejected him, so they shall be brought up,

37:128 But not the servants of Allah, the purified ones.

37:129 And We granted him among the later generations (the salutation), 37:130 Peace be to Elias!

37:131 Even thus We reward the doers of good.

37:132 Surely he was one of Our believing servants.

37:133 And Lot was surely of those sent.

37:134 When We delivered him and his people, all —

37:135 Except an old woman among those who remained behind.

37:136 Then We destroyed the others.

37:137 And surely you pass by them in the morning,

37:138 And at night. Do you not then understand?

37:139 And Jonah was surely of those sent.

37:140 When he fled to the laden ship,

37:141 So he shared with others but was of those cast away.

37:142 So the fish took him into its mouth while he was blamable.

37:143 But had he not been of those who glorify (Us),

37:144 He would have tarried in its belly till the day when they are raised.

37:145 Then We cast him on the naked shore, while he was sick.

37:146 And We caused a gourd to grow up for him.

37:147 And We sent him to a hundred thousand or more.

37:148 And they believed, so We gave them provision till a time.

37:149 Now ask them whether thy Lord has daughters and they have sons?

37:150 Or did We create the angels females, while they witnessed?

37:151 Now surely it is of their own lie that they say:

37:152 Allah has begotten. And truly they are liars.

37:153 Has He preferred daughters to sons?

37:154 What is the matter with you? How you judge!

37:155 Will you not then mind?

37:156 Or have you a clear authority?

37:157 Then bring your Book, if you are truthful.

37:158 And they assert a relationship between Him and the jinn. And certainly the jinn know that they will be brought up (for judgement) —

37:159 Glory be to Allah from what they describe!

37:160 But not so the servants of Allah, the purified ones.

37:161 So surely you and that which you serve,

37:162 Not against Him can you cause (any) to fall into trial,

37:163 Save him who will burn in the flaming Fire.

37:164 And there is none of us but has an assigned place,

37:165 And verily we are ranged in ranks,

37:166 And we truly glorify (Him).

37:167 And surely they used to say:

37:168 Had we a reminder from those of yore,

37:169 We would have been sincere servants of Allah.

37:170 But (now) they disbelieve in it, so they will come to know.

37:171 And certainly Our word has already gone forth to Our servants, to those sent,

37:172 That they, surely they, will be helped,

37:173 And Our hosts, surely they, will be triumphant.

37:174 So turn away from them till a time,

37:175 And watch them, they too will see.

37:176 Would they hasten on Our chastisement?

37:177 So when it descends in their court, evil will be the morning of the warned ones.

37:178 And turn away from them till a time,

37:179 And watch, for they too will see.

37:180 Glory be to thy Lord, the Lord of Might, above what they describe

37:181 And peace be to those sent

37:182 And praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds!

KORAN CHAPTER 51 / Sura 71

Noah / Nuh

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

71:1 Surely We sent Noah to his people, saying: Warn thy people before there come to them a painful chastisement.

71:2 He said: O my people, surely I am a plain warmer to you:

71:3 That you should serve Allah and keep your duty to Him and obey me —

71:4 He will forgive you some of your sins and grant you respite to an appointed term. Surely the term of Allah, when it comes, is not postponed. Did you but know!

71:5 He said: My Lord, I have called my people night and day:

71:6 But my call has only made them flee the more.

71:7 And whenever I call to them that Thou mayest forgive them, they thrust their fingers in their ears and cover themselves with their garments, and persist and are big with pride.

71:8 Then surely I have called to them aloud,

71:9 Then spoken to them in public and spoken to them in private,

71:10 So I have said: Ask forgiveness of your Lord; surely He is ever Forgiving:

71:11 He will send down upon you rain, pouring in abundance,

71:12 And help you with wealth and sons, and make for you gardens, and make for you rivers.

71:13 What is the matter with you that you hope not for greatness from Allah?

71:14 And indeed He has created you by various stages.

71:15 See you not how Allah has created the seven heavens alike,

71:16 And made the moon therein a light, and made the sun a lamp?

71:17 And Allah has caused you to grow out of the earth as a growth, 71:18 Then He returns you to it, then will He bring you forth a (new) bringing forth.

71:19 And Allah has made the earth a wide expanse for you;

71:20 That you may go along therein in spacious paths.

71:21 Noah said: My Lord, surely they disobey me and follow him whose wealth and children have increased him in naught but loss.

71:22 And they have planned a mighty plan.

71:23 And they say: Forsake not your gods; nor forsake Wadd, nor Suwa', nor Yaguth and YaUq and Nasr.

71:24 And indeed they have led many astray. And increase Thou the wrongdoers in naught but perdition.

71:25 Because of their wrongs they were drowned, then made to enter Fire, so they found no helpers besides Allah.

71:26 And Noah said My Lord, leave not of the disbelievers any dweller on the land.

71:27 For if Thou leave them, they will lead astray Thy servants, and will not beget any but immoral, ungrateful ones.

71:28 My Lord, forgive me and my parents and him who enters my house believing, and the believing men and the believing women. And increase nor the wrongdoers in aught but destruction!

KORAN CHAPTER 52 / Sura 76

Man / Al-Insan

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

76:1 Surely there came over man a time when he was not thing that could be mentioned.

76:2 Surely We have created man from sperm mixed (with ovum), to try him, so We have made him hearing, seeing.

76:3 We have truly shown him the way; he may be thankful or unthankful.

76:4 Surely we have prepared for the disbelievers chains and shackles and a burning Fire.

76:5 The righteous truly drink of a cup tempered with camphor —

76:6 A fountain from which the servants of Allah drink, making it flow in abundance.

76:7 They fulfil vows and fear a day, the evil of which is widespread.

76:8 And they give food, out of love for Him, to the poor and the orphan and the captive.

76:9 We feed you, for Allah's pleasure only We desire from you neither reward nor thanks.

76:10 Surely we fear from our Lord a stern, distressful day.

76:11 So Allah will ward off from them the evil of that day, and cause them to meet with splendour and happiness;

76:12 And reward them, for their steadfastness, with a Garden and with silk, 76:13 Reclining therein on raised couches; they will see therein neither (excessive heat of) sun nor intense cold.

76:14 And close down upon them are its shadows, and its fruits are made near (to them), easy to reach.

76:15 And round about them are made to go vessels of silver and goblets of glass, 76:16 Crystal-clear, made of silver — they have measured them according to a measure.

76:17 And they are made to drink therein a cup tempered with ginger —

76:18 (Of) a fountain therein called Salsabil.

76:19 And round about them will go youths, never altering in age; when thou seest them thou wilt think them to be scattered pearls.

76:20 And when thou lookest thither, thou seest blessings and a great kingdom.

76:21 On them are garments of fine green silk and thick brocade, and they are adorned with bracelets of silver, and their Lord makes them to drink a pure drink.

76:22 Surely this is a reward for you, and your striving is recompensed.

76:23 Surely We have revealed the Koran to thee, in portions.

76:24 So wait patiently for the judgement of thy Lord, and obey not a sinner or an ungrateful one among them.

76:25 And glorify the name of thy Lord morning and evening.

76:26 And during part of the night adore Him, and glorify Him throughout a long night.

76:27 Surely these love the transitory life and neglect a grievous day before them.

76:28 We created them and made firm their make, and, when We will, We can bring in their place the like of them by change.

76:29 Surely this is a Reminder; so whoever will, let him take a way to his Lord.

76:30 And you will not, unless Allah please. Surely Allah is ever Knowing, Wise.

76:31 He admits whom He pleases to His mercy; and the wrongdoers — He has prepared for them a painful chastisement.

KORAN CHAPTER 53 / Sura 44

The Drought / Al-Dukhan

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

44:1 Beneficent God!

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

44:2 By the Book that makes manifest!
 44:3 We revealed it On a blessed night truly We are ever warning.
 44:4 Therein is made clear every affair full of wisdom —
 44:5 A command from Us — truly We are ever sending messengers —
 44:6 A mercy from thy Lord — truly He is the Hearing, the Knowing, 44:7 The Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, if you would be sure.
 44:8 There is no God but He; He gives life and causes death — your Lord and the Lord of your fathers of yore.
 44:9 Nay, in doubt they sport.
 44:10 So wait for the day when the heaven brings a clear drought, 44:11 Enveloping men. This is a painful chastisement.
 44:12 Our Lord, remove from us the chastisement — surely we are believers.
 44:13 When will they be reminded? And a Messenger has indeed come, making clear:
 44:14* Yet they turned away from him and said: One taught (by others), a madman!
 44:15 We shall remove the chastisement a little, (but you will surely return (to evil)).
 44:16 On the day when We seize (them) with the most violent seizing surely We shall exact retribution.
 44:17 And certainly We tried before them Pharaoh's people and a noble messenger came to them, 44:18 Saying: Deliver to me the servants of Allah. Surely I am a faithful messenger to you.
 44:19 And exalt not yourselves against Allah. Surely I bring to you a clear authority.
 44:20 And I take refuge with my Lord and your Lord, lest you stone me to death.
 44:21 And if you believe not in me, leave me alone.
 44:22 Then he called upon his Lord: These are a guilty people.
 44:23 So go forth with My servants by night; surely you will be pursued, 44:24 And leave the sea behind calm. Surely they are a host to be drowned.
 44:25 How many the gardens and springs they left behind!
 44:26 And cornfields and noble places!
 44:27 And goodly things wherein they rejoiced!
 44:28 Thus (it was). And We made other people inherit them.
 44:29 So the heaven and the earth wept not for them, nor were they respited.

 44:30 And We indeed delivered the Children of Israel from the abasing chastisement, 44:31 From Pharaoh. Surely he was haughty, prodigal.
 44:32 And certainly We chose them above the nations, having knowledge.
 44:33 And We gave them signs wherein was clear blessing.
 44:34 These do indeed say:
 44:35 There is naught but our first death and we shall not be raised again.
 44:36 So bring our fathers (back), if you are truthful.
 44:37 Are they better or the people of Tubba', and those before them? We destroyed them, for surely they were guilty.
 44:38 And We did not create the heavens and the earth and that which is between them in sport.
 44:39 We created them not but with truth, but most of them know not.
 44:40 Surely the day of Decision is the term for them all, 44:41 The day when friend will avail friend in naught, nor will they be helped — 44:42 Save those on whom Allah has mercy. Surely He is the Mighty, the Merciful.

44:43 Surely the tree of Zaqqum
 44:44 Is the food of the sinful,
 44:45 Like molten brass; it seethes in (their) bellies
 44:46 Like boiling water.
 44:47 Seize him, then drag him into the midst of hell;
 44:48 Then pour on his head of the torment of boiling water —
 44:49 Taste — thou art forsooth the mighty, the honourable!
 44:50 Surely this is what you doubted.
 44:51 Those who keep their duty are indeed in a secure place —
 44:52 In gardens and springs,
 44:53 Wearing fine and thick silk, facing one another —
 44:54 Thus (shall it be). And We shall join them to pure, beautiful ones.
 44:55 They call therein for every fruit in security —
 44:56 They taste not therein death, except the first death; and He will save them from the chastisement of hell —
 44:57 A grace from thy Lord. This is the great achievement.
 44:58 So We have made it easy in thy tongue that they may mind.
 44:59 Wait then; surely they (too) are waiting.

KORAN CHAPTER 54 / Sura 50

Qaf (Arabic letter denoting a k- or g-sound, Roman: q, which refers to the Koran = Quran as this chapter begins and ends by mentioning the "Koran")
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 50:1 Almighty (God)! By the glorious Koran!
 50:2 Nay, they wonder that a warner has come to them from among themselves; so the disbelievers say: This is a wonderful thing
 50:3 When we die and become dust that is a far return.
 50:4 We know indeed what the earth diminishes of them and with Us is a book that preserves.
 50:5 Nay, they reject the Truth when it comes to them, so they are in a state of confusion.
 50:6 Do they not look at the sky above them? — how We have made it and adorned it and it has no gaps.
 50:7 And the earth, We have spread it out, and cast therein mountains, and We have made to grow therein of every beautiful kind —
 50:8 To give sight and as a reminder to every servant who turns (to Allah).
 50:9 And We send down from the clouds water abounding in good, then We cause to grow thereby gardens and the grain that is reaped,
 50:10 And the tall palm-trees having flower spikes piled one above another —
 50:11 A sustenance for the servants, and We give life thereby to a dead land. Thus is the rising.
 50:12 Before them the people of Noah rejected (the Truth) and (so did) the dwellers of al-Rass and Thamud
 50:13 And Ad and Pharaoh and Lot's brethren,
 50:14 And the dwellers of the grove and the people of Tubba'. They all rejected the messengers, so My threat came to pass.
 50:15 Were We then fatigued with the first creation? Yet they are in doubt about a new creation.

 50:16 And certainly We created man, and We know what his mind suggests to him — and We are nearer to him than his life-vein.
 50:17 When the two receivers receive, sitting on the right and on the left,
 50:18 He utters not a word but there is by him a watcher at hand.
 50:19 And the stupor of death comes in truth; that is what thou wouldst shun.
 50:20 And the trumpet is blown. That is the day of threatening.

50:21 And every soul comes, with it a driver and a witness.
 50:22 Thou wast indeed heedless of this, but now We have removed from thee thy veil, so thy sight is sharp this day.
 50:23 And his companion will say: This is what is ready with me.
 50:24 Cast into hell every ungrateful, rebellious one,
 50:25 Forbidder of good, exceeeder of limits, doubter,
 50:26 Who sets up another god with Allah, so cast him into severe chastisement.
 50:27 His companion will say: Our Lord, I did not cause him to rebel but he himself went far in error.
 50:28 He will say: Dispute not in My presence, and indeed I gave you warning beforehand.
 50:29 My sentence cannot be changed, nor am I in the least unjust to the servants.

 50:30 On the day when We say to hell: Art thou filled up? And it will say: Are there any more?
 50:31 And the Garden is brought near for those who guard against evil — (it is) not distant.
 50:32 This is what you are promised — for every one turning (to Allah), keeping (the limits) —
 50:33 Who fears the Beneficent in secret, and comes with a penitent heart:
 50:34 Enter it in peace. That is the day of abiding.
 50:35 For them therein is all they wish, and with Us is yet more.
 50:36 And how many a generation We destroyed before them who were mightier in prowess than they! so they went about in the lands. Is there a place of refuge?
 50:37 Surely there is a reminder in this for him who has a heart or he gives ear and is a witness.
 50:38* And certainly We created the heavens and the earth and what is between them in six periods, and no fatigue touched Us.
 50:39 So bear with what they say, and celebrate the praise of thy Lord before the rising of the sun and before the setting.
 50:40 And glorify Him in the night and after prostration.
 50:41 And listen on the day when the crier cries from a near place —
 50:42 The day when they hear the cry in truth. That is the day of coming forth.
 50:43 Surely We give life and cause to die, and to Us is the eventual coming — 50:44 The day when the earth cleaves asunder from them, hastening forth. That is a gathering easy to Us.
 50:45 We know best what they say, and thou art not one to compel them. So remind by means of the Koran him who fears My threat.

KORAN CHAPTER 55 / Sura 20

Ta Ha (The Ta-Ha is an Arabic letter combination whose original significance is unknown. The Tafsir (exegesis) has interpreted Ta-Ha as abbreviation for either names or qualities of God)
 In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.
 20:1 O man,
 20:2 We have not revealed the Koran to thee that thou mayest be unsuccessful;
 20:3 But it is a reminder to him who fears:
 20:4 A revelation from Him Who created the earth and the high heavens.
 20:5 The Beneficent is established on the Throne of Power.
 20:6 To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth and whatever is between them and whatever is beneath the soil.
 20:7 And if thou utter the saying aloud, surely He knows the secret, and what is yet more hidden.
 20:8 Allah there is no God but He. His are the most beautiful names.
 20:9 And has the story of Moses come to thee?

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

20:10 When he saw a fire, he said to his people: Stay, I see a fire; haply I may bring to you therefrom a live coal or find guidance at the fire.

20:11 So when he came to it, a voice came: O Moses,

20:12 Surely I am thy Lord, so take off thy shoes; surely thou art in the sacred valley Tuwa.

20:13 And I have chosen thee so listen to what is revealed:

20:14 Surely I am Allah, there is no God but I, so serve Me, and keep up prayer for My remembrance, 20:15 Surely the Hour is coming — I am about to make it manifest — so that every soul may be rewarded as it strives.

20:16 So let not him, who believes not in it and follows his low desire, turn thee away from it, lest thou perish.

20:17 And what is this in thy right hand, O Moses?

20:18 He said: This is my staff I lean on it, and I beat the leaves with it for my sheep, and I have other uses for it.

20:19 He said: Cast it down, O Moses.

20:20 So he cast it down, and lo! it was a serpent, gliding.

20:21 He said: Seize it and fear not. We shall return it to its former state.

20:22 And press thy hand to thy side, it will come out white without evil — another sign:

20:23 That We may show thee of Our greater signs.

20:24 Go to Pharaoh, surely he has exceeded the limits.

20:25 He said: My Lord, expand my breast for me:

20:26 And ease my affair for me:

20:27 And loose the knot from my tongue,

20:28 (That) they may understand my word.

20:29 And give to me an aider from my family:

20:30 Aaron, my brother;

20:31 Add to my strength by him,

20:32 And make him share my task —

20:33 So that we may glorify Thee much,

20:34 And much remember Thee.

20:35 Surely, Thou art ever Seeing us.

20:36 He said: Thou art indeed granted thy petition, O Moses.

20:37 And indeed We bestowed on thee a favour at another time,

20:38 When We revealed to thy mother that which was revealed:

20:39 Put him into a chest, then cast it into the river, the river will cast it upon the shore — there an enemy to Me and an enemy to him shall take him up. And I shed on thee love from Me; and that thou mayest be brought up before My eyes.

20:40 When thy sister went and said: Shall I direct you to one who will take charge of him? So We brought thee back to thy mother that her eye might be cooled and she should not grieve. And thou didst kill a man, then We delivered thee from grief, and tried thee with (many) trials. Then thou didst stay for years among the people of Midian. Then thou camest hither as ordained, O Moses.

20:41 And I have chosen thee for Myself.

20:42 Go thou and thy brother with My messages and be not remiss in remembering Me.

20:43 Go both of you to Pharaoh, surely he is inordinate;

20:44 Then speak to him a gentle word, haply he may mind or fear.

20:45 They said: Our Lord, we fear lest he hasten to do evil to us or be inordinate.

20:46 He said: Fear not, surely I am with you — I do hear and see.

20:47 So go you to him and say: Surely we are two messengers of thy Lord; so send forth the Children of Israel with us; and torment them not. Indeed we have brought to thee a message from thy Lord, and peace to him who follows the guidance.

20:48 It has indeed been revealed to us that punishment will overtake him who rejects and turns away.

20:49 (Pharaoh) said: Who is your Lord, O Moses?

20:50 He said: Our Lord is He Who gives to everything its creation, then guides (it).

20:51 He said: What then is the state of the former generations?

20:52 He said: The knowledge thereof is with my Lord in a book; my Lord neither errs nor forgets —

20:53 Who made the earth for you an expanse and made for you therein paths and sent down water from the clouds. Then thereby We bring forth pairs of various herbs.

20:54 Eat and pasture your cattle. Surely there are signs in this for men of understanding.

20:55 From it We created you, and into it We shall return you, and from it raise you a second time.

20:56 And truly We showed him all Our signs but he rejected and refused.

20:57 Said he: Hast thou come to us to turn us out of our land by thy enchantment, O Moses?

20:58 We too can bring to thee enchantment like it, so make an appointment between us and thee, which we break not, (neither) we nor thou, (in) a central place.

20:59 (Moses) said: Your appointment is the day of the Festival, and let the people be gathered in the early forenoon.

20:60 So Pharaoh went back and settled his plan, then came.

20:61 Moses said to them: Woe to you! Forge not a lie against Allah, lest He destroy you by punishment, and he fails indeed who forges (a lie).

20:62 So they disputed one with another about their affair and kept the discourse secret.

20:63 They said: These are surely two enchanters who would drive you out from your land by their enchantment, and destroy your excellent institutions.

20:64 So settle your plan, then come in ranks, and he will succeed indeed this day who is uppermost.

20:65 They said: O Moses, wilt thou cast, or shall we be the first to cast down?

20:66 He said: Nay! Cast you down. Then lo! their cords and their rods it appeared to him by their enchantment as if they ran.

20:67 So Moses conceived fear in his mind.

20:68 We said: Fear not, surely thou art the uppermost.

20:69 And cast down what is in thy right hand — it will eat up what they have wrought. What they have wrought is only the trick of an enchanter, and the enchanter succeeds not wheresoever he comes from.

20:70 So the enchanters fell down prostrate, saying: We believe in the Lord of Aaron and Moses.

20:71 (Pharaoh) said: You believe in him before I give you leave! Surely he is your chief who taught you enchantment. So I shall cut off your hands and your feet on opposite sides and I shall crucify you on the trunks of palm-trees, and you shall certainly know which of us can give the severer and the more abiding chastisement.

20:72 They said: We cannot prefer thee to what has come to us of clear arguments and to Him Who made us, so decide as thou wilt decide. Thou canst only decide about this world's life.

20:73 Surely we believe in our Lord that He may forgive us our faults and the magic to which thou didst compel us. And Allah is Best and ever Abiding.

20:74 Whoso comes guilty to his Lord, for him is surely hell. He will neither die therein, nor live.

20:75 And whoso comes to Him a believer, having done good deeds, for them are high ranks —

20:76 Gardens of perpetuity, wherein flow rivers, to abide therein. And such is the reward of him who purifies himself.

20:77 And certainly We revealed to Moses: Travel by night with My servants, then strike for them a dry path in the sea, not fearing to overtaken, nor being afraid.

20:78 So Pharaoh followed them with his armies, then there covered them of the sea that which covered them.

20:79 And Pharaoh led his people astray and he guided not aright.

20:80 O Children of Israel, We truly delivered you from your enemy, and made a covenant with you on the blessed side of the mountain, and sent to you the manna and the quails.

20:81 Eat of the good things We have provided for you, and be not inordinate in respect thereof, lest My wrath come upon you; and he on whom My wrath comes, he perishes indeed.

20:82 And surely I am Forgiving toward him who repents and believes and does good, then walks aright.

20:83 And what made thee hasten from thy people, O Moses?

20:84 He said: They are here on my track, and I hastened on to Thee, my Lord, that Thou mightest be pleased.

20:85 He said: Surely We have tried thy people in thy absence, and the Samiri has led them astray.

20:86 So Moses returned to his people angry, sorrowing. He said: O my people, did not your Lord promise you a goodly promise? Did the promised time, then, seem long to you, or did you wish that displeasure from your Lord should come upon you, so that you broke (your) promise to me?

20:87 They said: We broke not the promise to thee of our own accord, but we were made to bear the burdens of the ornaments of the people, then we cast them away, and thus did the Samiri suggest 20:88 Then he brought forth for them a calf, a body, which had a hollow sound, so they said: This is your god and the god of Moses but he forgot.

20:89 Could they not see that it returned no reply to them, nor controlled any harm or benefit for them?

20:90 And Aaron indeed had said to them before: O my people, you are only tried by it, and surely your Lord is the Beneficent God, so follow me and obey my order.

20:91 They said We shall not cease to keep to its worship until Moses returns to us.

20:92 (Moses) said: O Aaron, what prevented thee, when thou sawest them going astray, 20:93 That thou didst not follow me? Hast thou, then, disobeyed my order?

20:94 He said: O son of my mother, seize me not by my beard, nor by my head. Surely I was afraid lest thou shouldst say Thou hast caused division among the Children of Israel and not waited for my word.

20:95 (Moses) said: What was thy object, O Samiri?

20:96 He said: I perceived what they perceived not, so I took a handful from the footprints of the messenger then I cast it away. Thus did my soul embellish (it) to me.

20:97 He said: Begone then! It is for thee in this life to say, Touch (me) not. And for thee is a promise which shall not fail. And look at thy god to whose worship thou hast kept. We will certainly burn it, then we will scatter it in the sea.

20:98 Your Lord is only Allah, there is no God but He. He comprehends all things in (His) knowledge.

20:99 Thus relate We to thee of the news of what has gone before. And indeed We have given thee a Reminder from Ourselves.

20:100 Whoever turns away from it, he will surely bear a burden on the day of Resurrection,

20:101 Abiding therein. And evil will be their burden on the day of Resurrection —

20:102 The day when the trumpet is blown; and We shall gather the guilty, blue-eyed, on that day, 20:103 Consulting together secretly: You tarried but ten (days).

20:104 We know best what they say when the fairest of them in course would say: You tarried but a day.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

20:105 And they ask thee about the mountains. Say: My Lord will scatter them, as scattered dust, 20:106 Then leave it a plain, smooth, level,

20:107 Wherein thou seest no crookedness nor unevenness.

20:108 On that day they will follow the Inviter, in whom is no crookedness; and the voices are low before the Beneficent God, so that thou hearest naught but a soft sound.

20:109 On that day no intercession avails except of him whom the Beneficent allows, and whose word He is pleased with.

20:110 He knows what is before them and what is behind them, while they cannot comprehend it in knowledge.

20:111 And faces shall be humbled before the Living, the Self-subsistent. And he who bears iniquity is indeed undone.

20:112 And whoever does good works and he is a believer, he has no fear of injustice, nor of the withholding of his due.

20:113 And thus have We sent it down an Arabic Koran, and have distinctly set forth therein of threats that they may guard against evil, or that it may be a reminder for them.

20:114 Supremely exalted then is Allah, the King, the Truth. And make not haste with the Koran before its revelation is made complete to thee, and say: My Lord, increase me in knowledge.

20:115 And certainly We gave a commandment to Adam before, but he forgot; and We found in him no resolve (to disobey).

20:116 And when We said to the angels: Be submissive to Adam, they submitted except Iblis; he refused.

20:117 We said: O Adam, this is an enemy to thee and to thy wife; so let him not drive you both out of the garden so that thou art unhappy.

20:118 Surely it is granted to thee therein that thou art not hungry, nor naked, 20:119 And that thou art not thirsty therein, nor exposed to the sun's heat.

20:120 But the devil made an evil suggestion to him; he said: O Adam, shall I lead thee to the tree of immortality and a kingdom which decays not?

20:121 So they both ate of it, then their evil inclinations became manifest to them, and they began to cover themselves with the leaves of the garden. And Adam disobeyed his Lord, and was disappointed.

20:122 Then his Lord chose him, so He turned to him and guided (him).

20:123 He said: Go forth herefrom both — all (of you) one of you (is) enemy to another. So there will surely come to you guidance from Me; then whoever follows My guidance, he will not go astray nor be unhappy.

20:124 And whoever turns away from My Reminder, for him is surely a straitened life, and We shall raise him up blind on the day of Resurrection.

20:125 He will say: My Lord, why hast Thou raised me up blind, while I used to see?

20:126 He will say: Thus did Our messages come to thee, but thou didst neglect them. And thus art thou forsaken this day.

20:127 And thus do We recompense him who is extravagant and believes not in the messages of his Lord. And certainly the chastisement of the Hereafter is severer and mote lasting.

20:128 Does it not manifest to them how many of the generations, in whose dwellings they go about, We destroyed before them? Surely there are signs in this for men of understanding.

20:129 And had not a word gone forth from thy Lord, and a term been fixed, it would surely have overtaken them.

20:130* So bear patiently what they say, and celebrate the praise of thy Lord before the rising of the sun and before its setting, and glorify (Him) during the hours of the night and parts of the day, that thou mayest be well pleased.

20:131* And strain not thine eyes toward that with which We have provided different classes of them, (of) the splendour of this world's life, that We may thereby try them. And the sustenance of thy Lord is better and more abiding.

20:132 And enjoin prayer on thy people, and steadily adhere to it. We ask not of thee a sustenance. We provide for thee. And the (good) end is for guarding against evil.

20:133 And they say: Why does he not bring us a sign from his Lord? Has not there come to them a clear evidence of what is in the previous Books?

20:134 And if We had destroyed them with chastisement before it, they would have said: Our Lord, why didst Thou not send to us a messenger, so that we might have followed Thy messages before we met disgrace and shame?

20:135 Say: Every one (of us) is waiting, so wait. Soon you will come to know who is the follower of the even path and who goes aright.

KORAN CHAPTER 56 / Sura 26

The Poets / Al-Shuara

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

26:1 Benignant, Hearing, Knowing God.

26:2 These are the verses of the Book that makes manifest.

26:3 Perhaps thou wilt kill thyself with grief because they believe not.

26:4 If We please, We could send down on them a sign from heaven, so that their necks would bend before it.

26:5 And there comes not to them a new Reminder from the Beneficent but they turn away from it.

26:6 They indeed reject, so the news will soon come to them of that at which they mock.

26:7 See they not the earth, how many of every noble kind We cause to grow in it?

26:8 surely in this is a sign; yet most of them believe not.

26:9 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.

26:10 And when thy Lord called Moses, saying: Go to the iniquitous people 26:11 The people of Pharaoh. Will they nor guard against evil?

26:12 He said: My Lord, I fear that they will reject me.

26:13 And my breast straitens, and my tongue is not eloquent, so send for Aaron (too).

26:14 And they have a crime against me, so I fear that they will kill me.

26:15 He said: By no means; so go you both with Our signs surely We are with you, Hearing.

26:16 Then come to Pharaoh, and say: We are bearers of a message of the Lord of the worlds:

26:17 Send with us the Children of Israel.

26:18 (Pharaoh) said: Did we not bring thee up as a child among us, and thou didst tarry (many) years of thy life among us?

26:19 And thou didst (that) deed of thine which thou didst and thou art of the ungrateful ones.

26:20 He said: I did it then when I was of those who err.

26:21 So I fled from you when I feared you, then my Lord granted me judgement and made me of the messengers.

26:22 And is it a favour of which thou remindest me that thou hast enslaved the Children of Israel?

26:23 Pharaoh said: And what is the Lord of the worlds?

26:24 He said: The Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, if you would be sure.

26:25 (Pharaoh) said to those around him: Do you not hear?

26:26 He said: Your Lord and the Lord of your fathers of old.

26:27 (Pharaoh) said: Surely your messenger, who is sent to you, is mad.

26:28 He said: The Lord of the East and the West and what is between them, if you have any sense.

26:29 (Pharaoh) said: If thou takest a god besides me, I will certainly put thee in prison.

26:30. He said: Even if I show thee something plain?

26:31 (Pharaoh) said: Show it, then, if thou art of the truthful.

26:32 So he cast down his rod, and lo! it was an obvious serpent;

26:33 And he drew forth his hand, and lo! it appeared white to the beholders.

26:34 (Pharaoh) said to the chiefs around him: Surely this is a skilful enchanter, 26:35 Who desires to turn you out of your land with his enchantment. What is it then that you counsel?

26:36 They said: Give him and his brother respite and send heralds into the cities, 26:37 That they bring to thee every skilful enchanter.

26:38 So the enchanters were gathered together for the appointment of a well-known day, 26:39 And it was said to the people Will you gather together?

26:40 Haply we may follow the enchanters, if they are the vanquishers.

26:41 So when the enchanters came, they said to Pharaoh: Will there be a reward for us, if we are the vanquishers?

26:42 He said: Yes, and surely you will then be of those who are nearest (to me).

26:43 Moses said to them: Cast what you are going to cast.

26:44 So they cast down their cords and their rods and said: By Pharaoh's power we shall most surely be victorious.

26:45 Then Moses cast down his rod, and lo! it swallowed up their fabrication.

26:46 And the enchanters were thrown down prostrate —

26:47 They said: We believe in the Lord of the worlds,

26:48 The Lord of Moses and Aaron.

26:49 (Pharaoh) said: You believe in him before I give you leave; surely he is the chief of you who taught you enchantment, so you shall know. Certainly I will cut off your hands and your feet on opposite sides, and I will crucify you all.

26:50 They said: No harm; surely to our Lord we return.

26:51 We hope that our Lord will forgive us our wrongs because we are the first of the believers.

26:52 And We revealed to Moses, saying: Travel by night with My servants — you will be pursued.

26:53 And Pharaoh sent heralds into the cities (proclaiming):

26:54 These are indeed a small band,

26:55 And they have surely enraged us:

26:56 And we are truly a vigilant multitude.

26:57 So We turned them out of gardens and springs,

26:58 And treasures and goodly dwellings —

26:59 Even so. And We gave them as a heritage to the Children of Israel.

26:60 Then they pursued them at sunrise.

26:61 So when the two hosts saw each other, the companions of Moses cried out: Surely we are overtaken.

26:62 He said: By no means; surely my Lord is with me — He will guide me.

26:63 Then We revealed to Moses March on to the sea with thy staff. So it parted, and each party was like a huge mound.

26:64 And there We brought near the others.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

- 26:65 And We saved Moses and those with him, all.
 26:66 Then We drowned the others.
 26:67 Surely there is a sign in this yet most of them believe not.
 26:68 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.
 * * *
- 26:69 And recite to them the story of Abraham.
 26:70 When he said to his sire and his people: What do you worship?
 26:71 They said: We worship idols, so we shall remain devoted to them.
 26:72 He said: Do they hear you when you call (on them),
 26:73 Or do they benefit or harm you?
 26:74 They said: Nay, we found our fathers doing so.
 26:75 He said: Do you then see what you worship —
 26:76 You and your ancient sires?
 26:77 Surely they are an enemy to me, but not (so) the Lord of the worlds,
 26:78 Who created me, then He shows me the way,
 26:79 And Who gives me to eat and to drink,
 26:80 And when I am sick, He heals me,
 26:81 And Who will cause me to die, then give me life,
 26:82 And Who, I hope, will forgive me my mistakes on the day of Judgement.
 26:83 My Lord, grant me wisdom, and join me with the righteous,
 26:84 And ordain for me a goodly mention in later generations,
 26:85 And make me of the heirs of the Garden of bliss,
 26:86 And forgive my sire, surely he is of the erring ones,
 26:87 And disgrace me not on the day when they are raised —
 26:88 The day when wealth will not avail, nor sons,
 26:89 Save him who comes to Allah with a sound heart.
 26:90 And the Garden is brought near for the dutiful,
 26:91 And hell is made manifest to the deviators,
 26:92 And it is said to them: Where are those that you worshipped 26:93 Besides Allah? Can they help you or help themselves?
 26:94 So they are hurled into it, they and the deviators,
 26:95 And the hosts of the devil, all.
 26:96 They will say, while they quarrel therein
 26:97 By Allah We were certainly in manifest error,
 26:98 When we made you equal with the Lord of the worlds.
 26:99 And none but the guilty led us astray.
 26:100 So we have no intercessors,
 26:101 Nor a true friend.
 26:102 Now, if we could but once return, we would be believers.
 26:103 Surely there is a sign in this yet most of them believe not.
 26:104 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.
 * * *
- 26:105 The people of Noah rejected the messengers.
 26:106 When their brother Noah said to them: Will you not guard against evil?
 26:107 Surely I am a faithful messenger to you:
 26:108 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:109 And I ask of you no reward for it my reward is only with the Lord of the worlds.
 26:110 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:111 They said: Shall we believe in thee and the meanest follow thee?
 26:112 He said: And what knowledge have I of what they did?
 26:113 Their reckoning is only with my Lord, if you but perceive.
- 26:114 And I am not going to drive away the believers
 26:115 I am only a plain warner.
 26:116 They said: If thou desist not, O Noah, thou wilt certainly be stoned to death.
 26:117 He said: My Lord, my people give me the lie.
 26:118 So judge Thou between me and them openly, and deliver me and the believers who are with me.
 26:119 So We delivered him and those with him in the laden ark.
 26:120 Then We drowned the rest afterwards.
 26:121 Surely there is sign in this, yet most of them believe not.
 26:122 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.
 * * *
- 26:123 Ad gave the lie to the messengers.
 26:124 When their brother Hud said to them: Will you not guard against evil?
 26:125 Surely I am a faithful messenger to you:
 26:126 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:127 And I ask of you no reward for it; surely my reward is only with the Lord of the worlds.
 26:128 Do you build on every height a monument? You (only) sport.
 26:129 And you make fortresses that you may abide.
 26:130 And when you seize, you seize as tyrants.
 26:131 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:132 And keep your duty to Him Who aids you with that which you know —
 26:133 He aids you with cattle and children
 26:134 And gardens and fountains.
 26:135 Surely I fear for you the chastisement of a grievous day.
 26:136 They said: It is the same to us whether thou admonish, or art not one of the admonishers:
 26:137 This is naught but a fabrication of the ancients:
 26:138 And we will not be chastised.
 26:139 So they rejected him, then We destroyed them. Surely there is a sign in this; yet most of them believe not.
 26:140 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful;
 * * *
- 26:141 Thamud gave the lie to the messengers.
 26:142 When their brother Salih said to them: Will you not guard against evil?
 26:143 Surely I am a faithful messenger to you:
 26:144 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:145 And I ask of you no reward for it; my reward is only with the Lord of the worlds.
 26:146 Will you be left secure in what is here,
 26:147 In gardens and fountains,
 26:148 And corn-fields and palm-trees having fine flower-spikes?
 26:149 And you hew houses out of the mountains exultingly.
 26:150 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:151 And obey not the bidding of the extravagant,
 26:152 Who make mischief in the land and act nor aright.
 26:153 They said: Thou art only a deluded person.
 26:154 Thou art naught but a mortal like ourselves — so bring a sign if thou art truthful.
 26:155 He said: This is a she-camel she has her portion of water, and you have your portion of water at an appointed time.
 26:156 And touch her not with evil, lest the chastisement of a grievous day overtake you.
 26:157 But they hamstrung her, then regretted,
 26:158 So the chastisement overtook them. Surely there is a sign in this yet most of them believe not.
 26:159 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.
 * * *
- 26:160 The people of Lot gave the lie to the messengers.
 26:161 When their brother Lot said to them: Will you not guard against evil?
 26:162 Surely I am a faithful messenger to you:
 26:163 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:164 And I ask of you no reward for it my reward is only with the Lord of the worlds.
 26:165 Do you come to the males from among the creatures, 26:166 And leave your wives whom your Lord has created for you? Nay, you are a people exceeding limits.
 26:167 They said: If thou desist not, O Lot, thou wilt surely be banished.
 26:168 He said: Surely I abhor what you do.
 26:169 My Lord, deliver me and my followers from what they do.
 26:170 So We delivered him and his followers all,
 26:171 Except an old woman, among those who remained behind.
 26:172 Then We destroyed the others.
 26:173 And We rained on them a rain, and evil was the rain on those warned.
 26:174 Surely there is a sign in this yet most of them believe not.
 26:175 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.
 * * *
- 26:176 The dwellers of the thicket gave the lie to the messengers.
 26:177 When ShuAib said to them: Will you not guard against evil?
 26:178 Surely I am a faithful messenger to you;
 26:179 So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.
 26:180 And I ask of you no reward for it; my reward is only with the Lord of the worlds.
 26:181 Give full measure and be not of those who diminish.
 26:182 And weigh with a true balance.
 26:183 And wrong not men of their dues, and act not corruptly in the earth, making mischief.
 26:184 And keep your duty to Him Who created you and the former generations.
 26:185 They said: Thou art only a deluded person,
 26:186 And thou art naught but a mortal like ourselves, and we deem thee to be a liar.
 26:187 So cause a portion of heaven to fall on us, if thou art truthful.
 26:188 He said: My Lord knows best what you do.
 26:189 But they rejected him, so the chastisement of the day of Covering overtook them. Surely it was the chastisement of a grievous day!
 26:190 Surely there is a sign in this yet must of them believe not.
 26:191 And surely thy Lord is the Mighty, the Merciful.
 * * *
- 26:192 And surely this is a revelation from the Lord of the worlds.
 26:193 The Faithful Spirit has brought it
 26:194 On thy heart that thou mayest be a warner,
 26:195 In plain Arabic language.
 26:196 And surely the same is in the Scriptures of the ancients.
 26:197* Is it not a sign to them that the learned men of the Children of Israel know it?
 26:198 And if We had revealed it to any of the foreigners, 26:199 And he had read it to them, they would not have believed in it.
 26:200 Thus do We cause it to enter into the hearts of the guilty.
 26:201 They will not believe in it till they see the painful chastisement:
 26:202 So it will come to them suddenly, while they perceive not;
 26:203 Then they will say: Shall we be respited?
 26:204 Do they still seek to hasten on Our chastisement?
 26:205 Seest thou, if We let them enjoy themselves for years,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

26:206 Then that which they are promised comes to them

26:207 That which they were made to enjoy will not avail them?

26:208 And We destroyed no town but it had (its) warners

26:209 To remind. And We are never unjust.

26:210 And the devils have not brought it.

26:211 And it behoves them not, nor have they the power to do (it).

26:212 Surely they are far removed from hearing it.

26:213 So call not upon another god with Allah, lest thou be of those who are chastised.

26:214 And warn thy nearest relations,

26:215 And lower thy wing to the believers who follow thee.

26:216 But if they disobey thee, say I am clear of what you do.

26:217 And rely on the Mighty, the Merciful,

26:218 Who sees thee when thou standest up,

26:219 And thy movements among those who prostrate themselves.

26:220 Surely He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

26:221 Shall I inform you upon whom the devils descend?

26:222 They descend upon every lying, sinful one —

26:223 They give ear, and most of them are liars.

26:224* And the poets — the deviators follow them.

26:225* Seest thou not that they wander in every valley,

26:226* And that they say that which they do not?

26:227* Except those who believe and do good and remember Allah much, and defend themselves after they are oppressed. And they who do wrong, will know to what final place of turning they will turn back.

KORAN CHAPTER 57 / Sura 15

The Rock / Al-Hihr

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

15:1 I, Allah, am the Seer. These are the verses of the Book and (of) a Koran that makes manifest.

15:2 Often will those who disbelieve wish that they were Muslims.

15:3 Leave them to eat and enjoy themselves, and let (false) hope beguile them, for they will soon know.

15:4 And never did We destroy a town but it had a decree made known.

15:5 No people can hasten on their doom, nor can they postpone (it).

15:6 And they say: O thou to whom the Reminder is revealed, thou art indeed mad.

15:7 Why bringest thou not the angels to us, if thou art of the truthful?

15:8 We send not angels but with truth, and then they would not be respited.

15:9 Surely We have revealed the Reminder, and surely We are its Guardian.

15:10 And certainly We sent (messengers) before thee among the sects of yore.

15:11 And there never came a messenger to them but they mocked him.

15:12 Thus do We make it enter the hearts of the guilty —

15:13 They believe not in it; and the example of the ancients has gone before.

15:14 And even if We open to them a gate of heaven, and they keep on ascending into it, 15:15 They would say: Only our eyes have been covered over, rather we are an enchanted people.

15:16 And certainly We have made strongholds in the heaven, and We have made it fair-seeming to the beholders,

15:17 And We guard it against every accursed devil,

15:18 But he who steals a hearing; so there follows him a visible flame.

15:19 And the earth — We have spread it out and made in it firm mountains and caused to grow in it of every suitable thing

15:20 And We have made in it means of subsistence for you and for him for whom you provide not.

15:21 And there is not a thing but with Us are the treasures of it, and We send it not down but in a known measure.

15:22 And We send the winds fertilizing, then send down water from the clouds, so We give it to you to drink; nor is it you who store it up.

15:23 And surely it is We, Who give life and cause death, and We are the Inheritors.

15:24* And certainly We know those among you who go forward and We certainly know those who lag behind.

15:25 And surely thy Lord will gather them together. He indeed is Wise, 15:26 And surely We created man of sounding clay, of black mud fashioned into shape.

15:27 And the jinn, We created before of intensely hot fire.

15:28 And when thy Lord said to the angels I am going to create a mortal of sound clay, of black mud fashioned into shape.

15:29 So when I have made him complete and breathed into him of My spirit, fall down making obeisance to him.

15:30 So the angels made obeisance, all of them together —

15:31 But Iblis (did it not). He refused to be with those who made obeisance.

15:32 He said: O Iblis, what is the reason that thou art not with those who make obeisance?

15:33 He said: I am not going to make obeisance to a mortal, whom Thou hast created of sounding clay, of black mud fashioned into shape.

15:34 He said: Then go forth, for surely thou art driven away, 15:35 And surely on thee is a curse till the day of Judgement.

15:36 He said: My Lord, respite me till the time when they are raised.

15:37 He said: Surely thou art of the respited ones,

15:38 Till the period of the time made known.

15:39 He said: My Lord, as Thou hast judged me erring, I shall certainly make (evil) fair-seeming to them on earth, and I shall cause them all to deviate, 15:40 Except Thy servants from among them, the purified ones.

15:41 He said: This is a right way with Me.

15:42 As regards My servants, thou hast no authority over them except such of the deviators as follow thee.

15:43 And surely hell is the promised place for them all —

15:44 It has seven gates. For each gate is an appointed portion of them.

15:45 Surely those who keep their duty are in Gardens and fountains.

15:46 Enter them in peace, secure.

15:47 And We shall root out whatever of rancour is in their breasts — as brethren, on raised couches, face to face.

15:48 Toil afflicts them not therein, nor will they be ejected therefrom.

15:49 Inform My servants that I am the Forgiving, the Merciful, 15:50 And that My chastisement — that is the painful chastisement.

15:51 And inform them of the guests of Abraham.

15:52 When they entered upon him, they said, Peace He said: We are afraid of you.

15:53 They said: Be not afraid, we give thee good news of a boy, possessing knowledge.

15:54 He said: Do you give me good news when old age has come upon me? Of what then do you give me good news?

15:55 They said: We give thee good news with truth, so be not thou of the despairing ones.

15:56 He said: And who despairs of the mercy of his Lord but the erring ones?

15:57 He said: What is your business, then, O messengers?

15:58 They said: We have been sent to a guilty people,

15:59 Except Lot's followers. We shall deliver them all,

15:60 Except his wife: We ordained that she shall surely be of those who remain behind.

15:61 So when the messengers came to Lot's followers, 15:62 He said: Surely you are an unknown people.

15:63 They said: Nay, we have come to thee with that about which they disputed.

15:64 And we have come to thee with the truth, and we are surely truthful.

15:65 So travel with thy followers for a part of the night and thyself follow their rear; and let not any one of you turn round, and go whither you are commanded.

15:66 And We made known to him this decree, that the roots of these should be cut off in the morning.

15:67 And the people of the town came rejoicing.

15:68 He said: These are my guests, so disgrace me not,

15:69 And keep your duty to Allah and shame me not.

15:70 They said: Did we not forbid thee from (entertaining) people?

15:71 He said: These are my daughters, if you will do (ought).

15:72 By thy life they blindly wandered on in their frenzy.

15:73 So the cry overtook them at sunrise

15:74 Thus We turned it upside down, and rained upon them hard stones.

15:75 Surely in this are signs for those who take a lesson.

15:76 And it is on a road that still abides.

15:77 Verily therein is a sign for the believers.

15:78 And the dwellers of the thicker were indeed iniquitous:

15:79 So We inflicted retribution on them. And they are both on an open high road.

15:80 And the dwellers of the Rock indeed rejected the messengers;

15:81 And We gave them Our messages, but they turned away from them;

15:82 And they hewed houses in the mountains, in security.

15:83 So the cry overtook them in the morning;

15:84 And what they earned availed them not.

15:85 And We created not the heavens and the earth and what is between them but with truth. And the Hour is surely coming, so turn away with kindly forgiveness.

15:86 Surely thy Lord — He is the Creator, the Knower.

15:87* And certainly We have given thee seven oft-repeated (verses) and the grand Koran.

15:88 Strain not thine eyes at what We have given certain classes of them to enjoy, and grieve not for them, and make thyself gentle to the believers.

15:89 And say: I am indeed the plain warner.

15:90 Like as We sent down on them who took oaths,

15:91 Those who divided the Koran into parts.

15:92 So, by thy Lord! We shall question them all.

15:93 As to what they did.

15:94 Therefore declare openly what thou art commanded, and turn away from the polytheists.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

15:95 Surely We are sufficient for thee against the scoffers —

15:96 Those who set up another god with Allah; so they will come to know.

15:97 And We know indeed that thy breast straitens at what they say;

15:98 So celebrate the praise of thy Lord, and be of those who make obeisance.

15:99 And serve thy Lord, until there comes to thee that which is certain.

KORAN CHAPTER 58 / Sura 19

Mary (Maria) / Maryam

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

19:1 Sufficient, Guide, Blessed, Knowing, Truthful God.

19:2 A mention of the mercy of thy Lord to His servant Zacharias —

19:3 When he called upon his Lord, crying in secret.

19:4 He said: My Lord, my bones are weakened, and my head flares with hoariness, and I have never been unsuccessful in my prayer to Thee, my Lord.

19:5 And I fear my kinsfolk after me, and my wife is barren, so grant me from Thyself an heir

19:6 Who should inherit me and inherit of the Children of Jacob, and make him, my Lord, acceptable (to Thee).

19:7 O Zacharias, We give thee good news of a boy, whose name is John: We have not made before anyone his equal.

19:8 He said: My Lord, how shall I have a son, and my wife is barren, and I have reached extreme old age?

19:9 He said: So (it will be). Thy Lord says: It is easy to Me, and indeed I created thee before, when thou wast nothing.

19:10 He said: My Lord, give me a sign. He said: Thy sign is that thou speak not to people three nights, being in sound health.

19:11 So he went forth to his people from the sanctuary and proclaimed to them: Glorify (Allah) morning and evening.

19:12 O John, take hold of the Book with strength. And We granted him wisdom when a child, 19:13 And kind-heartedness from Us and purity. And he was dutiful, 19:14 And kindly to his parents, and he was not insolent, disobedient.

19:15 And peace on him the day he was born and the day he died, and the day he is raised to life

19:16 And mention Mary in the Book. When she drew aside from her family to an eastern place;

19:17 So she screened herself from them. Then We sent to her Our spirit and it appeared to her as a well made man.

19:18 She said: I flee for refuge from thee to the Beneficent, if thou art one guarding against evil.

19:19 He said: I am only bearer of a message of thy Lord: That I will give thee a pure boy.

19:20 She said: How can I have a son and no mortal has yet touched me, nor have I been unchaste?

19:21 He said: So (it will be). Thy Lord says: It is easy to Me; and that We may make him a sign to men and a mercy from Us. And it is a matter decreed.

19:22 Then she conceived him; and withdrew with him to a remote place.

19:23 And the throes of childbirth drove her to the trunk of a palm tree. She said: Oh, would that I had died before this, and had been a thing quite forgotten!

19:24 So a voice came to her from beneath her: Grieve not, surely thy Lord has provided a stream beneath thee.

19:25 And shake towards thee the trunk of the palm-tree, it will drop on thee fresh ripe dates.

19:26 So eat and drink and cool the eye. Then if thou seest any mortal, say: Surely I have vowed a fast to the Beneficent, so I will not speak to any man to-day.

19:27 Then she came to her people with him, carrying him. They said: O Mary, thou hast indeed brought a strange thing!

19:28 O sister of Aaron, thy father was not a wicked man, nor was thy mother an unchaste woman!

19:29 But she pointed to him. They said: How should we speak to one who is a child in the cradle?

19:30 He said: I am indeed a servant of Allah. He has given me the Book and made me a prophet:

19:31 And He has made me blessed wherever I may be, and He has enjoined on me prayer and poor-rate so long as I live.

19:32 And to be kind to my mother; and He has not made me insolent, unblessed.

19:33 And peace on me the day I was born, and the day I die, and the day I am raised to life.

19:34 Such is Jesus son of Mary a statement of truth about which they dispute.

19:35 It beseems not Allah that He should take to Himself a son. Glory be to Him! when He decrees a matter He only says to it, Be, and it is.

19:36 And surely Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so serve Him. This is the right path.

19:37 But parties from among them differed; so woe to those who disbelieve, because of their presence on a grievous day!

19:38 How clearly will they hear and see on the day when they come to Us but the wrongdoers are to-day in manifest error.

19:39 And warn them of the day of Regret, when the matter is decided. And they are (now) in negligence and they believe not.

19:40 Surely We inherit the earth and those thereon, and to Us they are returned.

19:41 And mention Abraham in the Book. Surely he was a truthful man, a prophet.

19:42 When he said to his sire O my sire, why worshippeth thou that which hears not, nor sees, nor can it avail thee aught?

19:43 O my sire, to me indeed has come the knowledge which has not come to thee; so follow me, I will guide thee on a right path.

19:44 O my sire, serve not the devil. Surely the devil is disobedient to the Beneficent.

19:45 O my sire, surely I fear lest a punishment from the Beneficent should afflict thee, so that thou become a friend of the devil.

19:46 He said: Dislikest thou my gods, O Abraham? If thou desist not, I will certainly drive thee away. And leave me for a time.

19:47 He said: Peace be to thee! I shall pray my Lord to forgive thee. Surely He is ever Kind to me.

19:48 And I withdraw from you and that which you call on beside Allah and I call upon my Lord. Maybe I shall not remain unblessed in calling upon my Lord.

19:49 So, when he withdrew from them and that which they worshipped besides Allah, We gave him Isaac and Jacob. And each (of them) We made a prophet.

19:50 And We gave them of Our mercy, and We granted them a truthful mention of eminence.

19:51 And mention Moses in the Book. Surely he was one purified, and was a messenger, a prophet.

19:52 And We called to him from the blessed side of the mountain, and We made him draw nigh in communion.

19:53 And We gave him out of Our mercy his brother Aaron, a prophet.

19:54 And mention Ishmael in the Book. Surely he was truthful in promise, and he was a messenger, a prophet.

19:55 And he enjoined on his people prayer and almsgiving, and was one in whom his Lord was well pleased.

19:56 And mention Idris in the Book. Surely he was a truthful man, a prophet, 19:57 And We raised him to an elevated state.

19:58* These are they on whom Allah bestowed favours, from among the prophets, of the seed of Adam, and of those whom We carried with Noah, and of the seed of Abraham and Israel, and of those whom We guided and chose. When the messages of the Beneficent were recited to them, they fell down in submission, weeping.

19:59 But there came after them an evil generation, who wasted prayers and followed lusts, so they will meet perdition,

19:60 Except those who repent and believe and do good such will enter the Garden, and they will not be wronged in aught:

19:61 Gardens of perpetuity which the Beneficent has promised to His servants in the Unseen. Surely His promise ever comes to pass.

19:62 They will hear therein no vain discourse, but only, Peace! And they have their sustenance therein, morning and evening.

19:63 This is the Garden which We cause those of Our servants to inherit who keep their duty.

19:64 And we descend not but by the command of thy Lord. To Him belongs what is before us and what is behind us and what is between these, and thy Lord is never forgetful.

19:65 Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, so serve Him and be patient in His service. Knowest thou any one equal to Him?

19:66 And says man: When I am dead, shall I truly be brought forth alive?

19:67 Does not man remember that We created him before, when he was nothing?

19:68 So by thy Lord! We shall certainly gather them together and the devils, then shall We bring them around hell on their knees.

19:69 Then We shall draw forth from every sect those most rebellious against the Beneficent.

19:70 Again, We certainly know best those who deserve most to be burned therein.

19:71* And there is not one of you but shall come to it. This is an unavoidable decree of thy Lord.

19:72 And We shall deliver those who guard against evil, and leave the wrongdoers therein on their knees.

19:73 And when Our clear messages are recited to them, those who disbelieve say to those who believe: Which of the two parties is better in position and better in assembly?

19:74 And how many a generation have We destroyed before them, who had better possessions and appearance!

19:75 Say: As for him who is in error, the Beneficent will prolong his length of days; until they see what they were threatened with, either the punishment or the Hour. Then they will know who is worse in position and weaker in forces.

19:76 And Allah increases in guidance those who go aright. And deeds that endure, the good deeds, are, with thy Lord, better in recompense and yield better return.

19:77 Hast thou seen him who disbelieves in Our messages and says: I shall certainly be given wealth and children?

19:78 Has he gained knowledge of the unseen, or made a covenant with the Beneficent?

19:79 By no means! We write down what he says, and We shall lengthen to him the length of the chastisement 19:80 And We shall inherit from him what he says, and he will come to Us alone.

19:81 And they have taken gods besides Allah, that they should be to them a source of strength —

19:82 By no means! They will soon deny their worshipping them, and be their adversaries.

19:83 Seest thou not that We send the devils against the disbelievers, inciting them incitingly?

19:84 So make no haste against them. We only number out to them a number (of days).

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

19:85 The day when We gather the dutiful to the Beneficent to receive honours, 19:86 And drive the guilty to hell, as thirsty beasts.

19:87 They have no power of intercession, save him who has made a covenant with the Beneficent.

19:88 And they say: The Beneficent has taken to Himself a son.

19:89 Certainly you make an abominable assertion!

19:90 The heavens may almost be rent thereat, and the earth cleave asunder, and the mountains fall down in pieces, 19:91 That they ascribe a son to the Beneficent!

19:92 And it is not worthy of the Beneficent that He should take to Himself a son.

19:93 There is none in the heavens and the earth but comes to the Beneficent as a servant.

19:94 Certainly He comprehends them, and has numbered them all.

19:95 And every one of them will come to Him on the day of Resurrection, alone.

19:96 Those who believe and do good deeds, for them the Beneficent will surely bring about love.

19:97 So We have made it easy in thy tongue only that thou shouldst give good news thereby to those who guard against evil, and shouldst warn thereby a contentious people.

19:98 And how many a generation before them have We destroyed! Canst thou see any one of them or hear a sound of them?

KORAN CHAPTER 59 / Sura 38

Sad

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

38:1 Truthful God! By the Koran, possessing eminence!

38:2 Nay, those who disbelieve are in self-exaltation and opposition.

38:3 How many a generation We destroyed before them, then they cried when there was no longer time for escape!

38:4 And they wonder that a warner from among themselves has come to them, and the disbelievers say: This is an enchanter, a liar.

38:5 Makes he the gods a single God? Surely this is a strange thing.

38:6 And the chiefs among them say: Go and steadily adhere to your gods: surely this is a thing intended.

38:7 We never heard of this in the former faith: this is nothing but a forgery.

38:8 Has the Reminder been revealed to him from among us? Nay, they are in doubt as to My Reminder. Nay, they have not yet tasted My chastisement.

38:9 Or, have they the treasures of the mercy of thy Lord, the Mighty, the Great Giver?

38:10 Or is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and what is between them theirs? Then let them rise higher in means.

38:11 What an army of the allies is here put to flight!

38:12 The people of Noah, and Ad, and Pharaoh, the lord of hosts, rejected (prophets) before them, 38:13 And Thamud and the people of Lot and the dwellers of the thicket. These were the parties (opposing Truth).

38:14 Not one of them but rejected the messengers, so just was My retribution.

38:15 And these wait but for one cry, wherein there is no delay.

38:16 And they say: Our Lord, hasten on for us our portion before the day of Reckoning.

38:17 Bear patiently what they say, and remember Our servant David, the possessor of power. He ever turned (to Allah).

38:18 Truly We made the mountains subject to him, glorifying (Allah) at nightfall and sunrise, 38:19 And the birds gathered together. All were obedient to him.

38:20 And We strengthened his kingdom and We gave him wisdom and a clear judgement.

38:21 And has the story of the adversaries come to thee? When they made an entry into the private chamber by climbing the wall —

38:22 When they came upon David so he was afraid of them. They said Fear not; two litigants, of whom one has wronged the other, so decide between us with justice, and act not unjustly, and guide us to the right way.

38:23 This is my brother. He has ninety-nine ewes and I have a single ewe. Then he said, Make it over to me, and he has prevailed against me in dispute.

38:24 He said: Surely he has wronged thee in demanding thy ewe (to add) to his own ewes. And surely many partners wrong one another save those who believe and do good, and very few are they! And David knew that We had tried him, so he asked his Lord for protection, and he fell down bowing and turned (to God).

38:25 So We gave him this protection, and he had a nearness to Us and an excellent resort.

38:26 O David, surely We have made thee a ruler in the land; so judge between men justly and follow not desire, lest it lead thee astray from the path of Allah. Those who go astray from the path of Allah, for them is surely a severe chastisement because they forgot the day of Reckoning.

38:27 And We created not the heaven and the earth and what is between them in vain. That is the opinion of those who disbelieve. So woe to those who disbelieve on account of the Fire!

38:28 Shall We treat those who believe and do good like the mischief-makers in the earth? Or shall We make the dutiful like the wicked?

38:29 (This is) a Book that We have revealed to thee abounding in good, that they may ponder over its verses, and that the men of understanding may mind.

38:30 And We gave to David Solomon. Most excellent the servant! Surely he ever turned (to Allah).

38:31 When well-bred, swift (horses) were brought to him at evening —

38:32 So he said, I love the good things on account of the remembrance of my Lord — until they were hidden behind the veil.

38:33 (He said): Bring them back to me. So he began to stroke (their) legs and necks.

38:34 And certainly we tried Solomon, and We put on his throne a (mere) body, so he turned (to Allah).

38:35 He said My Lord, forgive me and grant me a kingdom which is not fit for any one after me: surely Thou art the Great Giver.

38:36 So We made the wind subservient to him it made his command to run gently wherever he desired,

38:37 And the devils, every builder and diver,

38:38 And others fettered in chains.

38:39 This is Our free gift, so give freely or withhold, without reckoning.

38:40 And surely he had a nearness to Us and an excellent resort.

38:41 And remember Our servant Job. When he cried to his Lord: The devil has afflicted me with toil and torment.

38:42 Urge with thy foot; here is a cool washing-place and a drink.

38:43 And We gave him his people and the like of them with them, a mercy from Us, and a reminder for men of understanding.

38:44 And take in thy hand few worldly goods and earn goodness therewith and incline not to falsehood. Surely We found him patient; most excellent the servant Surely he (ever) turned (to Us).

38:4) And remember Our servants Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, men of power and insight.

38:46 We indeed purified them by a pure quality, the keeping in mind of the (final) abode.

38:47 And surely they were with Us, of the elect, the best.

38:48 And remember Ishmael and Elisha and Dhu-I-Kifl; and they were all of the best.

38:49 This is a reminder. And surely there is an excellent resort for the dutiful:

38:50 Gardens of perpetuity — the doors are opened for them.

38:51 Reclining therein, calling therein for many fruits and drink.

38:52 And with them are those modest in gaze, equals in age.

38:53 This is what you are promised for the day of Reckoning.

38:54 Surely this is Our sustenance it will never come to an end —

38:55 This (is for the good)! And surely there is an evil resort for the inordinate —

38:56 Hell. They will enter it. So evil is the resting-place.

38:57 This — so let them taste it, boiling and intensely cold (drink), 38:58 And other similar (punishment), of various sorts.

38:59 This is an army rushing headlong with you — no welcome for them! Surely they will burn in fire.

38:60 They say: Nay! you — no welcome to you! You prepared it for us, so evil is the resting-place.

38:61 They say: Our Lord, whoever prepared it for us, give him more, a double, punishment in the Fire.

38:62 And they say: What is the matter with us? — we see not men whom we used to count among the vicious.

38:63 Did we (only) take them in scorn, or do our eyes miss them?

38:64 That surely is the truth the contending one with another of the inmates of the Fire.

38:65 Say: I am only a warner; and there is no God but Allah, the One, the Subduer (of all) — 38:66 The Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, the Mighty, the Forgiving.

38:67 Say: It is a message of importance,—

38:68 From which you turn away.

38:69 I have no knowledge of the exalted chiefs when they contend.

38:70 Only this is revealed to me that I am a plain warner.

38:71 When thy Lord said to the angels: Surely I am going to create a mortal from dust.

38:72 So when I have made him complete and breathed into him of My spirit, fall down submitting to him.

38:73 And the angels submitted, all of them,

38:74 But not Iblis. He was proud and he was one of the disbelievers.

38:75 He said: O Iblis, what prevented thee from submitting to him whom I created with both My hands? Art thou proud or art thou of the exalted Ones?

38:76 He said: I am better than he; Thou hast created me of fire, and him Thou didst create of dust.

38:77 He said: Go forth from hence surely thou art driven away:

38:78. And surely My curse is on thee to the day of Judgement.

38:79 He said: My Lord, respite me to the day that they are raised.

38:80 He said: Surely thou art of the respited ones.

38:81 Till the day of the time made known.

38:82 He said: Then, by Thy Might! I will surely lead them all astray,

38:83 Except Thy servants from among them, the purified ones.

38:84 He said: The Truth is, and the truth I speak —

38:85 That I shall fill hell with thee and with all those among them who follow thee.

38:86 Say: I ask you no reward for it nor am I of the impostors.

38:87 It is naught but a Reminder to the nations.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

36:88 And certainly you will come to know about it after a time.

KORAN CHAPTER 60 / Sura 36

Ya Sin

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

36:1 O man,

36:2 By the Koran, full of wisdom!

36:3 Surely thou art one of the messengers,

36:4 On a right way.

36:5 A revelation of the Mighty, the Merciful,

36:6 That thou mayest warn a people whose fathers were not warned, so they are heedless.

36:7 The word has indeed proved true of most of them, so they believe not,

36:8 Surely We have placed on their necks chains reaching up to the chins, so they have their heads raised aloft.

36:9 And We have set a barrier before them and a barrier behind them, thus We have covered them, so that they see not.

36:10 And it is alike to them whether thou warn them or warn them nor — they believe not.

36:11 Thou canst warn him only who follows the Reminder and fears the Beneficent in secret; so give him good news of forgiveness and a generous reward.

36:12 Surely We give life to the dead, and We write down that which they send before and their footprints, and We record everything in a clear writing.

36:13 And set out to them a parable of the people of the town when apostles came to it.

36:14 When We sent to them two, they rejected them both; then We strengthened (them) with a third, so they said: Surely we are sent to you.

36:15 They said: You are only mortals like ourselves, nor has the Beneficent revealed anything — you only lie.

36:16 They said: Our Lord knows that we are surely sent to you.

36:17 And our duty is only a clear deliverance (of the message).

36:18 They said: Surely we augur evil from you. If you desist not, we will surely stone you, and a painful chastisement from us will certainly afflict you.

36:19 They said: Your evil fortune is with you. What! If you are reminded! Nay, you are an extravagant people.

36:20 And from the remote part of the city there came a man running. He said: O my people, follow the apostles.

36:21 Follow him who asks of you no reward, and they are on the right course.

36:22 And what reason have I that I should not serve Him Who created me and to Whom you will be brought back.

36:23 Shall I take besides Him gods whose intercession, if the Beneficent should desire to afflict me with harm, will avail me naught, not can they deliver me?

36:24 Then I shall surely be in clear error.

36:25 Surely I believe in your Lord, so hear me.

36:26 It was said: Enter the Garden. He said: Would that my people knew, 36:27 How my Lord has forgiven me and made me of the honoured ones!

36:28 And We sent not down upon his people after him any host from heaven, nor do We ever send.

36:29 It was naught but a single cry, and lo! they were still.

36:30 Alas for the servants! Never does a messenger come to them but they mock him.

36:31 See they not how many generations We destroyed before them, that they return not to them?

36:32 And all — surely all — will be brought before Us.

36:33 And a sign to them is the dead earth: We give life to it and bring forth from it grain so they eat of it.

36:34 And We make therein gardens of date-palms and grapes and We make springs to flow forth therein, 36:35 That they may eat of the fruit thereof, and their hands made it not. Will they not then give thanks?

36:36 Glory be to Him Who created pairs of all things, of what the earth grows, and of their kind and of what they know not!

36:37 And a sign to them is the night: We draw forth from it the day, then lo! they are in darkness;

36:38 And the sun moves on to its destination. That is the ordinance of the Mighty, the Knower.

36:39 And the moon, We have ordained for it stages till it becomes again as an old dry palm-branch.

36:40 Neither is it for the sun to overtake the moon, nor can the night outstrip the day. And all float on in an orbit.

36:41 And a sign to them is that We bear their offspring in the laden ship, 36:42 And We have created for them the like thereof, whereon they ride.

36:43 And if We please, We may drown them, then there is no succour for them, nor can they be rescued —

36:44 But by mercy from Us and for enjoyment till a time.

36:45* And when it is said to them Guard against that which is before you and that which is behind you, that mercy may be shown to you.

36:46 And there comes to them no message of the messages of their Lord but they turn away from it.

36:47 And when it is said to them: Spend out of that which Allah has given you, those who disbelieve say to those who believe: Shall we feed him whom, if Allah please, He could feed? You are in naught but clear error.

36:48 And they say: When will this promise come to pass, if you are truthful?

36:49 They await but a single cry, which will overtake them while they contend.

36:50 So they will not be able to make a bequest, nor will they return to their families.

36:51 And the trumpet is blown, when lo! from their graves they will hasten on to their Lord.

36:52 They will say: O woe to us Who has raised us up from our sleeping-place? This is what the Beneficent promised and the messengers told the truth.

36:53 It is but a single cry, when lo! they are all brought before Us.

36:54 So this day no soul is wronged in aught and you are not rewarded aught but for what you did.

36:55 Surely the owners of the Garden are on that day in a happy occupation.

36:56 They and their wives are in shades, reclining on raised couches.

36:57 They have fruits therein, and they have whatever they desire.

36:58 Peace! A word from a Merciful Lord.

36:59 And withdraw to-day, O guilty ones!

36:60 Did I not charge you, O children of Adam, that you serve not the devil? Surely he is your open enemy.

36:61 And that you serve Me. This is the right way.

36:62 And certainly he led astray numerous people from among you. Could you not then understand?

36:63 This is the hell which you were promised.

36:64 Enter it this day because you disbelieved.

36:65 That day We shall seal their mouths, and their hands will speak to Us, and their feet will bear witness as to what they earned.

36:66 And if We pleased, We would put out their eyes, then they would strive to get first to the way, but how should they see?

36:67 And if We pleased, We would transform them in their place, then they would not be able to go on, or turn back.

36:68 And whomsoever We cause to live long, We reduce to an abject state in creation. Do they not understand?

36:69 And We have not taught him poetry, nor is it meet for him. This is naught but a Reminder and a plain Koran, 36:70 To warn him who would have life, and (that) the word may prove true against the disbelievers.

36:71 See they not that We have created cattle for them, out of what Our hands have wrought, so they are their masters?

36:72 And We have subjected them to them, so some of them they ride, and some they eat.

36:73 And therein they have advantages and drinks. Will they not then give thanks?

36:74 And they take gods besides Allah that they may be helped.

36:75 They are not able to help them, and they are a host brought up before them.

36:76 So let not their speech grieve thee. Surely We know what they do in secret and what they do openly.

36:77 Does not man see that We have created him from the small life germ? Then lo! he is an open disputant.

36:78 And he strikes our a likeness for Us and forgets his own creation. Says he: Who will give life to the bones, when they are rotten?

36:79 Say He will give life to them, Who brought them into existence at first, and He is Knower of all creation, 36:80 Who produced fire for you out of the green tree, so that with it you kindle.

36:81 Is not He Who created the heavens and the earth able to create the like of them? Yea! And He is the Creator (of all), the Knower.

36:82 His command, when He intends anything, is only to say to it, Be, and it is.

36:83 So glory be to Him in Whose hand is the kingdom of all things and to Him you will be returned.

KORAN CHAPTER 61 / Sura 43

Gold / Zukhruf

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

43:1 Beneficent God!

43:2 By the Book that makes manifest!

43:3 Surely We have made it an Arabic Koran that you may understand.

43:4 And it is in the Original of the Book with Us, truly elevated, full of wisdom.

43:5 Shall We then turn away the Reminder from you altogether because you are a prodigal people?

43:6 And how many a prophet did We send among the ancients!

43:7 And no prophet came to them but they mocked him.

43:8 Then We destroyed those stronger than these in prowess, and the example of the ancients has gone before.

43:9 And if thou ask them, Who created the heavens and the earth? they would say: The Mighty, the Knowing One, has created them, 43:10 Who made the earth a resting-place for you, and made in it ways for you that you might go aright.

43:11 And Who sends down water from the cloud according to a measure, then We raise to life thereby a dead land: even so will you be brought forth.

43:12 And Who created pairs of all things, and made for you ships and cattle oh which you ride,

43:13 That you may sit firm on their backs, then remember the favour of your Lord, when you are firmly seated thereon, and say: Glory be to Him Who made this subservient to us and we were not able to do it, 43:14 And surely to our Lord we must return.

43:15 And they assign to Him a part of His servants. Man, to be sure, is clearly ungrateful.

43:16 Or has He taken daughters to Himself of what He creates and chosen you to have sons?

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

43:17 And when one of them is given news of that of which he sets up a likeness for the Beneficent, his face becomes black and he is full of rage.

43:18 Is one decked with ornaments and unable to make plain speech in disputes (a partner with God)?

43:19 And they make the angels, who are the servants of the Beneficent, females. Did they witness their creation? Their evidence will be recorded and they will be questioned.

43:20 And they say if the Beneficent had pleased, we should not have worshipped them. They have no knowledge of this; they only lie.

43:21 Or have We given them a Book before it so that they hold fast to it?

43:22 Nay, they say We found our fathers on a course, and surely we are guided by their footsteps.

43:23 And thus, We sent not before thee a warner in a town, but its wealthy ones said: Surely we found our fathers following a religion, and we follow their footsteps.

43:24 (The warner) said And even if I bring to you a better guide than that which you found your fathers following? They said: We surely disbelieve in that with which you are sent.

43:25 So We exacted retribution from them, then see what was the end of the rejectors!

43:26 And when Abraham said to his sire and his people: I am clear of what you worship, 43:27 Save Him Who created me, for surely He will guide me.

43:28 And he made it a word to continue in his posterity that they might return.

43:29 Nay! I let these and their fathers enjoy till there came to them the Truth and a Messenger making manifest.

43:30 And when the Truth came to them they said: This is enchantment, and surely we are disbelievers in it.

43:31 And they say: Why was not this Koran revealed to a man of importance in the two towns?

43:32 Do they apportion the mercy of thy Lord? We portion out among them their livelihood in the life of this world, and We exalt some of them above others in rank, that some of them may take others in service. And the mercy of thy Lord is better than that which they amass.

43:33 And were it not that all people would become one (disbelieving) community, We would provide for those who disbelieve in the Beneficent, roofs of silver for their houses and stairs (of silver) by which they ascend,

43:34 And (of silver) the doors of their houses and the couches on which they recline, 43:35 And of gold. And all this is naught but a provision of this world's life; and the Hereafter is with thy Lord only for the dutiful.

43:36 And whoever turns himself away from the remembrance of the Beneficent, We appoint for him a devil, so he is his associate.

43:37 And surely they hinder them from the (right) path, and they think that they are guided aright.

43:38 Until when he comes to Us, he says: O would that between me and thee there were the distance of the East and the West! so evil is the associate 43:39 And as you did wrong, it will profit you naught this day that you are sharers in the chastisement.

43:40 Canst thou then make the deaf to hear or guide the blind and him who is in clear error?

43:41 So if We take thee away, still We shall exact retribution from them, 43:42 Or We shall show thee that which We promise them surely We are Possessors of power over them.

43:43 So hold fast to that which has been revealed to thee; surely thou art on the right path.

43:44 And surely it is a reminder for thee and thy people, and you will be questioned.

43:45 And ask those of Our messengers whom We sent before thee: Did We ever appoint gods to be worshipped besides the Beneficent?

43:46 And truly We sent Moses with Our messages to Pharaoh and his chiefs, so he said: I am the messenger of the Lord of the worlds;

43:47 But when he brought them Our signs, lo! they laughed at them.

43:48 And We showed them not a sign but it was greater than its fellow, and We seized them with chastisement that they might turn.

43:49 And they said: O enchanter, call on thy Lord for us, as He has made the covenant with thee; we shall surely follow guidance.

43:50 But when We removed from them the chastisement, lo! they broke the pledge.

43:51 And Pharaoh proclaimed amongst his people, saying: O my people, is not the kingdom of Egypt mine and these rivers flowing beneath me? Do you not see?

43:52 Rather I am better than this (fellow) who is contemptible, and can hardly express himself clearly.

43:53 Why, then, have bracelets of gold not been bestowed on him or angels come along with him in procession?

43:54* So he incited his people to levity and they obeyed him. Surely they were a transgressing people 43:55 Then when they displeased Us, We exacted retribution from them, so We drowned them all together.

43:56 And We made them a thing past and an example for later generations.

43:57 And when the son of Mary is mentioned as an example, lo! thy people raise a clamour thereat.

43:58 And they say: Are our gods better, or is he? They set it forth to thee only by way of disputation. Nay, they are a contentious people.

43:59 He was naught but a servant on whom We bestowed favour and We made him an example for the Children of Israel.

43:60 And if We pleased, We could make among you angels to be (Our) vicegerents in the land.

43:61 And this (revelation) is surely knowledge of the Hour, so have no doubt about it and follow me. This is the right path.

43:62 And let not the devil hinder you; surely he is your open enemy.

43:63 And when Jesus came with clear arguments, he said: I have come to you indeed with wisdom, and to make clear to you some of that about which you differ. So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.

43:64 Surely Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so serve Him. This is the right path.

43:65 But parties among them differed, so woe to those who did wrong for the chastisement of a painful day!

43:66 Wait they for aught but the Hour, that it should come on them all of a sudden, while they perceive not?

43:67 Friends on that day will be foes one to another, except those who keep their duty.

43:68 O My servants, there is no fear for you this day, nor will you grieve

43:69 Those who believed in Our messages and submitted (to Us),

43:70 Enter the Garden, you and your wives, being made happy.

43:71 Sent round to them are golden bowls and drinking-cups, and therein is that which (their) souls yearn for and the eyes delight in, and therein you will abide.

43:72 And this is the Garden, which you are made to inherit on account of what you did.

43:73 For you therein is abundant fruit to eat thereof.

43:74 Surely the guilty will abide in the chastisement of hell.

43:75 It is not abated for them and they will therein despair.

43:76 And We wronged them not but they were themselves the wrongdoers.

43:77 And they cry: O Malik, let thy Lord make an end of us. He will say: You shall stay (here).

43:78 Certainly We bring the Truth to you, but most of you are averse to the Truth.

43:79 Or have they settled an affair? But it is We Who settle (affairs).

43:80 Or do they think that We hear not their secrets and their private counsels? Aye, and Our messengers with them write down.

43:81 Say: The Beneficent has no son; so I am the foremost of those who serve (God).

43:82 Glory to the Lord of the heavens and the earth, the Lord of the Throne of Power, from what they describe 43:83 So let them talk and sport until they meet their day which they are promised.

43:84 And He it is Who is God in the heavens and God in the earth. And He is the Wise, the Knowing.

43:85 And blessed is He Whose is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and all between them; and with Him is the knowledge of the Hour, and to Him you will be returned.

43:86 And those whom they call upon besides Him control not intercession, but he who beats witness to the Truth and they know (him).

43:87 And if thou wert to ask them who created them, they would say: Allah. How are they then turned back?

43:88 And his cry — O my Lord, these are a people who believe not!

43:89 So turn away from them and say, Peace! They will soon come to know.

KORAN CHAPTER 62 / Sura 72

The Jinn (The Devil) / Al-Jinn

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

72:1 Say It has been revealed to me that a party of the jinn listened, so they said: Surely we have heard a wonderful Koran,

72:2 Guiding to the right way — so we believe in it. And we shall nor set up any one with our Lord:

72:3 And He — exalted be the majesty of our Lord! — has not taken a consort, nor a son:

72:4 And the foolish among us used to forge extravagant lies against Allah:

72:5 And we thought that men and jinn did not utter a lie against Allah:

72:6 And persons from among men used to seek refuge with persons from among the jinn, so they increased them in evil doing:

72:7 And they thought, as you think, that Allah would not raise anyone:

72:8 And we sought to reach heaven, but we found it filled with strong guards and flames:

72:9 And we used to sit in some of the sitting-places thereof to steal a hearing. But he who tries to listen now finds a flame lying in wait for him:

72:10 And we know not whether evil is meant for those on earth or whether their Lord means to direct them aright:

72:11 And some of us are good and others of us are below that — we are sects following different ways:

72:12 And we know that we cannot escape Allah in the earth, nor can we escape Him by flight:

72:13 And when we heard the guidance, we believed in it. So whoever believes in his Lord, he fears neither loss nor injustice:

72:14 And some of us are those who submit, and some of us are deviators. So whoever submits, these aim at the right way.

72:15 And as to deviators, they are fuel of hell:

72:16 And if they keep to the (right) way, We would certainly give them to drink of abundant water,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

72:17 So that We may try them thereby. And whoever turns away from the reminder of his Lord, He will make him enter into an afflicting chastisement:

72:18 And the mosques are Allah's, so call not upon any one with Allah:

72:19 And when the Servant of Allah stood up praying to Him, they well-nigh crowded him (to death).

72:20 Say: I only call upon my Lord, and associate naught with Him.

72:21 Say: I control not evil nor good for you.

72:22 Say: None can protect me against Allah, nor can I find any refuge besides Him:

72:23 (Mine is naught) but to deliver (the command) of Allah and His messages. And whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger, surely for him is the Fire of hell, to abide therein for ages, 72:24 Till when they see that which they are promised, they will know who is weaker in helpers and less in numbers.

72:25 Say: I know nor whether that which you are promised is nigh or if my Lord will appoint for it a distant term.

72:26 The Knower of the unseen, so He makes His secrets known to none,

72:27 Except a messenger whom He chooses. For surely He makes a guard to go before him and after him, 72:28 That He may know that they have truly delivered the messages of their Lord; and He encompasses what is with them, and He keeps account of all things.

KORAN CHAPTER 63 / Sura 77

The Kingdom / Al-Mulk

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

67:1 Blessed is He in Whose hand is the Kingdom, and He is Possessor of power over all thing.

67:2 Who created death and life that He might try you — which of you is best in deeds. And He is the Mighty, the Forgiving, 67:3 Who created the seven heavens alike. Thou seest no incongruity in the creation of the Beneficent. Then look again: Canst thou see any disorder?

67:4 Then turn the eye again and again — thy look will return to thee confused, while it is fatigued.

67:5 And certainly We have adorned this lower heaven with lamps and We make them means of conjectures for the devils, and We have prepared for them the chastisement of burning.

67:6 And for those who disbelieve in their Lord is the chastisement of hell, and evil is the resort.

67:7 When they are cast therein, they will hear a loud moaning of it as it heaves, 67:8 Almost bursting for fury. Whenever a group is cast into it, its keepers ask them: Did not a warner come to you?

67:9 They say: Yea, indeed a warner came to us, but we denied and said Allah has revealed nothing you are only in great error.

67:10 And they say: Had we but listened or pondered, we should not have been among the inmates of the burning Fire.

67:11 Thus they will confess their stns so far (from good) are the inmates of the burning Fire.

67:12 Those who fear their Lord in secret, for them is surely forgiveness and a great reward.

67:13 And conceal your word or manifest it, truly He is Knower of that which is in the hearts.

67:14 Does He not know Who created? And He is the Knower of subtilities, the Aware.

67:15 He it is Who made the earth subservient to you, so go about in the spacious sides thereof, and eat of His sustenance. And to Him is the rising (after death).

67:16 Do you feel secure that He Who is in the heaven will not make the earth to swallow you up? Then lo! it will shake.

67:17 Or do you feel secure that He Who is in the Heaven will not send on you a violent wind? Then shall you know how (truthful) was My warning!

67:18 And certainly those before them denied, then how (terrible) was My disapproval.

67:19 Do they not see the birds above them spreading and contracting (their wings)? Naught upholds them save the Beneficent. Surely He is Seer of all things.

67:20 Or who is it that will be a host for you to help you against the Beneficent? The disbelievers are in naught but delusion.

67:21 Or who is it that will give you sustenance, if He should withhold His sustenance? Nay, they persist in disdain and aversion.

67:22 Is, then, he who goes prone upon his face better guided or he who walks upright on a straight path?

67:23 Say: He it is Who brought you into being and made for you ears and eyes and hearts. Little thanks it is you give!

67:24 Say: He it is Who multiplies you in the earth and to Him you will be gathered.

67:25 And they say: When will this threat be (executed), if you are truthful?

67:26 Say: The knowledge is with Allah only, and I am only a plain warner.

67:27 But when they see it nigh, the faces of those who disbelieve will be grieved, and it will be said: This is that which you used to call for.

67:28 Say: Have you considered if Allah should destroy me and those with me — rather He will have mercy on us yet who will protect the disbelievers from a painful chastisement?

67:29 Say: He is the Beneficent — we believe in Him and on Him do we rely. So you will come to know who it is that is in clear error.

67:30 Say: Have you considered if your water should subside, who is it then that will bring you flowing water?

KORAN CHAPTER 64 / Sura 78

The Believers / Al-Muminun

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

23:1 Successful indeed are the believers,

23:2 Who are humble in their prayers,

23:3 And who shun what is vain,

23:4 And who act for the sake of purity,

23:5 And who restrain their sexual passions —

23:6 Except in the presence of their mates or those whom their right hands possess, for such surely are not blameable,

23:7 But whoever seeks to go beyond that, such are transgressors —

23:8 And those who are keepers of their trusts and their covenant,

23:9 And those who keep a guard on their prayers.

23:10 These are the heirs,

23:11 Who inherit Paradise. Therein they will abide.

23:12 And certainly We create man of an extract of clay,

23:13 Then We make him a small life-germ in a firm resting-place,

23:14 Then We make the life-germ a clot, then We make the clot a lump of flesh, then We make (in) the lump of flesh bones, then We clothe the bones with flesh, then We cause it to grow into another creation. So blessed be Allah, the Best of creators.

23:15 Then after that you certainly die.

23:16 Then on the day of Resurrection you will surely be raised up.

23:17 And indeed We have made above you seven ways — and never are We heedless of creation.

23:18 And We send down water from the cloud according to a measure, then We cause it to settle in the earth, and We are indeed able to carry it away.

23:19 Then We cause to grow thereby gardens of palm-trees and grapes for you. You have therein many fruits and of them you eat:

23:20 And a tree that grows out of Mount Sinai, which produces oil and relish for the eaters.

23:21 And surely there is a lesson for you in the cattle. We make you to drink of what is in their bellies, and you have in them many advantages and of them you eat, 23:22 And on them and on the ships you are borne.

23:23 And certainly We sent Noah to his people, so he said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no God other than Him. Will you not guard against evil?

23:24 But the chiefs of those who disbelieved from among his people said: He is nothing but a mortal like yourselves, who desires to have superiority over you. And if Allah had pleased, He could have sent down angels. We have not heard of this among our fathers of yore.

23:25 He is only a madman, so bear with him for a time.

23:26 He said: My Lord, help me against their calling me a liar.

23:27 So We revealed to him: Make the ark under Our eyes and according to Our revelation; then when Our command comes, and water gushes forth from the valley, take into it of every kind a pair, two, and thy people, except those among them against whom the word has gone forth, and speak not to Me in respect of those who are unjust; surely they will be drowned.

23:28 Then when thou art firmly seated, thou and those with thee, in the ark, say: Praise be to Allah, Who delivered us from the unjust people!

23:29 And say: My Lord, cause me to land a blessed landing and Thou art the Best of those who bring to land.

23:30 Surely there are signs in this, and surely We are ever trying (men).

23:31 Then We raised after them another generation.

23:32 So We sent among them a messenger from among them, saying: Serve Allah — you have no God other than Him. Will you not guard against evil?

23:33 And the chiefs of His people who disbelieved and called the meeting of the Hereafter a lie, and whom We had given plenty to enjoy in this world's life, said: This is only a mortal like you, eating of that whereof you eat and drinking of what you drink.

23:34 And if you obey a mortal like yourselves, then surely you are losers.

23:35 Does he promise you that, when you are dead and become dust and bones, you will then be brought forth?

23:36 Far, very far, is that which you are promised:

23:37 There is naught but our life in this world: we die and we live and we shall not be raised again:

23:38 He is naught but a man who has forged a lie against Allah, and we are not going to believe in him.

23:39 He said: My Lord, help me against their calling me a liar.

23:40 He said: In a little while they will certainly be repenting.

23:41 So the punishment overtook them in justice, and We made them as rubbish; so away with the unjust people!

23:42 Then We raised after them other generations.

23:43 No people can hasten on their doom, nor can they postpone (it).

23:44 Then We sent Our messengers one after another. Whenever its messenger came to a people, they called him a liar, so We made them follow one another and We made them stories. So away with a people who believe not!

23:45 Then We sent Moses and his brother Aaron with Our messages and a clear authority 23:46 To Pharaoh and his chiefs, but they behaved haughtily and they were an insolent people.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

23:47 So they said: Shall We believe in two mortals like ourselves while their people serve us?

23:48 So they rejected them and became of those who were destroyed.

23:49 And certainly We gave Moses the Book that they might go aright.

23:50 And We made the son of Mary and his mother a sign, and We gave them refuge on a lofty ground having meadows and springs.

* * *

23:51 O ye messengers, eat of the good things and do good. Surely I am Knower of what you do.

23:52 And surely this your community — one community, and I am your Lord, so keep your duty to Me.

23:53 But they became divided into sects, each party rejoicing in that which was with them.

23:54 So leave them in their ignorance till a time.

23:55 Think they that by the wealth and children wherewith We aid them, 23:56 We are hastening to them of good things? Nay, they perceive not.

23:57 Surely they who live in awe for fear of their Lord,

23:58 And those who believe in the messages of their Lord,

23:59 And those who associate naught with their Lord,

23:60 And those who give what they give while their hearts are full of fear that to their Lord they must return —

23:61 These hasten to good things and they are foremost in attaining them.

23:62 And We lay not on any soul a burden except to the extent of its ability, and with Us is a book which speaks the truth, and they are not wronged.

23:63 Nay, their hearts are in ignorance about it, and they have besides this other deeds which they do.

23:64 Until, when We seize those who lead easy lives among them with chastisement, lo! they cry for succour.

23:65 Cry not for succour this day. Surely you will not be helped by Us.

23:66 My messages were indeed recited to you, but you used to turn back on your heels

23:67 Haughtily, passing nights in talking nonsense about it.

23:68 Do they not then ponder the Word? Or has there come to them that which did nor come to their fathers of old?

23:69 Or do they not recognize their Messenger, that they deny him?

23:70 Or say they: There is madness in him? Nay, he has brought them the Truth, and most of them hate the Truth.

23:71 And if the Truth follow their desires, the heavens and the earth and all those who are therein would perish. Nay, We have brought them their reminder, but they turn away from their reminder.

23:72 Or dost thou ask them a recompense? But the recompense of thy Lord is best, and He is the Best of providers.

23:73 And surely thou callest them to a right way.

23:74 And surely those who believe not in the Hereafter are deviating from the way.

23:75 And if We show mercy to them and remove the distress they have, they would persist in their inordinacy, blindly wandering on.

23:76 And already We seized them with chastisement, but they were not submissive to their Lord, nor did they humble themselves.

23:77 Until, when We open for them a door of severe chastisement, lo! they are in despair at it.

* * *

23:78 And He it is Who made for you the ears and the eyes and the hearts. Little it is that you give thanks!

23:79 And He it is Who multiplied you in the earth, and to Him you will be gathered.

23:80 And He it is Who gives life and causes death, and His is the alternation of the night and the day. Do you not then understand?

23:81 Nay, they say the like of what the ancients said.

23:82 They say: When we die and become dust and bones, shall we then be raised up?

23:83 We are indeed promised this, and (so were) our fathers before. This is naught but stories of those of old!

23:84 Say: Whose is the earth, and whoever is therein, if you know?

23:85 They will say Allah's. Say: Will you not then mind?

23:86 Say: Who is the Lord of the seven heavens and the Lord of the mighty Throne of power?

23:87 They will say: (This is) Allah's. Say: Will you not then guard against evil?

23:88 Say: Who is it in Whose hand is the kingdom of all things and He protects, and none is protected against Him, if you know?

23:89 They will say: (This is) Allah's. Say: Whence are you then deceived?

23:90 Nay, We have brought them the Truth and surely they are liars.

23:91 Allah has not taken to Himself a son, nor is there with Him any (other) god — in that case would each god have taken away what he created, and some of them would have over-powered others. Glory be to Allah above what they describe 23:92 The Knower of the unseen and the seen; so may He be exalted above what they associate (with Him)!

* * *

23:93 Say: My Lord, if Thou show me that which they are promised —

23:94 My Lord, then place me not with the unjust people.

23:95 And surely We are well Able to show thee what We promise them.

23:96 Repel evil with that which is best. We know best what they describe.

23:97 And say: My Lord, I seek refuge in Thee from the evil suggestions of the devils, 23:98 And I seek refuge in Thee, my Lord, lest they come to me.

23:99 Until when death overtakes one of them, he says: My Lord, send me back, 23:100 That I may do good in that which I have left. By no means! It is but a word that he speaks. And before them is a barrier, until the day they are raised.

23:101 So when the trumpet is blown, there will be no ties of relationship among them that day, nor will they ask of one another.

23:102 Then those whose good deeds are heavy, those are the successful.

23:103 And those whose good deeds are light, those are they who have lost their souls, abiding in hell.

23:104 The Fire will scorch their faces, and they therein will be in severe affliction.

23:105 Were not My messages recited to you, but you used to reject them?

23:106 They will say: Our Lord, our adversity overcame us, and we were an erring people.

23:107 Our Lord, take us out of it; then if we return (to evil), we shall be unjust.

23:108 He will say: Begone therein, and speak not to Me.

23:109 Surely there was a party of My servants who said: Our Lord, we believe, so forgive us and have mercy on us, and Thou art the Best of those who show mercy.

23:110 But you ridiculed them, until they made you forget remembrance of Me, and you used to laugh at them.

23:111 Surely I have rewarded them this day because they were patient, that they are the achievers.

23:112 He will say: How many years did you tarry in the earth?

23:113 They will say: We tarried a day or part of a day, but ask those who keep account.

23:114 He will say: You tarried but a little if you only knew!

23:115 Do you then think that We have created you in vain, and that you will not be returned to Us?

23:116 So exalted be Allah, the True King! No God is there but He, the Lord of the Throne of Grace.

23:117 And whoever invokes, besides Allah, another god — he has no proof of this — his reckoning is only with his Lord. Surely the disbelievers will not be successful.

23:118 And say: My Lord, forgive and have mercy, and Thou art the Best of those who show mercy.

KORAN CHAPTER 65 / Sura 21

The Prophets / Al-Anbiya

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

21:1 Their reckoning draws nigh to men, and they turn away in heedlessness.

21:2 There comes not to them a new Reminder from their Lord but they hear it while they sport, 21:3 Their hearts trifling. And they — the wrongdoers — counsel in secret: He is nothing but a mortal like yourselves; will you then yield to enchantment while you see?

21:4 He said: My Lord knows (every) utterance in the heaven and the earth, and He is the Hearer, the Knower.

21:5 Nay, say they: Medleys of dreams! nay, he has forged it! nay, he is a poet! so let him bring to us a sign such as the former (prophets) were sent (with).

21:6 Not a town believed before them which We destroyed: will they then believe?

21:7 And We sent not before thee any but men to whom We sent revelation; so ask the followers of the Reminder if you know not.

21:8 Not did We give them bodies not eating food, nor did they abide.

21:9 Then We made Our promise good to them; so We delivered them and whom We pleased, and We destroyed the extravagant.

21:10 Certainly We have revealed to you a Book which will give you eminence. Do you not then understand?

* * *

21:11 And how many a town which was iniquitous did We demolish, and We raised up after it another people!

21:12 So when they felt Our might, lo! they began to flee from it.

21:13 Flee not and return to the easy lives which you led, and to your dwellings, that you may be questioned.

21:14 They said: O woe to us! Surely we were unjust.

21:15 And this cry of theirs ceased not till We made them cut off, extinct.

21:16 And We created not the heaven and the earth and what is between them for sport.

21:17 Had We wished to take a pastime, We would have taken it from before Ourselves; by no means would We do (so).

21:18 Nay, We hurl the Truth against falsehood, so it knocks out its brains, and lo! it vanishes. And woe to you for what you describe!

21:19 And to Him belongs whoever is in the heavens and the earth. And those who are with Him are not too proud to serve Him, nor are they weary.

21:20 They glorify (Him) night and day: they flag not.

21:21 Or have they taken gods from the earth who give life?

21:22 If there were in them gods besides Allah, they would both have been in disorder. So glory be to Allah, the Lord of the Throne, being above what they describe!

21:23 He cannot be questioned as to what He does, and they will be questioned.

21:24 Or, have they taken gods besides Him? Say Bring your proof. This is the reminder of those with me and the reminder of those before me. Nay, most of them know not the Truth, so they turn away.

21:25 And We sent no messenger before thee but We revealed to him that there is no God but Me, so serve Me.

21:26 And they say: The Beneficent has taken to Himself a son. Glory be to Him! Nay, they are honoured servants —

21:27 They speak not before He speaks, and according to His command they act.

21:28 He knows what is before them and what is behind them, and they intercede not except for him whom He approves, and for fear of Him they tremble.

21:29 And whoever of them should say I am a god besides Him, such a one We recompense with hell. Thus We reward the unjust.

21:30 Do not those who disbelieve see that the heavens and the earth were closed up, so We rent them. And We made from water everything living. Will they not then believe?

21:31 And We made firm mountains in the earth lest it be convulsed with them, and We made in it wide ways that they might follow a right direction.

21:32 And We have made the heaven a guarded canopy; yet they turn away from its signs.

21:33 And He it is Who created the night and the day and the sun and the moon. All float in orbits.

21:34 And We granted abiding for ever to no mortal before thee. If thou diest, will they abide?

21:35 Every soul must taste of death. And We test you by evil and good by way of trial. And to Us you are returned.

21:36 And when those who disbelieve see thee, they treat thee not but with mockery: Is this he who speaks of your gods? And they deny when the Beneficent God is mentioned.

21:37 Man is created of haste. Soon will I show you My signs, so ask Me not to hasten them.

21:38 And they say When will this threat come to pass, if you are truthful?

21:39 If those who disbelieve but knew the time when they will not be able to ward off the fire from their faces, nor from their backs, and they will not be helped!

21:40 Nay, it will come to them all of a sudden and confound them, so they will not have the power to avert it, nor will they be respited.

21:41 And messengers before thee were indeed mocked, so there befell those of them who scoffed, that where-at they scoffed.

21:42 Say: Who guards you by night and by day from the Beneficent? Nay, they turn away at the mention of their Lord.

21:43 Or, have they gods who can defend them against Us? They cannot help themselves, nor can they be defended from Us.

21:44 Nay, We gave provision to these and their fathers, until life was prolonged to them. See they not then that We are visiting the land, curtailing it of its sides? Can they then prevail?

21:45 Say: I warn you only by revelation; and the deaf hear not the call when they are warned.

21:46 And if a blast of the chastisement of thy Lord were to touch them, they would say: O woe to us! Surely we were unjust.

21:47 And We will set up a just balance on the day of Resurrection, so no soul will be wronged in the least. And if there be the weight of a grain of mustard seed, We will bring it. And Sufficient are We to take account.

21:48 And certainly We gave Moses and Aaron the criterion and a light and a reminder for those who keep from evil, 21:49 Who fear their Lord in secret and they are fearful of the Hour.

21:50 And this is a blessed Reminder which We have revealed. Will you then deny it?

21:51 And certainly We gave Abraham his rectitude before, and We knew him well.

21:52 When he said to his sire and his people What are these images to whose worship you cleave?

21:53 They said We found our fathers worshipping them.

21:54 He said Certainly you have been, you and your fathers, in manifest error.

21:55 They said: Hast thou brought us the truth, or art thou of the jesters?

21:56 He said Nay, your Lord is the Lord of the heavens and the earth, Who created them and I am of those who bear witness to this.

21:57 And, by Allah! I will certainly plan against your idols after you go away, turning your backs.

21:58 So he broke them into pieces, except the chief of them, that haply they might return to it 21:59 They said: Who has done this to our gods? Surely he is one of the unjust.

21:60 They said: We heard a youth, who is called Abraham, speak of them.

21:61 They said: Then bring him before the people's eyes, perhaps they may bear witness.

21:62 They said: Hast thou done this to our gods, O Abraham?

21:63 He said: Surely (someone) has done it. The chief of them is this; so ask them, if they can speak.

21:64 Then they turned to themselves and said: Surely you yourselves are wrongdoers;

21:65 Then they were made to hang down their heads: Thou knowest indeed that they speak not.

21:66 He said: Serve you then besides Allah what does you no good, nor harm you?

21:67 Fie on you and on what you serve besides Allah! Have you no sense?

21:68 They said: Burn him, and help your gods, if you are going to do (anything).

21:69 We said: O fire, be coolness and peace for Abraham:

21:70 And they intended a plan against him, but We made them the greater losers.

21:71 And We delivered him and Lot (directing them) to the land which We had blessed for the nations.

21:72 And We gave him Isaac; and Jacob, a son's son. And We made (them) all good.

21:73 And We made them leaders who guided (people) by Our command, and We revealed to them the doing of good and the keeping up of prayer and the giving of alms, and Us (alone) they served;

21:74 And to Lot We gave wisdom and knowledge, and We delivered him from the town which wrought abomination. Surely they were an evil people, transgressors 21:75 And We admitted him to Our mercy; surely he was of the righteous.

21:76 And Noah, when he cried aforetime, so We answered him, and delivered him and his people from the great calamity.

21:77 And We helped him against the people who rejected Our messages. Surely they were an evil people, so We drowned them all.

21:78 And David and Solomon, when they gave judgement concerning the field, when the people's sheep strayed therein by night, and We were bearers of witness to their judgement.

21:79 So We made Solomon to understand it. And to each (of them) We gave wisdom and knowledge. And We made the mountains, declaring (Our) glory, and the birds, subservient to David. And We were the Doers.

21:80 And We taught him the making of coats of mail for you, to protect you in your wars will you then be grateful?

21:81 And to Solomon (We subdued) the wind blowing violent, pursuing its course by His command to the land which We had blessed, and We are ever Knower of all things.

21:82 And of the devils there were those who dived for him and did other work besides that; and We kept guard over them:

21:83 And Job, when he cried to his Lord: Distress has afflicted me and Thou art the most Merciful of those who show mercy.

21:84 So We responded to him and removed the distress he had, and We gave him his people and the like of them with them; a mercy from Us and a reminder to the worshippers.

21:85 And Ishmael and Idris and Dhu-I-Kifl; all were of the patient ones;

21:86 And We admitted them to Our mercy; surely they were of the good ones.

21:87 And Dhu-I-Nun, when he went away in wrath, and he thought that We would not straiten him, so he called out among afflictions. There is no God but Thou, glory be to Thee! Surely I am of the sufferers of loss.

21:88 So We responded to him and delivered him from grief. And thus do We deliver the believers 21:89 And Zacharias, when he cried to his Lord: My Lord, leave me not alone and Thou art the Best of inheritors.

21:90 So We responded to him and gave him John and made his wife fit for him. Surely they used to vie, one with another, in good deeds and called upon Us, hoping and fearing and they were humble before Us.

21:91 And she who guarded her chastity, so We breathed into her of Our inspiration, and made her and her son a sign for the nations.

21:92 Surely this your community is a single community, and I am your Lord, so serve Me.

21:93 And they cut off their affair among them: to Us will all return.

21:94 So whoever does good deeds and is a believer, there is no rejection of his effort, and We surely write (it) down for him.

21:95 And it is forbidden to a town which We destroy: they shall not return.

21:96 Even when Gog and Magog are let loose and they sally forth from every elevated place.

21:97 And the True Promise draws nigh, then lo the eyes of those who disbelieve will be fixedly open: O woe to us Surely we were heedless of this; nay, we were unjust.

21:98 Surely you and what you worship besides Allah are fuel of hell: to it you will come.

21:99 Had these been gods, they would not have come to it. And all will abide therein, 21:100 For them therein is groaning and therein they hear not.

21:101 Those for whom the good has already gone forth from Us, they will be kept far off from it 21:102 They will nor hear the faintest sound of it and they will abide in that which their souls desire.

21:103 The great Terror will not grieve them, and the angels will meet them: This is your day which you were promised.

21:104 The day when We roll up heaven like the rolling up of the scroll of writings. As We began the first creation, We shall reproduce it. A promise (binding) on Us. We shall bring it about.

21:105 And certainly We wrote in the Book after the reminder that My righteous servants will inherit the land.

21:106 Surely in this is a message for a people who serve (Us).

21:107 And We have not sent thee but as a mercy to the nations.

21:108 Say It is only revealed to me that your God is one God will you then submit?

21:109 But if they turn back, say: I have warned you in fairness, and I know not whether that which you are promised is near or far.

21:110 Surely He knows what is spoken openly and He knows what you hide.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

21:111 And I know not if this may be a trial for you and a provision till a time.

21:112 He said: My Lord, judge Thou with truth. And our Lord is the Beneficent, Whose help is sought against what you ascribe (to Him).

KORAN CHAPTER 66 / Sura 25

The Discrimination / Al-Furqan

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

25:1 I Blessed is He Who sent down the Discrimination upon His servant that he might be a warner to the nations —

25:2 He, Whose is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth, and Who did not take to Himself a son, and Who has no associate in the kingdom, and Who created everything, then ordained for it a measure.

25:3 And they take besides Him gods who create naught, while they are themselves created, and they control for themselves no harm nor profit, and they control not death, nor life, nor raising to life.

25:4 And those who disbelieve say this is nothing but a lie, which he has forged, and other people have helped him at it. So indeed they have brought an iniquity and a falsehood.

25:5 And they say Stories of the ancients, which he has got written, so they are read out to him morning and evening!

25:6 Say: He has revealed it, Who knows the secret of the heavens and the earth. Surely He is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

25:7 And they say: What a Messenger is this? He eats food and goes about in the markets. Why has not an angel been sent down to him to be a warner with him?

25:8 Or a treasure given to him, or a garden from which to eat? And the evildoers say: You follow but a man bewitched!

25:9 See what parables they set forth for thee — they have gone astray, so they cannot find a way.

25:10 Blessed is He Who if He please, will give thee what is better than this: Gardens wherein flow rivers. And He will give thee palaces.

25:11 But they deny the Hour, and We have prepared a burning Fire for him who denies the Hour.

25:12 When it sees them from a faroff place, they will hear its raging and roaring.

25:13 And when they are cast into a narrow place thereof in chains, they will there pray for destruction.

25:14 Pray nor this day for destruction once but pray for destruction again and again.

25:15 Say: Is this better or the Garden of Perpetuity, which the dutiful are promised? That is a reward and a resort for them.

25:16 For them therein is what they desire, to abide. It is a promise to be prayed for from thy Lord.

25:17 And on the day when He will gather them, and that which they serve besides Allah, He will say: Was it you who led astray these My servants, or did they themselves stray from the path?

25:18 They will say: Glory be to Thee! it was not beseeching for us that we should take for protectors others besides Thee, but Thou didst make them and their fathers to enjoy until they forgot the Reminder, and they became a lost people.

25:19 So they will give you the lie in what you say, then you can neither ward off (evil), nor (obtain) help. And whoever among you does wrong, We shall make him taste a great chastisement.

25:20 And We did not send before thee any messengers but they surely ate food and went about in the markets. And We make some of you a trial for others. Will you bear patiently? And thy Lord is ever Seeing.

25:21 And those who look not for meeting with Us, say: Why have not angels been sent down to us, or (why) do we not see our Lord? Indeed they are too proud of themselves and revolt in great revolt.

25:22 On the day when they will see the angels, there will be no good news for the guilty, and they will say: Let there be a strong barrier!

25:23 And We shall turn to the work they have done, so We shall render it as scattered motes.

25:24 The owners of the Garden will on that day be in a better abiding-place and a fairer resting-place.

25:25 And on the day when the heaven bursts asunder with clouds, and the angels are sent down, as they are sent.

25:26 The kingdom on that day rightly belongs to the Beneficent, and it will be a hard day for the disbelievers.

25:27 And on the day when the wrongdoer will bite his hands, saying: Would that I had taken a way with the Messenger!

25:28 O woe is me! would that I had not taken such a one for a friend!

25:29 Certainly he led me astray from the Reminder after it had come to me. And the devil ever deserts man.

25:30 And the Messenger will say My Lord, surely my people treat this Koran as a forsaken thing.

25:31 And thus have We made for every prophet an enemy from among the guilty, and sufficient is thy Lord as a Guide and a Helper.

25:32 And those who disbelieve say: Why has not the Koran been revealed to him all at once? Thus, that We may strengthen thy heart thereby and We have arranged it well in arranging.

25:33 And they cannot bring thee a question, but We have brought thee the truth and the best explanation.

25:34 Those who will be gathered to hell on their faces they are in an evil plight and straying farther away from the path.

25:35 And certainly We gave Moses the Book and We appointed with him his brother Aaron, an aider.

25:36 Then We said: Go you both to the people who reject Our messages. So We destroyed them with utter destruction.

25:37 And the people of Noah, when they rejected the messengers, We drowned them, and made them a sign for men. And We have prepared a painful chastisement for the wrongdoers —

25:38 And Ad and Thamud and the dwellers of Rass and many generations in between.

25:39 And to each We gave examples and each did We destroy with utter destruction.

25:40 And indeed they pass by the town wherein was rained an evil rain. Do they not see it? Nay, they hope not to be raised again.

25:41 And when they see thee, they take thee for naught but a jest Is this he whom Allah has raised to be a messenger?

25:42 He had well-nigh led us astray from our gods had we not adhered to them patiently! And they will know, when they see the chastisement, who is mote astray from the path.

25:43 Hast thou seen him who takes his low desires for his god? Wilt thou be a guardian over him?

25:44 Or thinkest thou that most of them hear or understand? They are but as the cattle; nay, they are farther astray from the path.

25:45 Seest thou not how thy Lord extends the shade? And if He pleased, He would have made it stationary. Then We have made the sun an indication of it, 25:46 Then We take it to Ourselves, taking little by little.

25:47 And He it is Who made the night a covering for you, and sleep a rest, and He made the day to rise up again.

25:48 And He it is Who sends the winds as good news before His mercy and We send down pure water from the clouds, 25:49 That We may give life thereby to a dead land, and give it for drink to cattle and many people that We have created.

25:50 And certainly We repeat this to them that they may be mindful, but most men consent to naught but denying.

25:51 And if We pleased, We could raise a warner in every town.

25:52 So obey not the disbelievers, and strive against them a mighty striving with it.

25:53 And He it is Who has made the two seas to flow freely, the one sweet, very sweet, and the other saltish, bitter. And between the two He has made a barrier and inviolable obstruction.

25:54 And He it is Who has created man from water, then He has made for him blood-relationship and marriage-relationship. And thy Lord is ever Powerful.

25:55 And they serve besides Allah that which can neither profit them, nor harm them. And the disbeliever is ever an aider against his Lord.

25:56 And We have not sent thee but as a giver of good news and as a warner.

25:57 Say: I ask of you naught in return for it except that he who will may take a way to his Lord.

25:58 And rely on the Ever-Living Who dies not, and celebrate His praise. And sufficient is He as being Aware of His servants' sins, 25:59 Who created the heavens and the earth and what is between them in six periods, and He is established on the Throne of Power, the Beneficent. So ask respecting Him one aware.

25:60 And when it is said to them: Make obeisance to the Beneficent, they say: And what is the Beneficent? Shall we make obeisance to what thou biddest us? And it adds to their aversion.

25:61 Blessed is He Who made the stars in the heavens and made therein a sun and a moon giving light!

25:62 And He it is, Who made the night and the day to follow each other, for him who desires to be mindful or desires to be thankful.

25:63 And the servants of the Beneficent are they who walk on the earth in humility, and when the ignorant address them, they say, Peace!

25:64 And they who pass the night prostrating themselves before their Lord and standing.

25:65 And they who say Our Lord, avert from us the chastisement of hell; surely the chastisement thereof is a lasting evil:

25:66 It is surely an evil abode and resting-place!

25:67 And they who, when they spend are neither extravagant nor parsimonious, and the just mean is ever between these.

25:68* And they who call not upon another god with Allah and slay not the soul which Allah has forbidden, except in the cause of justice, nor commit fornication; and he who does this shall meet a requital of sin —

25:69* The chastisement will be doubled to him on the day of Resurrection, and he will abide therein in abasement —

25:70* Except him who repents and believes and does good deeds; for such Allah changes their evil deeds to good ones. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

25:71 And whoever repents and does good, he surely turns to Allah a (goodly) turning.

25:72 And they who witness no falsehood, and when they pass by what is vain, they pass by nobly.

25:73 And they who, when reminded of the messages of their Lord, fall not down thereat deaf and blind.

25:74 And they who say, Our Lord, grant us in our wives and our offspring the joy of our eyes, and make us leaders for those who guard against evil.

25:75 These are rewarded with high places because they are patient, and are met therein with greetings and salutation, 25:76 Abiding therein. Goodly the abode and the resting-place!

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

25:77 Say: My Lord would not care for you, were it not for your prayer. Now indeed you have rejected, so the punishment will come.

KORAN CHAPTER 67 / Sura 17

The Israelites / Bani Israil

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

17:1 Glory to Him Who carried His servant by night from the Sacred Mosque to the Remote Mosque, whose precincts We blessed, that We might show him of Our signs! 1410 Surely He is the Hearing, the Seeing.

17:2 And We gave Moses the Book and made it a guidance to the Children of Israel (saying): Take no guardian beside Me —

17:3 The offspring of those whom We bore with Noah. Surely he was a grateful servant.

17:4 And We made known to the Children of Israel in the Book: Certainly you will make mischief in the land twice, and behave insolently with mighty arrogance.

17:5 So when of the two, the first warning came to pass, We raised against you Our servants, of mighty prowess, so they made havoc in (your) houses. And it was an accomplished threat.

17:6 Then We gave you back the turn against them, and aided you with wealth and children and made you a numerous band.

17:7 If you do good, you do good for your own souls. And if you do evil, it is for them. So when the second warning came, (We raised another people) that they might bring you to grief and that they might enter the Mosque as they entered it the first time, and that they might destroy, whatever they conquered, with utter destruction.

17:8 It may be that your Lord will have mercy on you. And if you return (to mischief), We will return (to punishment). And We have made hell a prison for the disbelievers.

17:9 Surely this Koran guides to that which is most upright, and gives good news to the believers who do good that theirs is a great reward, 17:10 And that those who believe not in the Hereafter, We have prepared for them a painful chastisement.

17:11 And man prays for evil as he ought to pray for good; and man is ever hasty.

17:12 And We made the night and the day two signs, then We have made the sign of the night to pass away and We have made the sign of the day manifest, so that you may seek grace from your Lord, and that you may know the numbering of years and the reckoning. And We have explained everything with distinctness.

17:13 And We have made every man's actions to cling to his neck, and We shall bring forth to him on the day of Resurrection a book which he will find wide open. Read thy book. Thine own soul is sufficient as a reckoner against thee this day.

17:14 Read thy book. Thine own soul is sufficient as a reckoner against thee this day.

17:15 Whoever goes aright, for his own soul does he go aright; and whoever goes astray, to its detriment only does he go astray. And no bearer of a burden can bear the burden of another. Nor do We chastise until We raise a messenger.

17:16 And when We wish to destroy a town, We send commandments to its people who lead easy lives, but they transgress therein; thus the word proves true against it, so We destroy it with utter destruction.

17:17 And how many generations did We destroy after Noah and thy Lord suffices as being Aware and Seer of His servants' sins.

17:18 Whoso desires this transitory life, We hasten to him therein what We please for whomsoever We desire, then We assign to him the hell; he will enter it despised, driven away.

17:19 And whoso desires the Hereafter and strives for it as he ought to strive and he is a believer those are they whose striving is amply rewarded.

17:20 All do We aid — these as well as those — out of the bounty of thy Lord, and the bounty of thy Lord is not limited.

17:21 See how We have made some of them to excel others. And certainly the Hereafter is greater in degrees and greater in excellence.

17:22 Associate not any other god with Allah, lest thou sit down despised, forsaken.

17:23 And thy Lord has decreed that you serve none but Him, and do good to parents. If either or both of them reach old age with thee, say not "Fie" to them, nor chide them, and speak to them a generous word.

17:24 And lower to them the wing of humility out of mercy, and say: My Lord, have mercy on them, as they brought me up (when I was) little.

17:25 Your Lord knows best what is in your minds. If you are righteous, He is surely Forgiving to those who turn (to Him).

17:26* And give to the near of kin his due and (to) the needy and the wayfarer, and squander not wastefully.

17:27 Surely the squanderers are the devil's brethren. And the devil is ever ungrateful to his Lord.

17:28 And if thou turn away from them to seek mercy from thy Lord, which thou hopest for, speak to them a gentle word.

17:29 And make not thy hand to be shackled to thy neck, nor stretch it forth to the utmost (limit) of its stretching forth, lest thou sit down blamed, stripped off.

17:30 Surely thy Lord makes plentiful the means of subsistence for whom He pleases, and He straitens. Surely He is ever Aware, Seer, of His servants.

17:31 And kill not your children for fear of poverty — We provide for them and for you. Surely the killing of them is a great wrong.

17:32* And go not nigh to fornication; surely it is an obscenity. And evil is the way.

17:33* And kill not the soul which Allah has forbidden except for a just cause. And whoever is slain unjustly, We have indeed given to his heir authority — but let him not exceed the limit in slaying. Surely he will be helped.

17:34 And draw not nigh to the orphan's property, except in a goodly way, till he attains his maturity. And fulfil the promise; surely, the promise will be enquired into.

17:35 And give full measure when you measure out, and weigh with a true balance. This is fair and better in the end.

17:36 And follow not that of which thou hast no knowledge. Surely the hearing and the sight and the heart, of all of these it will be asked.

17:37 And go not about in the land exultingly, for thou canst not tend the earth, nor reach the mountains in height.

17:38 All this, the evil thereof, is hateful in the sight of thy Lord.

17:39 This is of the wisdom which thy Lord has revealed to thee. And associate not any other god with Allah lest thou be thrown into hell, blamed, cast away.

17:40 Has then your Lord preferred to give you sons, and (for Himself) taken daughters from among the angels? Surely you utter a grievous saying.

17:41 And certainly We have repeated (warnings) in this Koran that they may be mindful. And it adds not save to their aversion.

17:42 Say If there were with Him gods, as they say, then certainly they would have been able to seek a way to the Lord of the Throne.

17:43 Glory to Him! and He is highly exalted above what they say!

17:44 The seven heavens and the earth and those in them declare His glory. And there is not a single thing but glorifies Him with His praise, but you do not understand their glorification. Surely He is Forbearing, Forgiving.

17:45 And when thou recitest the Koran, We place between thee and those who believe not in the Hereafter a hidden barrier

17:46 And We put coverings on their hearts and a deafness in their ears lest they understand it; and when thou makest mention of thy Lord alone in the Koran, they turn their backs in aversion.

17:47 We know best what they listen to when they listen to thee, and when they take counsel secretly, when the wrongdoers say: You follow only a man deprived of reason.

17:48 See, what they liken thee to So they have gone astray, and cannot find the way.

17:49 And they say: When we are bones and decayed particles, shall we then be raised up as a new creation?

17:50 Say: Be stones or iron,

17:51 Or some other creature of those which are too hard (to receive life) in your minds! But they will say: Who will return us? Say: He Who created you at first. Still they will shake their heads at thee and say When will it be? Say: Maybe it has drawn nigh.

17:52 On the day when He will call you forth, then will you obey Him, giving Him praise, and you will think that you tarried but a little (while).

17:53 And say to My servants that they speak what is best. Surely the devil sows dissensions among them. The devil is surely an open enemy to man.

17:54 Your Lord knows you best. He will have mercy on you, if He please, or He will chastise you, if He please. And We have not sent thee as being in charge of them.

17:55 And thy Lord best knows those who are in the heavens and the earth. And certainly We made some of the prophets to excel others, and to David We gave the Zabur.

17:56 Say: Call on those whom you assert besides Him they have no power to remove distress from you nor to change.

17:57* Those whom they call upon, themselves seek the means of access to their Lord whoever of them is nearest — and they hope for His mercy and fear His chastisement. Surely the chastisement of thy Lord is a thing to be cautious of.

17:58 And there is not a town but We will destroy it before the day of Resurrection or chastise it with a severe chastisement. That is written in the Book.

17:59 And nothing hindered Us from sending signs, but the ancients rejected them. And We gave to Thamud the she-camel, a manifest sign, but they did her wrong, and We send not signs but to warn.

17:60 And when We said to thee: Surely thy Lord encompasses men. And We made not the vision which We showed thee but a trial for men, as also the tree cursed in the Koran. And We warn them, but it only adds to their great inordinacy.

17:61 And when We said to the angels: Be submissive to Adam; they submitted, except Iblis. He said: Shall I submit to him whom Thou hast created of dust?

17:62 He said: Seest Thou? This is he whom Thou hast honoured above me! If Thou respite me to the day of Resurrection, I will certainly cause his progeny to perish except a few.

17:63 He said: Begone! whoever of them follows thee surely hell is your recompense, a full recompense.

17:64 And incite whom thou canst of them with thy voice, and collect against them thy horse and thy foot and share with them in wealth and children, and promise them. And the devil promises them only to deceive. My servants — thou hast surely no authority over them. And thy Lord suffices as having charge of affairs.

17:66 Your Lord is He who speeds the ships for you in the sea that you may seek of His grace. Surely He is ever Merciful to you.

17:67 And when distress afflicts you in the sea, away go those whom you call on except He; but when He brings you safe to the land, you turn away. And man is ever ungrateful.

17:68 Do you then feel secure that He will not bring you low on a tract of land, or send on you a violent wind? Then you will not find a protector for yourselves;

17:69 Or, do you feel secure that He will not take you back into it another time, then send on you a fierce gale and thus overwhelm you for your ungratefulness? Then you will not find any aider against Us in the matter.

17:70 And surely We have honoured the children of Adam, and We carry them in the land and the sea, and We provide them with good things, and We have made them to excel highly most of those whom We have created.

17:71 On the day when We shall call every people with their leader: then whoever is given his book in his right hand, these will read their book and they will not be dealt with a whit unjustly.

17:72 And whoever is blind in this (world) he will be blind in the Hereafter, and further away from the path.

17:73* And surely they had purposed to turn thee away from that which We have revealed to thee, that thou shouldst forge against Us other than that, and then they would have taken thee for a friend.

17:74* And if We had not made thee firm, thou mightest have indeed inclined to them a little 17:75* Then We would have made thee taste a double (punishment) in life and a double (punishment) after death, and then thou wouldst not have found any helper against Us.

17:76* And surely they purposed to unsettle thee from the land that they might expel thee from it, and then they will not tarry after thee but a little.

17:77* (This is Our) way with Our messengers whom We sent before thee, and thou wilt not find a change in Our course.

17:78* Keep up prayer from the declining of the sun till the darkness of the night, and the recital of the Koran at dawn. Surely the recital of the Koran at dawn is witnessed.

17:79* And during a part of the, night, keep awake by it, beyond what is incumbent on thee; maybe thy Lord will raise thee to a position of great glory.

17:80* And say: My Lord, make me enter a truthful entering, and make me go forth a truthful going forth, and grant me from Thy presence an authority to help (me).

17:81 And say: The Truth has come and falsehood vanished. Surely falsehood is ever bound to vanish.

17:82 And We reveal of the Koran that which is a healing and a mercy to the believers, and it adds only to the perdition of the wrongdoers.

17:83 And when We bestow favours on man, he turns away and behaves proudly; and when evil afflicts him, he is in despair.

17:84 Say: Everyone acts according to his manner. But your Lord best knows who is best guided on the path.

17:85 And they ask thee about the revelation. Say: The revelation is by the commandment of my Lord, and of knowledge you are given but a little.

17:86 And if We please, We could certainly take away that which We have revealed to thee, then thou wouldst find none to plead (thy cause) against Us —

17:87 But it is a mercy from thy Lord. Surely His bounty to thee is abundant.

17:88 Say: If men and jinn should combine together to bring the like of this Koran, they could not bring the like of it, though some of them were aiders of others.!

17:89 And certainly We have made clear for men in this Koran every kind of description, but most men consent to naught save denying.

17:90 And they say: We will by no means believe in thee, till thou cause a spring to gush forth from the earth for us,

17:91 Or thou have a garden of palms and grapes in the midst of which thou cause rivers to flow forth abundantly,

17:92 Or thou cause the heaven to come down upon us in pieces, as thou thinkest, or bring Allah and the angels face to face (with us),

17:93 Or thou have a house of gold, or thou ascend into heaven. And we will not believe in thy ascending till thou bring down to us a book we can read. Say: Glory to my Lord am I aught but a mortal messenger?

17:94 And nothing prevents people from believing, when the guidance comes to them, except that they say: Has Allah raised up a mortal to be a messenger?

17:95 Say: Had there been in the earth angels walking about secure, We would have sent down to them from the heaven an angel as messenger.

17:96 Say: Allah suffices for a witness between me and you. Surely He is ever Aware of His servants, Seeing.

17:97 And he whom Allah guides, he is on the right way; and he whom He leaves in error, for them thou wilt find no guardians besides Him. And We shall gather them together on the day of Resurrection on their faces, blind and dumb and deaf. Their abode is hell. Whenever it abates, We make them burn the more.

17:98 This is their retribution because they disbelieve in Our messages and say: When we are bones and decayed particles, shall we then be raised up into a new creation?

17:99 See they not that Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth, is able to create the like of them? And He has appointed for them a term, whereof there is no doubt. But the wrongdoers consent to naught but denying.

17:100 Say: If you control the treasures of the mercy of my Lord, then you would withhold (them) for fear of spending. And man is ever niggardly.

17:101 And certainly We gave Moses nine clear signs; so ask the Children of Israel. When he came to them, Pharaoh said to him: Surely I deem thee, O Moses, to be one bewitched.

17:102 He said: Truly thou knowest that none but the Lord of the heavens and the earth has sent these as clear proofs; and surely I believe thee, O Pharaoh, to be lost.

17:103 So he desired to scare them from the land, but We drowned him and those with him, all together;

17:104 And We said to the Children of Israel after him: Abide in the land. But when the latter promise came, We brought you all rolled up.

17:105 And with truth have We revealed it, and with truth did it come. And We have nor sent thee but as a giver of good news and as a warner.

17:106 And it is a Koran We have made distinct, so that thou mayest read it to the people by slow degrees, and We have revealed it in portions.

17:107 Say: Believe in it or believe not. Surely those who are given the knowledge before it, fall down prostrate on their faces, when it is recited to them, 17:108 And say: Glory to our Lord! Surely the promise of our Lord was to be fulfilled.

17:109 And they fall down on their faces, weeping, and it adds to their humility.

17:110 Say: Call on Allah or call on the Beneficent. 1476 By whatever (name) you call on Him, He has the best names. And utter not thy prayer loudly nor be silent in it, and seek a way between these.

17:111 And say: Praise be to Allah Who has not taken to Himself a son, and Who has not a partner in the kingdom, and Who has not a helper because of weakness; and proclaim His greatness, magnifying (Him).

KORAN CHAPTER 68 / Sura 27

The Naml / Al-Naml

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

27:1 Benignant, Hearing God! These are the verses of the Koran and the Book that makes manifest:

27:2 A guidance and good news for the believers,

27:3 Who keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate, and they are sure of the Hereafter.

27:4 Those who believe not in the Hereafter, We make their deeds fair-seeming to them, but they blindly wander on.

27:5 These are they for whom is an evil chastisement, and in the Hereafter they are the greatest losers.

27:6 And thou art surely made to receive the Koran from the Wise, the Knowing.

27:7 When Moses said to his family Surely I see a fire; I will bring you news thence, or bring you therefrom a burning brand, so that you may warm yourselves.

27:8 So when he came to it, a voice issued, saying Blessed is he who is in search of fire and those around it. And glory be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds!

27:9 O Moses, surely I am Allah, the Mighty, the Wise:

27:10 And cast down thy rod. So when he saw it in motion as if it were a serpent, he turned back retreating and did not return. O Moses, fear not. Surely the messengers fear not in My presence —

27:11 Not he who does wrong, then does good instead after evil; surely I am Forgiving, Merciful, 27:12 And put thy hand into thy bosom, it will come forth white without evil, among nine signs to Pharaoh and his people. Surely they are a transgressing people.

27:13 So when Our clear signs came to them, they said This is clear enchantment.

27:14 And they denied them unjustly and proudly, while their souls were convinced of them. See then, what was the end of the mischief-makers 27:15 And certainly We gave knowledge to David and Solomon. And they said Praise be to Allah, Who has made us excel many of His believing servants!

27:16 And Solomon was David's heir, and he said: O men, we have been taught the speech of birds, and we have been granted of all things. Surely this is manifest grace.

27:17 And his hosts of the jinn and the men and the birds were gathered to Solomon, and they were formed into groups.

27:18 Until when they came to the valley of the Naml, a Namlite said: O Naml, enter your houses, (lest) Solomon and his hosts crush you, while they know not.

27:19 So he smiled, wondering at her word, and said My Lord, grant me that I may be grateful for Thy favour which Thou hast bestowed on me and on my parents, and that I may do good such as Thou art pleased with, and admit me, by Thy mercy, among Thy righteous servants.

27:20 And he reviewed the birds, then said How is it I see not Hudhud, or is it that he is one of the absentees?

27:21 I will certainly punish him with a severe punishment, or kill him, or he shall bring me a clear excuse.

27:22 And he tarried not long, then said: I have compassed that which thou hast not compassed and I have come to thee from Saba' with sure information —

27:23 I found a woman ruling over them, and she has been given of everything and she has a mighty throne.

27:24 I found her and her people adoring the sun instead of Allah, and the devil has made their deeds fair-seeming to them and turned them from the way, so they go not aright

27:25 So that they worship not Allah, Who brings forth what is hidden in the heavens and the earth and knows what you hide and what you proclaim.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

27:26 Allah, there is no God but He, the Lord of the mighty Throne.

27:27 He said: We shall see whether thou speakest the truth or whether thou art a liar.

27:28 Take this my letter and hand it over to them, then turn from them and see what (answer) they return.

27:29 She said: O chiefs, an honourable letter has been delivered to me.

27:30 It is from Solomon, and it is in the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful 27:31 Proclaiming, Exalt not yourselves against me and come to me in submission.

27:32 She said: O chiefs, advise me respecting my affair; I never decide an affair until you are in my presence.

27:33 They said: We are possessors of strength and possessors of mighty prowess. And the command is thine, so consider what thou wilt command.

27:34 She said: Surely the kings, when they enter a town, ruin it and make the noblest of its people to be low; and thus they do.

27:35 And surely I am going to send them a present, and to see what (answer) the messengers bring back.

27:36 So when (the envoy) came to Solomon, he said: Will you help me with wealth? But what Allah has given me is better than that which He has given you. Nay, you are exultant because of your present.

27:37 Go back to them, so we shall certainly come to them with hosts which they have no power to oppose, and we shall certainly expel them therefrom in disgrace, while they are abased.

27:38 He said: O chiefs, which of you can bring me her throne before they come to me in submission?

27:39 One audacious among the jinn said: I will bring it to thee before thou rise up from thy place; and surely I am strong, trusty for it —

27:40 One having knowledge of the Book said: I will bring it to thee in the twinkling of an eye. Then when he saw it settled beside him, he said: This is of the grace of my Lord, that He may try me whither I am grateful or ungrateful. And whoever is grateful, he is grateful only for his own soul, and whoever is ungrateful, then surely my Lord is Self-sufficient, Bountiful.

27:41 He said: Alter her throne for her; we may see whether she follows the right way or is of those who go not aright.

27:42 So when she came, it was said Was thy throne like this? She said: It is as it were the same; and we were given the knowledge before about it, and we submitted.

27:43 And that which she worshipped besides Allah prevented her; for she was of a disbelieving people.

27:44 It was said to her: Enter the palace. But when she saw it she deemed it to be a great expanse of water, and prepared herself to meet the difficulty. He said: Surely it is a palace made smooth with glass. She said: My Lord, surely I have wronged myself, and I submit with Solomon to Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

27:45 And certainly We sent to Thamud their brother Salih, saying; Serve Allah. Then lo they became two parties, contending.

27:46 He said: O my people, why do you hasten on the evil before the good? Why do you not ask forgiveness of Allah so that you may have mercy?

27:47 They said: We augur evil of thee and those with thee. He said: Your evil augury is with Allah; nay, you are a people who are tried.

27:48 And there were in the city nine persons who made mischief in the land and did not act aright.

27:49 They said: Swear one to another by Allah that we shall attack him and his family by night, then we shall say to his heir: We witnessed not the destruction of his family, and we are surely truthful.

27:50 And they planned a plan, and We planned a plan, while they perceived not.

27:51 See, then, what was the end of their plan, that We destroyed them and their people, all (of them).

27:52 So those are their houses fallen down because they were iniquitous. Surely there is a sign in this for a people who know.

27:53 And We delivered those who believed and kept their duty.

27:54 And Lot, when he said to his people: Do you commit foul deeds, while you see?

27:55 Will you come to men lustfully rather than women? Nay, you are a people who act ignorantly.

27:56 But the answer of his people was naught except that they said: Drive out Lot's followers from your town; surely they are a people who would keep pure!

27:57 But We delivered him and his followers except his wife; We ordained her to be of those who remained behind.

27:58 And We rained on them a rain; so evil was the rain on those who had been warned.

27:59 Say: Praise be to Allah and peace on His servants whom He has chosen! Is Allah better, or what they associate (with Him,)?

27:60 Or, Who created the heavens and the earth, and sends down for you water from the cloud? Then We cause to grow thereby beautiful gardens — it is not possible for you to make the trees thereof to grow. Is there a god with Allah? Nay, they are a people who deviate!

27:61 Or, Who made the earth a resting-place, and made in it rivers, and raised on it mountains, and placed between the two seas a barrier? Is there a god with Allah? Nay, most of them know not!

27:62 Or, Who answers the distressed one when he calls upon Him and removes the evil, and will make you successors in the earth? Is there a god with Allah? Little is it that you mind!

27:63 Or, Who guides you in the darkness of the land and the sea, and Who sends the winds as good news before His mercy? Is there a god with Allah? Exalted be Allah above what they associate (with Him)

27:64 Or, Who originates the creation, then reproduces it, and Who gives you sustenance from the heaven and the earth? Is there a god with Allah? Say Bring your proof, if you are truthful.

27:65 Say: No one in the heavens and the earth knows the unseen but Allah; and they know not when they will be raised.

27:66 Nay, their knowledge reaches not the Hereafter. Nay, they are in doubt about it. Nay, they are blind to it.

27:67 And those who disbelieve say: When we have become dust and our fathers (too), shall we indeed be brought forth?

27:68 We have certainly been promised this — we and our fathers before; these are naught but stories of the ancients!

27:69 Say: Travel in the earth, then see what was the end of the guilty!

27:70 And grieve not for them, nor be distressed because of what they plan.

27:71 And they say: When will this promise come to pass, if you are truthful?

27:72 Say: Maybe somewhat of that which you seek to hasten has drawn nigh to you.

27:73 And surely thy Lord is full of grace to men, but most of them do not give thanks.

27:74 And surely thy Lord knows what their breasts conceal and what they manifest.

27:75 And there is nothing concealed in the heaven and the earth but it is in a clear book.

27:76 Surely this Koran declares to the Children of Israel most of that wherein they differ.

27:77 And surely it is a guidance and a mercy for the believers.

27:78 Truly thy Lord will judge between them by His judgement, and He is the Mighty, the Knowing.

27:79 So rely on Allah. Surely thou art on the plain truth.

27:80 Certainly thou canst not make the dead to hear the call, nor canst thou make the deaf to hear, when they go back retreating.

27:81 Nor canst thou lead the blind out of their error. Thou canst make none to hear except those who believe in Our messages, so they submit.

27:82 And when the word comes to pass against them, We shall bring forth for them a creature from the earth that will speak to them, because people did not believe in Our messages.

27:83 And the day when We gather from every nation a party from among those who rejected Our messages, then they will be formed into groups.

27:84 Until, when they come, He will say did you reject My messages, while you did not comprehend them in knowledge? Or what was it that you did?

27:85 And the word will come to pass against them because they were unjust, so they will not speak.

27:86 See they not that We have made the night that they may rest therein, and the day to give light? Surely there are signs in this for a people who believe.

27:87 And the day when the trumpet is blown, then those in the heavens and those in the earth will be struck with terror, except such as Allah please. And all shall come to Him abased.

27:88 And thou seest the mountains — thou thinkest them firmly fixed — passing away as the passing away of the cloud; the handiwork of Allah, Who has made everything thoroughly. Surely He is Aware of what you do.

27:89 Whoever brings good, he will have better than it; and they will be secure from terror that day.

27:90 And whoever brings evil, these will be thrown down on their faces into the Fire. Are you rewarded aught except for what you did?

27:91 I am commanded only to serve the Lord of this city, Who has made it sacred, and His are all things, and I am commanded to be of those who submit, 27:92 And to recite the Koran. So whoever goes aright, he goes aright for his own soul, and whoever goes astray — say: I am only one of the warners.

27:93 And say: Praise be to Allah! He will show you His signs so that you shall recognize them. And thy Lord is not heedless of what you

KORAN CHAPTER 69 / Sura 18

The Cave / Al-Kahf

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

18:1 Praise be to Allah! Who revealed the Book to His servant, and allowed not therein any crookedness, 18:2 Rightly directing, to give warning of severe punishment from Him and to give good news to the believers who do good that theirs is a goodly reward,

18:3 Staying in it for ever

18:4 And to warn those who say: Allah has taken to Himself a son.

18:5 They have no knowledge of it, nor had their fathers. Grievous is the word that comes out of their mouths. They speak nothing but a lie.

18:6 Then maybe thou wilt kill thyself with grief, sorrowing after them, if they believe not in this announcement.

18:7 Surely We have made whatever is on the earth an embellishment for it, so that We may try which of them is best in works.

18:8 And We shall surely make what is on it dust, without herbage.

18:9 Or, thinkest thou that the companions of the Cave and the Inscription were of Our wonderful signs?

18:10 When the youths sought refuge in the Cave, they said: Our Lord, grant us mercy from Thyself, and provide for us a right course in our affair.

18:11 So We prevented them from hearing in the Cave for a number of years,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

18:12 Then We raised them up that We might know which of the two parties was best able to calculate the time for which they remained.

18:13 We relate to thee their story with truth. Surely they were youths who believed in their Lord and We increased them in guidance.

18:14 And We strengthened their hearts when they stood up and said: Our Lord is the Lord of the heavens and the earth we call upon no god beside Him, for then indeed we should utter an enormity.

18:15 These our people have taken gods beside Him. Why do they not bring clear authority for them? Who is then mote unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah?

18:16 And when you withdraw from them and what they worship save Allah, take refuge in the Cave; your Lord will spread forth for you of His mercy, and provide for you a profitable course in your affair.

18:17 And thou mightest see the sun, when it rose, decline from their Cave to the right, and when it set leave them behind on the left, while they were in a wide space thereof. This is of the signs of Allah. He whom Allah guides, he is on the right way; and whom He leaves in error, thou wilt not find for him a friend to guide aright.

18:18 And thou mightest think them awake while they were asleep, and We turned them about to the right and to the left, with their dog outstretching its paws at the entrance. If thou didst look at them, thou wouldst turn back from them in flight, and thou wouldst be filled with awe because of them.

18:19 And thus did We rouse them that they might question each other. A speaker from among them said: How long have you tarried? They said: We have tarried for a day or a part of a day. (Others) said: Your Lord knows best how long you have tarried. Now send one of you with this silver (coin) of yours to the city, then let him see what food is purest, and bring, you provision from it, and let him behave with gentleness, and not make your case known to anyone.

18:20 For if they prevail against you, they would stone you to death or force you back to their religion, and then you would never succeed.

18:21 And thus did We make (men) to get knowledge of them, that they might know that Allah's promise is true and that the Hour — there is no doubt about it. When they disputed among themselves about their affair and said: Erect an edifice over them. Their Lord knows best about them. Those who prevailed in their affair said: We shall certainly build a place of worship over them.

18:22 (Some) say: (They were) three, the fourth of them their dog; and (others) say: Five, the sixth of them their dog, making conjectures about the unseen. And (others) say: Seven, and the eighth of them their dog. Say: My Lord best knows their number none knows them but a few. So contend not in their matter but with an outward contention, and question not any of them concerning them.

18:25 And they remained in their cave three hundred years, and they add nine.

18:26 Say: Allah knows best how long they remained. His is the unseen of the heavens and the earth. How clear His sight and His hearing! There is no guardian for them beside Him, and He associates none in His judgement.

18:27 And recite that which has been revealed to thee of the Book of thy Lord. There is none who can alter His words. And thou wilt find no, refuge beside Him.

18:28* And keep thyself with those who call on their Lord morning and evening desiring His goodwill, and let not thine eyes pass from them, desiring the beauties of this world's life. And follow not him whose heart We have made unmindful of Our remembrance, and he follows his low desires and his case exceeds due bounds.

18:29 And say: The Truth is from your Lord; so let him who please believe, and let him who please disbelieve. Surely We have prepared for the iniquitous a Fire, an enclosure of which will encompass them. And if they cry for water, they are given water like molten brass, scalding their faces. Evil the drink! And ill the resting-place!

18:30 As for those who believe and do good, We waste not the reward of him who does a good work.

18:31 These it is for whom are Gardens of perpetuity wherein flow rivers; they are adorned therein with bracelets of gold, and they wear green robes of fine silk and thick brocade, reclining therein on raised couches. Excellent the recompense! And goodly the resting-place!

18:32 And set forth to them the parable of two men for one of them We made two gardens of grape-vines, and We surrounded them with date-palms, and between them We made cornfields.

18:33 Both these gardens yielded their fruits, and failed not in aught thereof, and We caused a river to gush forth in their midst, 18:34 And he had fruit. So he said to his companion, while he argued with him: I have greater wealth than thou; and am mightier in followers.

18:35 And he went into his garden, while he was unjust to himself. He said: I think not that this will ever perish, 18:36 And I think not the Hour will come; and even if I am returned to my Lord, I will certainly find a returning-place better than this.

18:37 His companion said to him, while arguing with him: Disbelieve thou in Him Who created thee of dust, then of a small life-germ, then He made thee a perfect man?

18:38 But as for me, He, Allah, is my Lord, and I associate none with my Lord.

18:39 And wherefore didst thou not say, when thou entered thy garden? It is as Allah has pleased — there is no power save in Allah? If thou consider me as less than thee in wealth and children —

18:40 Then maybe my Lord will give me better than thy garden, and will send on (thine) a reckoning from heaven so that it is dust without plant:

18:41 Or its water will sink down into the ground, so that thou art unable to find it.

18:42 And his fruit was destroyed; so he began to wring his hands for what he had spent on it, while it lay waste, its roofs fallen down, and he said: Ah me! would that I had ascribed no partners to my Lord!

18:43 And he had no host to help him against Allah, nor could he defend himself.

18:44 Thus protection is only Allah's, the True One. He is Best to reward and Best in requiting.

18:45 And set forth to them the parable of the life of this world as water which We send down from the cloud, so the herbage of the earth becomes luxuriant thereby, then it becomes dry, broken into pieces which the winds scatter. And Allah is the Holder of power over all things.

18:46 Wealth and children are an adornment of the life of this world but the ever-abiding, the good works, are better with thy Lord in reward and better in hope.

18:47 And the day when We cause the mountains to pass away, and thou seest the earth a levelled plain and We gather them together and leave none of them behind.

18:48 And they are brought before thy Lord in ranks. Now certainly you have come to Us as We created you at first. Nay, you thought that We had not made an appointment for you.

18:49 And the book is placed, and thou seest the guilty fearing for what is in it, and they say: O woe to us what a book is this! It leaves out neither a small thing nor a great one, but numbers them (all), and they find what they did confronting them. And thy Lord wrongs not any one.

18:50 And when We said to the angels: Make submission to Adam, they submitted except Iblis. He was of the jinn, so he transgressed the commandment of his Lord. Will you then take him and his offspring for friends rather than Me, and they are your enemies? Evil is the exchange for the unjust.

18:51 I made them not to witness the creation of the heavens and the earth, nor their own creation. Nor could I take those who mislead for aiders.

18:52 And one day He will say: Call on those whom you considered to be My partners. So they will call on them, but they will not answer them, and We shall cause a separation between them.

18:53 And the guilty will see the Fire, and know that they are about to fall into it, and they will find no escape from it.

18:54 And certainly We have made distinct in this Koran for mankind every kind of description; and man is in most things contentious.

18:55 And nothing prevents men from believing when the guidance comes to them, and from asking forgiveness of their Lord, but that (they wait) for the way of the ancients to overtake them, or that the chastisement should confront them.

18:56 And We send not messengers but as givers of good news and warning, and those who disbelieve contend with falsehood to weaken thereby the Truth, and they take My messages and the warning for a mockery.

18:57 And who is more unjust than he who is reminded of the messages of his Lord, then he turns away from them and forgets what his hands have sent before? Surely We have placed veils over their hearts, lest they understand it, and a deafness in their ears. And if thou call them to the guidance, they will even then never follow the right course.

18:58 And thy Lord is Forgiving, Full of Mercy. Were He to punish them for what they earn, He would certainly hasten the chastisement for them. But for them there is an appointed time from which they will find no refuge.

18:59 And these towns We destroyed when they did wrong. And We have appointed a time for their destruction.

18:60 And when Moses said to his servant: I will not cease until I reach the junction of the two rivers, otherwise I will go on for years.

18:61 So when they reached the junction of the two (rivers), they forgot their fish, and it took its way into the river, being free.

18:62 But when they had gone further, he said to his servant Bring to us our morning meal, certainly we have found fatigue in this our journey.

18:63 He said: Sawest thou when we took refuge on the rock, I forgot the fish, and none but the devil made me forget to speak of it, and it took its way into the river; what a wonder!

18:64 He said This is what we sought for. So they returned retracing their footsteps.

18:65 Then they found one of Our servants whom We had granted mercy from Us and whom We had taught knowledge from Ourselves.

18:66 Moses said to him: May I follow thee that thou mayest teach me of the good thou hast been taught?

18:67 He said: Thou canst not have patience with me.

18:68 And how canst thou have patience in that whereof, thou hast not a comprehensive knowledge?

18:69 He said: If Allah please, thou wilt find me patient, nor shall I disobey thee in aught.

18:70 He said: If thou wouldst follow me, question me not about aught until I myself speak to thee about it

18:71 So they set out until, when they embarked in a boat, he made a hole in it. (Moses) said: Hast thou made a hole in it to drown its occupants? Thou hast surely done a grievous thing.

18:72 He said: Did I not say that thou couldst not have patience with me?

18:73 He said: Blame me not for what I forgot, and be not hard upon me for what I did.

18:74 So they went on, until, when they met a boy, he slew him. (Moses) said: Hast thou slain an innocent person, not guilty of slaying another? Thou hast indeed done a horrible thing.

18:75 He said: Did I not say to thee that thou couldst not have patience with me?

18:76 He said If I ask thee about anything after this, keep not company with me. Thou wilt then indeed have found an excuse in my case.

18:77 So they went on, until, when they came to the people of a town, they asked its people for food, but they refused to entertain them as guests. Then they found in it a wall which was on the point of falling, so he put it into a right state. (Moses) said: If thou hadst wished, thou couldst have taken a recompense for it.

18:78 He said: This is the parting between me and thee. Now I will inform thee of the significance of that with which thou couldst not have patience.

18:79 As for the boat, it belonged to poor people working on the river, and I intended to damage it, for there was behind them a king who seized every boat by force.

18:80 And as for the boy, his parents were believers and We feared lest he should involve them in wrongdoing and disbelief.

18:81 So We intended that their Lord might give them in his place one better in purity and nearer to mercy.

18:82 And as for the wall; it belonged to two orphan boys in the city, and there was beneath it a treasure belonging to them, and their father had been a righteous man. So thy Lord intended that they should attain their maturity and take out their treasure a mercy from thy Lord and I did not do it of my own accord. This is the significance of that with which thou couldst not have patience.

18:83* And they ask thee about Dhu-l-qarnain Say: I will recite to you an account of him.

18:84* Truly We established him in the land and granted him means of access to everything 18:85* So he followed a course.

18:86* Until, when he reached the setting-place of the sun, he found it going down into a black sea, and found by it a people. We said: O Dhu-l-qarnain, either punish them or do them a benefit.

18:87* He said: As for him who is unjust, we shall chastise him, then he will be returned to his Lord, and He will chastise him with an exemplary chastisement.

18:88* And as for him who believes and does good, for him is a good reward, and We shall speak to him an easy word of Our command.

18:89* Then he followed a course.

18:90* Until, when he reached the (land of) the rising sun, he found it rising on a people to whom We had given no shelter from it —

18:91* So it was. And We had full knowledge of what he had.

18:92* Then he followed a course.

18:93* Until, when he reached (a place) between the two mountains, he found on that side of them a people who could hardly understand a word.

18:94* They said: O Dhu-l-qarnain, Gog and Magog do mischief in the land. May we then pay thee tribute on condition that thou raise a barrier between us and them? —

18:95* He said: That wherein my Lord has established me is better, so if only you help me with strength (of men), I will make a fortified barrier between you and them:

18:96* Bring me blocks of iron. At length, when he had filled up the space between the two mountain sides, he said, Blow. Till, when he had made it (as) fire, he said: Bring me molten brass to pour over it.

18:97* So they were not able to scale it, nor could they make a hole in it.

18:98* He said: This is a mercy from my Lord, but when the promise of my Lord comes to pass He will crumble it, and the promise of my Lord is ever true.

18:99* And on that day We shall let some of them surge against others and the trumpet will be blown, then We shall gather them all together,

18:100* And We shall bring forth hell, exposed to view, on that day before the disbelievers, 18:101* Whose eyes were under a cover from My Reminder, and they could not bear to heat.

18:102 Do those who disbelieve think that they can take My servants to be friends besides Me? Surely We have prepared hell as an entertainment for the disbelievers.

18:103 Say: Shall We inform you who are the greatest losers in respect of deeds?

18:104 Those whose effort goes astray in this world's life, and they think that they are making good manufactures.

18:105 Those are they who disbelieve in the messages of their Lord and meeting with Him, so their works are vain. Nor shall We set up a balance for them on the day of Resurrection.

18:106 That is their reward — hell, because they disbelieved and held My messages and My messengers in mockery.

18:107 As for those who believe and do good deeds, for them are Garden of Paradise, an entertainment, 18:108 To abide therein; they will not desire removal therefrom.

18:109 Say: If the sea were ink for the words of my Lord, the sea would surely be exhausted before the words of my Lord were exhausted, though We brought the like of it to add (thereto).

18:110 Say I am only a mortal like you — it is revealed to me that your God is one God. So whoever hopes to meet his Lord, he should do good deeds, and join no one in the service of his Lord.

GROUP 3 (Mohammed's 8th to the 13th year as preacher, 21 SURAS): 32, 41, 45, 16, 30, 11, 14, 12, 40, 28, 39, 29, 31, 42, 10, 34, 35, 7, 46, 6, 13.

KORAN CHAPTER 70 / Sura 32

The Adoration / Al-Sajdah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

32:1 I, Allah, am the Best Knower.

32:2 The revelation of the Book, there is no doubt in it, is from the Lord of the worlds.

32:3 Or do they say: He has forged it? Nay, it is the Truth from thy Lord that thou mayest warn a people to whom no warner has come before thee that they may walk aright.

32:4 Allah is He Who created the heavens and the earth and what is between them in six periods, and He is established on the Throne of Power. You have not besides Him a guardian or an intercessor. Will you not then mind?

32:5 He orders the Affair from the heaven to the earth; then it will ascend to Him in a day the measure of which is a thousand years as you count.

32:6 Such is the Knower of the unseen and the seen, the Mighty, the Merciful, 32:7 Who made beautiful everything that He created, and He began the creation of man from dust.

32:8 Then He made his progeny of an extract, of worthless water.

32:9 Then He made him complete and breathed into him of His spirit, and gave you ears and eyes and hearts; little it is that you give thanks!

32:10 And they say: When we are lost in the earth, shall we then be in a new creation? Nay, they are disbelievers in the meeting with their Lord.

32:11 Say: The angel of death, who is given charge of you, will cause you to die, then to your Lord you will be returned.

32:12 And couldst thou but see when the guilty hang their heads before their Lord: Our Lord, we have seen and heard, so send us back, we will do good we are (now) certain.

32:13 And if We had pleased, We could have given every soul its guidance, but the word from Me was just: I will certainly fill hell with the jinn and men together.

32:14 So taste, because you forgot the meeting of this Day of yours surely We forsake you; and taste the abiding chastisement for what you did.

32:15 Only they believe in Our messages who, when they are reminded of them, fall down prostrate and celebrate the praise of their Lord, and they are not proud.

32:16* They forsake (their) beds, calling upon their Lord in fear and in hope, and spend out of what We have given them.

32:17* So no soul knows what refreshment of the eyes is hidden for them a reward for what they did.

32:18* Is he then, who is a believer, like him who is a transgressor? They are not equal.

32:19* As for those who believe and do good deeds, for them are Gardens, a refuge — an entertainment for what they did.

32:20* And as for those who transgress, their refuge is the Fire. Whenever they desire to go forth from it, they are brought back into it, and it is said to them: Taste the chastisement of the Fire, which you called a lie.

32:21 And certainly We will make them taste the nearer punishment before the greater chastisement, that haply they may turn.

32:22 And who is more iniquitous than he who is reminded of the messages of his Lord, then he turns away from them? Surely We exact retribution from the guilty.

32:23 And We indeed gave Moses the Book — so doubt not the meeting with Him — and We made it a guide for the Children of Israel.

32:24 And We made from among them leaders to guide by Our command when they were patient. And they were certain of Our messages.

32:25 Surely thy Lord will judge between them on the day of Resurrection concerning that wherein they differed.

32:26 Is it not clear to them, how many of the generations, in whose abodes they go about, We destroyed before them? Surely there are signs in this. Will they not then hear?

32:27 See they not that We drive the water to a land having no herbage, then We bring forth thereby seed-produce, of which their cattle and they themselves eat. Will they not then see?

32:28 And they say: When will this victory come, if you are truthful?

32:29 Say: On the day of victory the faith of those who (now) disbelieve will not profit them, nor will they be respired.

32:30 So turn away from them and wait, surely they too are waiting.

KORAN CHAPTER 71 / Sura 41

Ha Min

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

41:1 Beneficent God!

41:2 A revelation from the Beneficent, the Merciful.

41:3 A Book of which the verses are made plain, an Arabic Koran for a people who know —

41:4 Good news and a warning. But most of them turn away, so they hear not.

41:5 And they say: Our hearts are under coverings from that to which thou callest us, and there is a deafness in our ears, and there is a veil between us and thee, so act, we too are acting.

41:6 Say: I am only a mortal like you. It is revealed to me that your God is one God, so keep in the straight path to Him, and ask His protection. And woe to the polytheists!

41:7 Who give not the poor-rate, and who are disbelievers in the Hereafter.

41:8 Those who believe and do good, for them is surely a reward never to be cut off.

41:9 Say: Do you indeed disbelieve in Him Who created the earth in two days, and do you set up equals with Him? That is the Lord of the worlds.

41:10 And He made in it mountains above its surface, and He blessed therein and ordained therein its foods, in four days; alike for (all) seekers.

41:11 Then He directed Himself to the heaven and it was a vapour, so He said to it and to the earth: Come both, willingly or unwillingly. They both said: We come willingly.

41:12 So He ordained them seven heavens in two days, and revealed in every heaven its affair. And We adorned the lower heaven with lights, and (made it) to guard. That is the decree of the Mighty, the Knowing.

41:13 But if they turn away, then say I warn you of a scourge like the scourge of Ad and Thamud.

41:14 When messengers came to them from before them and behind them, saying, Serve nothing but Allah, they said: If our Lord had pleased, He would have sent down angels. So we are disbelievers in that with which you are sent.

41:15 Then as to Ad, they were unjustly proud in the land, and said: Who is mightier than we in power? See they not that Allah Who created them is mightier than they in power? And they denied Our messages.

41:16 So We sent on them a furious wind in unlucky days that We might make them taste the chastisement of abasement in this world's life. And the chastisement of the Hereafter is truly more abasing, and they will not be helped.

41:17 And as for Thamud, We showed them the right way, but they preferred blindness to guidance, so the scourge of an abasing chastisement overtook them for what they had earned.

41:18 And We delivered those who believed and kept their duty.

41:19 And the day when the enemies of Allah are gathered to the Fire, they will be formed into groups.

41:20 Until, when they come to it, their ears and their eyes and their skins will bear witness against them as to what they did.

41:21 And they will say to their skins Why bear ye witness against us They will say: Allah Who makes everything speak has made us speak, and He created you at first, and to Him you are returned.

41:22 And you did not cover yourselves lest your ears and your eyes and your skins should bear witness against you, but you thought that Allah knew not much of what you did.

41:23 And that, your (evil) thought which you entertained about your Lord, ruined you, so have you become of the lost ones.

41:24 Then if they are patient, the Fire is their abode. And if they ask for goodwill, they are not of those who are granted goodwill.

41:25 And We have appointed for them comrades, so they make fair-seeming to them what is before them and what is behind them, and the word proved true against them among the nations of jinn and men that have passed away before them they are surely losers.

41:26 And those who disbelieve say: Listen not to this Koran but make noise therein, perhaps you may overcome.

41:27 So We shall certainly make those who disbelieve taste a severe chastisement, and We shall certainly requite them for the worst of what they did.

41:28 That is the reward of Allah's enemies — the Fire. For them therein is the home to abide. A requital for their denying Our messages.

41:29 And those who disbelieve will say: Our Lord, show us those who led us astray from among the jinn and the men that we may trample them under our feet, so that they may be of the lowest.

41:30 Those who say, Our Lord is Allah, then continue in the right way, the angels descend upon them, saying: Fear not, nor be grieved, and receive good news of the Garden which you were promised.

41:31 We are your friends in this world's life and in the Hereafter, and you have therein what your souls desire and you have therein what you ask for.

41:32 A welcome gift from the Forgiving, the Merciful.

41:33 And who is better in speech than one who calls to Allah and does good, and says: I am surely of those who submit?

41:34 And not alike are the good and the evil. Repel (evil) with what is best, when lo! he between whom and thee is enmity would be as if he were a warm friend.

41:35 And none is granted it but those who are patient, and none is granted it but the owner of a mighty good fortune.

41:36 And if a false imputation from the devil afflict thee, seek refuge in Allah. Surely He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

41:37 And of His signs are the night and the day and the sun and the moon. Adore not the sun nor the moon, but adore Allah Who created them, if He it is that you serve.

41:38 But if they are proud, yet those with thy Lord glorify Him night and day, and they tire not.

41:39 And of His signs is this, that thou seest the earth still, but when We send down water thereon, it stirs and swells. He Who gives it life is surely the Giver of life to the dead. Surely He is Possessor of Power over all things.

41:40 Those who distort Our messages are not hidden from Us. Is he then who is cast into the Fire better or he who comes safe on the day of Resurrection? Do what you like, surely He is Seer of what you do.

41:41 Those who disbelieve in the Reminder when it comes to them, and surely it is an Invincible Book:

41:42 Falsehood cannot come at it from before or behind it: a revelation from the Wise, the Praised One.

41:43 Naught is said to thee but what was said to messengers before thee. Surely thy Lord is the Lord of Forgiveness and the Lord of painful Retribution.

41:44 And if We had made it a Koran in a foreign tongue, they would have said: Why have not its messages been made clear? What a foreign (tongue) and an Arab! Say: It is to those who believe a guidance and a healing, and those who believe not, there is a deafness in their ears and it is obscure to them. These are called to from a place afar.

41:45 And indeed We gave Moses the Book, but differences arose therein. And had not a word already gone forth from thy Lord, judgement would have been given between them. And surely they are in a disquieting doubt about it.

41:46 Whoever does good, it is for his own soul; and whoever does evil, it is against it. And thy Lord is not in the least unjust to the servants.

41:47 To Him is referred the knowledge of the Hour And no fruit comes forth from its coverings, nor does a female bear or bring forth but with His knowledge. And on the day when He calls out to them: Where are My associates? they will say: We declare to Thee, not one of us can bear witness.

41:48 And those whom they called upon before will fail them, and they will know that they cannot escape.

41:49 Man tires not of praying for good, but, if evil touch him, he is despairing, hopeless.

41:50 And if We make him taste mercy from ifs after distress has touched him, he says: This is due to me, and I think not that the Hour will come to pass; and if I am sent back to my Lord, I shall have sure good with Him. So We shall certainly inform those who disbelieve of what they do, and We shall make them taste of hard chastisement.

41:51 And when We show favour to man, he turns away and withdraws himself; but when evil touches him, he is full of lengthy supplications.

41:52 Say: See you, if it is from Allah, then you disbelieve in it, who is in greater error than he who is in opposition far away?

41:53 We will soon show them Our signs in farthest regions and among their own people, until it is quite dear to them that it is the Truth. Is it not enough that thy Lord is a Witness over all things?

41:54 Now surely they are in doubt as to the meeting with their Lord. Lo! He surely encompasses all things.

KORAN CHAPTER 72 / Sura 45

The Kneeling / Al-Jathiyah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

45:1 Beneficent God!

45:2 The revelation of the Book is from Allah, the Mighty, the Wise.

45:3 Surely in the heavens and the earth are signs for believers.

45:4 And in your creation and in the animals He spreads abroad are signs for a people who are sure

45:5 And (in) the variation of the night and the day and (in) the sustenance which Allah sends down from the heaven, then gives life thereby to the earth after its death, and (in) the changing of the winds, are signs for a people who understand.

45:6 These are the messages of Allah, which We recite to thee with truth. In what announcement will they then believe after Allah and His signs?

45:7 Woe to every sinful liar!

45:8 Who hears the messages of Allah recited to him then persists in haughtiness, as though he had not heard them. So announce to him a painful chastisement.

45:9 And when he comes to know of any of Our messages, he takes them for a jest. For such is an abasing chastisement.

45:10 In front of them is hell, and that which they have earned will avail them naught, nor those whom they take for protectors besides Allah, and for them is a grievous chastisement.

45:11 This is guidance; and those who disbelieve in the~ messages of their Lord, for them is a painful chastisement of an evil (kind).

45:12 Allah is He Who made subservient to you the sea that the ships may glide therein by His command, and that you may seek of His grace, and that you may give thanks.

45:13 And He has made subservient to you whatsoever is in the heavens and whatsoever is in the earth, all, from Himself. Surely there are signs in this for a people who reflect.

45:14* Tell those who believe to forgive those who fear not the days of Allah that He may reward a people for what they earn.

45:15 Whoever does good it is for himself, and whoever does evil, it is against himself; then to your Lord you will be brought back.

45:16 And certainly We gave the Children of Israel the Book and judgement and prophethood and provided them with good things, and made them excel the nations.

45:17 And we gave them clear arguments in the Affair. So they differed not until after knowledge had come to them, out of envy among themselves. Surely thy Lord will judge between them on the day of Resurrection concerning that wherein they differed.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

45:1$ Then We made thee follow a course in the Affair, so follow it, and follow not the low desires of those who know not.

45:19 Surely they can avail thee naught against Allah. And surely the wrongdoers are friends of each Other, and Allah is the Friend of the dutiful.

45:20 These are clear proofs for men, and a guidance and a merry for a people who are sure.

45:21 Or do those who do evil deeds think that We shall make them as those who believe and do good — their life and their death being equal? Evil is what they judge!

45:22 And Allah created the heavens and the earth with truth, and that every soul may be rewarded for what it has earned, and they will not be wronged.

45:23 Seest thou him who takes his desire for his god, and Allah leaves him in error knowingly, and seals his hearing and his heart and puts a covering on his sight? Who can then guide him after Allah? Will you not mind?

45:24 And they say: There is naught but our life of the world; we die and we live and nothing destroys us but time, and they have no knowledge of that; they only conjecture.

45:25 And when Our clear messages are recited to them, their only argument is that they say: Bring (back) our fathers, if you are truthful.

45:26 Say: Allah gives you life, then makes you die, then will He gather you to the day of Resurrection, wherein is no doubt, but most people know not.

45:27 And Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. And on the day when the Hour comes to pass, on that day will the followers of falsehood perish.

45:28 And thou wilt see every nation kneeling down. Every nation will be called to its record. This day you are required for what you did.

45:29 This is Our record that speaks against you with truth. Surely We wrote what you did.

45:30 Then as to those who believed and did good, their Lord will admit them to His mercy. That is the manifest achievement.

45:31 And as to those who disbelieved — were not My messages recited to you? But you were proud and you were a guilty people.

45:32 And when it was said, Surely the promise of Allah is true and the Hour — there is no doubt about it, you said: We know not what the Hour is. We think (it) only a conjecture and we are not at all sure.

45:33 And the evil of what they did will become manifest to them, and that at which they mocked will encompass them.

45:34 And it will be said: This day We forsake you as you neglected the meeting of this day of yours, and your abode is the Fire, and you have no helpers.

45:35 That is because you made the messages of Allah a jest and the life of this world deceived you. So on that day they shall not be taken out of it, nor shall they be granted goodwill.

45:36 So praise be to Allah, the Lord of the heavens and the Lord of the earth, the Lord of the worlds!

45:37 And to Him belongs greatness in the heavens and the earth; and He is the Mighty, the Wise.

KORAN CHAPTER 73 / Sura 16

The Bee / Al-Nahl

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

16:1 Allah's commandment will come to pass, so seek not to hasten it. Glory be to Him, and highly exalted be He above what they associate (with Him)!

16:2 He sends down angels with revelation by His command on whom He pleases of His servants, saying Give the warning that there is no God but Me, so keep your duty to Me.

16:3 He created the heavens and the earth with truth. Highly exalted be He above what they associate (with Him)!

16:4 He created man from a small life-germ, and lo! he is an open contender.

16:5 And the cattle, He has created them for you. You have in them warm clothing and (other) advantages, and of them you eat.

16:6 And therein is beauty for you, when you drive them back (home) and when you send them out (to pasture).

16:7 And they carry your heavy loads to regions which you could not reach but with distress to yourselves. Surely your Lord is Compassionate, Merciful.

16:8 And (He made) horses and mules and asses that you might ride upon them and as an ornament. And He creates what you know not.

16:9 And upon Allah it tests to show the right way, and there are some deviating (ways). And if He please, He would guide you all aright.

16:10 He it is who sends down water from the clouds for you; it gives drink, and by it (grow) the trees on which you feed.

16:11 He causes to grow for you thereby herbage, and the olives, and the date-palms, and the grapes, and all the fruits. Surely there is a sign in this for a people who reflect.

16:12 And He has made subservient for you the night and the day and the sun and the moon. And the stars are made subservient by His command. Surely there are signs in this for a people who understand.

16:13 And what He has created for you in the earth is of varied hues. Surely there is a sign in this for a people who are mindful.

16:14 And He it is Who has made the sea subservient that you may eat fresh flesh from it and bring forth from it ornaments which you wear. And thou seest the ships cleaving through it, so that you seek of His bounty and that you may give thanks.

16:15 And He has cast firm mountains in the earth lest it quake with you, and rivers and roads that you may go aright, 16:16 And landmarks. And by the stars they find the right way.

16:17 Is He then Who creates like him who creates not? Do you not then mind? —

16:18 And if you would count Allah's favours, you would not be able to number them. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

16:19 And Allah knows what you conceal and what you do openly.

16:20 And those whom they call on besides Allah created naught, while they are themselves created.

16:21 Dead (are they), not living. And they know not when they will be raised.

16:22 Your God is one God: so those who believe not in the Hereafter, their hearts refuse to know and they are proud.

16:23 Undoubtedly Allah knows what they hide and what they manifest. Surely He loves not the proud.

16:24 And when it is said to them, What is it that your Lord has revealed? they say, Stories of the ancients!

16:25 That they may bear their burdens in full on the day of Resurrection, and also of the burdens of those whom they lead astray without knowledge. Ah! evil is what they bear.

16:26 Those before them plotted, so Allah demolished their building from the foundations, so the roof fell down on them from above them, and the chastisement came to them from whence they perceived not.

16:27 Then on the Resurrection day He will bring them to disgrace and say: Where are My partners, for whose sake you became hostile? Those who are given the knowledge will say: Surely disgrace this day and evil are upon the disbelievers, 16:28 Whom the angels cause to die, while they are unjust to themselves. Then would they offer submission: We did not do any evil. Nay! Surely Allah knows what you did.

16:29 So enter the gates of hell, to abide therein. Evil indeed is the dwelling-place of the proud.

16:30 And it is said to those who guard against evil What has your Lord revealed? They say, Good. For those who do good in this world is good. And certainly the abode of the Hereafter is better. And excellent indeed is the abode of those who keep their duty —

16:31 Gardens of perpetuity which they enter, wherein flow rivers: they have therein what they please. Thus does Allah reward those who keep their duty, 16:32 Whom the angels cause to die in purity, saying: Peace be to you enter the Garden for what you did.

16:33 Await they aught but that the angels should come to them or that thy Lord's command should come to pass. Thus did those before them. And Allah wronged them not, but they wronged themselves.

16:34 So the evil of what they did afflicted them, and that which they mocked encompassed them.

16:35 And the idolaters say: Had Allah pleased, we had nor served aught but Him, (neither) we nor our fathers, nor had we prohibited aught without (order from) Him. Thus did those before them. But have the messengers any duty except a plain delivery (of the message)?

16:36 And certainly We raised in every nation a messenger, saying: Serve Allah and shun the devil. Then of them was he whom Allah guided, and of them was he whose remaining in error was justly due. So travel in the land, then see what was the end of the rejectors.

16:37 If thou desirest their guidance, yet Allah will not guide him who leads astray, nor have they any helpers.

16:38 And they swear by Allah their most energetic oaths: Allah will not raise up him who dies Yea! it is a promise binding on Him, quite true, but most people know not:

16:39 So that He might make manifest to them that about which they differ, and that those who disbelieve might know that they were liars.

16:40 Our word for a thing, when We intend it, is only that We say to it, Be; and it is.

16:41 And those who flee for Allah's sake after they are oppressed, We shall certainly give them a good abode in the world; and the reward of the Hereafter is much greater. Did they but know!

16:42 Those who are steadfast and on their Lord they rely.

16:43 And We sent not before thee any but men to whom We sent revelation — so ask the followers of the Reminder if you know not —

16:44 With clear arguments and Scriptures. And We have revealed to thee the Reminder that thou mayest make dear to men that which has been revealed to them, and that haply they may reflect.

16:45 Are they, then, who plan evil (plans), secure that Allah will not abase them in the earth, or that chastisement will not overtake them from whence they perceive not?

16:46 Or that He will not seize them in their going to and fro, then they will not be able to escape?

16:47 Or that He will not seize them with a gradual diminution? Your Lord is surely Compassionate, Merciful.

16:48 See they not everything that Allah has created? Its (very) shadows return from right and left, making obeisance to Allah, while they are in utter abasement.

16:49 And to Allah makes obeisance every living creature that is in the heavens and that is in the earth, and the angels (too) and they are not proud.

16:50 They fear their Lord above them and do what they are commanded.

16:51 And Allah has said: Take not two gods. He is only one God: So Me alone should you fear.

16:52 And whatever is in the heavens and the earth is His, and to Him is obedience due always. Will you then fear other than Allah?

16:53 And whatever good you have, it is from Allah; then, when evil afflicts you, to Him do you cry for aid.

16:54 Then when He removes the evil from you, lo! some of you associate others with their Lord, 16:55 So as to deny what We have given them. Then enjoy yourselves, for soon will you know.

16:56 And they set apart for what they know not, a portion of what we have given them. By Allah! you shall certainly be questioned about that which you forged.

16:57 And they ascribe daughters to Allah. Glory be to Him! And for themselves is what they desire!

16:58 And when the birth of a daughter is announced to one of them, his face becomes black and he is full of wrath.

16:59 He hides himself from the people because of the evil of what is announced to him. Shall he keep it with disgrace or bury it (alive) in the dust? Now surely evil is what they judge!

16:60 For those who believe not in the Hereafter are evil attributes and Allah's are the sublime attributes. And He is the Mighty, the Wise.

16:61 And if Allah were to destroy men for their iniquity, He would not leave therein a single creature, but He respites them till an appointed time. So when their doom comes, they are not able to delay (it) an hour, nor can they advance (it).

16:62 And they ascribe to Allah what they (themselves) hate, and their tongues relate the lie that for them is good. Assuredly for them is the Fire, and they will be (therein) abandoned.

16:63 By Allah! We certainly sent (messengers) to nations before thee, but the devil made their deeds fair-seeming to them. So he is their patron to-day, and for them is a painful chastisement.

16:64 And We have not revealed to thee the Book except that thou mayest make clear to them that wherein they differ, and (as) a guidance and a mercy for a people who believe.

16:65 And Allah sends down water from above, and therewith gives life to the earth after its death. Surely there is a sign in this for a people who listen.

16:66 And surely there is a lesson for you in the cattle: We give you to drink of what is in their bellies — from betwixt the faeces and the blood — pure milk, agreeable to the drinkers.

16:67 And of the fruits of the palms and the grapes, you obtain from them intoxicants and goodly provision. There is surely a sign in this for a people who ponder.

16:68 And thy Lord revealed to the bee: Make hives in the mountains and in the trees and in what they build,

16:69 Then eat of all the fruits and walk in the ways of thy Lord submissively. There comes forth from their bellies a beverage of many hues, in which there is healing for men. Therein is surely a sign for a people who reflect.

16:70 And Allah creates you, then He causes you to die and of you is he who is brought back to the worst part of life, so that he knows nothing after having knowledge. Surely Allah is Knowing, Powerful.

16:71 And Allah has made some of you excel others in the means of subsistence; so those who are made to excel give not away their sustenance to those whom their right hands possess, so that they may be equal therein. Will they then deny the favour of Allah?

16:72 And Allah has made wives for you from among yourselves, and has given you sons and daughters from your wives, and has provided you with good things. Will they then believe in falsehood and deny the favour of Allah?

16:73 And they serve besides Allah that which controls for them no sustenance at all from the heavens and the earth; nor have they any power.

16:74 So coin not similitudes for Allah. Surely Allah knows and you know not.

16:75 Allah sets forth a parable: There is a slave, the property of another, controlling naught, and there is one to whom We have granted from Ourselves goodly provisions, so he spends from it secretly and openly. Are the two alike? Praise be to Allah! Nay, most of them know not.

16:76 And Allah sets forth a parable of two men: One of them dumb, controlling naught, and he is a burden to his master; wherever he sends him, he brings no good. Is he equal with him who enjoins justice, and he is on the right path?

16:77 And Allah's is the unseen of the heavens and the earth. And the matter of the Hour is but as a twinkling of the eye or it is nigher still. Surely Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

16:78 And Allah brought you forth from the wombs of your mothers you knew nothing — and He gave you hearing and sight and hearts that you might give thanks.

16:79 See they not the birds, constrained in the middle of the sky? None witholds them but Allah. Surely in this are signs for a people who believe.

16:80 And Allah has given you an abode in your houses, and He has given you houses of the skins of cattle, which you find light to carry on the day of your march and on the day of your halting, and of their wool and their fur and their hair, household stuff and a provision for a time.

16:81 And Allah has made for you, of what He has created, shelters, and He has given you in the mountains, places of retreat, and He has given you garments to save you from the heat, and coats of mail to save you in your fighting. Thus does He complete His favour to you that you may submit.

16:82 Then if they turn away, thy duty is only clear deliverance (of the message).

16:83 They recognize the favour of Allah, yet they deny it, and most of them are ungrateful.

16:84 And on the day when We raise up a witness out of every nation, then permission (to offer excuse) will not be given to the disbelievers, nor will they be allowed to make amends.

16:85 And when the wrong-doers see the chastisement, it will not be lightened for them, nor will they be respited.

16:86 And when those who ascribed partners (to Allah) see their associate-gods, they will say: Our Lord, these are our associate-gods on whom we called besides Thee. But they will throw back at them the word: Surely you are liars.

16:87 And they will tender submission to Allah on that day, and what they used to forge will fail them.

16:88 Those who disbelieve and hinder (men) from Allah's way, We will add chastisement to their chastisement because they made mischief.

16:89 And on the day when We raise up in every people a witness against them from among themselves, and bring thee as a witness against these. And We have revealed the Book to thee explaining all things, and a guidance and mercy and good news for those who submit.

16:90 Surely Allah enjoins justice and the doing of good (to others) and the giving to the kindred, and He forbids indecency and evil and rebellion. He admonishes you that you may be mindful.

16:91 And fulfil the covenant of Allah, when you have made a covenant, and break not the oaths after making them fast, and you have indeed made Allah your surety. Surely Allah knows what you do.

16:92 And be not like her who unravels her yarn, disintegrating it into pieces, after she has spun it strongly. You make your oaths to be means of deceit between you because (one) nation is more numerous than (another) nation. Allah only tries you by this. And He will certainly make clear to you on the day of Resurrection that wherein you differed.

16:93 And if Allah please, He would make you a single nation, but He leaves in error whom He pleases and guides whom He pleases. And certainly you will be questioned as to what you did.

16:94 And make not your oaths a means of deceit between you, lest a foot should slip after its stability, and you should taste evil because you hinder (men) from Allah's way and grievous chastisement be your (lot).

16:95 And take not a small price for Allah's covenant. Surely what is with Allah is better for you, did you but know!

16:96 What is with you passes away and what is with Allah is enduring. And We shall certainly give to those who are patient their reward for the best of what they did.

16:97 Whoever does good, whether male or female, and is a believer, We shall certainly make him live a good life, and We shall certainly give them their reward for the best of what they did.

16:98 So when thou recitest the Koran, seek refuge in Allah from the accursed devil.

16:99 Surely he has no authority over those who believe and rely on their Lord.

16:100 His authority is only over those who befriend him and those who associate others with Him.

16:101 And when We change a message for a message and Allah knows best what He reveals — they say Thou art only a forger. Nay, most of them know not.

16:102 Say: The Holy Spirit has revealed it from thy Lord with truth, that it may establish those who believe, and as a guidance and good news for those who submit.

16:103 And indeed We know that they say: Only a mortal teaches him. The tongue of him whom they hint at is foreign, and this is clear Arabic language.

16:104 Those who believe not in Allah's messages, Allah guides them not, and for them is a painful chastisement.

16:105 Only they forge lies who believe not in Allah's messages, and they are the liars.

16:106 Whoso disbelieves in Allah after his belief — not he who is compelled while his heart is content with faith, but he who opens (his) breast for disbelief — on them is the wrath of Allah, and for them is a grievous chastisement.

16:107 That is because they love this world's life more than the Hereafter, and because Allah guides not the disbelieving people.

16:108 These are they whose hearts and ears and eyes Allah has sealed and these are the heedless ones.

16:109 No doubt that in the Hereafter they are the losers.

16:110 Then surely thy Lord, to those who flee after they are persecuted, then struggle hard and are patient, surely thy Lord after that is Protecting, Merciful.

16:111 On the day when every soul will come pleading for itself, and every soul will be paid in full what it has done, and they will not be dealt with unjustly.

16:112 And Allah sets forth a parable: A town safe and secure, to which its means of subsistence came in abundance from every quarter; but it disbelieved in Allah's favours, so Allah made it taste a pall of hunger and fear because of what they wrought.

16:113 And certainly there came to them a Messenger from among them, but they rejected him, so the chastisement overtook them, while they were wrongdoers.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

16:114 So eat of what Allah has given you, lawful and good (things), and give thanks for Allah's favour, if He it is you serve.

16:115 He has forbidden you only what dies of itself and blood and the flesh of swine and that over which any other name than that of Allah has been invoked; but whoever is driven to (it), not desiring nor exceeding the limit, then surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

16:116 And utter not, for what your tongues describe, the lie: This is lawful and this unlawful; so that you forge a lie against Allah. Surely those who forge a lie against Allah will not prosper.

16:117 A little enjoyment — and for them is a painful chastisement.

16:118 And to those who are Jews We prohibited what We have related to thee already, and We did them no wrong, but they wronged themselves.

16:119 And surely thy Lord, for those who do evil in ignorance, then turn after that and make amends, surely thy Lord after that is Forgiving, Merciful.

* * *

16:120 Surely Abraham was a model (of virtue), obedient to Allah, upright, and he was not of the polytheist, 16:121 Grateful for His favours. He chose him and guided him on the right path.

16:122 And We gave him good in this world; and in the Hereafter he is surely among the righteous.

16:123 Then We revealed to thee: Follow the faith of Abraham, the upright one; and he was not of the polytheists.

16:124 The Sabbath was ordained only against those who differed about it. And surely thy Lord will judge between them on the day of Resurrection concerning that wherein they differed.

16:125 Call to the way of thy Lord with wisdom and goodly exhortation, and argue with them in the best manner. Surely thy Lord knows best him who strays from His path, and He knows best those who go a-tight.

16:126* And if you take your turn, then punish with the like of that with which you were afflicted. But if you show patience, it is certainly best for the patient.

16:127* And be patient and thy patience is not but by (the help of) Allah, and grieve not for them, nor be in distress for what they plan.

16:128* Surely Allah is with those who keep their duty and those who do good (to others).

KORAN CHAPTER 74 / Sura 30

The Romans / Al-Rum

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

30:1 I, Allah, am the Best Knower.

30:2 The Romans are vanquished

30:3 In a near land, and they, after their defeat, will gain victory

30:4 Within nine years. Allah's is the command before and after. And on that day the believers will rejoice

30:5 In Allah's help. He helps whom He pleases, and He is the Mighty, the Merciful 30:6 (It is) Allah's promise. Allah will not fail in His promise, but most people know not.

30:7 They know the outward of this world's life, but of the Hereafter they are heedless.

30:8 Do they not reflect within themselves? Allah did not create the heavens and the earth and what is between them but with truth, and (for) an appointed term. And surely most of the people are deniers of the meeting with their Lord.

30:9 Have they not travelled in the earth and seen what was the end of those before them? They were stronger than these in prowess, and dug up the earth, and built on it more than these have built. And their messengers came to them with clear arguments. So it was not Allah, Who wronged them, but they wronged themselves.

30:10 Then evil was the end of those who did evil, because they rejected the messages of Allah and mocked at them.

* * *

30:11 Allah originates the creation, then reproduces it, then to Him you will be returned.

30:12 And the day when the Hour comes, the guilty will despair.

30:13 And they will have no intercessors from among their associate-gods, and they will deny their associate-gods.

30:14 And the day when the Hour comes, that day they will be separated one from the other.

30:15 Then as to those who believed and did good, they will be made happy in a garden.

30:16 And as for those who disbelieved and rejected Our messages and the meeting of the Hereafter, they will be brought to chastisement.

30:17* So glory be to Allah when you enter the evening and when you enter the morning.

30:18 And to Him be praise in the heavens and the earth, and in the afternoon, and when the sun declines.

30:19 He brings forth the living from the dead and brings forth the dead from the living, and gives life to the earth after its death. And thus will you be brought forth.

* * *

30:20 And of His signs is this, that He created you from dust, then lo! you are mortals (who) scatter.

30:21 And of His signs is this, that He created mates for you from yourselves that you might find quiet of mind in them, and He put between you love and compassion. Surely there are signs in this for a people who reflect.

30:22 And of His signs is the creation of the heavens and the earth and the diversity of your tongues and colours. Surely there are signs in this for the learned.

30:23 And of His signs is your sleep by night and by day and your seeking of His bounty. Surely there are signs in this for a people who would hear.

30:24 And of His signs is this, that He shows you the lightning for fear and for hope, and sends down water from the cloud, then gives life there-with to the earth after its death. Surely there are signs in this for a people who understand.

30:25 And of His signs is this, that the heaven and the earth subsist by His command. Then when He calls you from the earth — lo! you come forth.

30:26 And His is whosoever is in the heavens and the earth. All are obedient to Him.

30:27 And He it is, Who originates the creation, then reproduces it, and it is very easy to Him. And His is the most exalted state in the heavens and the earth; and He is the Mighty, the Wise.

* * *

30:28 He sets forth to you a parable relating to yourselves. Have you among those whom your right hands possess partners in that which We have provided you with, so that with respect to it you are alike — you fear them as you fear each other? Thus do We make the messages clear for a people who understand.

30:29 Nay, those who are unjust follow their low desires without any knowledge; so who can guide him whom Allah leaves in error? And they shall have no helpers.

30:30 So set thy face for religion, being upright, the nature made by Allah in which He has created men. There is no altering Allah's creation. That is the right religion but most people know not —

30:31 Turning to Him; and keep your duty to Him, and keep up prayer and be not of the polytheists, 30:32 Of those who split up their religion and become parties; every sect rejoicing in that which is with it.

30:33 And when harm afflicts men, they call upon their Lord, turning to Him, then when He makes them taste of mercy from Him, lo! some of them begin to associate (others) with their Lord, 30:34 So as to be ungrateful for that which We have given them. So enjoy yourselves a while — you will soon come to know.

30:35 Or, have We sent to them an authority so that it speaks of that which they associate with Him?

30:36 And when We make people taste of mercy they rejoice in it, and if an evil befall them for what their hands have already wrought, lo! they despair.

30:37 See they not that Allah enlarges provision and straitens (it) for whom He pleases? Certainly there are signs in this for a people who believe.

30:38 So give to the near of kin his due, and to the needy and the wayfarer. This is best for those who desire Allah's pleasure, and these it is who are successful.

30:39 And whatever you lay out at usury, so that it may increase in the property of men, it increases not with Allah; and whatever you give in charity, desiring Allah's pleasure these will get manifold.

30:40 Allah is He Who created you, then He sustains you, then He causes you to die, then brings you to life. Is there any of your associate-gods who does aught of it? Glory be to Him, and exalted be He above what they associate (with Him)!

* * *

30:41 Corruption has appeared in the land and the sea on account of that which men's hands have wrought, that He may make them taste a part of that which they have done, so that they may return.

30:42 Say Travel in the land, then see what was the end of those before. Most of them were polytheists.

30:43 Then set thyself, being upright, to the right religion before there come from Allah the day which cannot be averted on that day they will be separated.

30:44 Whoever disbelieves will be responsible for his disbelief; and whoever does good, such prepare (good) for their own souls,

30:45 That He may reward out of His grace those who believe and do good. Surely He loves not the disbelievers.

30:46 And of His signs is this, that He sends forth the winds bearing good news, and that He may make you taste of His mercy, and that the ships may glide by His command, and that you may seek His grace, and that you may be grateful.

30:47 And certainly We sent before thee messengers to their people, so they came to them with clear arguments, then We punished those who were guilty. And to help believers is ever incumbent on Us.

30:48 Allah is He Who sends forth the winds, so they raise a cloud, then He spreads it forth in the sky as He pleases, and He breaks it, so that you see the rain coming forth from inside it; then when He causes it to fall upon whom He pleases of His servants, lo! they rejoice —

30:49 Though they were before this, before it was sent down upon them, in sure despair.

30:50 Look then at the signs of Allah's mercy, how He gives life to the earth after its death. Surely He is the Quickener of the dead; and He is Possessor of power over all things.

30:51 And if We send a wind and they see it yellow, they would after that certainly continue to disbelieve.

30:52 So surely thou canst not make the dead to hear, nor canst thou make the deaf to hear the call, when they turn back retreating.

30:53 Nor canst thou guide the blind out of their error. Thou canst make none to hear but those who believe in Our messages, so they submit.

* * *

30:54 Allah is He Who created you from a state of weakness, then He gave strength after weakness, then ordained weakness and hoary hair after strength. He creates what He pleases, and He is the Knowing, the Powerful.

30:55 And the day when the Hour comes, the guilty will swear: They did not tarry but an hour. Thus are they ever turned away.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

30:56 And those who are given knowledge and faith will say: Certainly you tarried according to the ordinance of Allah till the day of Resurrection — so this is the day of Resurrection — but you did not know.

30:57 So that day their excuse will not profit those who were unjust, nor will they be granted goodwill.

30:58 And certainly We have set forth for men in this Koran every kind of parable. And if thou bring them a sign, those who disbelieve would certainly say: You are naught but deceivers.

30:59 Thus does Allah seal the hearts of those who know not.

30:60 So be patient; surely the promise of Allah is true; and let not those disquiet thee who have no certainty.

KORAN CHAPTER 75 / Sura 11

Hud

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

11:1 I, Allah, am the Seer. A Book, whose verses are characterised by wisdom, then they are made plain, from One Wise, Aware:

11:2 That you should serve none but Allah. Surely I am to you from Him a warner and a giver of good news.

11:3 And ask forgiveness of your Lord, then turn to Him. He will provide you with a goodly provision to an appointed term, and will bestow His grace on every one endowed with grace. And if you turn away, I fear for you the chastisement of a great day.

11:4 To Allah is your return, and He is Possessor of power over all things.

11:5 Now surely they cover up their breasts to conceal (their enmity) from Him. Now surely, when they put their garments as a covering, He knows what they hide and what they make public. Surely He is Knower of what is in the breasts.

11:6 And there is no animal in the earth but on Allah is the sustenance of it, and He knows its resting-place and its depository. All is in a clear record.

11:7 And He it is Who created the heavens and the earth in six periods and His Throne of Power is ever on water that He might manifest (the good qualities in) you whoever of you is best in deeds. And if thou sayest, You shall surely be raised up after death, those who disbelieve say This is nothing but clear deceit.

11:8 And if We delay for them the chastisement for a stated period, they will certainly say: What prevents it? Now surely on the day when it will come to them, it will not be averted from them, and that which they scoffed at will beset them.

11:9 And if We make man taste mercy from Us, then withdraw it from him, he is surely despairing, ungrateful.

11:10 And if We make him taste a favour after distress has afflicted him, he says: The evils are gone away from me. Certainly he is exultant, boastful, 11:11 Except those who are patient and do good. For them is forgiveness and a great reward.

11:12 Then, may it be that thou wilt give up part of what is revealed to thee and thy breast will be straitened by it, because they say: Why has not a treasure been sent down for him or an angel come with him? Thou art only a warner And Allah is in charge of all things.

11:13 Or, say they He has forged it. Say: Then bring ten forged chapters like it, and call upon whom you can besides Allah, if you are truthful.

11:14 But if they answer you not, then know that it is revealed by Allah's knowledge, and that there is no God but He. Will you then submit?

11:15 Whoever desires this world's life and its finery We repay them their deeds therein, and they are not made to suffer loss in it.

11:16 These are they for whom there is nothing but Fire in the Hereafter. And what they work therein is fruitless and their deeds are vain.

11:17 Is he then (like these) who has with him clear proof from his Lord, and a witness from Him recites it, and before it (is) the Book of Moses, a guide and a mercy? These believe in it. And whoever of the parties disbelieves in it, the Fire is his promised place. So be not in doubt about it. Surely it is the truth from thy Lord, but most men believe not.

11:18 And who is more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah? These will be brought before their Lord, and the witnesses will say: These are they who lied against their Lord. Now surely the curse of Allah is on the wrongdoers, 11:19 Who hinder (men) from the path of Allah and desire to make it crooked. And they are disbelievers in the Hereafter.

11:20 These will not escape in the earth, nor will they be guardians besides Allah. The chastisement will be doubled for them. They could not bear to hear, and they did not see.

11:21 These are they who have lost their souls, and that which they forged is gone from them.

11:22 Truly in the Hereafter they are the greatest losers.

11:23 Surely those who believe and do good and humble themselves before their Lord, these are the owners of the Garden; therein they will abide.

11:24 The likeness of the two parties is as the blind and the deaf, and the seer and the hearer. Are they equal in condition? Will you not then mind?

11:25 And certainly We sent Noah to his people: Surely I am a plain warner to you, 11:26 To serve none but Allah. Verily I fear for you the chastisement of a painful day.

11:27 But the chiefs of his people who disbelieved said: We see thee not but a mortal like us, and we see not that any follow thee but those who are the meanest of us at first thought. Nor do we see in you any superiority over us; nay, we deem you liars.

11:28 He said: O my people, see you if I have with me clear proof from my Lord, and He has granted me mercy from Himself and it has been made obscure to you. Can we compel you to (accept) it while you are averse to it?

11:29 And, O my people, I ask you not for wealth (in return) for it. My reward is only with Allah, and I am not going to drive away those who believe. Surely they will meet their Lord, but I see you a people who are ignorant.

11:30 And, O my people, who will help me against Allah, if I drive them away? Will you not then mind?

11:31 And I say not to you that I have the treasures of Allah; and I know not the unseen; nor do I say that I am an angel. Nor do I say about those whom your eyes scorn that Allah will not grant them (any) good. Allah knows best what is in their souls — for then indeed I should be of the wrongdoers.

11:32 They said: O Noah, indeed thou hast disputed with us and prolonged dispute with us, so bring upon us that which thou threatenest us with, if thou art truthful.

11:33 He said: Only Allah will bring it on you, if He please, and you will not escape:

11:34 And my advice will not profit you, if I intend to give you good advice, if Allah intends to destroy you. He is your Lord; and to Him you will be brought back.

11:35 Or say they: He has forged it? Say: If I have forged it, on me is my guilt; and I am free of that of which you are guilty.

11:36 And it was revealed to Noah: None of thy people will believe except those who have already believed, so grieve not at what they do:

11:37 And make the ark under Our eyes and Our revelation, and speak not to Me on behalf of those who are unjust. Surely they will be drowned.

11:38 And he began to make the ark. And whenever the chiefs of his people passed by him, they laughed at him. He said: If you laugh at us, surely we, too, laugh at you as you laugh (at us).

11:39 So you shall know who it is on whom will come a chastisement which will disgrace him, and on whom a lasting chastisement will fall.

11:40 At length when Our command came and water gushed forth from the valley, We said: Carry in it two of all things, a pair, and thine own family except those against whom the word has already gone forth — and those who believe. And there believed not with him but a few.

11:41 And he said: Embark in it, in the name of Allah be its sailing and its anchoring. Surely my Lord is Forgiving, Merciful.

11:42 And it moved on with them amid waves like mountains. And Noah called out to his son, and he was aloof: O my son, embark with us and be not with the disbelievers.

11:43 He said: I will betake myself for refuge to a mountain that will save me from the water. He said: There is none safe to-day from Allah's command, but he on whom He has mercy. And a wave intervened between them, so he was among the drowned.

11:44 And it was said: O earth, swallow thy water, and O cloud, clear away. And the water was made to abate, and the affair was decided, and it rested on the Judi, and it was said: Away with the iniquitous people!

11:45 And Noah cried to his Lord and said: My Lord, surely my son is of my family, and Thy promise is true, and Thou art the Justest of the judges.

11:46 He said: O Noah, he is not of thy family; he is (an embodiment of) unrighteous conduct. So ask not of Me that of which thou hast no knowledge. I admonish thee lest thou be of the ignorant.

11:47 He said: My Lord, I seek refuge in Thee from asking of Thee that of which I have no knowledge. And unless Thou forgive me and have mercy on me, I shall be of the losers.

11:48 It was said: O Noah, descend with peace from Us and blessings on thee and on nations (springing) from those with thee. And there are nations whom We afford provisions, then a painful punishment from Us afflicts them.

11:49 These are announcements relating to the unseen which We reveal to thee; thou didst not know them (neither) thou nor thy people before this. So be patient. Surely, the (good) end is for the dutiful.

11:50 And to Ad (We sent) their brother Hud. He said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no god save Him. You are only fabricators.

11:51 O my people, I ask of you no reward for it. My reward is only with Him Who created me. Do you not then understand?

11:52 And, O my people, ask forgiveness of your Lord, then turn to Him, He will send on you clouds pouring down abundance of rain and add strength to your strength, and turn not back, guilty.

11:53 They said: O Hud, thou hast brought us no clear argument, and we are not going to desert our gods for thy word, and we are not believers in thee.

11:54 We say naught but that some of our gods have smitten thee with evil. He said: Surely I call Allah to witness, and do you, too, bear witness that I am innocent of what you associate (with Allah)

11:55 Besides Him. So scheme against me all together, then give me no respite.

11:56 Surely I put my trust in Allah, my Lord and your Lord. There is no living creature but He grasps it by its forelock. Surely my Lord is on the right path.

11:57 But if you turn away, then indeed I have delivered to you that with which I am sent to you. And my Lord will bring another people in your place, and you cannot do Him any harm. Surely my Lord is the Preserver of all things.

11:58 And when Our commandment came to pass, We delivered Hud and those who believed with him with mercy from Us; and We delivered them from a hard chastisement.

11:59 And such were Ad. They denied the messages of their Lord, and disobeyed His messengers and followed the bidding of every insolent opposer (of truth).

11:60 And they were overtaken by a curse in this world and on the day of Resurrection. Now surely Ad disbelieved in their Lord. Now surely, away with Ad, the people of Hud!

11:61 And to Thamud (We sent) their brother Salih. He said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no god other than Him. He brought you forth from the earth and made you dwell in it, so ask forgiveness of Him, then turn to Him. Surely my Lord is Nigh, Answering.

11:62 They said: O Salih, thou wast among us a centre of (our) hopes before this. Dost thou forbid us to worship what our fathers worshipped? And surely we are in grave doubt about that to which thou callest us.

11:63 He said: O my people, see you if I have clear proof from my Lord and He has granted me mercy from Himself who will then help me against Allah, if I disobey Him? So you would add to me naught but perdition.

11:64 And, O my people, this is Allah's she-camel, a sign for you, so leave her to pasture on Allah's earth and touch her not with evil, lest a near chastisement overtake you.

11:65 But they hamstrung her, so he said: Enjoy yourselves in your houses for three days. That is a promise not to be belied.

11:66 So when Our commandment came to pass, We saved Salih and those who believed with him by mercy from Us from the disgrace of that day. Surely thy Lord — He is the Strong, the Mighty.

11:67 And the cry overtook those who did wrong, so they were motionless bodies in their abodes, 11:68 As though they had never dwelt therein. Now surely Thamud disbelieved in their Lord. So away with Thamud!

11:69 And certainly Our messengers came to Abraham with good news. They said: Peace! Peace! said he, And he made no delay in bringing a roasted calf.

11:70 But when he saw that their hands reached not to it, he mistrusted them and conceived fear of them. They said: Fear not we have been sent to Lot's people.

11:71 And his wife was standing (by), so she wondered. Then We gave her the good news of Isaac, and beyond Isaac, of Jacob.

11:72 She said: O wonder! Shall I bear a son when I am an extremely old woman, and this my husband an extremely old man? This is a wonderful thing indeed!

11:73 They said: Wonderest thou at Allah's commandment? The mercy of Allah and His blessings on you, O people of the house. Surely He is Praised, Glorious.

11:74 So when feat departed from Abraham and good news came to him, he began to plead with Us for Lot's people.

11:75 Surely Abraham was forbearing, tender-hearted, oft-returning (to Allah).

11:76 O Abraham, cease from this. Surely the decree of thy Lord has gone forth and there must come to them a chastisement that cannot be averted.

11:77 And when Our messengers came to Lot, he was grieved for them, and he was unable to protect them, and said: This is a distressful day!

11:78 And his people came to him, (as if) driven on towards him, and they were used to the doing of evil deeds before. He said: O my people, these are my daughters — they are purer for you: so guard against (the punishment of) Allah and disgrace me not about my guests. Is there not among you any right-minded man?

11:79 They said: Certainly thou knowest that we have no claim on thy daughters, and thou knowest what we desire.

11:80 He said: Would that I had the power to repel you! — rather I shall have recourse to a strong support.

11:81 They said: O Lot, we are the messengers of thy Lord. They shall not reach thee. So travel with thy people for a part of the night and let none of you turn back except thy wife. Surely whatsoever befalls them shall befall her. Surely their appointed time is the morning. Is not the morning nigh?

11:82 So when Our decree came to pass, We turned them upside down, and rained on them stones, as decreed, one after another, 11:83 Marked (for punishment) with thy Lord. And it is not far off from the wrongdoers.

11:84 And to Midian (We sent) their brother ShuAib. He said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no other god save Him. And give not short measure and weight. I see you in prosperity, and I fear for you the chastisement of an all-encompassing day:

11:85 And, O my people, give full measure and weight justly, and defraud not men of their things, and act not corruptly in the land, making mischief:

11:86 What remains with Allah is better for you, if you are believers. And I am not a keeper over you.

11:87 They said: O ShuAib, does thy prayer enjoin thee that we should forsake what our fathers worshipped or that we should not do what we please with regard to our property? Forsooth thou art the forbearing, the right-directing one!

11:88 He said: O my people, see you if I have a dear proof from my Lord and He has given me a goodly sustenance from Himself. And I desire not to act in opposition to you, in that which I forbid you. I desire nothing but reform, so far as I am able. And with none but Allah is the direction of my affair to a right issue. In Him I trust and to Him I turn.

11:89 And, O my people, let not opposition to me make you guilty so that there may befall you the like of that which befell the people of Noah, or the people of Hud, or the people of Salih. Nor are the people of Lot far off from you.

11:90 And ask forgiveness of your Lord, then turn to Him. Surely my Lord is Merciful, Loving-kind.

11:91 They said: O ShuAib we understand not much of what thou sayest and surely we see thee to be weak among us. And were it not for thy family, we would surely stone thee, and thou art not mighty against us.

11:92 He said: O my people, is my family more esteemed by you than Allah? And you neglect Him as a thing cast behind your backs! Surely my Lord encompasses what you do.

11:93 And, O my people, act according to your ability, I too am acting. You will come to know soon who it is on whom will light the punishment that will disgrace him, and who it is that is a liar. And watch, surely I too am watching with you.

11:94 And when Our decree came to pass, We delivered ShuAib and those who believed with him by mercy from Us. And the cry overtook those who were iniquitous, so they were motionless bodies in their abodes, 11:95 As though they had never dwelt in them. So away with Midian, just as Thamud perished!

11:96 And certainly We sent Moses with Our signs and a dear authority, 11:97 To Pharaoh and his chiefs, but they followed the bidding of Pharaoh; and Pharaoh's bidding was not right-directing.

11:98 He will lead his people on the day of Resurrection, and bring them down to the Fire. And evil the place to which they are brought!

11:99 And they are overtaken by a curse in this (world), and on the day of Resurrection. Evil the gift which shall be given!

11:100 This is an account of the towns which we relate to thee. Of them are some that stand and (others) mown down.

11:101 And We wronged them not but they wronged themselves. And their gods whom they called upon besides Allah availed them naught when the decree of thy Lord came to pass. And they added to them naught but ruin.

11:102 And such is the punishment of thy Lord, when He punishes the towns while they are iniquitous. Surely His punishment is painful, severe.

11:103 Surely there is a sign in this for him who fears the chastisement of the Hereafter. That is a day on which people will be gathered together, and that is a day to be witnessed.

11:104 And We delay it not but for an appointed term.

11:105 On the day when it comes, no soul will speak except by His permission; so (some) of them will be unhappy and (others) happy.

11:106 Then as for those who are unhappy, they will be in the Fire; for them therein will be sighing and groaning —

11:107 Abiding therein so long as the heavens and the earth endure, except as thy Lord please. Surely thy Lord is Doer of what He intends.

11:108 And as for those who are made happy, they will be in the Garden abiding therein so long as the heavens and the earth endure, except as thy Lord please — a gift never to be cut off.

11:109 So be not thou in doubt as to that which these worship. They worship only as their fathers worshipped before. And surely We shall pay them in full their due undiminished.

11:110 And We certainly gave the Book to Moses, but differences arose therein. And had not a word gone forth from thy Lord, the matter would have been decided between them. And they are surely in a disquieting doubt about it.

11:111 And thy Lord will surely pay back to all their deeds in full. He indeed is Aware of what they do.

11:112 Continue then in the right way as thou art commanded, as also (should) those who turn (to Allah) with thee. And be not inordinate, (O men). Surely He is Seer of what you do.

11:113 And incline not to those who do wrong, lest the fire touch you; and you have no protectors besides Allah, then you would not be helped.

11:114 And keep up prayer at the two ends of the day and in the first hours of the night. Surely good deeds take away evil deeds. This is a reminder for the mindful.

11:115 And be patient, for surely Allah wastes not the reward of the doers of good.

11:116 Why were there not then among the generations before you those possessing understanding, forbidding mischief in the earth, except a few among them whom We delivered? And the unjust pursued the enjoyment of plenty, and they were guilty.

11:117 And thy Lord would not destroy the towns unjustly, while their people acted well.

11:118 And if thy Lord had pleased, He would have made people a single nation. And they cease not to differ, 11:119 Except those on whom thy Lord has mercy; and for this did He create them. And the word of thy Lord is fulfilled: I shall fill hell with jinn and men, all together.

11:120 And all We relate to thee of the account of the messengers is to strengthen thy heart therewith. And in this has come to thee the truth and an admonition and a reminder for the believers.

11:121 And say to those who believe not: Act according to your power, surely we too are acting 11:122 And wait, surely we are waiting (also).

11:123 And Allah's is the unseen in the heavens and the earth, and to Him the whole affair will be returned. So serve Him and put thy trust in Him. And thy Lord is not heedless of what you do.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

KORAN CHAPTER 76 / Sura 14

Abraham / Ibrahim

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

14:1 I, Allah, am the Seer. A Book which We have revealed to thee that thou mayest bring forth men, by their Lord's permission, from darkness into light, to the way of the Mighty, the Praised One, 14:2 Of Allah, Whose is whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And woe to the disbelievers for the severe chastisement!

14:3 Those who love this world's life more than the Hereafter, and turn away from Allah's path, and would have it crooked. Those are far astray.

14:4 And We sent no messenger but with the language of his people, so that he might explain to them clearly. Then Allah leaves in error whom He pleases and He guides whom He pleases. And He is the Mighty, the Wise.

14:5 And certainly We sent Moses with Our messages, saying Bring forth thy people from darkness into light and remind them of the days of Allah. In this are surely signs for every steadfast, grateful one.

14:6 And when Moses said to his people: Call to mind Allah's favour to you, when He delivered you from Pharaoh's people, who subjected you to severe torment, and slew your sons and spared your women. And therein was a great trial from your Lord.

14:7 And when your Lord made it known: If you are grateful, I will give you more, and if you are ungrateful, My chastisement is truly severe.

14:8 And Moses said: If you are Ungrateful, you and all those on earth, then Allah is surely Self-sufficient, Praised.

14:9 Has not the account reached you of those before you, of the people of Noah and Ad and Thamud — and those after them? None knows them but Allah. Their messengers came to them with clear arguments, but they thrust their hands into their mouths and said: We deny that with which you are sent, and surely we are in serious doubt as to that to which you invite us.

14:10 Their messengers said: Is there doubt about Allah, the Maker of the heavens and the earth? He invites you to forgive you your faults and to respite you till an appointed term. They said: You are nothing but mortals like us; you wish to turn us away from that which our fathers used to worship; so bring us clear authority.

14:11 Their messengers said to them We are nothing but mortals like yourselves, but Allah bestows (His) favours on whom He pleases of His servants. And it is not for us to bring you an authority, except by Allah's permission. And on Allah let the believers rely.

14:12 And why should we not rely on Allah? and He has indeed guided us in our ways. And we would certainly bear with patience your persecution of us. And on Allah should the reliant rely.

14:13 And those who disbelieved said to their messengers: We will certainly drive you out of our land, unless you come back into our religion. So their Lord revealed to them: We shall certainly destroy the wrongdoers, 14:14 And We shall certainly settle you in the land after them. This is for him who fears standing in My presence and fears My threat.

14:15 And they sought judgement, and every insolent opposer was disappointed:

14:16 Hell is before him and he is given to drink of boiling water;

14:17 He drinks it little by little and is not able to swallow it; and death comes to him from every quarter, yet he dies not. And before him is vehement chastisement.

14:18 The parable of those who disbelieve in their Lord: Their works are as ashes on which the wind blows hard on a stormy day. They have no power or aught they have earned. That is straying far away.

14:19 Seest thou not that Allah created the heavens and the earth with truth? If He please, He will take you away arid bring a new creation, 14:20 And that is not difficult for Allah.

14:21 And they will all come forth to Allah, then the weak will say to those who were proud: We were your followers, can you then avert from us aught of the chastisement of Allah? They will say: If Allah had guided us, we would have guided you. It is the same to us whether we cry or bear patiently; there is no escape for us.

14:22 And the devil will say, when the matter is decided: Surely Allah promised you a promise of truth, and I promised you, then failed you. And I had no authority over you, except that I called you and you obeyed me; so blame me not but blame yourselves. I cannot come to your help, nor can you come to my help. I deny your associating me with Allah before. Surely for the unjust is a painful chastisement.

14:23 And those who believe and do good are made to enter Gardens, wherein flow rivers, abiding therein by their lord's permission. Their greeting therein is, Peace!

14:24 Seest thou not how Allah sets forth a parable of a good word as a good tree, whose root is firm and whose branches are high, 14:25 Yielding its fruit in every season by the permission of its Lord? And Allah sets forth parables for men that they may be mindful.

14:26 And the parable of an evil word is as an evil tree pulled up from the earth's surface; it has no stability.

14:27 Allah confirms those who believe with the sure word in this world's life and in the Hereafter; and Allah leaves the wrongdoers in error and Allah does what He pleases.

14:28* Seest thou not those who change Allah's favour for disbelief and make their people to alight in the abode of perdition 14:29* Hell. They will burn in it And an evil place it is to settle in!

14:30 And they set up equals with Allah to lead astray from His path. Say: Enjoy yourselves, for surely your return is to the Fire.

14:31 Tell My servants who believe to keep up prayer and spend out of what We have given them, secretly and openly, before the coming of the day in which there is no bartering, nor befriending.

14:32 Allah is He Who created the heavens and the earth and sent down water from the clouds, then brought forth with it fruits as a sustenance for you, and He has made the ships subservient to you to run their course in the sea by His command, and He has made the rivers subservient to you.

14:33 And He has made subservient to you the sun and the moon, pursuing their courses; and He has made subservient to you the night and the day.

14:34 And He gives you of all you ask of Him. And if you count Allah's favours, you will not be able to number them. Surely man is very unjust, very ungrateful.

14:35 And when Abraham said: My Lord, make this city secure, and save me and my sons from worshipping idols.

14:36 My Lord, surely they have led many men astray. So whoever follows me, he is surely of me; and whoever disobey me, Thou surely art Forgiving, Merciful.

14:37 Our Lord, I have settled a part of my offspring in a valley unproductive of fruit near Thy Sacred House, our Lord, that they may keep up prayer; so make the hearts of some people yearn towards them, and provide them with fruits; haply they may be grateful, 14:38 Our Lord, surely Thou knowest what we hide and what we proclaim. And nothing is hidden from Allah, either in the earth, or in the heaven.

14:39 Praise be to Allah, Who has given me, in old age, Ishmael and Isaac! Surely my Lord is the Hearer of prayer.

14:40 My Lord, make me keep up prayer and from my offspring (too), our Lord, and accept my prayer.

14:41 Our Lord, grant me protection and my parents and the believers on the day when the reckoning comes to pass.

14:42 And think not Allah to be heedless of what the unjust do. He only respites them to a day when the eyes will stare (in terror), 14:43 Hastening forward, their heads upraised, their gaze not returning to them, and their hearts vacant.

14:44 And warn people of a day when the chastisement will come to them, then the wrongdoers will say: Our Lord, respite us to a near term, we will respond to Thy call and follow the messengers. Did you not swear before that there will be no passing away for you?

14:45 And you dwell in the abodes of those who wronged themselves, and it is clear to you how We dealt with them and We made (them) examples for you.

14:46 And they have indeed planned their plan, and their plan is with Allah, though their plan is such that the mountains should be moved thereby.

14:47 So think not that Allah will fail in His promise to His messengers. Surely Allah is Mighty, the Lord of retribution.

14:48 On the day when the earth will be changed into a different earth, and the heavens (as well), and they will come forth to Allah, the One, the Supreme.

14:49 And thou wilt see the guilty on that day linked together in chains —

14:50 Their shirts made of pitch, and fire covering their faces,

14:51 That Allah may repay each soul what it has earned. Surely Allah is Swift in reckoning.

14:52 This is a message for the people and that they may be warned thereby, and that they may know that He is One God, and that men of understanding may mind.

KORAN CHAPTER 77 / Sura 12

Joseph / Yusuf

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

12:1* I, Allah, am the Seer. These are the verses of the Book that makes manifest.

12:2* Surely We have revealed it — an Arabic Koran — that you may understand.

12:3* We narrate to thee the best of narratives, in that We have revealed to thee this Koran, though before this thou wast of those unaware.

12:4 When Joseph said to his father: O my father, I saw eleven stars and the sun and the moon — I saw them making obeisance to me.

12:5 He said: O my son, relate not thy dream to thy brethren, lest they devise a plan against thee. The devil indeed is an open enemy to man.

12:6 And thus will thy Lord choose thee and teach thee the interpretation of sayings, and make His favour complete to thee and to the Children of Jacob, as He made it complete before to thy fathers, Abraham and Isaac. Surely thy Lord is Knowing, Wise.

12:7* Verily in Joseph and his brethren there are signs for the inquirers.

12:8 When they said: Certainly Joseph and his brother are dearer to our father than we, though we are a (strong) company. Surely our father is in manifest error —

12:9 Slay Joseph or banish him to some (other) land, so that your father's regard may be exclusively for you, and after that you may be a righteous people.

12:10 A speaker among them said: Slay not Joseph, but, if you are going to do anything, cast him down to the bottom of the well. Some of the travellers may pick him up.

12:11 They said: O our father, why dost thou not trust us with Joseph, and surely we are his sincere well-wishers?

12:12 Send him with us to-morrow that he may enjoy himself and play and we shall surely guard him well.

12:13 He said: Indeed it grieves me that you should take him away and I fear lest the wolf devour him, while you are heedless of him.

12:14 They said: If the wolf should devour him, while we are a (strong) company, we should then certainly be losers.

12:15 So when they took him away and agreed to put him down at the bottom of the pit, We revealed to him: Thou wilt certainly inform them of this affair of theirs while they perceive not.

12:16 And they came to their father at nightfall, weeping.

12:17 They said: O our father, we went off racing one with another and left Joseph by our goods, so the wolf devoured him. And thou wilt not believe us, though we are truthful.

12:18 And they came with false blood on his shirt. He said: Nay, your souls have made a matter light for you. So patience is goodly. And Allah is He Whose help is sought against what you describe.

12:19 And there came travellers, and they sent their water-drawer and he let down his bucket. He said: O good news! This is a youth. And they concealed him as an article of merchandise, and Allah was Cognizant of what they did.

12:20 And they sold him for a small price, a few pieces of silver, and they showed no desire for him.

12:21 And the Egyptian who bought him said to his wife: Make his stay honourable. Maybe he will be useful to us, or we may adopt him as a son. And thus We established Joseph in the land, and that We might teach him the interpretation of sayings. And Allah has full control over His affair, but most people know not.

12:22 And when he attained his maturity, We gave him wisdom and knowledge. And thus do We reward the doers of good.

12:23 And she in whose house he was, sought to seduce him, and made fast the doors and said: Come. He said: Allah forbid! Surely my Lord made good my abode. The wrongdoers never prosper.

12:24 And certainly she desired him, and he would have desired her, were it nor that he had seen the manifest evidence of his Lord. Thus (it was) that We might turn away from him evil and indecency. Surely he was one of Our chosen servants.

12:25 And they raced with one another to the door, and she rent his shirt from behind, and they met her husband at the door. She said: What is the punishment for one who intends evil to thy wife, except imprisonment or a painful chastisement?

12:26 He said: She sought to seduce me. And a witness of her own family bore witness: If his shirt is rent in front, she speaks the truth and he is of the liars.

12:27 And if his shirt is rent behind, she tells a lie and he is of the truthful.

12:28 So when he saw his shirt rent behind, he said: Surely it is a device of you women. Your device is indeed great!

12:29 O Joseph, turn aside from this. And (O my wife), ask forgiveness for thy sin. Surely thou art one of the sinful.

12:30 And women in the city said: The chiefs wife seeks to seduce her slave. He has indeed affected her deeply with (his) love. Truly we see her in manifest error.

12:31 So when she heard of their device, she sent for them and prepared for them a repast, and gave each of them a knife; and said (to Joseph): Come out to them. So when they saw him, they deemed him great, and cut their hands (in amazement), and said: Holy Allah! This is not a mortal! This is but a noble angel.

12:32 She said: This is he about whom you blamed me. And certainly I sought to seduce him, but he was firm in continence. And if he do not what I bid him, he shall certainly be imprisoned, and he shall certainly be of the object.

12:33 He said: My Lord, the prison is dearer to me than that to which they invite me. And if Thou turn not away their device from me, I shall yearn towards them and be of the ignorant.

12:34 So his Lord accepted his prayer and turned away their device from him. Surely He is the Hearer, the Knower.

12:35 Then it occurred to them after they had seen the signs that they should imprison him till a time.

12:36 And two youths entered the prison with him. One of them said: I saw myself pressing wine. And the other said: I saw myself carrying bread on my head, of which birds were eating. Inform us of its interpretation surely we see thee to be of the doers of good.

12:37 He said: The food with which you are fed shall not come to you, but I shall inform you of its' interpretation before it comes to you. This is of what my Lord has taught me. Surely I have forsaken the religion of a people who believe not in Allah, and are deniers of the Hereafter.

12:38 And I follow the religion of my fathers, Abraham and Isaac and Jacob. It beseems us not to associate aught with Allah. This is by Allah's grace upon us and on mankind, but most people give not thanks.

12:39 O my two fellow-prisoners, are sundry lords better or Allah the One, the Supreme?

12:40 You serve not besides Him but names which you have named, and your fathers Allah has sent down no authority for them. Judgement is only Allah's. He has commanded that you serve none but Him. This is the right religion, but most people know not.

12:41 O my two fellow-prisoners, as for one of you, he will serve wine for his lord to drink; and as for the other, he will be crucified, so that the birds will eat from his head. The matter is decreed concerning which you inquired.

12:42 And he said to him whom he knew would be delivered of the two Remember me with thy lord. But the devil caused him to forget mentioning (it) to his lord, so he remained in the prison a few years.

12:43 And the King said: I have seen seven fat kine which seven lean ones devoured; — and seven green ears and (seven) others dry. O chiefs, explain to me my dream, if you can interpret the dream.

12:44 They said: Confused dreams, and we know not the interpretation of dreams.

12:45 And of the two, he who had found deliverance and remembered after a long time said: I will inform you of its interpretation, so send me.

12:46 Joseph, O truthful one, explain to us seven fat kine which seven lean ones devoured, and seven green ears and (seven) others dry, that I may go back to the people so that they may know.

12:47 He said: You shall sow for seven years as usual, then that which you reap, leave it in its ear, except a little which you eat.

12:48 Then after that will come seven years of hardship, which will eat away all you have beforehand stored for them, except a little which you have preserved.

12:49 Then after that will come a year in which people will have rain and in which they will press (grapes).

12:50 And the king said: Bring him to me. So when the messenger came to him, he said: Go back to thy lord and ask him, what is the case of the women who cut their hands. Surely my Lord knows their device.

12:51 (The king) said: What was your affair when you sought to seduce Joseph? They said: Holy Allah! We knew of no evil on his part. The chief's wife said: Now has the truth become manifest. I sought to seduce him and he is surely of the truthful.

12:52 This is that he might know that I have not been unfaithful to him in secret, and that Allah guides not the device of the unfaithful.

12:53 And I call not myself sinless surely (man's) self is wont to command evil, except those on whom my Lord has mercy. Surely my Lord is Forgiving, Merciful.

12:54 And the king said: Bring him to me, I will choose him for myself. So when he talked with him, he said: Surely thou art in our presence to-day dignified, trusted.

12:55 He said: Place me (in authority) over the treasures of the land; surely I am a good keeper, knowing well.

12:56 And thus did We give to Joseph power in the land — he had mastery in it wherever he liked. We bestow Our mercy on whom We please, and We waste not the reward of the doers of good.

12:57 And certainly the reward of the Hereafter is better for those who believe and guard against evil.

12:58 And Joseph's brethren came and went in to him, and he knew them, while they recognized him not.

12:59 And when he furnished them with their provision, he said: Bring to me a brother of yours from your father. See you not that I give full measure and that I am the best of hosts?

12:60 But if you bring him not to me, you shall have no measure (of corn) from me, nor shall you come near me.

12:61 They said: We shall strive to make his father yield about him, and we are sure to do (it).

12:62 And he said to his servants: Put their money into their bags that they may recognize it when they go back to their family, so that they may come back.

12:63 So when they returned to their father, they said: O our father, the measure is withheld from us, so send with us our brother that we may get the measure, and we will surely guard him.

12:64 He said: Can I trust you with him, except as I trusted you with his brother before. So Allah is the Best Keeper, and He is the most Merciful of those who show mercy.

12:65 And when they opened their goods, they found their money returned to them. They said: O our father, what (more) can we desire? This is our property returned to us, and we shall bring corn for our family and guard our brother, and have in addition the measure of a camel-load. This is an easy measure.

12:66 He said: I will by no means send him with you, until you give me a firm covenant in Allah's name that you will bring him back to me, unless you are completely surrounded. And when they gave him their covenant, he said: Allah is Guardian over what we say.

12:67 And he said: O my sons, enter not by one gate but enter by different gates. And I can avail you naught against Allah. Judgement is only Allah's. On Him I rely, and on Him let the reliant rely.

12:68 And when they entered as their father had bidden them, it availed them naught against Allah, but (it was only) a desire in the soul of Jacob, which he satisfied. And surely he was possessed of knowledge, because We had given him knowledge, but most people know not.

12:69 And when they went in to Joseph, he lodged his brother with himself saying: I am thy brother, so grieve not at what they do.

12:70 Then when he furnished them with their provision, (some one) placed the drinking-cup in his brother's bag. Then a crier cried out: O caravan, you are surely thieves!

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

12:71 They said, while they turned towards them: What is it that you miss?

12:72 They said: We miss the king's drinking-cup, and he who brings it shall have a camel-load, and I am responsible for it.

12:73 They said: By Allah! You know for certain that we have not come to make mischief in the land, and we are not thieves.

12:74 They said: But what is the penalty for this, if you are liars?

12:75 They said: The penalty for this — the person in whose bag it is found, he himself is the penalty for it. Thus do we punish the wrongdoers.

12:76 So he began with their sacks before the sack of his brother, then he brought it out from his brother's sack. Thus did We plan for the sake of Joseph. He could not take his brother under the king's law, unless Allah pleased. We raise in degree whom We please. And above every one possessed of knowledge is the All-Knowing One.

12:77 They said: If he steal, a brother of his did indeed steal before. But Joseph kept it secret in his soul, and disclosed it not to them. He said: You are in an evil condition, and Allah knows best what you state.

12:78 They said: O chief, he has a father, a very old man, so take one of us in his place. Surely we see thee to be of the doers of good.

12:79 He said: Allah forbid that we should seize other than him with whom we found our property, for then surely we should be unjust

* * *

12:80 So when they despaired of him, they conferred together privately. The eldest of them said: Know you not that your father took from you a covenant in Allah's name, and how you fell short of your duty about Joseph before? So I shall not leave this land, until my father permits me or Allah decides for me; and He is the Best of the judges.

12:81 Go back to your father and say: O our father, thy son committed theft. And we bear witness only to what we know, and we could not keep watch over the unseen.

12:82 And ask the town where we were, and the caravan with which we proceeded. And surely we are truthful.

12:83 He said: Nay, your souls have contrived an affair for you, so patience is good. Maybe Allah will bring them together to me. Surely He is the Knowing, the Wise.

12:84 And he ruined away from them, and said: O my sorrow for Joseph! And his eyes were filled (with tears) on account of the grief, then he repressed (grief).

12:85, They said: By Allah! Thou wilt not cease remembering Joseph till thou art a prey to disease or thou art of those who perish.

12:86 He said: I complain of my grief and sorrow only to Allah, and I know from Allah what you know not.

12:87 O my sons, go and inquire about Joseph and his brother; and despair not of Allah's mercy. Surely none despairs of Allah's mercy except the disbelieving people.

12:88 So when they came to him, they said: O chief, distress has afflicted us and our family, and we have brought scanty money, so give us full measure and be charitable to us. Surely Allah rewards the charitable.

12:89 He said: Do you know how you treated Joseph and his brother, when you were ignorant?

12:90 They said: Art thou indeed Joseph? He said: I am Joseph and this is my brother; Allah has indeed been gracious to us. Surely he who keeps his duty and is patient — Allah never wastes the reward of the doers of good.

12:91 They said: By Allah! Allah has indeed chosen thee over us, and we were certainly sinners.

12:92 He said: No reproof be against you this day. Allah may forgive you, and He is the most Merciful of those who show mercy.

12:93 Take this my shirt and cast it before my father's face — he will come to know. And come to me with all your family.

* * *

12:94 And when the caravan left (Egypt); their father said Surely I scent (the power of) Joseph, if you call me not a dotard.

12:95 They said: By Allah thou art surely in thy old error.

12:96 Then when the bearer of good news came, he cast it before his face so he became certain. He said: Did I not say to you that I know from Allah what you know not?

12:97 They said: O Our father, ask forgiveness of our sins for us, surely we are sinners.

12:98 He said I shall ask forgiveness for you of my Lord. Surely He is the Forgiving, the Merciful.

12:99 Then when they went in to Joseph, he lodged his parents with himself and said: Enter Egypt in safety, if Allah please.

12:100 And he raised his parents on the throne, and they fell prostrate for his sake. And he said: O my father, this is the significance of my vision of old — my Lord has made it true. And He was indeed kind to me, when He brought me forth from the prison, and brought you from the desert after the devil had sown dissensions between me and my brethren. Surely my Lord is Benignant to whom He pleases. Truly He is the Knowing, the Wise.

12:101 My Lord, Thou hast given me of the kingdom and taught me of the interpretation of sayings. Originator of the heavens and the earth, Thou art my Friend in this world and the Hereafter. Make me die in submission and join me with the righteous.

12:102 This is of the announcements relating to the unseen (which) We reveal to thee, and thou wast not with them when they resolved upon their affair, and they were devising plans.

12:103 And most men believe not, though thou desirest it eagerly.

12:104 And thou askest them no reward for it. It is nothing but a reminder for all mankind.

* * *

12:105 And how many a sign in the heavens and the earth do they pass by! yet they turn away from it.

12:106 And most of them believe not in Allah without associating others (with Him).

12:107 Do they then feel secure from the coming to them of an all-encompassing chastisement from Allah or from the coming to them of the hour suddenly, while they perceive not?

12:108 Say: This is my way: I call to Allah, with certain knowledge — I and those who follow me. And glory be to Allah! and I am not of the polytheists.

12:109 And We sent not before thee any but men, from the people of the towns, to whom We sent revelation. Have they not then travelled in the land and seen what was the end of those before them? And certainly the abode of the Hereafter is best for those who keep their duty. Do you not then understand?

12:110 Until, when the messengers despaired and (the people) thought that they were told a lie, Our help came to them, and whom. We pleased was delivered. And Our punishment is not averted from the guilty people.

12:111 In their histories there is certainly a lesson for men of understanding. It is not a narrative which could be forged, but a verification of what is before it, and a distinct explanation of all things, and a guide and a mercy to a people who believe.

KORAN CHAPTER 78 / Sura 40

The Believer / Al-Mu'min

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

40:1 Beneficent God!

40:2 The revelation of the Book is from Allah, the Mighty, the Knowing, 40:3 Forgiver of sin and Acceptor of repentance, Severe to punish, Lord of bounty. There is no God but He; to Him is the eventual coming.

40:4 None dispute concerning the messages of Allah but those who disbelieve, so let not their control in the land deceive thee.

40:5 Before them the people of Noah and the parties after them rejected (prophets), and every nation purposed against its messenger to destroy him, and disputed by means of falsehood to render null thereby the truth, so I seized them; how (terrible) was then My retribution!

40:6 And thus did the word of thy Lord prove true against those who disbelieve that they are the companions of the Fire.

40:7 Those who bear the Throne of Power and those around it celebrate the praise of their Lord and believe in Him and ask protection for those who believe: Our Lord, Thou embracest all things in mercy and knowledge, so protect those who turn (to Thee) and follow Thy way, and save them from the chastisement of hell.

40:8 Our Lord, make them enter the Gardens of perpetuity, which Thou hast promised them and such of their fathers and their wives and their off-spring as are good. Surely Thou art the Mighty, the Wise:

40:9 And guard them from evil, and whom Thou guardest from evil this day, Thou hast indeed mercy on him. And that is the mighty achievement.

* * *

40:10 Those who disbelieve are told: Certainly Allah's hatred (of you), when you were called upon to the faith and you rejected, was much greater than your hatred (now) of yourselves.

40:11 They say Our Lord, twice hast Thou made us die, and twice hast Thou given us life; so we confess our sins. Is there then a way of escape?

40:12 That is because when Allah alone was called upon, you disbelieved, and when associates were given to Him, you believed. So judgement belongs to Allah, the High, the Great.

40:13 He it is Who shows you His signs and sends down for you sustenance from heaven, and none minds but he who turns (to Him).

40:14 So call upon Allah, being sincere to Him in obedience, though the disbelievers are averse —

40:15 Exalter of degrees, Lord of the Throne of Power, He makes the spirit to light by His command upon whom He pleases of His servants, that he may warn (men) of the day of Meeting —

40:16 The day when they come forth. Nothing concerning them remains hidden from Allah. To whom belongs the kingdom this day? To Allah, the One, the Subduer (of all).

40:17 This day every soul is rewarded what it has earned. No injustice this day! Surely Allah is Swift in Reckoning.

40:18 And warn them of the day that draws near, when hearts, grieving inwardly, rise up to the throats. The iniquitous will have no friend, nor any intercessor who should be obeyed.

40:19 He knows the dishonesty of eyes and that which the breasts conceal.

40:20 And Allah judges with truth. And those whom they call upon besides Him judge naught! Surely Allah is the Hearing, the Seeing.

* * *

40:21 Have they not travelled in the land and seen what was the end of those who were before them? Mightier than these were they in strength and in fortifications in the land, but Allah destroyed them for their sins. And they had none to protect them from Allah.

40:22 That was because there came to them their messengers with clear arguments, but they disbelieved, so Allah destroyed them. Surely He is Strong, Severe in Retribution.

40:23 And certainly We sent Moses with Our messages and clear authority,

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

40:24 To Pharaoh and Haman and Korah, but they said: A lying enchanter!

40:25 So when he brought to them the Truth from Us, they said: Slay the sons of those who believe with him and keep their women alive. And the plot of the disbelievers is bound to fail.

40:26 And Pharaoh said: Leave me to slay Moses and let him call upon his Lord. Surely I fear that he will change your religion or that he will make mischief to appear in the land.

40:27 And Moses said: Truly I seek refuge in my Lord and your Lord from every proud one who believes not in the day of Reckoning.

* * *

40:28 And a believing man of Pharaoh's people, who hid his faith, said: Will you slay a man because he says, My Lord is Allah, and indeed he has brought you clear arguments from your Lord? And if he be a liar, on him will be his lie, and if he be truthful, there will befall you some of that which he threatens you with. Surely Allah guides not one who is a prodigal, a liar.

40:29 O my people, yours is the kingdom this day, being masters in the land, but who will help us against the punishment of Allah, if it comes to us? Pharaoh said: I only show you that which I see and I guide you only to the right way.

40:30 And he who believed said: O my people, surely I fear for you the like of what befell the parties, 40:31 The like of what befell the people of Noah and Ad and Thamud and those after them. And Allah wishes no injustice for (His) servants.

40:32 And, O my people, I fear for you the day of Calling out —

40:33 The day on which you will turn back retreating, having none to save you from Allah; and whomsoever Allah leaves in error there is no guide for him.

40:34 And Joseph indeed came to you before with clear arguments, but you ever remained in doubt as to what he brought you; until, when he died, you said: Allah will never raise a messenger after him. Thus does Allah leave him in error who is a prodigal, a doubter —

40:35 Those who dispute concerning the messages of Allah without any authority that has come to them. Greatly hated is it by Allah and by those who believe. Thus does Allah seal every heart, of a proud, haughty one.

40:36 And Pharaoh said: O Haman, build for me a tower that I may attain the means of access —

40:37 The means of access to the heavens, then reach the God of Moses, and I surely think him to be a liar. And thus the evil of his deed was made fair-seeming to Pharaoh, and he was turned aside from the way. And the plot of Pharaoh ended in naught but ruin.

* * *

40:38 And he who believed said: O my people, follow me I will guide you to the right way.

40:39 O my people, this life of the world is but a (passing) enjoyment, and the Hereafter, that is the abode to settle.

40:40 Whoever does evil, he is requited only with the like of it; and whoever does good, whether male or female, and he is a believer, these shall enter the Garden, to be given therein sustenance without measure.

40:41 And, O my people, how is it that I call you to salvation and you call me to the Fire?

40:42 You call me to disbelieve in Allah and to associate with Him that of which I have no knowledge, and I call you to the Mighty, the Forgiving.

40:43 Without doubt that which you call me to has no title to be called to in this world, or in the Hereafter, and our return is to Allah, and the prodigals are companions of the Fire.

40:44 So you will remember what I say to you, and I entrust my affair to Allah. Surely Allah is Seer of the servants.

40:45 So Allah protected him from the evil that they planned; and evil chastisement overtook Pharaoh's people —

40:46 The Fire. They are brought before it (every) morning and evening, and on the day when the Hour comes to pass: Make Pharaoh's people enter the severest chastisement.

40:47 And when they contend One with another in the Fire, the weak saying to those who were proud: Surely we were your followers; will you then avert from us a portion of the Fire?

40:48 Those who were proud say: Now we are all in it: Allah has indeed judged between the servants.

40:49 And those in the Fire will say to the guards of hell: Pray to your Lord to lighten our chastisement for a day.

40:50 They will say: Did not your messengers come to you with clear arguments? They will say: Yea. They will say: Then pray. And the prayer of the disbelievers goes only astray.

* * *

40:51 We certainly help Our messengers, and those who believe, in this world's life and on the day when the witnesses arise —

40:52 The day on which their excuse will not benefit the unjust, and for them is a curse and for them is the evil abode.

40:53 And We indeed gave Moses the guidance, and We made the Children of Israel inherit the Book —

40:54 A guidance and a reminder for men of understanding.

40:55 So be patient; surely the promise of Allah is true; and ask protection for thy sin and celebrate the praise of thy Lord in the evening and the morning.

40:56* Those who dispute about the messages of Allah without any authority having come to them, there is naught in their breasts but (a desire) to become great, which they will never attain. So seek refuge in Allah. Surely He is the Hearing, the Seeing.

40:57* Assuredly the creation of the heavens and the earth is greater than the creation of men; but most people know not.

40:58 And the blind and the seeing are not alike, not those who believe and do good and the evildoers. Little do you mind!

40:59 The Hour is surely coming — there is no doubt therein — but most people believe not.

40:60 And your Lord says: Pray to Me, I will answer you. Those who disdain My service will surely enter hell, abased.

* * *

40:61 Allah is He Who made for you the night for resting in and the day for seeing. Surely Allah is Full of Grace to men, but most men give not thanks.

40:62 That is Allah, your Lord, the Creator of all things. There is no God but He. Whence are you then turned away?

40:63 Thus are turned away those who deny the messages of Allah.

40:64 Allah is He Who made the earth a resting-place for you and the heaven a structure, and He formed you, then made goodly your forms, and He provided you with goodly things. That is Allah, your Lord — so blessed is Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

40:65 He is the Living, there is no God but He; so call on Him, being sincere to Him in obedience. Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds!

40:66 Say: I am forbidden to serve those whom you call upon besides Allah, when clear arguments have come to me from my Lord; and I am commanded to submit to the Lord of the worlds.

40:67 He it is Who created you from dust, then from a small life-germ, then from a clot, then He brings you forth as a child, then that you may attain your maturity, then that you may be old; and of you are some who die before and that you may reach an appointed term, and that you may understand.

40:68 He it is Who gives life and causes death, so when He decrees an affair, He only says to it, Be, and it is.

* * *

40:69 Seest thou not those who dispute concerning the messages of Allah? How are they turned away? —

40:70 Those who reject the Book and that with which We have sent Our messengers. But they shall soon know.

40:71 When the fetters are on their necks and the chains. They are dragged 40:72 Into hot water; then in the Fire they are burned.

40:73 Then it is said to them: Where is that which you used to set up 40:74 Besides Allah? They will say They have failed us; nay, we used not to call upon anything before. Thus does Allah confound the disbelievers.

40:75 That is because you exulted in the land unjustly and because you behaved insolently.

40:76 Enter the gates of hell to abide therein; so evil is the abode of the proud.

40:77 Therefore be patient, surely the promise of Allah is true. But whether We make thee see part of what We threaten them with, or cause thee to die, to Us shall they be returned.

40:78 And certainly We sent messengers before thee — of them are those We have mentioned to thee and of them are those We have not mentioned to thee. Nor was it possible for a messenger to bring a sign except with Allah's permission so when Allah's command comes, judgement is given with truth, and those who treat (it) as a lie are lost.

* * *

40:79 Allah is He Who made the cattle for you that you may ride on some of them, and some of them you eat.

40:80 And there are advantages in them for you, and that you may attain through them a need which is in your breasts, and on them and on ships you are borne.

40:81 And He shows you His signs which then of Allah's signs will you deny?

40:82 Do they not travel in the land and see what was the end of those before them? They were more numerous than these and greater in strength and in fortifications in the land, but what they earned availed them not.

40:83 Then when their messengers came to them with clear arguments, they exulted in what they had with them of knowledge and that at which they used to mock befell them.

40:84 So when they saw Our punishment, they said: We believe in Allah alone, and we deny what we used to associate with Him.

40:85 But their faith could not profit them when they saw Our punishment. Such is Allah's law, which ever takes its course in the matter of His servants; and there the disbelievers are lost.

KORAN CHAPTER 79 / Surā 28

The Narrative / Al-Qasas

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

28:1 Benignant, Hearing, Knowing God!

28:2 These are the verses of the Book that makes manifest.

28:3 We recite to thee the story of Moses and Pharaoh with truth, for a people who believe.

28:4 Surely Pharaoh exalted himself in the land and made its people into parties, weakening one party from among them; he slaughtered their sons and let their women live. Surely he was one of the mischief-makers.

28:5 And We desired to bestow a favour upon those who were deemed weak in the land, and to make them the leaders, and to make them the heirs, 28:6 And to grant them power in the land, and to make Pharaoh and Haman and their hosts see from them what they feared.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

28:7 And We revealed to Moses' mother, saying: Give him suck; then when thou fearest for him, cast him into the river and fear not, nor grieve surely We shall bring him back to thee and make him one of the messengers.

28:8 So Pharaoh's people took him up that he might be an enemy and a grief for them. Surely Pharaoh and Haman and their hosts were wrongdoers.

28:9 And Pharaoh's wife said: A refreshment of the eye to me and to thee — slay him not maybe he will be useful to us, or we may take him for a son. And they perceived not.

28:10 And the heart of Moses' mother was free (from anxiety). She would almost have disclosed it, had We not strengthened her heart, so that she might be of the believers.

28:11 And she said to his sister: Follow him up. So she watched him from a distance, while they perceived not.

28:12 And We did not allow him to suck before, so she said: Shall I point out to you the people of a house who will bring him up for you, and they will wish him well?

28:13 So We gave him back to his mother that her eye might be refreshed, and that she might not grieve, and that she might know that the promise of Allah is true. But most of them know not.

28:14 And when he attained his maturity and became full-grown, We granted him wisdom and knowledge. And thus do We reward those who do good (to others).

28:15 And he went into the city at a time of carelessness on the part of its people, so he found therein two men fighting — one being of his party and the other of his foes; and he who was of his party cried out to him for help against him who was of his enemies, so Moses struck him with his fist and killed him. He said: This is on account of the devil's doing; surely he is an enemy, openly leading astray.

28:16 He said: My Lord, surely I have done harm to myself, so do Thou protect me; so He protected him. Surely He is the Forgiving, the Merciful.

28:17 He said: My Lord, because Thou hast bestowed a favour on me, I shall never be a backer of the guilty.

28:18 And he was in the city, fearing, awaiting, when lo, he who had asked his assistance the day before was crying out to him for help. Moses said to him: Thou art surely one erring manifestly.

28:19 So when he desired to seize him who was an enemy to them both, he said: O Moses, dost thou intend to kill me as thou didst kill a person yesterday? Thou only desirest to be a tyrant in the land, and thou desirest not to be of those who act aright.

28:20 And a man came running from the remotest part of the city. He said: O Moses, the chiefs are consulting together to slay thee, so depart (at once); surely I am of those who wish thee well.

28:21 So he went forth therefrom, fearing, awaiting. He said: My Lord, deliver me from the iniquitous people.

28:22 And when he turned his face towards Midian, he said: Maybe my Lord will guide me in the right path.

28:23 And when he came to the water of Midian, he found there a group of men watering, and he found besides them two women keeping back (their flocks). He said: What is the matter with you? They said: We cannot water until the shepherds take away (their sheep) from the water; and our father is a very old man.

28:24 So he watered (their sheep) for them, then went back to the shade, and said: My Lord, I stand in need of whatever good Thou mayest send to me.

28:25 Then one of the two women came to him walking bashfully. She said: My father invites thee that he may reward thee for having watered for us. So when he came to him and related to him the story, he said: Fear not, thou art secure from the iniquitous people.

28:26 One of them said: O my father, employ him; surely the best of those that thou canst employ is the strong, the faithful one.

28:27 He said: I desire to marry one of these two daughters of mine to thee on condition that thou serve me for eight years; but, if thou complete ten, it will be of thy own free will; and I wish not to be hard on thee. If Allah please, thou wilt find me one of the righteous.

28:28 He said: That is (agreed) between me and thee; whichever of the two terms I fulfil, there will be no injustice to me; and Allah is surety over what we say.

28:29 Then when Moses had completed the term, and was travelling with his family, he perceived a fire on the side of the mountain. He said to his family: Wait, I see a fire; maybe I will bring to you from it some news or a brand of fire, so that you may warm yourselves.

28:30 And when he came to it, he was called from the right side of the valley in the blessed spot of the bush. O Moses, surely I am Allah, the Lord of the worlds

28:31 And cast down thy rod. So when he saw it in motion as if it were a serpent, he turned away retreating, and looked not back. O Moses, come forward and fear not; surely thou art of those who are secure.

28:32 Insert thy hand into thy bosom, it will come forth white without evil, and remain calm in fear. These two are two arguments from thy Lord to Pharaoh and his chiefs. Surely they are a transgressing people.

28:33 He said: My Lord, I killed one of them, so I fear lest they slay me.

28:34 And my brother, Aaron, he is more eloquent in speech than I, so send him with me as a helper to confirm me. Surely I fear that they would reject me.

28:35 He said: We will strengthen thine arm with thy brother, and We will give you both an authority, so that they shall not reach you. With Our signs, you two and those who follow you, will triumph.

28:36 So when Moses came to them with Our clear signs, they said This is nothing but forged enchantment, and we never heard of it among our fathers of old!

28:37 And Moses said: My Lord knows best who comes with guidance from Him, and whose shall be the good end of the abode. Surely the wrongdoers will not be successful.

28:38 And Pharaoh said: O chiefs, I know no god for you besides myself; so kindle a fire for me, O Haman, on (bricks of) clay, then prepare for me a lofty building, so that I may obtain knowledge of Moses' God, and surely I think him a liar.

28:39 And he was unjustly proud in the land, he and his hosts, and they deemed that they would not be brought back to Us.

28:40 So We caught hold of him and his hosts, then We cast them into the sea, and see what was the end of the iniquitous.

28:41 And We made them leaders who call to the Fire, and on the day of Resurrection they will not be helped.

28:42 And We made a curse to follow them in this world, and on the day of Resurrection they will be hideous.

28:43 And certainly We gave Moses the Book after We had destroyed the former generations clear arguments for men and a guidance and a mercy, that they may be mindful.

28:44 And thou wast not on the western side when We revealed to Moses the commandment, nor wast thou among those present

28:45 But We raised up generations, then life became prolonged to them. And thou wast not dwelling among the people of Midian, reciting to them Our messages, but We are the Sender (of messengers).

28:46 And thou wast not at the side of the mountain when We called, but a mercy from thy Lord that thou mayest warn a people to whom no warner came before thee, that they may be mindful.

28:47 And lest, if a disaster should befall them for what their hands have sent before, they should say: Our Lord, why didst Thou not send to us a messenger so that we might have followed Thy messages and been of the believers?

28:48 But (now) when the Truth has come to them from Us, they say: Why is he not given the like of what was given to Moses? Did they not disbelieve in that which was given to Moses before? They say: Two enchantments backing up each other! And they say: Surely we are disbelievers in both.

28:49 Say: Then bring some (other) Book from Allah which is a better guide than these two, I will follow it if you are truthful.

28:50 But if they answer thee not, know that they only follow their low desires. And who is more erring than he who follows his low desires without any guidance from Allah? Surely Allah guides not the iniquitous people.

28:51 And certainly We have made the Word to have many connections for their sake, so that they may be mindful.

28:52* Those to whom We gave the Book before it, they are believers in it.

28:53* And when it is recited to them they say We believe in it; surely it is the Truth from our Lord; we were indeed before this submitting ones.

28:54* These will be granted their reward twice, because they are steadfast, and they repel evil with good and spend out of what We have given them.

28:55* And when they hear idle talk, they turn aside from it and say: For us are our deeds and for you your deeds. Peace be to you! We desire not the ignorant.

28:56 Surely thou canst not guide whom thou lovest, but Allah guides whom He pleases; and He knows best those who walk aright.

28:57 And they say: If we follow the guidance with thee, we should be carried off from our country. Have We not settled them in a safe, sacred territory to which fruits of every kind are drawn? A sustenance from Us but most of them know not.

28:58 And how many a town have We destroyed which exulted in its means of subsistence! So those are their abodes: they have not been dwelt in after them except a little. And We are ever the inheritors.

28:59 And thy Lord never destroyed the towns, until He had raised in their metropolis a messenger, reciting to them Our messages, and We never destroyed the towns except when their people were iniquitous.

28:60 And whatever things you have been given are only a provision of this world's life and its adornment, and whatever is with Allah is better and more lasting. Do you not then understand?

28:61 Is he to whom We have promised a goodly promise, which he will meet with, like him whom We have provided with the provisions of this world's life, then on the day of Resurrection he will be of those brought up (for punishment)?

28:62 And the day when He will call them and say: Where are those whom you deemed to be My associates?

28:63 Those against whom the word has proved true will say: Our Lord, these are they whom we caused to deviate — we caused them to deviate as we ourselves deviated. We declare our innocence before Thee. Us they never worshipped.

28:64 And it will be said: Call your associate-gods. So they will call upon them, but they will not answer them, and they will see the chastisement. Would that they had followed the right way

28:65 And the day He will call them, then say: What was the answer you gave to the messengers?

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

28:66 On that day excuses will become obscure to them, so they will not ask each other.

28:67 But as to him who repents and believes and does good, maybe he will be among the successful.

28:68 And thy Lord creates and chooses whom He pleases. To choose is not theirs. Glory be to Allah and exalted be He above what they associate (with Him)!

28:69 And thy Lord knows what their breasts conceal and what they proclaim.

28:70 And He is Allah, there is no god but He! His is the praise in this (life) and the Hereafter; and His is the judgement, and to Him you will be brought back.

28:71 Say: Do you see if Allah were to make the day to continue incessantly on you till the day of Resurrection, who is the god besides Allah that could bring you the night in which you take rest? Do you not then see?

28:72 Say: Do you see if Allah were to make the night to continue incessantly on you till the day of Resurrection, who is the god besides Allah who could bring you light? Will you not then hear?

28:73 And out of His mercy He has made for you the night and the day, that you may rest therein, and that you may seek of His grace, and that you may give thanks.

28:74 And the day when He will call them and say: Where are My associates whom you pretended?

28:75 And We shall draw forth from among every nation a witness and say: Bring your proof. Then shall they know that the Truth is Allah's and that which they forged will fail them.

28:76 Korah was surely of the people of Moses, but he oppressed them, and We gave him treasures, so much so that his hoards of wealth would weigh down a body of strong men. When his people said to him: Exult not; surely Allah loves not the exultant.

28:77 And seek the abode of the Hereafter by means of what Allah has given thee, and neglect not thy portion of the world, and do good (to others) as Allah has done good to thee, and seek not to make mischief in the land. Surely Allah loves nor the mischief-makers.

28:78 He said: I have been given this only on account of the knowledge I have. Did he not know that Allah had destroyed before him generations who were mightier in strength than he and greater in assemblage? And the guilty are not questioned about their sins.

28:79 So he went forth to his people in his finery. Those who desired this world's life said: O would that we had the like of what Korah is given! Surely he is possessed of mighty good fortune!

28:80 But those who were given the knowledge said: Woe to you! Allah's reward is better for him who believes and does good, and none is made to receive this except the patient.

28:81 So We made the earth to swallow him up and his abode. He had no host to help him against Allah, nor was he of those who can defend themselves.

28:82 And those who had yearned for his place the day before began to say: Ah! (know) that Allah amplifies and straitens the means of subsistence for whom He pleases of His servants had not Allah been gracious to us, He would have abased us. Ah! (know) that the ungrateful are never successful.

28:83 That abode of the Hereafter, We assign it to those who have no desire to exalt themselves in the earth nor to make mischief. And the good end is for those who keep their duty.

28:84 Whoever brings good, he will have better than it; and whoever brings evil, those who do evil will be required only for what they did.

28:85* [* at the time of the Hijra] He who has made the Koran binding in thee will surely bring thee back to the Place of Return. Say: My Lord knows best him who has brought the guidance and him who is in manifest error.

28:86 And thou didst not expect that the Book would be inspired to thee, but it is a mercy from thy Lord, so be not a backer up of the disbelievers.

28:87 And let them not turn thee aside from the messages of Allah after they have been revealed to thee, and call (men) to thy Lord and be not of the polytheists.

28:88 And call not with Allah any other god. There is no God but He. Everything will perish but He. His is the judgement, and to Him you will be brought back.

KORAN CHAPTER 80 / Sura 39

The Companies / Al-Zumar

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

39:1 The revelation of the Book is from Allah, the Mighty, the Wise.

39:2 Surely We have revealed to thee the Book with truth, so serve Allah, being sincere to Him in obedience.

39:3 Now surely sincere obedience is due to Allah (alone). And those who choose protectors besides Him (say): We serve them only that they may bring us nearer to Allah. Surely Allah will judge between them in that in which they differ. Surely Allah guides not him who is a liar, ungrateful.

39:4 If Allah desired to take a son to Himself, He could have chosen those He pleased out of those whom He has created — Glory be to Him He is Allah, the One, the Subduer (of all).

39:5 He has created the heavens and the earth with truth; He makes the night cover the day and makes the day overtake the night, and He has made the sun and the moon subservient; each one moves on to an assigned term. Now surely He is the Mighty, the Forgiver.

39:6 He created you from a single being, then made its mate of the same (kind). And He sent down for you eight of the cattle in pairs. He creates you in the wombs of your mothers — creation after creation — in triple darkness. That is Allah, your Lord; His is the kingdom. There is no God but He. How are you then turned away?

39:7 If you are ungrateful, then surely Allah is above need of you. And He likes not ungratefulness in His servants. And if you are grateful, He likes it for you. And no bearer of a burden will bear another's burden. Then to your Lord is your return, then will He inform you of what you did. Surely He is Knower of what is in the breasts.

39:8 And when distress afflicts a man he calls upon his Lord, turning to Him; then when He grants him a favour from Him, he forgets that for which he called upon Him before, and sets up rivals to Allah that he may cause (men) to stray from His path. Say: Enjoy thine ungratefulness for a little, surely thou art of the companions of the Fire.

39:9 Is he who is obedient during hours of the night, prostrating himself and standing, taking care of the Hereafter and hoping for the mercy of his Lord —? Say: Are those who know and those who know not alike? Only men of understanding mind.

39:10 Say: O My servants who believe; keep your duty to your Lord. For those who do good in this world is good, and Allah's earth is spacious. Truly the steadfast will be paid their reward without measure.

39:11 Say: I am commanded to serve Allah, being sincere to Him in obedience, 39:12 And I am commanded to be the first of those who submit.

39:13 Say: I fear, if I disobey my Lord, the chastisement of a grievous day.

39:14 Say: Allah I serve, being sincere to Him in my obedience.

39:15 Serve then what you will beside Him. Say: The losers surely are those who lose themselves and their people on the day of Resurrection. Now surely that is the manifest loss 39:16 They shall have coverings of fire above them and coverings beneath them. With that Allah makes His servants to fear; so keen your duty to Me, O My servants.

39:17 And those who eschew the worship of the idols and turn to Allah, for them is good news. So give good news to My servants, 39:18 Who listen to the Word, then follow the best of it. Such are they whom Allah has guided, and such are the men of understanding.

39:19 He against whom the sentence of chastisement is due — canst thou save him who is in the Fire?

39:20 But those who keep their duty to their Lord, for them are high places, above them higher places, built (for them), wherein rivers flow. (It is) the promise of Allah. Allah fails not in (His) promise.

39:21 Seest thou not that Allah sends down water from the clouds, then makes it go down into the earth in springs, then brings forth therewith herbage of various hues; then it withers so that thou seest it turn yellow, then He makes it chaff? Surely there is a reminder in this for men of understanding.

39:22 Is he whose breast Allah has opened to Islam so that he follows a light from his Lord —? So woe to those whose hearts are hardened against the remembrance of Allah! Such are in clear error.

39:23 Allah has revealed the best announcement, a Book consistent, repeating (its injunctions), whereat do shudder the skins of those who fear their Lord, then their skins and their hearts soften to Allah's remembrance. This is Allah's guidance — He guides with it whom He pleases. And he whom Allah leaves in error, there is no guide for him.

39:24 Is then he who has to guard himself with his own person against the evil chastisement on the Resurrection day —? And it will be said to the iniquitous: Taste what you earned.

39:25 Those before them denied, so the chastisement came to them from whence they perceived not.

39:26 So Allah made them taste disgrace in this world's life, and certainly the chastisement of the Hereafter is greater. Did they but know!

39:27 And certainly We have set forth for men in this Koran similitudes of every sort that they may mind.

39:28 An Arabic Koran without any crookedness, that they may guard against evil.

39:29 Allah sets forth a parable: A man belonging to partners differing with one another, and a man (devoted) wholly to one man. Are the two alike in condition? Praise be to Allah! Nay, most of them know not.

39:30 Surely thou wilt die and they (too) will die;

39:31 Then surely on the day of Resurrection you will contend one with another before your Lord.

39:32 Who is then more unjust than he who utters a lie against Allah and denies the truth, when it comes to him? Is there not in hell an abode for the disbelievers?

39:33 And he who brings the truth and accepts the truth — such are the dutiful.

39:34 They shall have with their Lord what they please. Such is the reward of the doers of good —

39:35 That Allah may ward off from them the worst of what they did, and give them their reward for the best of what they did.

39:36 Is not Allah sufficient for His servant? And they seek to frighten thee with those besides Him. And whomsoever Allah leaves in error, there is no guide for him.

39:37 And whom Allah guides, there is none that can lead him astray. Is not Allah Mighty, the Lord of retribution?

39:38. And if thou ask them, Who created the heavens and the earth? They will say: Allah. Say: See you then that those you call upon besides Allah, would they, if Allah desire to afflict me with harm, remove His harm? Or if He desire to show me mercy, could they withhold His mercy? Say: Allah is sufficient for me. On Him do the reliant rely.

39:39 Say: O my people, work in your place. Surely I am a worker, so you will come to know, 39:40 Who it is to whom there comes a chastisement abasing him, and on whom falls a lasting chastisement.

39:41 Surely We have revealed to thee the Book with truth for (the good of) men. So whoever follows the right way, it is for his own soul, and whoever errs, he errs only to its detriment. And thou art not a custodian over them.

39:42. Allah takes (men's) souls at the time of their death, and those that die not, during their sleep. Then He withholds those on whom He has passed the decree of death and sends the others back till an appointed term. Surely there are signs in this for a people who reflect.

39:43 Or, take they intercessors besides Allah? Say: What! Even though they control naught, nor do they understand.

39:44 Say: Allah's is the intercession altogether. His is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. Then to Him you will be returned.

39:45 And when Allah alone is mentioned, the hearts of those who believe not in the Hereafter shrink, and when those besides Him are mentioned, lo! they are joyful.

39:46 Say: O Allah, Originator of the heavens and the earth, Knower of the unseen and the seen, Thou judgest between Thy servants as to that wherein they differ.

39:47 And had those who do wrong all that is in the earth and the like of it with it, they would certainly offer it as ransom from the evil of the chastisement on the day of Resurrection. And what they never thought of shall become plain to them from Allah.

39:48 And the evil of what they wrought will become plain to them, and that which they mocked at will beset them.

39:49 So when harm afflicts a man he calls upon Us; then, when We give him a boon from Us, he says: I have been given it only by means of knowledge. Nay, it is a trial, but most of them know not.

39:50 Those before them did say it indeed, but what they earned availed them not.

39:51 So there befell them the evil which they had earned. And those who are unjust from among these, there shall befall them the evil which they earn, and they shall not escape.

39:52 Know they not that Allah gives ample subsistence to whom He pleases, and He straitens; surely there are signs in this for a people who believe.

39:53 Say: O My servants who have been prodigal regarding their souls, despair not of the mercy of Allah; surely Allah forgives sins altogether. He is indeed the Forgiving, the Merciful.

39:54 And turn to your Lord and submit to Him before chastisement comes to you, then you will not be helped.

39:55 And follow the best that has been revealed to you from your Lord before chastisement comes to you all of a sudden, while you perceive not —

39:56 Lest a soul should say: O woe is me, that I fell short of my duty to Allah! and surely I was of those who laughed to scorn;

39:57 Or it should say: Had Allah guided me, I should have been dutiful;

39:58 Or it should say, when it sees the chastisement: Had I another chance I should be a doer of good.

39:59 Aye! My communications came to thee, but thou didst reject them, and wast proud and wast of the disbelievers.

39:60 And on the day of resurrection thou wilt see those who lied against Allah, their faces will be blackened. Is there not in hell an abode for the proud?

39:61 And Allah delivers those who keep their duty with their achievement — evil touches them not, nor do they grieve.

39:62 Allah is the Creator of all things and He has charge over everything.

39:63 His are the treasures of the heavens and the earth. And those who disbelieve in the messages of Allah, such are the losers.

39:64 Say: Do you bid me serve others than Allah, O ye ignorant ones?

39:65 And certainly, it has been revealed to thee and to those before thee: If thou associate (with Allah), thy work would certainly come to naught and thou wouldst be a loser.

39:66 Nay, but serve Allah alone and be of the thankful.

39:67 And they honour not Allah with the honour due to Him; and the whole earth will be in His grip on the day of Resurrection and the heavens rolled up in His right hand. Glory be to Him! and highly exalted is He above what they associate (with Him).

39:68 And the trumpet is blown, so all those in the heavens and all those in the earth will swoon, except such as Allah please. Then it will be blown again, when lo! they stand up, awaiting.

39:69 And the earth beams with the light of its Lord, and the Book is laid down, and the prophets and the witnesses are brought up, and judgement is given between them with justice, and they are not wronged.

39:70 And every soul is paid back fully for what it did, and He knows best what they do.

39:71 And those who disbelieve are driven to hell in companies; until, when they come to it, its doors are opened, and the keepers of it say to them: Did not there come to you messengers from among you reciting to you the messages of your Lord and warning you of the meeting of this day of yours? They say: Yea. But the word of punishment proved true against the disbelievers.

39:72 It is said: Enter the gates of hell to abide therein; so evil is the abode of the proud.

39:73 And those who keep their duty to their Lord are conveyed to the Garden in companies until when they come to it, and its doors are opened and the keepers of it say to them Peace be to you! you led pure lives so enter it to abide.

39:74 And they say: Praise be to Allah Who has made good to us His promise, and He has made us inherit the land; we abide in the Garden where we please. So goodly is the reward of the workers.

39:75 And thou seest the angels going round about the Throne of Power, glorifying their Lord with praise. And they are judged with justice, and it is said: Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds!

KORAN CHAPTER 81 / Sura 29

The Spider / Al-Ankabut

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

29:1* I, Allah, am the best Knower.

29:2* Do men think that they will be left alone on saying, We believe, and will not be tried?

29:3* And indeed We tried those before them, so Allah will certainly know those who are true and He will know the liars.

29:4* Or do they who work evil think that they will escape Us? Evil is it that they judge!

29:5* Whoever hopes to meet with Allah, the term of Allah is then surely coming. And He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

29:6* And whoever strives hard, strives for himself. Surely Allah is Self-sufficient, above (need of) (His) creatures.

29:7* And those who believe and do good, We shall certainly do away with their afflictions and reward them for the best of what they did.

29:8* And We have enjoined on man goodness to his parents. But if they contend with thee to associate (others) with Me, of which thou hast no knowledge, obey them not. To Me is your return, so I will inform you of what you did.

29:9* And those who believe and do good, We shall surely make them enter among the righteous.

29:10* And among men is he who says: We believe in Allah; but when he is persecuted for the sake of Allah, he thinks the persecution of men to be as the chastisement of Allah. And if there comes help from thy Lord, they will say: Surely we were with you. Is not Allah the Best Knower of what is in the hearts of mankind?

29:11* And certainly Allah will know those who believe, and He will know the hypocrites.

29:12 And those who disbelieve say to those who believe: Follow our path and we will bear your wrongs. And they can never bear aught of their wrongs. Surely they are liars.

29:13 And they will certainly bear their own burdens, and other burdens besides their own burdens; and they will certainly be questioned on the day of Resurrection as to what they forged.

29:14 And We indeed sent Noah to his people, so he remained among them a thousand years save fifty years. And the deluge overtook them, and they were wrongdoers.

29:15 So We delivered him and the inmates of the ark, and made it a sign to the nations.

29:16 And (We sent) Abraham, when he said to his people: Serve Allah and keep your duty to Him. That is better for you, if you did but know.

29:17 You only worship idols besides Allah and you invent a lie. Surely they whom you serve besides Allah control no sustenance for you: so seek sustenance from Allah and serve Him and be grateful to Him. To Him you will be brought back.

29:18 And if you reject, nations before you did indeed reject (the Truth). And the duty of the Messenger is only to deliver (the message) plainly.

29:19 See they not how Allah originates the creation, then reproduces it? Surely that is easy to Allah.

29:20 Say: Travel in the earth then see how He makes the first creation, then Allah creates the latter creation. Surely Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

29:21 He chastises whom He pleases and has mercy on whom He pleases, to Him you will be turned back.

29:22 And you cannot escape in the earth nor in the heaven, and you have no protector or helper besides Allah.

29:23 And those who disbelieve in the messages of Allah and the meeting with Him, they despair of My mercy, and for them is a painful chastisement.

29:24 So naught was the answer of his people except that they said: Slay him or burn him! But Allah delivered him from the fire. Surely therein are signs for a people who believe.

29:25 And he said: You have only taken idols besides Allah by way of friendship between you in this world's life, then on the day of Resurrection some of you will deny others, and some of you will curse others and your abode is the Fire, and you will have no helpers.

29:26 So Lot believed in him. And he said: I am fleeing to my Lord. Surely He is the Mighty, the Wise.

29:27 And We granted him Isaac and Jacob, and ordained prophethood and the Book among his seed. And We gave him his reward in this world, and in the Hereafter he will surely be among the righteous.

29:28 And (We sent) Lot when he said to his people: Surely you are guilty of an abomination which none of the nations has done before you.

29:29 Do you come to males and commit robbery on the highway, and commit evil deeds in your assemblies? But the answer of his people was only that they said: Bring on us Allah's chastisement, if thou art truthful.

29:30 He said: My Lord, help me against the mischievous people.

29:31 And when Our messengers came to Abraham with good news, they said: We are going to destroy the people of this town, for its people are iniquitous.

29:32 He said: Surely in it is Lot. They said: We know well who is in it; we shall certainly deliver him and his followers, except his wife; she is of those who remain behind.

29:33 And when Our messengers came to Lot, he was grieved on account of them, and he lacked strength to protect them. And they said: Fear not, nor grieve; surely we will deliver thee and thy followers, except thy wife — she is of those who remain behind.

29:34 Surely We are going to bring down upon the people of this town a punishment from heaven, because they transgressed.

29:35 And certainly We have left a clear sign of it for a people who understand.

29:36 And to Midian (We sent) their brother ShuAib, so he said: O my people, serve Allah and fear the Latter day, and act not corruptly, making mischief, in the land.

29:37 But they rejected him, so a severe earthquake overtook them and they lay prostrate in their abodes.

29:38 And Ad and Thamud! And some of their dwellings are indeed apparent to you. And the devil made their deeds fair-seeming to them, so he kept them back from the path, and they could see clearly.

29:39 And Korah and Pharaoh and Haman! And certainly Moses came to them with clear arguments, but they behaved haughtily in the land; and they could not outstrip (Us).

29:40 So each one We punished for his sin. Of them was he on whom We sent a violent storm, and of them was he whom the rumbling overtook, and of them was he whom We caused the earth to swallow, and of them was he whom We drowned. And it was not Allah, Who wronged them, but they wronged themselves.

29:41 The parable of those who take guardians besides Allah is as the parable of the spider that makes for itself a house; and surely the frailest of the houses is the spider's house — if they but knew!

29:42 Surely Allah knows whatever they call upon besides Him. And He is the Mighty, the Wise.

29:43 And these parables, We set them forth for men, and none understand them but the learned.

29:44 Allah created the heavens and the earth with truth. Surely there is a sign in this for the believers.

29:45 Recite that which has been revealed to thee of the Book and keep up prayer. Surely prayer keeps (one) away from indecency and evil; and certainly the remembrance of Allah is the greatest (force). And Allah knows what you do.

29:46 And argue not with the People of the Book except by what is best, save such of them as act unjustly. But say: We believe in that which has been revealed to us and revealed to you, and our God and your God is One, and to Him we submit.

29:47 And thus have We revealed the Book to thee. So those whom We have given the Book believe in it, and of these there are those who believe in it; and none deny Our messages except the disbelievers.

29:48 And thou didst not recite before it any book, nor didst thou transcribe one with thy right hand, for then could the liars have doubted.

29:49 Nay, it is clear messages in the hearts of those who are granted knowledge. And none deny Our messages except the iniquitous.

29:50 And they say: Why are not signs sent down upon him from his Lord? Say: Signs are with Allah only, and I am only a plain warner.

29:51 Is it not enough for them that We have revealed to thee the Book which is recited to them? Surely there is mercy in this and a reminder for a people who believe.

29:52 Say: Allah is sufficient as a witness between me and you. He knows what is in the heavens and the earth. And those who believe in falsehood and disbelieve in Allah, these it is that are the losers.

29:53 And they ask thee to hasten on the chastisement. And had not a term been appointed, the chastisement would certainly have come to them. And certainly it will come to them all of a sudden, while they perceive not.

29:54 They ask thee to hasten on the chastisement, and surely hell encompasses the disbelievers —

29:55 The day when the chastisement will cover them from above them, and from beneath their feet And He will say: Taste what you did.

29:56 O My servants who believe, surely My earth is vast, so serve Me only.

29:57 Every soul must taste of death then to Us you will be returned.

29:58 And those who believe and do good, We shall certainly give them an abode in high places in the Garden wherein flow rivers, abiding therein. Excellent the reward of the workers.

29:59 Who are patient, and on their Lord they rely!

29:60 And how many a living creature carries not its sustenance! Allah sustains it and yourselves. And He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

29:61 And if thou ask them, Who created the heavens and the earth and made the sun and the moon subservient? they would say, Allah. Whence are they then turned away?

29:62 Allah makes abundant the means of subsistence for whom He pleases of His servants, or straitens (them) for him; Surely Allah is Knower of all things.

29:63 And if thou ask them, Who is it that sends down water from the clouds, then gives life to the earth with it after its death? they will say, Allah. Say: Praise be to Allah! Nay, most of them understand not.

29:64 And the life of this world is but a sport and a play. And the home of the Hereafter, that surely is the Life, did they but know!

29:65 So when they ride in the ships, they call upon Allah, being sincerely obedient to Him but when He brings them safe to the land, lo they associate others (with Him), 29:66 That they may be ungrateful for what We have given them, and that they may enjoy. But they shall soon know.

29:67 See they not that We have made a sacred territory secure while men are carried off by force from around them? Will they still believe in the falsehood and disbelieve in the favour of Allah?

29:68 And who is more iniquitous than one who forges a lie against Allah, or gives the lie to the Truth, when it has come to him? Is there not an abode in hell for the disbelievers?

29:69 And those who strive hard for Us, We shall certainly guide them in Our ways. And Allah is surely with the doers of good.

KORAN CHAPTER 82 / Sura 31

Luqman

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

31:1 I, Allah, am the Best Knower.

31:2 These are verses of the Book of Wisdom —

31:3 A guidance and a mercy for the doers of good,

31:4 Who keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and who are certain of the Hereafter.

31:5 These are on a guidance from their Lord, and these are they who are successful.

31:6 And of men is he who takes instead frivolous discourse to lead astray from Allah's path without knowledge, and to make it a mockery. For such is an abasing chastisement.

31:7 And when Our messages are recited to him, he turns back proudly, as if he had not heard them, as if there were deafness in his ears; so announce to him a painful chastisement.

31:8 Those who believe and do good, for them are Gardens of bliss, 31:9 To abide therein. A promise of Allah in truth! And He is the Mighty, the Wise.

31:10 He created the heavens without pillars that you see, and cast mountains on the earth lest it should be convulsed with you, and He spread on it animals of every kind. And We send down water from the clouds, then cause to grow therein of every noble kind.

31:11 This is Allah's creation; now show Me that which those besides Him have created. Nay, the unjust are in manifest error.

31:12 And certainly We gave Luqman wisdom, saying: Give thanks to Allah. And whoever is thankful, is thankful for his own soul; and whoever denies, then surely Allah is Self-Sufficient, Praised.

31:13 And when Luqman said to his son, while he admonished him: O my son, ascribe no partner to Allah. Surely ascribing partners (to Him) is a grievous iniquity.

31:14 And We have enjoined on man concerning his parents — his mother bears him with faintings upon faintings and his weaning takes two years — Saying: Give thanks to Me and to thy parents. To Me is the eventual coming.

31:15 And if they strive with thee to make thee associate with Me that of which thou hast no knowledge, obey them not, and keep kindly company with them in this world, and follow the way of him who turns to Me; then to Me is your return, then I shall inform you of what you did.

31:16 O my son, even if it be the weight of a grain of mustard-seed, even though it be in a rock, or in the heaven or in the earth, Allah will bring it forth. Surely Allah is Knower of subtilities, Aware.

31:17 O my son, keep up prayer and enjoin good and forbid evil, and bear patiently that which befalls thee. Surely this is an affair of great resolution.

31:18 And turn not thy face away from people in contempt, nor go about in the land exultingly. Surely Allah loves not any self-conceited boaster.

31:19 And pursue the right course in thy going about and lower thy voice. Surely the most hateful of voices is braying of asses.

31:20 See you not that Allah has made subservient to you whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth, and granted to you His favours complete outwardly and inwardly? And among men is he who disputes concerning Allah without knowledge or guidance or a Book giving light.

31:21 And when it is said to them, Follow that which Allah has revealed, they say: Nay, we follow that where-in we found our fathers. What Though the devil calls them to the chastisement of the burning Fire 31:22 And whoever submits himself to Allah and does good (to others), he indeed takes hold of the firmest handle. And Allah's is the end of affairs.

31:23 And whoever disbelieves, let not his disbelief grieve thee. To Us is their return, then We shall inform them of what they did. Surely Allah is Knower of what is in the breasts.

31:24 We give them to enjoy a little, then We shall drive them to a severe chastisement.

31:25 And if thou ask them who created the heavens and the earth? they will say: Allah. Say: Praise be to Allah! Nay, most of them know not.

31:26 To Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and the earth Surely Allah is the Self-Sufficient, the Praised.

31:27* And if all the trees in the earth were pens, and the sea with seven more seas added to it (were ink), the words of Allah would not be exhausted. Surely Allah is Mighty, Wise.

31:28* Your creation or your raising is only like a single soul. Surely Allah is Hearing, Seeing.

31:29* Seest thou not that Allah makes the night to enter into the day, and He makes the day to enter into the night, and He has made the sun and the moon subservient (to you) — each pursues its course till an appointed time — and that Allah is Aware of what you do?

31:30 This is because Allah is the Truth, and that which they call upon besides Him is falsehood, and that Allah is the High, the Great.

31:31 Seest thou not that the ships glide on the sea by Allah's grace, that He may show you of His signs? Surely there are signs in this for every patient, endurer, grateful one.

31:32 And when a wave like awnings covers them, they call upon Allah, being sincere to Him in obedience. But when He brings them safe to land, some of them follow the middle course. And none denies Our signs but every perfidious, ungrateful one.

31:33 O people, keep your duty to your Lord and dread the day when no father can avail his son in aught, nor the child will avail his father. Surely the promise of Allah is true, so let not this world's life deceive you, nor let the arch-deceiver deceive you about Allah.

31:34 Surely Allah is He with Whom is the knowledge of the Hour, and He sends down the rain, and He knows what is in the wombs. And no one knows what he will earn on the morrow. And no one knows in what land he will die. Surely Allah is Knowing, Aware.

KORAN CHAPTER 83 / 42

The Counsel /Al-Shura

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

42:1 Beneficent God!

42:2 Knowing, Hearing, Powerful God

42:3 Thus does Allah, the Mighty, the Wise, reveal to thee, and (He revealed) to those before thee.

42:4 To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth; and He is the High, the Great.

42:5 The heavens may almost be rent asunder above them, while the angels celebrate the praise of their Lord and ask forgiveness for those on earth. Now surely Allah is the Forgiving, the Merciful.

42:6 And those who take protectors besides Him — Allah watches over them; and thou hast not charge over them.

42:7 And thus have We revealed to thee an Arabic Koran, that thou mayest warn the mother-town and those around it, and give warning of the day of Gathering, wherein is no doubt. A party will be in the Garden and (another) party in the burning Fire.

42:8 And if Allah had pleased, He would surely have made them a single nation, but He admits whom He pleases to His mercy. And the wrong doers have no protector nor helper.

42:9 Or have they taken protectors besides Him? But Allah is the Protector, and He gives life to the dead, and He is Possessor of power over all things.

42:10 And in whatever you differ, the judgement thereof is with Allah. That is Allah, my Lord; on Him I rely, and to Him I turn.

42:11 The Originator of the heavens and the earth. He has made for you pairs from among yourselves, and pairs of the cattle, too, multiplying you thereby. Nothing is like Him; and He is the Hearing, the Seeing.

42:12 His are the treasures of the heavens and the earth — He amplifies and straitens subsistence for whom He pleases. Surely He is Knower of all things.

42:13 He has made plain to you the religion which He enjoined upon Noah and which We have revealed to thee, and which We enjoined on Abraham and Moses and Jesus to establish religion and not to be divided therein. Hard for the polytheists is that to which thou callest them. Allah chooses for Himself whom He pleases, and guides to Himself him who turns (to Him).

42:14 And they were not divided until knowledge had come to them, out of envy among themselves. And had not a word gone forth from thy Lord for an appointed term, the matter would surely have been judged between them. And those who were made to inherit the Book after them are surely in disquieting doubt about it.

42:15 To this then go on inviting, and be steadfast as thou art commanded, and follow not their low desires, and say: I believe in what Allah has revealed of the Book, and I am commanded to do justice between you. Allah is our Lord and your Lord. For us are our deeds; and for you your deeds. There is no contention between us and you. Allah will gather us together, and to Him is the eventual coming.

42:16 And those who dispute about Allah after obedience has been rendered to Him, their plea is null with their Lord, and upon them is wrath, and for them is severe chastisement.

42:17 Allah is He Who revealed the Book with truth, and the Balance; and what will make thee know that perhaps the Hour is nigh.

42:18 Those who believe not in it would hasten it on, and those who believe are in fear from it, and they know that it is the Truth. Now surely those who dispute concerning the Hour are far astray.

42:19 Allah is Benignant to His servants; He gives sustenance to whom He pleases; and He is the Strong, the Mighty.

42:20 Whoso desires the tilth (fields) of the Hereafter, We give him increase in his tilth and whoso desires the tilth of this world, We give him thereof and he has no portion in the Hereafter.

42:21 Or have they associates who have prescribed for them any religion that Allah does not sanction? And were it not for the word of judgement, it would have been decided between them. And surely for the wrongdoers is a painful chastisement.

42:22 Thou seest the unjust fearing on account of what they have earned, and it must befall them. And those who believe and do good are in the meadows of the Gardens — they have what they please with their Lord. That is the great grace.

42:23* This it is of which Allah gives the good news to His servants, who believe and do good. Say: I ask of you naught in return for it but love for relatives. And whoever earns good, We give him more of good therein. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Grateful.

42:24* Or say they: He has forged a lie against Allah? So, if Allah please, He would seal thy heart (against them). And Allah blots out the falsehood and confirms the Truth with His words. Surely He is Knower of what is in the breasts.

42:25* And He it is Who accepts repentance from His servants and pardons evil deeds, and He knows what you do;

42:26 And He answers those who believe and do good deeds, and gives them more out of His grace. And for the disbelievers is a severe chastisement.

42:27* And if Allah were to amplify the provision for His servants, they would rebel in the earth; but He sends (it) down by measure, as He pleases. Surely He is Aware, Seer of His servants.

42:28 And He it is Who sends down the rain after they have despaired, and He unfolds His mercy. And He is the Friend, the Praised One.

42:29 And of His signs is the creation of the heavens and the earth and what He has spread forth in both of them of living beings. And He is All-powerful to gather them together, when He will.

42:30 And whatever misfortune befalls you, it is on account of what your hands have wrought and He pardons much.

42:31 And you cannot escape in the earth, and besides Allah you have no protector nor helper.

42:32 And of His signs are the ships, like mountains on the sea.

42:33 If He will, He stills the wind so that they lie motionless on its back. Surely there are signs in this for every patient, grateful one,

42:34 Or He causes them to perish for what they have earned, and He pardons much;

42:35 And (that) those who dispute about Our messages may know. There is no refuge for them.

42:36 So whatever you are given is but a provision of this world's life, and that which Allah has is better and more lasting for those who believe and rely on their Lord;

42:37 And those who shun the great sins and indecencies, and whenever they are angry they forgive;

42:38 And those who respond to their Lord and keep up prayer, and whose affairs are (decided) by counsel among themselves, and who spend out of what We have given them;

42:39 And those who, when great wrong afflicts them, defend themselves.

42:40 And the recompense of evil is punishment like it; but whoever forgives and amends, his reward is with Allah. Surely He loves not the wrongdoers.

42:41 And whoever defends himself after his being oppressed, these it is against whom there is no way (of blame).

42:42 The way (of blame) is only against those who oppress men and revolt in the earth unjustly. For such there is a painful chastisement.

42:43 And whoever is patient and forgives — that surely is an affair of great resolution.

42:44 And he whom Allah leaves in error, has no friend after Him. And thou wilt see the iniquitous, when they see the chastisement, saying Is there any way of return?

42:45 And thou wilt see them brought before it, humbling themselves because of abasement, looking with a faint glance. And those who believe will say: Surely the losers are they who lose themselves and their followers on the Resurrection day. Now surely the iniquitous are in lasting chastisement.

42:46 And they will have no friends to help them besides Allah. And he whom Allah leaves in error cannot find a way.

42:47 Hearken to your Lord before there comes from Allah the day which there is no averting. You will have no refuge on that day, nor will it be yours to make a denial.

42:48 But if they turn away, We have not sent thee as a watcher over them. Thy duty is only to deliver (the message). And surely when We make man taste mercy from Us, he rejoices thereat; and if an evil afflicts them on account of what their hands have sent before, then surely man is ungrateful.

42:49 Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He creates what He pleases. He grants females to whom He pleases and grants males to whom He pleases,

42:39 And those who, when great wrong afflicts them, defend themselves.

42:40 And the recompense of evil is punishment like it; but whoever forgives and amends, his reward is with Allah. Surely He loves not the wrongdoers.

42:41 And whoever defends himself after his being oppressed, these it is against whom there is no way (of blame).

42:42 The way (of blame) is only against those who oppress men and revolt in the earth unjustly. For such there is a painful chastisement.

42:43 And whoever is patient and forgives — that surely is an affair of great resolution.

42:44 And he whom Allah leaves in error, has no friend after Him. And thou wilt see the iniquitous, when they see the chastisement, saying Is there any way of return?

42:45 And thou wilt see them brought before it, humbling themselves because of abasement, looking with a faint glance. And those who believe will say: Surely the losers are they who lose themselves and their followers on the Resurrection day. Now surely the iniquitous are in lasting chastisement.

42:46 And they will have no friends to help them besides Allah. And he whom Allah leaves in error cannot find a way.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

42:47 Harken to your Lord before there comes from Allah the day which there is no averting. You will have no refuge on that day, nor will it be yours to make a denial.

42:48 But if they turn away, We have nor sent thee as a watcher over them. Thy duty is only to deliver (the message). And surely when We make man taste mercy from Us, he rejoices thereat; and if an evil afflicts them on account of what their hands have sent before, then surely man is ungrateful.

42:49 Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He creates what He pleases. He grants females to whom He pleases and grants males to whom He pleases, 42:50 Or He grants them both males and females, and He makes whom He pleases, barren. Surely He is Knower, Powerful.

42:51 And it is nor vouchsafed to a mortal that Allah should speak to him, except by revelation or from behind a veil, or by sending a messenger and revealing by His permission what He pleases. Surely He is High, Wise.

42:52 And thus did We reveal to thee an inspired Book by Our command. Thou knewest nor what the Book was, nor (what) Faith (was), but We made it a light, guiding thereby whom We please of Our servants. And surely thou guidest to the right path —

42:53 The path of Allah, to Whom belongs whatsoever is in the heavens and whatsoever is in the earth. Now surely to Allah do all affairs eventually come.

KORAN CHAPTER 84 / Sura 10

Jonah / Yunus

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

10:1 I, Allah, am the Seer. These are the verses of the Book, full of wisdom.

10:2 Is it a wonder to the people what We have revealed to a man from among themselves: Warn the people and give good news to those who believe that for them is advancement in excellence with their Lord? The disbelievers say: This is surely a manifest enchanter.

10:3 Surely your Lord is Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth in six periods, and He is established on the Throne of Power regulating the Affair. There is no intercessor except after His permission. This is Allah, your Lord, therefore serve Him. Will you not mind?

10:4 To Him is your return, of all (of you). It is the promise of Allah (made) in truth. Surely He produces the first creation, then He reproduces it, that He may reward with equity those who believe and do good. And as for those who disbelieve, for them is a drink of hot water and a painful chastisement because they disbelieved.

10:5 He it is Who made the sun a shining brightness, and the moon a light, and ordained for it stages that you might know the computation of years and the reckoning. Allah created not this but with truth. He makes the signs manifest for a people who know.

10:6 Surely in the variation of the night and the day, and that which Allah has created in the heavens and the earth, there are signs for a people who keep their duty.

10:7 Those who expect not the meeting with Us, and are pleased with this world's life and are satisfied with it, and those who are heedless of Our communications —

10:8 These, their abode is the Fire because of what they earned.

10:9 Those who believe and do good, their Lord guides them by their faith; rivers will flow beneath them in Gardens of bliss.

10:10 Their cry therein will be, Glory to Thee, O Allah and their greeting, Peace! And the last of their cry will be Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds!

10:11 And if Allah were to hasten for men the (consequences of) evil, as they would hasten on the good, their doom would certainly have been decreed for them. But We leave those alone, who have no hope of meeting with Us, in their inordinacy, blindly wandering on.

10:12 And when affliction touches a man, he calls on Us, whether lying on his side or sitting or standing; but, when We remove his affliction from him, he passes on as though he had never called on Us on account of an affliction that touched him. Thus is what they do, made fair-seeming to the extravagant.

10:13 And certainly We destroyed generations before you when they did wrong, and their messengers came to them with clear arguments, yet they would nor believe, Thus do We recompense the guilty people.

10:14 Then We made you rulers in the land after them, so that We might see how you act.

10:15 And when Our clear messages are recited to them, those who have no hope of meeting with Us say: Bring a Koran other than this or change it. Say: It is not for me to change it of my own accord. I follow naught but what is revealed to me. Indeed I fear, if I disobey my Lord, the chastisement of a grievous day.

10:16 Say: If Allah had desired, I would not have recited it to you, nor would He have made it known to you. I have lived among you a lifetime before it. Do you not then understand?

10:17 Who is then more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah or gives the lie to His messages? Surely the guilty never succeed.

10:18 And they serve besides Allah that which can neither harm them nor profit them, and they say: These are our intercessors with Allah. Say Would you inform Allah of what He knows not in the heavens and the earth? Glory be to Him, and supremely exalted is He above what they set up (with Him)!

10:19 And (all) people are but a single nation, then they disagree. And had not a word already gone forth from thy Lord, the matter would have certainly been decided between them in respect of that wherein they disagree.

10:20 And they say: Why is not a sign sent to him from his Lord? Say: The unseen is only for Allah, so wait; surely I too with you am of those who wait.

10:21 And when We make people taste of mercy after an affliction touches them, lo! they devise plans against Our messages. Say: Allah is quicker to plan. Surely Our messengers write down what you plan.

10:22 He it is Who makes you travel by land and sea; until, when you are in the ships, and they sail on with them in a pleasant breeze, and they rejoice at it, a violent wind overtakes them and the billows surge in on them from all sides, and they deem that they are encompassed about. Then they pray to Allah, being sincere to Him in obedience: If Thou deliver us from this, we will certainly be of the grateful ones.

10:23 But when He delivers them, lo! they are unjustly rebellious in the earth. O men, your rebellion is against yourselves a provision (only) of this world's life. Then to Us is your return, so We shall inform you of what you did.

10:24 The likeness of this world's life is only as water which We send down from the clouds, then the herbage of the earth, of which men and cattle eat, grows luxuriantly thereby; until when the earth puts on its golden raiment and it becomes adorned, and its people think that they are masters of it, Our command comes to it, by night or by day, so We render it as reaped seed-produce, as though it had not flourished yesterday. Thus do We make clear the messages for a people who reflect.

10:25 And Allah invites to the abode of peace, and guides whom He pleases to the right path.

10:26 For those who do good is good (reward) and more (than this). Neither blackness nor ignominy will cover their faces. These are the owners of the Garden; therein they will abide.

10:27 And those who earn evil, the punishment of an evil is the like thereof, and abasement will cover them they will have none to protect them from Allah — as if their faces had been covered with slices of the dense darkness of night. These are the companions of the Fire; therein they will abide.

10:28 And on the day when We gather them all together, then We shall say to those who associated others (with Allah): Keep where you are, you and your associate-gods. Then We shall separate them one from another, and their associates will say: It was not us that you served.

10:29 So Allah suffices as a witness between us and you that we were quite unaware of your serving (us).

10:30 There will every soul become acquainted with what it sent before, and they will be brought back to Allah, their true Patron, and that which they devised will escape from them.

10:31 Say: Who gives you sustenance from the heaven and the earth, or who controls the hearing and the sight, and who brings forth the living from the dead, and brings forth the dead from the living? And who regulates the affair? They will say: Allah. Say then: Will you not then guard against evil?

10:32 Such then is Allah, your true Lord. And what is there after the truth but error? How then are you turned away!

10:33 Thus does the word of thy Lord prove true against those who transgress that they believe not.

10:34 Say: Is there anyone among your associate-gods who produces the first creation, then reproduces it? Say Allah produces the first creation, then He reproduces it. How are you then turned away!

10:35 Say: Is there any of your associate-gods who guides to the Truth? Say: Allah guides to the Truth. Is He then Who guides to the Truth more worthy to be followed, or he who finds not the way unless he is guided? What is the matter with you? How do you judge?

10:36 And most of them follow naught but conjecture. Surely conjecture will not avail aught against the Truth. Truly Allah is Knower of what they do.

10:37 And this Koran is not such as could be forged by those besides Allah, but it is a verification of that which is before it and a dear explanation of the Book, there is no doubt in it, from the Lord of the worlds.

10:38 Or say they: He has forged it? Say: Then bring a chapter like it, and invite whom you can besides Allah, if you are truthful.

10:39 Nay, they reject that, whose knowledge they cannot compass and whose final sequel has not yet come to them. Even thus did those before them reject; then see what was the end of the wrongdoers.

10:40* And of them is he who believes in it, and of them is he who believes not in it. And thy Lord best knows the mischief-makers.

10:41 And if they reject thee, say My work is for me and your work for you. You are clear of what I do and I am clear of what you do.

10:42 And of them are some who listen to thee. But canst thou make the deaf to hear, though they will not understand?

10:43 And of them are some who look at thee. But canst thou show the way to the blind, though they will not see?

10:44 Surely Allah wrongs not men in aught, but men wrong themselves.

10:45 And on the day when He will gather them, as though they had not stayed but an hour of the day, they will recognize one another. They perish indeed who reject the meeting with Allah, and they follow not the right way.

10:46 And if We show thee something of that which We promise them, or Cause thee to die, yet to Us is their return, and Allah is Witness to what they do.

10:47 And for every nation there is a messenger. So when their messenger comes, the matter is decided between them with justice, and they are not wronged.

10:48 And they say: When will this promise be fulfilled, if you are truthful?

10:49 Say: I control not for myself any harm, or any benefit, except what Allah pleases. Every nation has a term. When their term comes, they cannot put it off an hour, nor can they bring it before (its time).

10:50 Say: Do you see if His chastisement overtakes you by night or by day? What then is there of it that the guilty would hasten?

10:51 And when it comes to pass, will you believe in it? What! now! and you hastened it on.

10:52 Then will it be said to those who were unjust: Taste abiding chastisement; you are not requited except for what you earned.

10:53 And they ask thee: Is that true? Say: Aye, by my Lord it is surely the Truth, and you will not escape.

10:54 And if every soul that has done injustice had all that is in the earth, it would offer it for ransom. And they will manifest regret when they see the chastisement. And it will be decided between them with justice, and they will not be wronged.

10:55 Now surely whatever is in the heavens and the earth is Allah's. Now surely Allah's promise is true, but most of them know not.

10:56 He gives life and causes death, and to Him you will be returned.

10:57 O men, there has come to you indeed an admonition from your Lord and a healing for what is in the breasts; and a guidance and a mercy for the believers.

10:58 Say: In the grace of Allah and in His mercy, in that they should rejoice. It is better than that which they hoard.

10:59 Say: See you what Allah has sent down for you of sustenance, then you make (a part) of it unlawful and (a part) lawful. Say: Has Allah commanded you or do you forge a lie against Allah?

10:60 And what think those who forge lies against Allah of the day of Resurrection? Surely Allah is Bountiful to men, but most of them give not thanks.

10:61 And thou art not (engaged) in any affair and thou recitest not concerning it any portion of the Koran, and you do no work, but We are Witness of you when you are engaged therein. And not the weight of an atom in the earth or in the heaven is hidden from thy Lord, nor anything less than that nor greater, but it is (all) in a dear book.

10:62 Now surely the friends of Allah, they have no fear nor do they grieve —

10:63 Those who believe and keep their duty.

10:64 For them is good news in this world's life and in the Hereafter. There is no changing the words of Allah. That is the mighty achievement.

10:65 And let not their speech grieve thee. Surely might belongs wholly to Allah. He is the Hearer, the Knower.

10:66 Now, surely, whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth is Allah's. And what do follow those who call on associates besides Allah? They follow naught but conjecture, and they only lie.

10:67 He it is Who made for you the night that you might rest therein and the day giving light. Surely in this are signs for a people who hear.

10:68 They say Allah has taken a son (to Himself). Glory be to Him! He is the Self-sufficient. His is what is in the heavens and what is in the earth. You have no authority for this. Say you against Allah what you know not?

10:69 Say Those who forge a lie against Allah will not succeed.

10:70 A little enjoyment in this world, then to Us is their return, then We shall make them taste severe chastisement because they disbelieved.

10:71 And recite to them the story of Noah, when he said to his people: O my people, if my staying (here) and my reminding (you) by the messages of Allah is hard on you, on Allah do I rely; so decide upon your course of action and (gather) your associates. Then let not your course of action be dubious to you, so have it executed against me and give me no respite.

10:72 But if you turn back, I ask for no reward from you. My reward is only with Allah, and I am commanded to be of those who submit.

10:73 But they rejected him, so We delivered him and those with him in the ark, and We made them rulers and drowned those who rejected Our messages. See, then, what was the end of those who were warned.

10:74 Then, after him We sent messengers to their people. They came to them with clear arguments, but they would not believe what they had rejected before.

Thus do We seal the hearts of those who exceed the limits.

10:75 Then after them We sent Moses and Aaron to Pharaoh and his chiefs with Our signs, but they were arrogant, and they were a guilty people.

10:76 So when the truth came to them from Us, they said: This is surely clear enchantment!

10:77 Moses said: Say you (this) of the truth when it has come to you? Is it enchantment? And the enchanters never succeed.

10:78 They said: Hast thou come to us to turn us away from that which we found our fathers following, and (that) greatness in the land may be for you two? And we are not going to believe in you.

10:79 And Pharaoh said: Bring to me every skilful enchanter.

10:80 So when the enchanters came. Moses said to them: Cast what you are going to cast.

10:81 So when they had cast down, Moses said: What you have brought is deception. Surely Allah will make it naught. Surely Allah allows not the work of mischief-makers to thrive.

10:82 And Allah will establish the truth by His words, though the guilty be averse.

10:83 But, on account of the fear of Pharaoh and their chiefs persecuting them, none believed in Moses except a few of his people. And Pharaoh was truly high-handed in the land; and surely he was extravagant.

10:84 And Moses said: O my people, if you believe in Allah, then rely on Him if you submit (to Him).

10:85 They said: On Allah we rely; our Lord, make us not a trial for the unjust people.

10:86 And deliver us by Thy mercy from the disbelieving people.

10:87 And We revealed to Moses and his brother: Take for your people houses to abide in Egypt and make your houses places of worship and keep up prayer. And give good news to the believers.

10:88 And Moses said: Our Lord, surely Thou hast given Pharaoh and his chiefs finery and riches in this world's life, our Lord, that they may lead (people) astray from Thy way. Our Lord, destroy their riches and harden their hearts, so that they believe not till they see the painful chastisement.

10:89 He said: Your prayer is accepted; so continue in the right way and follow not the path of those who know not.

10:90 And We brought the Children of Israel across the sea. Then Pharaoh and his hosts followed them for oppression and tyranny, till, when drowning overtook him, he said: I believe that there is no god but He in Whom the Children of Israel believe, and I am of those who submit.

10:91 What! Now! And indeed before (this) thou didst disobey and thou wast of the mischief-makers!

10:92 But this day We shall save thee in thy body that thou mayest be a sign to those after thee. And surely most of the people are heedless of Our signs.

10:93 And certainly We lodged the Children of Israel in a goodly abode and provided them with good things. Then they differed not till the knowledge came to them. Surely thy Lord will judge between them on the day of Resurrection concerning that in which they differed.

10:94* But if thou art in doubt as to that which We have revealed to thee, ask those who read the Book before thee. Certainly the Truth has come to thee from thy Lord, so be not thou of the doubters.

10:95* And be not of those who reject the messages of Allah, (for) then thou wilt be of the losers.

10:96* Surely those against whom the word of thy Lord has proved true will not believe,

10:97 Though every sign should come to them, till they see the painful chastisement.

10:98 And why was there not a town which believed, so that their belief should have profited them, but the people of Jonah? When they believed, We removed from them the chastisement of disgrace in this world's life, and We gave them provision for a while.

10:99 And if thy Lord had pleased, all those who are in the earth would have believed, all of them. Wilt thou then force men till they are believers?

10:100 And it is not for any soul to believe except by Allah's permission. And He casts uncleanness on those who will not understand.

10:101 Say: Behold what is in the heavens and the earth! And signs and warners avail not a people who believe not.

10:102 What do they wait for, then, but the like of the days of those who passed away before them? Say: Wait then: I, too, am with you of those who wait.

10:103 Then We deliver Our messengers and those who believe — even so (now); it is binding on Us to deliver the believers.

10:104 Say: O people, if you are in doubt as to my religion, (know that) I serve not those whom you serve besides Allah, but I serve Allah, Who causes you to die; and I am commanded to be of the believers, 10:105 And that thou set thy purpose towards the Religion uprightly; and be not of the polytheists.

10:106 And call not besides Allah on that which can neither benefit thee nor harm thee; for if thou dost, thou shalt then be of the unjust.

10:107 And if Allah afflicts thee with harm, there is none to remove it but He; and if He intends good to thee, there is none to repel His grace. He brings it to whom He pleases of His servants. And He is the Forgiving, the Merciful.

10:108 Say: O people, the Truth has indeed come to you from your Lord; so whoever goes aright, goes aright only for the good of his own soul; and whoever errs, errs only against it. And I am not a custodian over you.

10:109 And follow what is revealed to thee and be patient till Allah give judgement, and He is the Best of the judges.

KORAN CHAPTER 85 / Sura 34

The Saba / Al-Saba

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

34:1 Praise be to Allah! Whose is whatsoever is in the heavens and whatsoever is in the earth, and to Him be praise in the Hereafter! And He is the Wise, the Aware.

34:2 He knows that which goes down into the earth and that which comes out of it, and that which comes down from heaven and that which goes up to it. And He is the Merciful, the Forgiving.

34:3 And those who disbelieve say: The Hour will never come to us. Say: Yea, by my Lord, the Knower of the unseen! it will certainly come to you. Not an atom's weight escapes Him in the heavens or in the earth, nor is there less than that nor greater, but (all) is in a clear book, 34:4 That He may reward those who believe and do good. For them is forgiveness and an honourable sustenance.

34:5 And those who strive hard in opposing Our Messages, for them is a painful chastisement of an evil kind.

34:6 And those who have been given knowledge see that what is revealed to thee from thy Lord, is the Truth, and it guides into the path of the Mighty, the Praised.

34:7 And those who disbelieve say: Shall we show to you a man who informs you that, when you are scattered the utmost scattering, you will then be in a new creation?

34:8 Has he forged a lie against Allah or is there madness in him? Nay, those who believe not in the Hereafter are in torment and in far error.

34:9 See they not what is before them and what is behind them of the heaven and the earth? If We please, We can make them low in the land or bring down upon them a portion of heaven. Surely there is a sign in this for every servant turning (to Allah).

34:10 And certainly We gave David abundance from Us: O mountains, repeat praises with him, and the birds, and We made the iron pliant to him, 34:11 Saying: Make ample (coats of mail), and assign a time to the making of coats of mail and do ye good. Surely I am Seer of what you do.

34:12 And (We made) the wind (subservient) to Solomon; it made a month's journey in the morning and a month's journey in the evening and We made a fountain of molten brass to flow for him. And of the inn there were those who worked before him by the command of his Lord. And whoever turned aside from Our command from among them, We made him taste of the chastisement of burning.

34:13 They made for him what he pleased, of synagogues and images, and bowls (large) as watering-troughs and fixed cooking-pots. Give thanks, O people of David! And very few of My servants are grateful.

34:14 But when We decreed death for him, naught showed them his death but a creature of the earth that ate away his staff. So when it fell down, the jinn saw clearly that, if they had known the unseen, they would not have tarried in humiliating torment.

34:15 Certainly there was a sign for Saba' in their abode — two gardens on the right and the left. Eat of the sustenance of your Lord and give thanks to Him. A good land and a Forgiving Lord!

34:16 But they turned aside, so We sent upon them a violent torrent, and in place of their two gardens We gave them two gardens yielding bitter fruit and (growing) tamarisk and a few lote-trees.

34:17 With this We requited them because they were ungrateful: and We punish none but the ingrate.

34:18 And We made between them and the towns which We had blessed, (other) towns easy to be seen, and We apportioned the journey therein: Travel through them nights and days, secure.

34:19 But they said: Our Lord, make longer stages between our journeys. And they wronged themselves; so We made them stories and scattered them a total scattering. Surely there are signs in this for every patient, grateful one.

34:20 And the devil indeed found true his conjecture concerning them, so they follow him, except a party of the believers.

34:21 And he has no authority over them, but that We may know him who believes in the Hereafter from him who is in doubt concerning it. And thy Lord is the Preserver of all things.

34:22 Say: Call upon those whom you assert besides Allah; they control not the weight of an atom in the heavens or in the earth, nor have they any partnership in either, nor has He a helper among them.

34:23 And intercession avails naught with Him, save of him whom He permits. Until when fear is removed from their hearts, they say: What is it that your Lord said? They say: The Truth. And He is the Most High, the Great.

34:24 Say: Who gives you sustenance from the heavens and the earth? Say: Allah. And surely we or you are on a right way or in manifest error.

34:25 Say: You will not be asked of what we are guilty, nor shall we be asked of what you do.

34:26 Say: Our Lord will gather us together, then He will judge between us with truth. And He is the Best Judge, the Knower.

34:27 Say: Show me those whom you join with Him as associates. By no means (can you)! Nay, He is Allah, the Mighty, the Wise.

34:28 And We have not sent thee but as a bearer of good news and as a warner to all mankind, but most men know not.

34:29 And they say: When will this promise be (fulfilled), if you are truthful?

34:30 Say: You have the appointment of a day which you cannot postpone by an hour, nor hasten on.

34:31 And those who disbelieve say: We believe not in this Koran, nor in that which is before it. And if thou couldst see when the wrongdoers are made to stand before their Lord, throwing back the blame one to another! Those who were reckoned weak say to those who were proud: Had it not been for you, we would have been believers.

34:32 Those who were proud say to those who were deemed weak: Did we turn you away from the guidance after it had come to you? Nay, you (yourselves) were guilty.

34:33 And those who were deemed weak say to those who were proud: Nay, (it was your) planning by night and day when you told us to disbelieve in Allah and to set up likes with Him. And they will manifest regret when they see the chastisement. And We put shackles on the necks of those who disbelieve. They will not be requited but for what they did.

34:34 And We never sent a warner to a town but those who led easy lives in it said: We are disbelievers in that with which you are sent.

34:35 And they say: We have more wealth and children, and we cannot be punished.

34:36 Say: Surely my Lord amplifies and straitens provision for whom He pleases, but most men know not.

34:37 And it is not your wealth, nor your children, that bring you near to Us in rank; but whoever believes and does good, for such is a double reward for what they do, and they are secure in the highest places.

34:38 And those who strive in opposing Our messages, they will be brought to the chastisement.

34:39 Say: Surely my Lord amplifies provision for whom He pleases of His servants and straitens (it) for him. And whatsoever you spend, He increases it in reward, and He is the Best of Providers.

34:40 And on the day when He will gather them all together, then will He say to the angels: Did these worship you?

34:41 They will say: Glory be to Thee! Thou art our Protecting Friend, not they; nay, they worshipped the jinn; most of them were believers in them.

34:42 So on that day you will not control profit nor harm for one another. And We will say to those who were iniquitous: Taste the chastisement of the Fire, which you called a lie.

34:43 And when Our clear messages are recited to them, they say: This is naught but a man who desires to turn you away from that which your fathers worshipped. And they say: This is naught but a forged lie! And those who disbelieve say of the Truth when it comes to them: This is only clear enchantment 34:44 And We have not given them any Books which they read, nor did We send to them before thee a warner.

34:45 And those before them rejected (the truth), and these have not yet attained a tenth of that which We gave them, but they gave the lie to My messengers. How (terrible) was then My disapproval!

34:46 Say: I exhort you only to one thing, that you rise up for Allah's sake by twos and singly, then ponder! There is no madness in your companion. He is only a warner to you before a severe chastisement.

34:47 Say: Whatever reward I ask of you, that is only for yourselves. My reward is only with Allah, and He is a Witness over all things.

34:48 Say: Surely my Lord casts the Truth, the great Knower of the unseen.

34:49 Say: The Truth has come, and falsehood neither originates, nor reproduces.

34:50 Say: If I err, I err only to my own loss and if I go aright, it is because of what my Lord reveals to me. Surely He is Hearing, Nigh.

34:51 And couldst thou see when they become terrified, but (then) there will be no escape and they will be seized from a near place;

34:52 And they will say: We believe in it. And how can they attain (to faith) from a distant place?

34:53 And they indeed disbelieved in it before, and they utter conjectures with regard to the unseen from a distant place.

34:54 And a barrier is placed between them and that which they desire, as was done with their partisans before. Surely they are in a disquieting doubt.

KORAN CHAPTER 86 / Sura 35

The Originator / Al-Fatir

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

35:1 Praise be to Allah, the Originator of the heavens and the earth, the Maker of the angels, messengers flying on wings, two, and three, and four. He increases in creation what He pleases. Surely Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

35:2 Whatever Allah grants to men of (His) mercy, there is none to withhold it, and what He withholds, none can grant thereafter. And He is the Mighty, the Wise.

35:3 O Men, call to mind the favour of Allah to you. Is there any Creator besides Allah who provides for you from the heaven and the earth? There is no God but He. How are you then turned away?

35:4 And if they reject thee — truly messengers before thee were rejected. And to Allah are all affairs returned.

35:5 O men, surely the promise of Allah is true, so let not the life of this world deceive you. And let not the arch-deceiver deceive you about Allah.

35:6 Surely the devil is your enemy, so take him for an enemy. He only invites his party to be companions of the burning Fire.

35:7 Those who disbelieve, for them is a severe chastisement. And those who believe and do good, for them is forgiveness and a great reward.

35:8 Is he whose evil deed is made fair-seeming to him so that he considers it good? Now surely Allah leaves in error whom He pleases and guides aright whom He pleases, so let not thy soul waste away in grief for them. Surely Allah is Knower of what they do.

35:9 And Allah is He Who sends the winds, so they raise a cloud, then We drive it on to a dead land, and therewith give life to the earth after its death. Even so is the quickening.

35:10 Whoever desires might, then to Allah belongs the might wholly. To Him do ascend the goodly words, and the goodly deed — He exalts it. And those who plan evil — for them is a severe chastisement. And their plan will perish.

35:11 And Allah created you from dust, then from the life-germ, then He made you pairs. And no female bears, nor brings forth, except with His knowledge. And no one living long is granted a long life, nor is aught diminished of one's life, but it is all in a book. Surely this is easy to Allah.

35:12 And the two seas are not alike the one sweet, very sweet, pleasant to drink; and the other salt, bitter. Yet from both you eat fresh flesh and bring forth ornaments which you wear. And thou seest the ships cleave through it, that you may seek of His bounty and that you may give thanks.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

35:13 He causes the night to enter in upon the day, and causes the day to enter in upon the night, and He has made subservient the sun and the moon, each one moves to an appointed time. This is Allah, your Lord; His is the kingdom. And those whom you call upon besides Him own not a straw.

35:14 If you call on them, they hear not your call; and if they heard, they could not answer you. And on the day of Resurrection they will deny your associating them (with Allah). And none can inform thee like the All-Aware One.

35:15 O men, it is you that have need of Allah, and Allah is the Self-Sufficient, the Praised One.

35:16 If He please, He will remove you and bring a new creation.

35:17 And this is not hard to Allah.

35:18 And no burdened soul can bear another's burden. And if one weighed down by a burden calls another to carry his load, naught of it will be carried, even though he be near of kin. Thou warnest only those who fear their Lord in secret and keep up prayer. And whoever purifies himself, purifies himself only for his own good. And to Allah is the eventual coming.

35:19 And the blind and the seeing are not alike,

35:20 Nor the darkness and the light,

35:21 Nor the shade and the heat.

35:22 Neither are the living and the dead alike. Surely Allah makes whom He pleases hear; and thou canst not make those hear who are in the graves.

35:23 Thou art naught but a warner.

35:24 Surely We have sent thee with the Truth as a bearer of good news and a warner. And there is not a people but a warner has gone among them.

35:25 And if they reject thee, those before them also rejected — their messengers came to them with clear arguments, and with scriptures, and with the illuminating Book.

35:26 Then I seized those who disbelieved, so how (terrible) was My disapproval!

35:27 Seest thou not that Allah sends down water from the clouds, then We bring forth therewith fruits of various hues? And in the mountains are streaks, white and red, of various hues and (others) intensely black.

35:28 And of men and beasts and cattle there are various colours likewise. Those of His servants only who are possessed of knowledge fear Allah. Surely Allah is Mighty, Forgiving.

35:29 Surely those who recite the Book of Allah and keep up prayer and spend out of what We have given them, secretly and openly, hope for a gain which perishes not —

35:30 That He may pay them back fully their rewards and give them more out of His grace. Surely He is Forgiving, Multiplier of reward.

35:31 And that which We have revealed to thee of the Book, that is the truth, verifying that which is before it. Surely Allah is Aware, Seer of His servants.

35:32 Then We have given the Book as inheritance to those whom We have chosen from among Our servants: so of them is he who wrongs himself, and of them is he who takes a middle course, and of them is he who is foremost in deeds of goodness by Allah's permission. That is the great grace.

35:33 Gardens of perpetuity, which they enter — they are made to wear therein bracelets of gold and pearls, and their dress therein is silk.

35:34 And they say: Praise be to Allah, Who has removed grief from us! Surely our Lord is Forgiving, Multiplier of reward, 35:35 Who out of His grace has made us alight in a house abiding for ever; therein toil touches us not nor does fatigue afflict us therein.

35:36 And those who disbelieve, for them is Fire of hell; it is not finished with them so that they should die, nor is chastisement thereof lightened to them. Thus We deal retribution on every ungrateful one.

35:37 And therein they cry for succour: Our Lord, take us out! we will do good deeds other than those which we used to do! Did We not give you a life long enough, for him to be mindful who would mind? And there came to you the warner. So taste; because for the iniquitous there is no helper.

35:38 Surely Allah is the Knower of the unseen in the heavens and the earth. Surely He is Knower of what is in the hearts.

35:39 He it is Who made you successors in the earth. So whoever disbelieves, his disbelief is against himself. And their disbelief increases the disbelievers with their Lord in naught but hatred; and their disbelief increases the disbelievers in naught but loss.

35:40 Say: Have you seen your associates which you call upon besides Allah? Show me what they have created of the earth! Or have they any share in the heavens? Or, have We given them a Book so that they follow a clear argument thereof? Nay, the wrongdoers hold out promises one to another only to deceive.

35:41 Surely Allah upholds the heavens and the earth lest they come to naught. And if they come to naught, none can uphold them after Him. Surely He is ever Forbearing, Forgiving.

35:42 And they swore by Allah, their strongest oaths, that, if a warner came to them, they would be better guided than any of the nations. But when a warner came to them, it increased them in naught but aversion, 35:43 Behaving proudly in the land and planning evil. And the evil plan besets none save the authors of it. So they wait for naught but the way of the ancients. But thou wilt find no alteration in the course of Allah and thou wilt find no change in the course of Allah.

35:44 Have they not travelled in the land and seen what was the end of those before them and they were stronger than those in power? And Allah is not such that anything in the heavens or the earth can escape Him. Surely He is ever Knowing, Powerful.

35:45 And were Allah to punish men for what they earn, He would not leave on the back of it any creature, but He respites them till an appointed term so when their doom comes, then surely Allah is ever Seer of His servants.

KORAN CHAPTER 87 / Sura 7

The Elevated Places / Al-Araf

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

7:1 I, Allah, am the best Knower, the Truthful.

7:2 A Book revealed to thee — so let there be no straitness in thy breast concerning it — that thou mayest warn thereby, and a Reminder to the believers.

7:3 Follow what has been revealed to you from your Lord and follow not besides Him any guardians; little do you mind!

7:4 And how many a town have We destroyed! So Our punishment came to it by night or while they slept at midday.

7:5 Yet their cry, when Our punishment came to them, was nothing but that they said: Surely we were wrong doers.

7:6 Then certainly We shall question those to whom messengers were sent, and We shall question the messengers,

7:7 Then surely We shall relate to them with knowledge, and We are never absent.

7:8 And the judging on that day will be just; so as for those whose good deeds are heavy, they are the successful.

7:9 And as for those whose good deeds are light, those are they who ruined their souls because they disbelieved in Our messages.

7:10 And certainly We established you in the earth and made therein means of livelihood for you; little it is that you give thanks!

7:11 And We indeed created you, then We fashioned you, then We said to the angels: Make submission to Adam. So they submitted, except Iblis; he was not of those who submitted.

7:12 He said: What hindered thee that thou didst not submit when I commanded thee? He said: I am better than he; Thou hast created me of fire, while him Thou didst create of dust.

7:13 He said: Then get forth from this (state), for it is not for thee to behave proudly therein. Go forth, therefore, surely thou art of the abject ones.

7:14 He said: Respite me till the day when they are raised.

7:15 He said: Thou art surely of the respited ones.

7:16 He said: As Thou hast adjudged me to be erring, I will certainly lie in wait for them in Thy straight path,

7:17 Then I shall certainly come upon them from before them and from behind them, and from their right and from their left; and Thou wilt not find most of them thankful.

7:18 He said: Get out of it, despised, driven away. Whoever of them will follow thee, I will certainly fill hell with you all.

7:19 And (We said): O Adam, dwell thou and thy wife in the garden, so eat from whence you desire, but go not near this tree, lest you become of the unjust.

7:20 But the devil made an evil suggestion to them that he might make manifest to them that which had been hidden from them of their shame and he said: Your Lord has forbidden you this tree, lest you become angels or become of the immortals.

7:21 And he swore to them both: Surely I am a sincere adviser to you —

7:22 Thus he caused them to fall by deceit. So when they had tasted of the tree, their shame became manifest to them, and they both began to cover themselves with the leaves of the garden. And their Lord called to them: Did I not forbid you that tree, and say to you that the devil is surely your open enemy?

7:23 They said: Our Lord, we have wronged ourselves; and if Thou forgive us not, and have (not) mercy on us, we shall certainly be of the losers.

7:24 He said: Go forth — some of you, the enemies of others. And there is for you in the earth an abode and a provision for a time.

7:25 He said: Therein shall you live, and therein shall you die, and there from shall you be raised.

7:26 O children of Adam, We have indeed sent down to you clothing to cover your shame, and (clothing) for beauty; and clothing that guards against evil — that is the best. This is of the messages of Allah that they may be mindful.

7:27 O children of Adam, let not the devil seduce you, as he expelled your parents from the garden, pulling off from them their clothing that he might show them their shame. He surely sees you, he as well as his host, from whence you see them not. Surely We have made the devils to be the friends of those who believe not.

7:28 And when they commit an in decency they say: We found our fathers doing this, and Allah has enjoined it on us. Say: Surely Allah enjoins not indecency. Do you say of Allah what you know not?

7:29 Say: My Lord enjoins justice. And set upright your faces at every time of prayer and call on Him, being sincere to Him in obedience. As He brought you into being, so shall you return.

7:30 A party has He guided, and another party — perdition is justly their due. Surely they took the devils for friends instead of Allah, and they think that they are rightly guided.

7:31 O children of Adam, attend to your adornment at every time of prayer, and eat and drink and be not prodigal; surely He loves not the prodigals.

7:32 Say: Who has forbidden the adornment of Allah, which He has brought forth for His servants, and the good provisions? Say: These are for the believers in the life of this world, purely (theirs) on the

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

Resurrection day. Thus do We make the messages clear for a people who know.

7:33 Say: My Lord forbids only indecencies, such of them as are apparent and such as are concealed, and sin and unjust rebellion, and that you associate with Allah that for which He has sent down no authority, and that you say of Allah what you know not.

7:34 And every nation has a term so when its term comes, they cannot remain behind the least while, nor can they precede (it).

7:35 O children of Adam, if messengers come to you from among you relating to you My messages, then whosoever guards against evil and acts aright they shall have no fear, nor shall they grieve.

7:36 And those who reject Our messages and turn away from them haughtily these are the companions of the Fire; they shall abide in it.

7:37 Who is then more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah or rejects His messages? These — their portion of the Book shall reach them; until when Our messengers come to them causing them to die; they say: Where is that which you used to call upon besides Allah? They would say: They are gone away from us. And they shall bear witness against themselves that they were disbelievers.

7:38 He will say: Enter into the Fire among the nations that have passed away before you from among the jinn and men. Every time a nation enters, it curses its sister until when they all follow one another into it, the last of them will say with regard to the first of them: Our Lord, these led us astray, so give them a double chastisement of the Fire. He will say: Each one has double but you know not.

7:39 And the first of them will say to the last of them: You have no preference over us, so taste the chastisement for what you earned.

7:40 Those who reject Our messages and turn away from them haughtily, the doors of heaven will not be opened for them, nor will they enter the Garden until the camel pass through the eye of the needle. And thus do We reward the guilty.

7:41 They shall have a bed of hell and over them coverings (of it). And thus do We requite the wrongdoers.

7:42 And as for those who believe and do good — We impose not on any soul a duty beyond its scope — they are the owners of the Garden; therein they abide.

7:43 And We shall remove whatever of ill-feeling is in their hearts — rivers flow beneath them. And they say: All praise is due to Allah, Who guided us to this! And we would not have found the way if Allah had not guided us. Certainly the messengers of our Lord brought the truth. And it will be cried out to them: This is the Garden which you are made to inherit for what you did.

7:44 And the owners of the Garden call out to the companions of the Fire: We have found that which our Lord promised us to be true; have you, too, found that which your Lord promised to be true? They will say: Yes. Then a crier will cry out among them: The curse of Allah is on the wrongdoers, 7:45 Who hinder (men) from Allah's way and seek to make it crooked, and they are disbelievers in the Hereafter.

7:46 And between them is a veil. And on the Elevated Places are men who know all by their marks. And they call out to the owners of the Garden: Peace be to you! They have not yet entered it, though they hope.

7:47 And when their eyes are turned towards the companions of the Fire, they say: Our Lord, place us not with the unjust people.

7:48 And the owners of the Elevated Places call out to men whom they recognize by their marks, saying: Of no avail were to you your amassings and your arrogance.

7:49 Are these they about whom you swore that Allah would not bestow mercy on them? Enter the Garden; you have no fear, nor shall you grieve.

7:50 And the companions of the Fire call out to the owners of the Garden: Pour on us some water or some of that which Allah has provided for you. They say: Surely Allah has forbidden them both to the disbelievers,

7:51 Who take their religion for an idle sport and a play, and this world's life deceives them. So this day We shall forsake them, as they neglected the meeting of this day of theirs, and as they denied Our messages.

7:52 And certainly We have brought them a Book which We make clear with knowledge, a guidance and a mercy for a people who believe.

7:53 Do they wait for aught but its final sequel? On the day when its final sequel comes, those who neglected it before will say: Indeed the messengers of our Lord brought the truth. Are there any intercessors on our behalf so that they should intercede for us? Or could we be sent back so that we should do (deeds) other than those which we did? Indeed they have lost their souls, and that which they forged has failed them.

7:54 Surely your Lord is Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth in six periods, and He is established on the Throne of Power. He makes the night cover the day, which it pursues incessantly. And (He created) the sun and the moon and the stars, made subservient by His command. Surely His is the creation and the command. Blessed is Allah, the Lord of the worlds!

7:55 Call on your Lord humbly and in secret. Surely He loves not the transgressors.

7:56 And make not mischief in the earth after its reformation and call on Him, fearing and hoping. Surely the mercy of Allah is nigh to the doers of good.

7:57 And He it is Who sends forth the winds hearing good news before His mercy; till, when they bear a laden cloud, We drive it to a dead land, then We send down water on it, then bring forth thereby fruits of all kinds. Thus do We bring forth the dead that you may be mindful.

7:58 And the good land — its vegetation comes forth (abundantly) by the permission of its Lord. And that which is inferior — (its herbage) comes forth but scantily. Thus do We repeat the messages for a people who give thanks.

7:59 Certainly We sent Noah to his people, so he said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no god other than Him. Indeed I fear for you the chastisement of a grievous day.

7:60 The chiefs of his people said Surely we see thee in clear error.

7:61 He said: O my people, there is no error in me, but I am a messenger from the Lord of the worlds.

7:62 I deliver to you the messages of my Lord, and I offer you good advice, and I know from Allah what you know not.

7:63 Do you wonder that a reminder has come to you from your Lord through a man from among you, that he may warn you and that you may guard against evil, and that mercy may be shown to you?

7:64 But they called him a liar, so We delivered him and those with him in the ark, and We drowned those who rejected Our messages. Surely they were a blind people!

7:65 And to Ad (We sent) their brother Hud. He said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no god other than Him. Will you not then guard against evil?

7:66 The chiefs of those who disbelieved from among his people said: Certainly we see thee in folly, and we certainly think thee to be of the liars.

7:67 He said: O my people, there is no folly in me, but I am a messenger of the Lord of the worlds.

7:68 I deliver to you the messages of my Lord and I am a faithful adviser to you.

7:69 Do you wonder that a reminder has come to you from your Lord through a man from among you that he may warn you? And remember when He made you successors after Noah's people and increased you in excellence of make. So remember the bounties of Allah, that you may be successful.

7:70 They said: Hast thou come to us that we may serve Allah alone, and give up that which our fathers used to serve? Then bring to us what thou threatenest us with, if thou art of the truthful.

7:71 He said: Indeed uncleanness and wrath from your Lord have lighted upon you. Do you dispute with me about names which you and your fathers have named? Allah has not sent any authority for them. Wait, then; I too with you am of those who wait.

7:72 So We delivered him and those with him by mercy from Us, and We cut off the roots of those who rejected Our messages and were not believers.

7:73 And to Thamud (We sent) their brother Salih. He said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no god other than Him. Clear proof has indeed come to you from your Lord. This is Allah's she-camel — a sign for you — so leave her alone to pasture in Allah's earth, and do her no harm, lest painful chastisement overtake you.

7:74 And remember when He made you successors after Ad and settled you in the land — you make mansions on its plains and hew out houses in the mountains. So remember Allah's bounties and act not corruptly in the land, making mischief.

7:75 The arrogant chiefs of his people said to those who were weak, to those who believed from among them: Do you know that Salih is one sent by his Lord? They said: Surely we are believers in that wherewith he has been sent.

7:76 Those who were haughty said: Surely we are disbelievers in that which you believe.

7:77 Then they hamstrung the she-camel and revolted against their Lord's commandment, and said: O Salih, bring us that with which thou threatenest us, if thou art of the messengers.

7:78 So the earthquake seized them, and they were motionless bodies in their abodes.

7:79 So he turned away from them and said: O my people, I delivered to you the message of my Lord and gave you good advice, but you love not good advisers.

7:80 And (We sent) Lot, when he said to his people: Do you commit an abomination which no one in the world did before you?

7:81 Surely you come to males with lust instead of females. Nay, you are a people exceeding bounds.

7:82 And the answer of his people was no other than that they said: Turn them out of your town; surely they are a people who aspire to purity!

7:83 So We delivered him and his followers, except his wife — she was of those who remained behind.

7:84 And We rained upon them a rain. See, then, what was the end of the guilty!

7:85 And to Midian (We sent) their brother ShuAib. He said: O my people, serve Allah, you have no god other than Him. Clear proof indeed has come to you from your Lord, so give full measure and weight and diminish not to men their things, and make not mischief in the land after its reform. This is better for you, if you are believers.

7:86 And lie not in wait on every road, threatening and turning away from Allah's way him who believes in Him and seeking to make it crooked. And remember when you were few, then He multiplied you, and see what was the end of the mischief-makers!

7:87 And if there is a party of you who believe in that wherewith I am sent and another party who believe not, then wait patiently till Allah judges between us; and He is the Best of Judges.

7:88 The arrogant chiefs of his people said: We will certainly turn thee out O ShuAib, and those who believe with thee from our town, or you shall come back to our religion. He said: Even though we dislike (it)?

7:89 Indeed we should have forged a lie against Allah, if we go back to your religion after Allah has delivered us from it. And it is not for us to go back to it, unless Allah our Lord please. Our Lord comprehends all things in His knowledge. In Allah do we trust. Our Lord, decide between us and our people with truth, and Thou art the Best of Deciders.

7:90 And the chiefs of his people, who disbelieved, said: If you follow ShuAib, you are surely losers.

7:91 So the earthquake overtook them, and they were motionless bodies in their abode —

7:92 Those who called ShuAib a liar were as though they had never dwelt therein those who called ShuAib a liar, they were the losers.

7:93 So he turned away from them and said: O my people, indeed I delivered to you the messages of my Lord and I gave you good advice; how, then, should I be sorry for a disbelieving people?

7:94 And We did not send a prophet to a town but We seized its people with distress and affliction that they might humble themselves.

7:95 Then We changed the evil for good, till they became affluent and said: Distress and happiness did indeed touch our fathers. So We took them by surprise while they perceived not.

7:96 And if the people of the towns had believed and kept their duty, We would certainly have opened for them blessings from the heavens and the earth. But they rejected, so We seized them for what they earned.

7:97 Are the people of the towns, then, secure from Our punishment coming to them by night while they sleep?

7:98 Or, are the people of the towns secure from Our punishment coming to them in the morning while they play?

7:99 Are they secure from Allah's plan? But none feels secure from Allah's plan except the people who perish.

7:100 Is it not dear to those who inherit the earth after its (former) residents that, if We please, We would afflict them for their sins, and seal their hearts so they would not hear?

7:101 Such were the towns some of whose news We have related to thee. And certainly their messengers came to them with clear arguments, but they would not believe what they had rejected before. Thus does Allah seal the hearts of the disbelievers.

7:102 And We found not in most of them (faithfulness to) covenant; and We found most of them to be transgressors.

7:103 Then, after them, We sent Moses with Our messages to Pharaoh and his chiefs, but they disbelieved them. See, then, what was the end of the mischief-makers!

7:104 And Moses said: O Pharaoh, surely I am a messenger from the Lord of the worlds,

7:105 Worthy of not saying anything about Allah except the truth. I have come to you indeed with clear proof from your Lord, so let the Children of Israel go with me.

7:106 He said: If thou hast come with a sign, produce it, if thou art truthful.

7:107 So he threw his rod, then lo! it was a serpent manifest,

7:108 And he drew forth his hand, and lo! it was white to the beholders.

7:109 The chiefs of Pharaoh's people said: Surely this is a skilful enchanter!

7:110 He intends to turn you out of your land. What do you advise?

7:111 They said: Put him off and his brother, and send summoners into the cities,

7:112 To bring to thee every skilful enchanter.

7:113 And the enchanters came to Pharaoh, saying: We must surely have a reward if we prevail.

7:114 He said: Yes, and you shall certainly be of those who are near (to me).

7:115 They said: O Moses, wilt thou cast, or shall we (be the first to) cast?

7:116 He said: Cast. So when they cast, they deceived the people's eyes and overawed them, and they produced a mighty enchantment.

7:117 And We revealed to Moses: Cast thy rod. Then lo! it swallowed up their lies.

7:118 So the truth was established, and that which they did became null.

7:119 There they were vanquished, and they went back abased.

7:120 And the enchanters fell down prostrate —

7:121 They said: We believe in the Lord of the worlds,

7:122 The Lord of Moses and Aaron.

7:123 Pharaoh said: You believe in Him before I give you permission! Surely this is a plot which you have plotted in the city, to turn out of it its people, but you shall know!

7:124 I shall certainly cut off your hands and your feet on opposite sides, then I shall crucify you all together

7:125 They said: Surely to our Lord do we return.

7:126 And thou takest revenge on us only because we believed in the messages of our Lord when they came to us. Our Lord, pour out on us patience and cause us to die in submission. (to Thee!)

7:127 And the chiefs of Pharaoh's people said: Wilt thou leave Moses and his people to make mischief in the land and forsake thee and thy gods? He said: We will slay their sons and spare their women, and surely we are dominant over them.

7:128 Moses said to his people: Ask help from Allah and be patient. Surely the land is Allah's — He gives it for an inheritance to such of His servants as He pleases. And the end is for those who keep their duty.

7:129 They said: We were persecuted before thou camest to us and since thou hast come to us. He said: It may be that your Lord will destroy your enemy and make you rulers in the land, then He will see how you act.

7:130 And certainly We overtook Pharaoh's people with droughts and diminution of fruits that they might be mindful.

7:131 But when good befell them they said: This is due to us. And when evil afflicted them, they attributed it to the ill-luck of Moses and those with him. Surely their evil fortune is only from Allah, but most of them know not.

7:132 And they said: Whatever sign thou mayest bring to us to charm us therewith we shall not believe in thee.

7:133 So We sent upon them widespread death, and the locusts and the lice and the frogs and the blood — clear signs. But they behaved haughtily and they were a guilty people.

7:134 And when the plague fell upon them, they said: O Moses, pray for us to thy Lord as He has made promise with thee. If thou remove the plague from us, we will certainly believe in thee and will let the Children of Israel go with thee.

7:135 But when We removed the plague from them till a term which they should attain, lo they broke (their promise).

7:136 So We exacted retribution from them and drowned them in the sea, because they rejected Our signs and were heedless of them.

7:137 And We made the people who were deemed weak to inherit the eastern lands and the western ones which We had blessed. And the good word of thy Lord was fulfilled in the Children of Israel because of their patience. And We destroyed what Pharaoh and his people had wrought and what they had built.

7:138 And We took the Children of Israel across the sea. Then they came to a people who were devoted to their idols. They said: O Moses, make for us a god as they have gods. He said: Surely you are an ignorant people!

7:139 (As to) these, that wherein they are engaged shall be destroyed and that which they do is vain.

7:140 He said: Shall I seek for you a god other than Allah, while He has made you excel (all) created things?

7:141 And when We delivered you from Pharaoh's people, who subjected you to severe torment, killing your sons and sparing your women. And therein was a great trial from your Lord.

7:142 And We appointed for Moses thirty nights, and completed them with ten, so the appointed time of his Lord was complete forty nights. And Moses said to his brother Aaron: Take my place among my people, and act well and follow not the way of the mischief-makers.

7:143 And when Moses came at Our appointed time and his Lord spoke to him, he said: My Lord, show me (Thyself) so that I may look at Thee. He said: Thou canst not see Me; but look at the mountain; if it remains firm in its place, then wilt thou see Me. So when his Lord manifested His glory to the mountain, He made it crumble and Moses fell down in a swoon. Then when he recovered, he said: Glory be to Thee! I turn to Thee, and I am the first of the believers.

7:144 He said: O Moses, surely I have chosen thee above the people by My messages and My words. So take hold of what I give thee and he of the grateful.

7:145 And We ordained for him in the tablets admonition of every kind and clear explanation of all things. So take hold of them with firmness and enjoin thy people to take hold of what is best thereof. I shall show you the abode of the transgressors.

7:146 I shall turn away from My messages those who are unjustly proud in the earth. And if they see every sign, they will not believe in it; and if they see the way of rectitude, they take it not for a way and if they see the way of error, they take it for a way. This is because they reject Our messages and are heedless of them.

7:147 And those who reject Our messages and the meeting of the Hereafter their deeds are fruitless. Can they be rewarded except for what they do?

7:148 And Moses' people made of their ornaments a calf after him — a (lifeless) body, having a lowing sound. Could they not see that it spoke not to them, nor guided them in the way? They took it (for worship) and they were unjust.

7:149 And when they repented and saw that they had gone astray, they said: If our Lord have not mercy on us and forgive us, we shall certainly be of the losers.

7:150 And when Moses returned to his people, wrathful, grieved, he said Evil is that which you have done after me! Did you hasten on the judgement of your Lord? And he threw down the tablets and seized his brother by the head, dragging him towards him. He said: Son of my mother, the people reckoned me weak and had well-nigh slain me. So make not the enemies to rejoice over me and count me not among the unjust people.

7:151 He said: My Lord, forgive me and my brother, and admit us to Thy mercy, and Thou art the Most Merciful of those who show mercy.

7:152 Those who took the calf (for a god) — wrath from their Lord, and disgrace in this world's life, will surely overtake them. And thus do We recompense those who invent lies.

7:153 And those who do evil deeds, then repent after that and believe — thy Lord after that is surely Forgiving, Merciful.

7:154 And when Moses' anger calmed down, he took up the tablets; and in the writing thereof was guidance and mercy for those who fear their Lord.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

7:155 And Moses chose of his people seventy men for Our appointment. So when the earthquake overtook them, he said: My Lord, if Thou hadst pleased, Thou hadst destroyed them before and myself (too). Wilt Thou destroy us for that which the foolish among us have done? It is naught but Thy trial. Thou causest to perish thereby whom Thou pleasest and guidest whom Thou pleasest. Thou art our Protector, so forgive us and have mercy on us, and Thou art the Best of those who forgive.

7:156 And ordain for us good in this world's life and in the Hereafter, for surely we turn to Thee. He said: I afflict with My chastisement whom I please, and My mercy encompasses all things. So I ordain it for those who keep their duty and pay the poor-rate, and those who believe in Our messages —

7:157 Those who follow the Messenger-Prophet, the [Ummi] whom they find mentioned in the Torah and the Gospel. He enjoins them good and forbids them evil, and makes lawful to them the good things and prohibits for them impure things, and removes from them their burden and the shackles which were on them. So those who believe in him and honour him and help him, and follow the light which has been sent down with him — these are the successful.

7:158 Say: O mankind, surely I am the Messenger of Allah to you all, of Him, Whose is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. There is no god but He. He gives life and causes death. So believe in Allah and His Messenger, the [Ummi] Prophet who believes in Allah and His words, and follow him so that you may be guided aright.

7:159 And of Moses' people is a party who guide with truth, and therewith they do justice.

7:160 And We divided them into twelve tribes, as nations. And We revealed to Moses when his people asked him for water: Strike the rock with thy staff; so out flowed from it twelve springs. Each tribe knew its drinking-place. And We made the clouds to give shade over them and We sent to them manna and quails. Eat of the good things We have given you. And they did not do Us any harm, but they wronged themselves.

7:161 And when it was said to them: Dwell in this town and eat from it whence you wish, and make petition for forgiveness, and enter the gate submissively, We shall forgive you your wrongs. We shall give more to the doers of good.

7:162 But those who were unjust among them changed it for a word other than that which they were told, so We sent upon them a pestilence from heaven for their wrongdoing.

7:163* And ask them about the town which stood by the sea. When they violated the Sabbath, when their fish came to them on their Sabbath day on the surface, and when it was not their Sabbath they came not to them. Thus did We try them because they transgressed.

7:164* And when a party of them said: Why preach you to a people whom Allah would destroy or whom He would chastise with a severe chastisement? They said: To be free from blame before your Lord, and that haply they may guard against evil.

7:165* So when they neglected that whereof they had been reminded, We delivered those who forbade evil and We overtook those who were iniquitous with an evil chastisement because they transgressed.

7:166* So when they revoltingly persisted in that which they had been forbidden, We said to them: Be (as) apes, despised and hated.

7:167* And when thy Lord declared that He would send against them to the day of Resurrection those who would subject them to severe torment. Surely thy Lord is Quick in requiting; and surely He is Forgiving, Merciful.

7:168* And We divided them in the earth into parties — some of them are righteous and some of them are other-wise. And We tried them with blessings and misfortunes that they might turn.

7:169* Then after them came an evil posterity who inherited the Book, taking the frail goods of this low life and saying: It will be forgiven us. And if the like good came to them, they would take it (too). Was not a promise taken from them in the Book that they would not speak anything about Allah but the truth? And they study what is in it. And the abode of the Hereafter is better for those who keep their duty. Do you not then understand?

7:170* And as for those who hold fast by the Book and keep up prayer — surely We waste not the reward of the reformers.

7:171 And when We shook the mountain over them as if it were a covering, and they thought that it was going to fall down upon them: Hold on firmly that which We have given you, and be mindful of that which is in it, so that you may guard against evil.

7:172 And when thy Lord brought forth from the children of Adam, from their loins, their descendants, and made them bear witness about themselves: Am I not your Lord? They said: Yes; we bear witness. Lest you should say on the day of Resurrection: We were unaware of this,

7:173 Or (lest) you should say: Only our fathers ascribed partners (to Allah) before (us), and we were (their) descendants after them. Wilt Thou destroy us for what liars did?

7:174 And thus do We make the messages clear, and that haply they may return.

7:175 And recite to them the news of him to whom We give Our messages, but he withdraws himself from them, so the devil follows him up, and he is of those who perish.

7:176 And if We had pleased, We would have exalted him thereby; but he clings to the earth and follows his low desire. His parable is as the parable of the dog if thou drive him away, he lolls out his tongue, and if thou leave him alone, he lolls out his tongue. Such is the parable of the people who reject Our messages. So relate the narrative that they may reflect.

7:177 Evil is the likeness of the people who reject Our messages and wrong their own souls.

7:178 He whom Allah guides is on the right way; and he whom He leaves in error — they are the losers.

7:179 And certainly We have created for hell many of the jinn and the men — they have hearts wherewith they understand not, and they have eyes wherewith they see not, and they have ears wherewith they hear not. They are as cattle; nay, they are more astray. These are the heedless ones.

7:180 And Allah's are the best names, so call on Him thereby and leave alone those who violate the sanctity of His names. They will be recompensed for what they do.

7:181 And of those whom We have created is a community who guide with the truth and therewith do justice.

7:182 And those who reject Our messages — We lead them (to destruction) step by step from whence they know not.

7:183 And I grant them respite. Surely My scheme is effective.

7:184 Do they not reflect (that) there is no madness in their companion? He is only a plain warner.

7:185 Do they not consider the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and what things Allah has created, and that it may be that their doom has drawn nigh? In what announcement after this will they then believe?

7:186 Whomsoever Allah leaves in error, there is no guide for him. And He leaves them alone in their inordinacy, blindly wandering on.

7:187 They ask thee about the Hour, when will it come to pass? Say: The knowledge thereof is with my Lord only. None but He will manifest it at its time. It is momentous in the heavens and the earth. It will not come to you but of a sudden. They ask thee as if thou were solicitous about it. Say: Its knowledge is with Allah only, but most people know not.

7:188 Say: I control not benefit or harm for myself except as Allah please. And had I known the unseen, I should have much of good, and no evil would touch me. I am but a warner and the giver of good news to a people who believe.

7:189 He it is Who created you from a single soul, and of the same did He make his mate, that he might find comfort in her. So when he covers her she bears a light burden, then moves about with it. Then when it grows heavy, they both call upon Allah, their Lord: If Thou givest us a good one, we shall certainly be of the grateful.

7:190 But when He gives them a good one, they set up with Him associates in that which He has given them. High is Allah above what they associate (with Him).

7:191 Do they associate (with Him) that which has created naught, while they are themselves created?

7:192 And they cannot give them help, nor can they help themselves.

7:193 And if you invite them to guidance, they will not follow you. It is the same to you whether you invite them or you are silent.

7:194 Those whom you call on besides Allah are slaves like yourselves — call on them, then let them answer you, if you are truthful.

7:195 Have they feet with which they walk, or have they hands with which they hold, or have they eyes with which they see, or have they ears with which they hear? Say: Call upon your associate-gods then plot against me and give me no respite.

7:196 Surely my Friend is Allah, Who revealed the Book, and He befriends the righteous.

7:197 And those whom you call upon besides Him are not able to help you, nor can they help themselves.

7:198 And if you invite them to guidance, they hear not and thou seest them looking towards thee, yet they see not.

7:199 Take to forgiveness and enjoin good and turn away from the ignorant.

7:200 And if a false imputation from the devil afflict thee, seek refuge in Allah. Surely He is Hearing, Knowing.

7:201 Those who guard against evil, when a visitation from the devil afflicts them, they become mindful, then lo they see.

7:202 And their brethren increase them in error, then they cease not.

7:203 And when thou bringest them not a sign, they say Why dost thou not demand it? Say I follow only that which is revealed to me from my Lord. These are clear proofs from your Lord and a guidance and a mercy for a people who believe.

7:204 And when the Koran is recited, listen to it and remain silent, that mercy may be shown to you.

7:205 And remember thy Lord within thyself humbly and fearing, and in a voice not loud, in the morning and the evening, and be not of the heedless.

7:206 Surely those who are with thy Lord are not too proud to serve Him, and they glorify Him and prostrate themselves before Him.

KORAN CHAPTER 88 / Sura 46

The Sandhills / Al-Ahqaf

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

46:1 Beneficent God!

46:2 The revelation of the Book is from Allah, the Mighty, the Wise.

46:3 We created not the heavens and the earth and all between them save with truth and for an appointed term. And those who disbelieve turn away from that whereof they are warned.

46:4 Say Have you considered that which you invoke besides Allah? Show me what they have created of the earth, or have they a share in the heavens? Bring me a Book before this or any relics of knowledge, if you are truthful.

46:5 And who is in greater error than he who invokes besides Allah such as answer him not till the day of Resurrection, and they are heedless of their call?

46:6 And when men are gathered together, they will be their enemies, and will deny their worshipping (them).

46:7 And when Our clear messages are recited to them, those who disbelieve say of the Truth when it comes to them: This is clear enchantment.

46:8 Nay, they say: He has forged it. Say: If I have forged it, you control naught for me from Allah. He knows best what you utter concerning it. He is enough as a witness between me and you. And He is the Forgiving, the Merciful.

46:9 Say: I am nor the first of the messengers, and I know not what will be done with me or with you. I follow naught but that which is revealed to me, and I am but a plain warner.

46:10* Say: See you if it is from Allah, and you disbelieve in it, and a witness from among the Children of Israel has borne witness of one like him, so he believed, while you are big with pride. Surely Allah guides not the iniquitous people.

46:11 And those who disbelieve say of those who believe: If it had been a good, they would not have attained it before us. And as they are not guided thereby, they say: It is an old lie.

46:12 And before it was the Book of Moses, a guide and a mercy. And this is a Book verifying (it) in the Arabic language, that it may warn those who do wrong, and as good news for the doers of good.

46:13 Surely those who say, Our Lord is Allah, then continue on the right way, on them is no fear, nor shall they grieve.

46:14 These are the owners of the Garden, abiding therein — a reward for what they did.

46:15* And We have enjoined on man the doing of good to his parents. His mother bears him with trouble and she brings him forth in pain. And the bearing of him and the weaning of him is thirty months. Till, when he attains his maturity and reaches forty years, he says: My Lord, grant me that I may give thanks for Thy favour, which Thou hast bestowed on me and on my parents, and that I may do good which pleases Thee; and be good to me in respect of my offspring. Truly I turn to Thee, and truly I am of those who submit.

46:16 These are they from whom We accept the best of what they do and pass by their evil deeds — among the owners of the Garden. A promise of truth, which they were promised.

46:17 And he who says to his parents: Fie on you! Do you threaten me that I shall be brought forth, when generations have passed away before me? And they both call for Allah's aid Woe to thee! Believe; surely the promise of Allah is true. But he says This is nothing but stories of the ancients.

46:18 These are they against whom the word proves true, among nations of the jinn and the men that have passed away before them. Surely they are losers.

46:19 And for all are degrees according to what they do, and that He may pay them for their deeds and they will not be wronged.

46:20 And on the day when those who disbelieve are brought before the Fire: You did away with your good things in your life of the world and you enjoyed them; so this day you are rewarded with the chastisement of abasement because you were unjustly proud in the land and because you transgressed.

46:21 And mention the brother of Ad; when he warned his people in the sandy plains — and warners indeed came before him and after him — saying: Serve none but Allah. Surely I fear for you the chastisement of a grievous day.

46:22 They said: Hast thou come to us to turn us away from our gods? Then bring us that with which thou threatenest us, if thou art truthful.

46:23 He said: The knowledge is only with Allah, and I deliver to you that wherewith I am sent, but I see you are an ignorant people.

46:24 So when they saw it — a cloud advancing towards their valleys, they said: This is a cloud bringing us rain. Nay, it is that which you sought to hasten, a wind wherein is painful chastisement, 46:25 Destroying every thing by the command of its Lord. So at dawn naught could be seen except their dwellings. Thus do We reward the guilty people.

46:26 And certainly We had given them power in matters in which We have not empowered you, and We had given them ears and eyes and hearts, but neither their ears, nor their eyes, nor their hearts availed them aught, since they 'denied the messages of Allah, and that which they mocked at encompassed them.

46:27 And certainly We destroyed the towns round about you, and We repeat the messages that they may turn.

46:28 Then why did those whom they took for gods besides Allah to draw (them) nigh (to Rim) not help them? Nay, they failed them. And this was their lie and what they forged.

46:29 And when We turned towards thee a party of the jinn, who listened to the Koran; so when they were in its presence, they said: Be silent. Then when it was finished, they turned back to their people warning (them).

46:30 They said: O our people, we have heard a Book revealed after Moses, verifying that which is before it, guiding to the truth and to a right path.

46:31 O our people, accept the Inviter to Allah and believe in Him. He will forgive you some of your sins and protect you from a painful chastisement.

46:32 And whoever accepts not the Inviter to Allah, he cannot escape in the earth, nor has he protectors besides Him. These are in manifest error.

46:33 See they not that Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth and was not tired by their creation, is able to give life to the dead? Aye, He is surely Possessor of power over all things.

46:34 And on the day when those who disbelieve are brought before the Fire: Is it not true? They will say Yea, by our Lord He will say: Then taste the chastisement, because you disbelieved.

46:35* So have patience, as men of resolution, the messengers, had patience, and seek not to hasten on for them (their doom). On the day when they see that which they are promised, (it will be) as if they had not tarried save an hour of the day. (Thine is) to deliver. Shall then any be destroyed save the transgressing people?

KORAN CHAPTER 89 / Sura 6

The Cattle / Al-Anam

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

6:1 Praise be to Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth, and made darkness and light. Yet those who disbelieve set up equals to their Lord.

6:2 He it is Who created you from clay, then He decreed a term. And there is a term named with Him; still you doubt.

6:3 And He is Allah in the heavens and in the earth. He knows your secret (thoughts) and your open (words), and He knows what you earn.

6:4 And there comes not to them any message of the messages of their Lord but they turn away from it.

6:5 So they rejected the truth when it came to them, but soon will come to them the news of that which they mocked.

6:6 See they not how many a generation We destroyed before them, whom We had established in the earth as We have not established you, and We sent the clouds pouring abundant rain on them, and We made the rivers flow beneath them? Then We destroyed them for their sins, and raised up after them another generation.

6:7 And if We had sent down to thee a writing on paper, then they had touched it with their hands, those who disbelieve would have said: This is nothing but clear enchantment.

6:8 And they say: Why has not an angel been sent down to him? And if We send down an angel, the matter would be decided and then they would not be respited.

6:9 And if We had made him an angel, We would certainly have made him a man, and (thus) made confused to them what they confuse.

6:10 And certainly messengers before thee were derided, but that which they derided encompassed those of them who scoffed.

6:11 Say: Travel in the land, then see what was the end of the rejectors.

6:12 Say: To whom belongs whatever is in the heavens and the earth? Say: To Allah. He has ordained mercy on Himself. He will certainly gather you on the Resurrection day — there is no doubt about it. Those who have lost their souls will not believe.

6:13 And to Him belongs whatever dwells in the night and the day. And He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

6:14 Say: Shall I take for a friend other than Allah, the Originator of the heavens and the earth, and He feeds and is not fed? Say: I am commanded to be the first of those who submit. And be thou not of the polytheists.

6:15 Say: Surely I fear, if I disobey my Lord, the chastisement of a grievous day.

6:16 He from whom it is averted on that day, Allah indeed has had mercy on him. And this is a manifest achievement.

6:17 And if Allah touch thee with affliction, there is none to remove it but He. And if He touch thee with good, He is Possessor of power over all things.

6:18 And He is the Supreme, above His servants. And He is the Wise, the Aware.

6:19 Say: What thing is the weightiest in testimony? Say: Allah is witness between you and me. And this Koran has been revealed to me that with it I may warn you and whomsoever it reaches. Do you really bear witness that there are other gods with Allah? Say: I bear not witness. Say: He is only One God, and surely I am innocent of that which you set up (with Him).

6:20* Those whom We have given the Book recognize him as they recognize their sons. Those who have lost their souls — they will not believe.

6:21 And who is more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah or gives the lie to His messages? Surely the wrongdoers will not be successful.

6:22 And on the day We gather them all together, then We shall say to those who set up gods (with Allah): Where are your associate-gods whom you asserted?

6:23* Then their excuse would be nothing but that they would say: By Allah, our Lord! we were not polytheists.

6:24 See how they lie against their own souls, and that which they forged shall fail them!

6:25 And of them is he who hearkens to thee and We have cast veils over their hearts so that they understand it not and a deafness into their ears. And (even) if they see every sign they will not believe in it. So much so that when they come to thee they only dispute with thee — those who disbelieve say: This is naught but stories of the ancients.

6:26 And they forbid (others) from it, and they keep away from it; and they ruin none but their own souls while they perceive not.

6:27 And if thou couldst see when they are made to stand before the Fire, and say: Would that we were sent back! We would not reject the messages of our Lord but would be of the believers.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

6:28 Nay, that which they concealed before will become manifest to them. And if they were sent back, they would certainly go back to that which they are forbidden, and surely they are liars.

6:29 And they say: There is nothing but our life of this world and we shall not be raised again.

6:30 And if thou couldst see when they are made to stand before their Lord! He will say: Is not this the Truth? They will say: Yea, by our Lord! He will say: Taste then the chastisement because you disbelieved.

* * *

6:31. They are losers indeed who reject the meeting with Allah, until when the hour comes upon them suddenly, they will say: O our grief for out neglecting it! And they bear their burdens on their backs. Now surely evil is that which they bear!

6:32 And this world's life is naught but a play and an idle sport. And certainly the abode of the Hereafter is better for those who keep their duty. Do you not then understand?

6:33 We know indeed that what they say grieves thee, for surely they give not thee the lie, but the wrongdoers give the lie to Allah's messages.

6:34 And messengers indeed were rejected before thee, but they were patient when rejected and persecuted, until Our help came to them. And there is none to change the words of Allah. And there has already come to thee some information about the messengers.

6:35 And if their turning away is hard on thee, then, if thou canst, seek an opening into the earth or a ladder to heaven, to bring them a sign! And if Allah pleased, He would certainly have gathered them all to guidance, so be not of the ignorant.

6:36 Only those accept who listen. And as for the dead, Allah will raise them, then to Him they will be returned.

6:37 And they say: Why has not a sign been sent down to him from his Lord? Say: Surely Allah is Able to send down a sign, but most of them know not?

6:38 And there is no animal in the earth, nor a bird that flies on its two wings, but (they are) communities like yourselves. We have not neglected anything in the Book. Then to their Lord will they be gathered.

6:39 And those who reject Our messages are deaf and dumb, in darkness. Whom Allah pleases He leaves in error. And whom He pleases He places on the right way.

6:40 Say: See, if the chastisement of Allah overtake you or the hour come upon you, will you call on others than Allah, if you are truthful?

6:41 Nay, Him you call upon, so He removes that for which you pray, if He pleases, and you forget what you set up (with Him).

6:42 And indeed We sent (messengers) to nations before thee then We seized them with distress and affliction that they might humble themselves.

6:43 Yet why did they not, when Our punishment came to them, humble themselves? But their hearts hardened and the devil made all that they did seem fair to them.

6:44 Then, when they neglected that with which they had been admonished, We opened for them the gates of all things. Until, when they rejoiced in that which they were given; We seized them suddenly; then lo! they were in utter despair.

6:45 So the roots of the people who did wrong were cut off. And praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

6:46 Say: Have you considered that if Allah should take away your hearing and your sight and seal your hearts, who is the god besides Allah that can bring it to you? See how We repeat the messages yet they turn away!

6:47 Say: See, if the chastisement of Allah should overtake you suddenly or openly, will any be destroyed but the wrongdoing people?

6:48 And We send not messengers but as bearers of good news and warners then whoever believes and acts aright, they shall have no fear, nor shall they grieve.

6:49 And as for those who reject Our messages, chastisement will afflict them because they transgressed.

6:50 Say: I say not to you, I have with me the treasures of Allah, nor do I know the unseen, nor do I say to you that I am an angel; I follow only that which is revealed to me. Say: Are the blind and the seeing alike? Do you not then reflect?

6:51 And warn with it those who fear that they will be gathered to their Lord there is no protector for them, nor any intercessor besides Him so that they may keep their duty.

6:52 And drive not away those who call upon their Lord, morning and evening, desiring only His pleasure. Neither art thou accountable for them in aught, nor are they accountable for thee in aught, that thou shouldst drive them away and thus be of the wrongdoers.

6:53 And thus do We try some of them by others so that they say: Are these they upon whom Allah has conferred benefit from among us? Does not Allah best know the grateful?

6:54 And when those who believe in Our messages come to thee say: Peace be to you, your Lord has ordained mercy on Himself, (so) that if any one of you does evil in ignorance, then turns after that and acts aright, then He is Forgiving, Merciful.

6:55 And thus do We make distinct the messages and so that the way of the guilty may become clear.

6:56 Say: I am forbidden to serve those whom you call upon besides Allah. Say: I follow not your low desires, for then indeed I should go astray and should not be of the guided ones.

6:57 Say: Surely I have manifest proof from my Lord and you call it a lie. I have not with me that which you would hasten. The judgement is only Allah's. He relates the truth and He is the Best of deciders.

6:58 Say: If that which you would hasten were with me, the matter would have certainly been decided between you and me. And Allah best knows the wrongdoers.

6:59 And with Him are the treasures of the unseen — none knows them but He. And He knows what is in the land and the sea. And there falls not a leaf but He knows it, nor is there a grain in the darkness of the earth, nor anything green or dry, but (it is all) in a clear book.

6:60 And He it is Who takes your souls at night, and He knows what you earn by day, then He raises you up therein that an appointed term may be fulfilled. Then to Him is your return, then He will inform you of what you did.

* * *

6:61 And He is the Supreme above His servants, and He sends keepers over you; until when death comes to one of you, Our messengers cause him to die, and they are not remiss.

6:62 Then are they sent back to Allah, their Master, the True one. Now surely His is the judgement and He is Swiftest in taking account

6:63 Say: Who is it that delivers you from the calamities of the land and the sea? (when) you call upon Him, in humility and in secret: If He deliver us from this, we will certainly be of the grateful ones.

6:64 Say: Allah delivers you from this and from every distress, yet you set up others (with Him).

6:65 Say: He has the power to send on you a chastisement from above you or from beneath your feet, or to throw you into confusion, (making you) of different parties, and make some of you taste the violence of others. See how We repeat the messages that they may understand!

6:66 And thy people call it a lie and it is the Truth. Say: I am not put in charge of you.

6:67 For every prophecy is a term, and you will soon come to know (it).

6:68 And when thou seest those who talk nonsense about Our messages, withdraw from them until they enter into some other discourse. And if the devil cause thee to forget, then sit not after recollection with the unjust people.

6:69 And those who keep their duty are not accountable for them in aught but (theirs) is only to remind; haply they may guard against evil.

6:70 And leave those who take their religion for a play and an idle sport, and whom this world's life has deceived, and remind (men) hereby lest a soul be destroyed for what it has earned. It has besides Allah no friend nor intercessor, and though it offer every compensation, it will not be accepted from it. Those are they who are destroyed for what they earn. For them is a drink of boiling water and a painful chastisement, because they disbelieved.

* * *

6:71 Say: Shall we call, besides Allah, on that which profits us not nor harms us, and shall we be turned back on our heels after Allah has guided us? Like one whom the devils cause to follow his low desires, in bewilderment in the earth, he has companions who call him to the right way (saying), Come to us. Say: Surely the guidance of Allah, that is the (true) guidance. And we are commanded to submit to the Lord of the worlds:

6:72 And that you should keep up prayer and keep your duty to Him. And He it is to Whom you shall be gathered.

6:73 And He it is Who created the heavens and the earth with truth. And when He says, Be, it is.

6:74 His word is the truth and His is the kingdom on the day when the trumpet is blown. The Knower of the unseen and the seen; and He is the Wise, the Aware.

6:75 And when Abraham said to his sire, Azar: Takest thou idols for gods? Surely I see thee and thy people in manifest error.

6:76 And thus did We show Abraham the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and that he might be of those having certainty.

6:77 So when the night overshadowed him, he saw a star. He said: Is this my Lord? So when it set, he said I love not the setting ones.

6:78 Then when he saw the moon rising, he said: Is this my Lord? So when it set, he said: If my Lord had not guided me, I should certainly be of the erring people.

6:79 Then when he saw the sun rising, he said: Is this my Lord? Is this the greatest? So when it set, he said: O my people, I am clear of what you set up (with Allah).

6:80 Surely I have turned myself, being upright, wholly to Him Who originated the heavens and the earth, and I am not of the polytheists.

6:81 And his people disputed with him. He said: Do you dispute with me respecting Allah and He has guided me indeed? And I fear not in any way those that you set up with Him, unless my Lord please. My Lord comprehends all things in His knowledge. Will you not then mind?

6:82 And how should I fear what you have set up (with Him), while you fear not to set up with Allah that for which He has sent down to you no authority. Which then of the two parties is surer of security, if you know?

6:83 Those who believe and mix not up their faith with iniquity for them is security and they go aright.

* * *

6:84 And this was Our argument which We gave to Abraham against his people. We exalt in degrees whom We please. Surely thy Lord is Wise, Knowing.

6:85 And We gave him Isaac and Jacob. Each did We guide; and Noah did We guide before, and of his descendants, David and Solomon and Job and Joseph and Moses and Aaron. And thus do We reward those who do good (to others):

6:86 And Zacharias and John and Jesus and Elias; each one (of them) was of the righteous,

6:87 And Ishmael and Elisha and Jonah and Lot; and each one (of them) We made to excel the people;

6:88 And some of their fathers and their descendants and their brethren. And We chose them and guided them to the right way.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

6:89 This is Allah's guidance wherewith He guides whom He pleases of His servants. And if they bad associated others (with Him), all that they did would have been vain.

6:90 These are they to, whom We gave the Book and authority and prophecy. Therefore if these disbelieve in it, We have indeed entrusted it to a people who are not disbelievers in it.

6:91* These are they whom Allah guided, so follow their guidance. Say: I ask you not for any reward for it. It is naught but a Reminder to the nations.

6:92 And they honour not Allah with the honour due to Him, when they say: Allah has not revealed anything, to a mortal. Say: Who revealed the Book which Moses brought, a light and a guidance to men — you make it into (scattered) papers, which you show and you conceal much? And you are taught that which neither you nor your fathers knew. Say: Allah. Then leave them sporting in their idle talk.

6:93* And this is a Blessed Book We have revealed, verifying that which is before it, and that thou mayest warn the mother of the towns and those around her. And those who believe in the Hereafter believe in it, and they keep a watch over their prayers.

6:94 And who is more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah, or says, Revelation has been granted to me while nothing has been revealed to him; and he who says: I can reveal the like of that which Allah has revealed? And if thou couldst see when the wrongdoers are in the agonies of death and the angels stretch forth their hands, (saying): Yield up your souls. This day you are awarded a chastisement of disgrace because you spoke against Allah other than truth, and (because) you scorned His messages.

6:95 And certainly you have come to Us one by one as We created you at first, and you have left behind your backs what We gave you. And We see not with you your intercessors about whom you asserted that they were (Allah's) associates in respect to you. Certainly the ties between you are now cut off and that which you asserted has failed you.

6:96 Surely Allah causes the grain and the date-stone to germinate. He brings forth the living from, the dead and He is the bringer forth of the dead from the living. That is Allah. How are you then turned away!

6:97 He is the Cleaver of the daybreak; and He has made the night for rest, and the sun and the moon reckoning. That is the measuring of the Mighty, the Knowing.

6:98 And He it is Who has made the stars for you that you might follow the right way thereby in the darkness of the land and the sea. Indeed We have made plain the signs for a people who know.

6:99 And He it is Who has brought you into being from a single soul, then there is (for you) a resting-place and a repository. Indeed We have made plain the signs for a people who understand.

6:100 And He it is Who sends down water from the clouds, then We bring forth with it buds of all (plants), then We bring forth from it green (foliage), from which We produce clustered grain; and of the date-palm, of the sheaths of it, come forth clusters (of dates) within reach; and gardens of grapes and the olive and the pomegranate, alike and unlike. Look at the fruit of it when it bears fruit and the ripening of it. Surely there are signs in this for a people who believe!

6:101 And they regard the jinn to be partners with Allah, and He created them, and they falsely attribute to Him sons and daughters without knowledge. Glory be to Him, and highly exalted is He above what they ascribe (to Him)!

6:102 Wonderful Originator of the heavens and the earth How could He have a son when He has no consort? And He created everything, and He is the Knower of all things.

6:103 That is Allah, your Lord. There is no god but He; the Creator of all things; therefore serve Him, and He has charge of all things.

6:104 Vision comprehends Him not, and He comprehends (all) vision and He is the Subtle, the Aware.

6:105 Clear proofs have indeed come to you from your Lord; so whoever sees, it is for his own good; and whoever is blind, it is to his own harm. And I am not a keeper over you.

6:106 And thus do We repeat the messages; and that they may say, Thou hast studied; and that We may make it clear to a people who know.

6:107 Follow that which is revealed to thee from thy Lord — there is no god but He; and turn away from the polytheists.

6:108 And if Allah had pleased, they would not have set up others (with Him). And We have not appointed thee a keeper over them, and thou art not placed in charge of them.

6:109 And abuse not those whom they call upon besides Allah, lest, exceeding the limits, they abuse Allah through ignorance. Thus to every people have We made their deeds fair-seeming; then to their Lord is their return so He will inform them of what they did.

6:110 And they swear their strongest oaths by Allah that if a sign come to them they would certainly believe in it. Say: Signs are with Allah. And what should make you know that when they come they believe not?

6:111 And We turn their hearts and their sights, even as they did not believe in it the first time; and We leave them in their inordinacy, blindly wandering on.

6:112 And even if We send down to them the angels and the dead speak to them and We bring together all things before them, they would not believe unless Allah please, but most of them are ignorant.

6:113 And thus did We make for every prophet an enemy, the devils from among men and jinn, some of them inspiring others with gilded speech to deceive (them). And if thy Lord pleased, they would not do it, so leave them alone with what they forge —

6:114* And that the hearts of those who believe not in the Hereafter may incline thereto, and that they may be pleased with it, and that they may earn what they are earning.

6:115 Shall I then seek a judge other than Allah, when He it is Who has sent down to you the Book fully explained. And those whom We have given the Book know that it is revealed by thy Lord with truth, so be not thou of the disputers.

6:116 And the word of thy Lord has been accomplished truly and justly. There is none who can change His words; and He is the Hearer, the Knower.

6:117 And if thou obey most of those in the earth, they will lead thee astray from Allah's way. They follow naught but conjecture, and they only lie.

6:118. Surely thy Lord — He knows best who goes astray from His way, and He knows best the guided ones.

6:119 Eat, then, of that on which Allah's name has been mentioned, if you are believers in His messages.

6:120 And what reason have you that you should not eat of that on which Allah's name is mentioned, when He has already made plain to you what He has forbidden to you — excepting that which you are compelled to. And surely many lead (people) astray by their low desires through ignorance. Surely thy Lord — He best knows the transgressors.

6:121 And avoid open sins and secret ones. Surely they who earn sin will be rewarded for what they have earned.

6:122 And eat not of that on which Allah's name has not been mentioned, and that is surely a transgression. And certainly the devils inspire their friends to contend with you; and if you obey them, you will surely be polytheists.

6:123 Is he who was dead, then We raised him to life and made for him a light by which he walks among the people, like him whose likeness is that of one in darkness whence he cannot come forth? Thus their doings are made fair-seeming to the disbelievers.

6:124 And thus have We made in every town the leaders of its guilty ones, that they may make plans there in. And they plan not but against themselves, and they perceive not.

6:125 And when a message comes to them they say We will not believe till we are given the like of that which Allah's messengers are given. Allah best knows where to place His Message. Humiliation from Allah and severe chastisement will surely befall the guilty for their planning.

6:126 So whomsoever Allah intends to guide, He expands his breast for Islam, and whomsoever He intends to leave in error, he makes his breast strait (and) narrow as though he were ascending upwards. Thus does Allah lay uncleanness on those who believe not.

6:127 And this is the path of thy Lord, (a) straight (path). Indeed We have made the messages clear for a people who mind.

6:128 Theirs is the abode of peace with their Lord, and He is their Friend because of what they do.

6:129 And on the day when He will gather them all together: O assembly of jinn, you took away a great part of men. And their friends from among men will say: Our Lord, some of us profited by others and we have reached our appointed term which Thou didst appoint for us. He will say: The Fire is your abode — you shall abide therein, except as Allah please. Surely thy Lord is Wise, Knowing.

6:130 And thus do We make some of the iniquitous to befriend others on account of what they earn.

6:131 O community of jinn and men, did there not come to you messengers from among you, relating to you My messages and warning you of the meeting of this day of yours? They will say We bear witness against ourselves. And this world's life deceived them, and they will bear witness against themselves that they were disbelievers.

6:132 This is because thy Lord would not destroy towns unjustly while their people are negligent.

6:133 And for all are degrees according to their doings. And thy Lord is not heedless of what they do.

6:134 And thy Lord is the Self-sufficient One, the Lord of mercy. If He please, He may remove you, and make whom He pleases successors after you, even as He raised you up from the seed of other people.

6:135 Surely that which you are promised will come to pass, and you cannot escape (it).

6:136 Say O my people, act according to your ability, I too am acting so you will soon come to know for whom is the (good) end of the abode. Surely the wrongdoers will not succeed.

6:137 And they set apart a portion for Allah out of what He has created of tilth and cattle, and say This is for Allah — so they assert — and this for our associate-gods. Then that which is for their associate-gods reaches not Allah, and that which is for Allah reaches their associate-gods. Evil is what they judge.

6:138 And thus their associate-gods have made fair-seeming to many polytheists the killing of their children, that they may cause them to perish and obscure for them their religion. And if Allah had pleased, they would not have done it, so leave them alone with that which they forge.

6:139 And they say: Such and such cattle and crops are prohibited — none shall eat them except such as we please — so they assert — and cattle whose backs are forbidden, and cattle on which they would not mention Allah's name — forging a lie against Him. He will requite them for what they forge.

6:140 And they say: That which is in the wombs of such and such cattle is reserved for our males, and forbidden to our wives, and if it be stillborn, they are partners in it. He will reward them for their (false) attribution. Surely He is Wise, Knowing.

6:141 They are losers indeed who kill their children foolishly without knowledge, and forbid that which Allah has provided for them, forging a lie against Allah. They indeed go astray, and are not guided.

6:142 And He it is Who produces gardens, trellised and untrellised, and palms and seed-produce of which the fruits are of various sorts, and olives and pomegranates, like and unlike. Eat of its fruit when it bears fruit, and pay the due of it on the day of its reaping, and be not prodigal. Surely He loves not the prodigals;

6:143 And of the cattle (He has created) some for burden and some for slaughter. Eat of that which Allah has given you and follow not the foot-steps of the devil. Surely he is your open enemy —

6:144 Eight in pairs — of the sheep two and of the goats two. Say: Has He forbidden the two males or the two females or that which the wombs of the two females contain? Inform me with knowledge, if you are truthful;

6:145 And of the camels two and of the cows two. Say: Has He forbidden the two males or the two females or that which the wombs of the two females contain? Or were you witnesses when Allah enjoined you this? Who is then more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah to lead men astray without knowledge? Surely Allah guides not the iniquitous people.

6:146 Say, I find not in that which is revealed to me aught forbidden for an eater to eat thereof, except that it be what dies of itself, or blood poured forth, or flesh of swine — for that surely is unclean or what is a transgression, other than (the name of) Allah having been invoked on it. But whoever is driven to necessity, not desiring nor exceeding the limit, then surely thy Lord is Forgiving, Merciful.

6:147 And to those who are Jews We forbade every animal having claws, and of oxen and sheep We forbade them the fat thereof, except such as was on their backs or the entrails or what was mixed with bones. This was a punishment We gave them on account of their rebellion, and We are surely Truthful.

6:148 But if they give thee — the lie, then say: Your Lord is the Lord of all-encompassing mercy; and His punishment cannot be averted from the guilty people.

6:149 Those who are polytheists say: If Allah pleased we would not have set up (aught with Him) nor our fathers, nor would we have made anything unlawful. Thus did those before them reject (the truth) until they tasted Our punishment. Say: Have you any knowledge so you would bring it forth to us? You only follow a conjecture and you only tell lies.

6:150 Say: Then Allah's is the conclusive argument; so if He had pleased, He would have guided you all.

6:151* Say: Bring your witnesses who bear witness that Allah forbade this. If they bear witness, then do not thou bear witness with them. And follow not the low desires of those who reject Our messages and those who believe not in the Hereafter, and they make (others) equal with their Lord.

6:152* Say: Come I will recite what your Lord has forbidden to you: Associate naught with Him and do good to parents and slay not your children for (fear of) poverty — We provide for you and for them — and draw not nigh to indecencies, open or secret, and kill not the soul which Allah has made sacred except in the course of justice. This He enjoins upon you that you may understand.

6:153* And approach not the property of the orphan except in the best manner, until he attains his maturity. And give full measure and weight with equity — We impose not on any soul a duty except to the extent of its ability. And when you speak, be just, though it be (against) a relative. And fulfil Allah's covenant. This He enjoins on you that you may be mindful;

6:154 And (know) that this is My path, the right one, so follow it, and follow not (other) ways, for they will lead you away from His way. This He enjoins on you that you may keep your duty.

6:155 Again, We gave the Book to Moses to complete (Our blessings) on him who would do good, and making plain all things and a guidance and a mercy, so that they might believe in the meeting with their Lord.

6:156 And this is a Book We have revealed, full of blessings; so follow it and keep your duty that mercy may be shown to you,

6:157 Lest you should say that the Book was revealed only to two parties before us and we were truly unaware of what they read,

6:158 Or, lest you should say: If the Book had been — revealed to us, we would have been better guided than they. So indeed there has come to you clear proof from your Lord, and guidance and mercy. Who is then more unjust than he — who rejects Allah's messages and turns away from them? We reward those who turn away from Our messages with an evil chastisement because they turned away.

6:159 They wait not aught but that the angels should come to them, or that thy Lord should come, or that some of the signs of thy Lord should come. On the day when some of the signs of thy Lord come, its faith will not profit a soul which believed not before, nor earned good through its faith. Say: Wait; we too are waiting.

6:160 As for those who split up their religion and became sects, thou hast no concern with them. Their affair is only with Allah, then He will inform them of what they did.

6:161 Whoever brings a good deed will have tenfold like it, and whoever brings an evil deed, will be recompensed only with the like of it, and they shall not be wronged.

6:162 Say: As for me, my Lord has guided me to the right path — a right religion, the faith of Abraham, the upright one, and he was not of the polytheists.

6:163 Say My prayer and my sacrifice and my life and my death are surely for Allah, the Lord of the worlds —

6:164 No associate has He. And this am I commanded, and I am the first of those who submit.

6:165 Say Shall I seek a Lord other than Allah, while He is the Lord of all things? And no soul earns (evil) but against itself. Nor does a bearer of burden bear the burden of another. Then to your Lord is your return, so He will inform you of that in which you differed.

6:166 And He it is Who has made you successors in the land and exalted some of you in rank above others, that He may try you by what He has given you. Surely thy Lord is Quick in requiting (evil), and He is surely the Forgiving, the Merciful.

KORAN CHAPTER 90 / Sura 13

The Thunder / Al-Rad

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

13:1 1, Allah, am the Best Knower, the Seer. These are verses of the Book. And that which is revealed to thee from thy Lord is the Truth, but most people believe nor.

13:2 Allah is He who raised the heavens without any pillars that you can see, and He is established on the Throne of Power, and He made the sun and the moon subservient (to you). Each one runs to an appointed term. He regulates the affair, making clear the messages that you may be certain of the meeting with your Lord.

13:3 And He it is who spread the earth, and made in it firm mountains and rivers. And of all fruits He has made in it pairs, two (of every kind). He makes the night cover the day. Surely there are signs in this for a people who reflect.

13:4 And in the earth are tracts side by side, and gardens of vines, and corn, and palm-trees growing from one root and distinct roots they are watered with one water; and We make some of them to excel others in fruit. Surely there are signs in this for a people who understand.

13:5 And if thou wonderest, then wondrous is their saying: When we are dust, shall we then be raised in a new creation? These are they who disbelieve in their Lord, and these have chains on their necks, and they are the companions of the Fire; in it they will abide.

13:6 And they ask thee to hasten on the evil before the good, and indeed there have been exemplary punishments before them. And surely thy Lord is full of forgiveness for mankind notwithstanding their iniquity. And surely thy Lord is Severe in requiting.

13:7 And those who disbelieve say: Why has not a sign been sent down to him from his Lord? Thou art only a warner and for every people a guide.

13:8 Allah knows what every female beats, and that of which the wombs fall short of completion and that which they grow. And everything with Him has a measure.

13:9 The Knower of the Unseen and the seen, the Great, the Most High.

13:10 Alike (to Him) among you is he who conceals (the) word and he who speaks openly, and he who hides himself by night and (who) goes forth by day.

13:11 For him are (angels) guarding the consequences (of his deeds), before him and behind him, who guard him by Allah's command. Surely Allah changes not the condition of a people, until they change their own condition. And when Allah intends evil to a people, there is no averting it, and besides Him they have no protector.

13:12 He it is Who shows you the lightning causing feat and hope and (Who) brings up the heavy cloud.

13:13 And the thunder celebrates His praise, and the angels too for awe of Him. And He sends the thunderbolts and smites with them whom He pleases, yet they dispute concerning Allah, and He is Mighty in prowess.

13:14 To Him is due the true prayer. And those to whom they pray besides Him give them no answer, but (they are) like one who stretches forth his two hands towards water that it may reach his mouth, but it will not reach it. And the prayer of the disbelievers is only wasted.

13:15 And whoever is in the heavens and the earth makes obeisance to Allah only, willingly and unwillingly, and their shadows, too, at morn and eve.

13:16 Say: Who is the Lord of the heavens and the earth? Say: Allah. Say: Do you then take besides Him guardians who control no benefit or harm even for themselves? Say: Are the blind and the seeing alike? Or, are darkness and light equal? Or, have they set up with Allah associates who have created creation like His, so that what is created became confused to them? Say: Allah is the Creator of all things, and He is the One, the Supreme.

13:17 He sends down water from the clouds, then watercourses flow according to their measure, and the torrent bears along the swelling foam. And from that which they melt in the fire for the sake of making ornaments or apparatus arises a scum like it. Thus does Allah compare truth and falsehood. Then as for the scum, it passes away as a worthless thing; and as for that which does good to men, it carries in the earth. Thus does Allah set forth parables.

13:18 For those who respond to their Lord is good. And as for those who respond not to Him, even if they had all that is in the earth and the like thereof with it, they would certainly offer it for a ransom. As for those, theirs is an evil reckoning and their abode is hell; and evil is the resting-place.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

13:19 Is he who knows that what is revealed to thee from thy Lord is the truth like him who is blind? Only men of understanding mind —

13:20 Those who fulfil the pact of Allah, and break not the covenant,

13:21 And those who join that which Allah has bidden to be joined and have awe of their Lord, and fear the evil reckoning.

13:22 And those who are steadfast seeking the pleasure of their Lord, and keep up prayer and spend of that which We have given them, secretly and openly, and repel evil with good; for such is the (happy) issue of the abode —

13:23 Gardens of perpetuity, which they will enter along with those who do good from among their fathers and their spouses and their offspring and the angels will enter in upon them from every gate.

13:24 Peace be to you, because you were constant — how excellent is then the final Abode!

13:25 And those who break the covenant of Allah after its confirmation, and cut asunder that which Allah has ordered to be joined, and make mischief in the land, for them is the curse, and theirs is the evil end of the Abode.

13:26 Allah amplifies and straitens provision for whom He pleases. And they rejoice in this world's life. And this world's life, compared with the Hereafter, is only a temporary enjoyment.

13:27 And those who disbelieve say: Why is not a sign sent down to him by his Lord? Say: Allah leaves in error whom He pleases, and guides to Himself those who turn (to Him) —

13:28 Those who believe and whose hearts find rest in the remembrance of Allah. Now surely in Allah's remembrance do hearts find rest.

13:29 Those who believe and do good, a good final state is theirs and a goodly return.

13:30 Thus We have sent thee among a nation before which other nations have passed away, that thou mightest recite to them what We have revealed to thee, and (still) they deny the Beneficent. Say: He is my Lord, there is no god but He; in Him do I trust and to Him is my return.

13:31 And if there could be a Koran with which the mountains were made to pass away, or the earth were cloven asunder, or the dead were made to speak — nay, the commandment is wholly Allah's. Do not those who believe know that, if Allah please, He would certainly guide all the people? And as for those who disbelieve, disaster will not cease to afflict them because of what they do, or it will alight close by their abodes, until the promise of Allah come to pass. Surely Allah will not fail in (His) promise.

13:32 And messengers before thee were certainly mocked, but I gave respite to those who disbelieved, then I seized them (How awful) was then My requital!

13:33 Is, then, He Who watches every soul as to what it earns? And yet they ascribe partners to Allah! Say: Name them. Would you inform Him of that which He knows not in the earth, or of an outward saying? Rather, their plan is made fair-seeming to those who disbelieve, and they are kept back from the path. And whom Allah leaves in error, he has no guide.

13:34 For them is chastisement in this world's life, and the chastisement of the Hereafter is certainly more grievous. And they have no protector against Allah.

13:35 A parable of the Garden which is promised to those who keep their duty: Therein flow rivers. Its fruits are perpetual and its plenty. Such is the end for those who keep their duty; and the end for the disbelievers is the Fire.

13:36 And those to whom We have given the Book rejoice in that which has been revealed to thee, and of the confederates are some who deny a part of it. Say: I am commanded only to serve Allah and not associate anything with Him. To Him do I invite (you), and to Him is my return.

13:37 And thus have We revealed it, a true judgement, in Arabic. And if thou follow their low desires after that which has come to thee of knowledge, thou wouldst have against Allah no guardian nor protector.

13:38 And certainly We sent messengers before thee and appointed for them wives and children. And it is not in (the power of) a messenger to bring a sign except by Allah's permission. For every term there is an appointment.

13:39 Allah effaces what He pleases and establishes (what He pleases), and with Him is the basis of the Book.

13:40 Whether We let thee see part of that which We promise them, or cause thee to die, thine is but the delivery of the message, and Ours to call (them) to account.

13:41 See they not that We are visiting the land, curtailing it of its sides? And Allah pronounces a doom — there is no repeller of His decree. And He is Swift in calling to account.

13:42 And those before them planned indeed, but all planning is Allah's. He knows what every soul earns. And the disbelievers will come to know for whom is the (good) end of the Abode.

13:43 And those who disbelieve say: Thou art not a messenger. Say: Allah is sufficient for a witness between me and you and whoever has knowledge of the Book.'

(Although it is possible and even desirable to arrange the Koran chapters in a chronological way, it is however not easy to define the exact position of some of the verses. As their correct place is still a matter of debate among scholars, we have decided not to change the traditional places of the verses within a chapter.

*We have instead placed two asterisks right behind the verse number when scholars believe that this particular verse belongs into the Koran of Mecca. Three asterisks * * * indicate that the following verses belong to another chapter, topic, collection, or time.)*

KORAN CHAPTER 91 / Sura 2

The Cow / Al-Baqarah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

2:1 I, God, am the best knower.

2:2 This Book, there is no doubt in it, is a guide to those who keep their duty,

2:3 Who believe in the Unseen and keep up prayer and spend out of what We have given them,

2:4 And who believe in that which has been revealed to thee and that which was revealed before thee, and of the Hereafter they are sure.

2:5 These are on a right course from their Lord and these it is that are successful.

2:6 Those who disbelieve — it being alike to them whether thou warn them or warn them not — they will not believe.

2:7 God has sealed their hearts and their hearing; and there is a covering on their eyes, and for them is a grievous chastisement.

2:8 And there are some people who say: We believe in God and the Last Day and they are not believers.

2:9 They seek to deceive God and those who believe, and they deceive only themselves and they perceive not.

2:10 In their hearts is a disease, so God increased their disease, and for them is a painful chastisement because they lie.

2:11 And when it is said to them, Make not mischief in the land, they say: We are but peacemakers.

2:12 Now surely they are the mischief-makers, but they perceive not.

2:13 And when it is said to them, Believe as the people believe, they say: Shall we believe as the fools believe? Now surely they are the fools, but they know not.

2:14 And when they meet those who believe, they say, We believe; and when they are alone with their devils, they say: Surely we are with you, we were only mocking.

2:15 God will pay them back their mockery, and He leaves them alone in their inordinacy, blindly wandering on.

2:16 These are they who buy error for guidance, so their bargain brings no gain, nor are they guided.

2:17 Their parable is as the parable of one who kindles a fire but when it illumines all around him, God takes away their light, and leaves them in darkness — they cannot see.

2:18 Deaf dumb, (and) blind, so they return not:

2:19 Or like abundant rain from the clouds in which is darkness, and thunder and lightning; they put their fingers into their ears because of the thunder-peal, for fear of death. And God encompasses the disbelievers.

2:20 The lightning almost takes away their sight. Whenever it shines on them they walk in it, and when it becomes dark to them they stand still. And if God had pleased, He would have taken away their hearing and their sight. Surely God is Possessor of power over all things.

2:21 O men, serve your Lord Who created you and those before you, so that you may guard against evil,

2:22 Who made the earth a resting-place for you and the heaven a structure, and sends down rain from the clouds then brings forth with it fruits for your sustenance; so do not set up rivals to God while you know.

2:23 And if you are in doubt as to that which We have revealed to Our servant, then produce a chapter like it and call on your helpers besides God if you are truthful.

2:24 But if you do (it) not — and you can never do (it) — then be on your guard against the fire whose fuel is men and stones; it is prepared for the disbelievers.

2:25 And give good news to those who believe and do good deeds, that for them are Gardens in which rivers flow. Whenever they are given a portion of the fruit thereof, they will say: This is what was given to us before and they are given the like of it. And for them therein are pure companions and therein they will abide.

2:26 Surely God disdains not to set forth any parable — a gnat or anything above that. Then as for those who believe, they know that it is the truth from their Lord; and as for those who disbelieve, they say: What is it that God means by this parable? Many He leaves in error by it and many He leads aright by it. And He leaves in error by it only the transgressors.

2:27 Who break the covenant of God after its confirmation and cut asunder what God has ordered to be joined, and make mischief in the land. These it is that are the losers.

2:28 How can you deny God and you were without life and He gave you life? Again, He will cause you to die and again bring you to life, then you shall be brought back to Him.

2:29 He it is Who created for you all that is in the earth. And He directed Himself to the heaven, so He made them complete seven heavens; and He is Knower of all things.

2:30 And when thy Lord said to the angels, I am going to place a ruler in the earth, they said: Wilt Thou place in it such as make mischief in it and shed blood? And we celebrate Thy praise and extol Thy holiness. He said: Surely I know what you know not.

2:31 And He taught Adam all the names, then presented them to the angels; He said: Tell Me the names of those if you are right.

2:32 They said: Glory be to Thee We have no knowledge but that which Thou hast taught us. Surely Thou art the Knowing, the Wise.

2:33 He said: O Adam, inform them of their names. So when he informed them of their names, He said: Did I not say to you that I know what is unseen in the heavens and the earth? And I know what you manifest and what you hide.

2:34 And when We said to the angels, Be submissive to Adam, they submitted, but Iblis (did not). He refused and was proud, and he was one of the disbelievers.

2:35 And We said: O Adam, dwell thou and thy wife in the garden, and eat from it a plenteous (food) wherever you wish, and approach not this tree, lest you be of the unjust.

2:36 But the devil made them slip from it, and caused them to depart from the state in which they were. And We said: Go forth, some of you are the enemies of others. And there is for you in the earth an abode and a provision for a time.

2:37 Then Adam received (revealed) words from his Lord, and He turned to him (mercifully). Surely He is Oft-returning (to mercy), the Merciful.

2:38 We said: Go forth from this state all. Surely there will come to you guidance from Me, then whoever follows My guidance, no fear shall come upon them, nor shall they grieve.

2:39 And (as to) those who disbelieve in and reject Our messages, they are the companions of the Fire in it they will abide.

2:40 O Children of Israel, call to mind My favour which I bestowed on you and be faithful to (your) covenant with Me, I shall fulfil (My) covenant with you; and Me, Me alone, should you fear.

2:41 And believe in that which I have revealed, verifying that which is with you, and be not the first to deny it; neither take a mean price for My messages; and keep your duty to Me, Me alone.

2:42 And mix not up truth with falsehood, nor hide the truth while you know.

2:43 And keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and bow down with those who bow down.

2:44 Do you enjoin men to be good and neglect your own souls while you read the Book? Have you then no sense?

2:45 And seek assistance through patience and prayer, and this is hard except for the humble ones,

2:46 Who know that they will meet their Lord and that to Him they will return.

2:47 O Children of Israel, call to mind My favour which I bestowed on you and that I made you excel the nations.

2:48 And guard yourselves against a day when no soul will avail another in the least, neither will intercession be accepted on its behalf, nor will compensation be taken from it, nor will they be helped.

2:49 And when We delivered you from Pharaoh's people, who subjected you to severe torment, killing your sons and sparing your women, and in this there was a great trial from your Lord.

2:50 And when We parted the sea for you, so We saved you and drowned the people of Pharaoh while you saw.

2:51 And when We appointed a time of forty nights with Moses, then you took the calf (for a god) after him, and you were unjust.

2:52 Then We pardoned you after that so that you might give thanks.

2:53 And when We gave Moses the Book and the Discrimination that you might walk aright.

2:54 And when Moses said to his people: O my people, you have surely wronged yourselves by taking the calf (for a god), so turn to your Creator (penitently), and kill your passions. That is best for you with your Creator. So He turned to you (mercifully). Surely He is the Oft-returning (to mercy), the Merciful.

2:55 And when you said: O Moses, we will not believe in thee till we see God manifestly, so the punishment overtook you while you looked on.

2:56 Then We raised you up after your stupor that you might give thanks.

2:57 And We made the clouds to give shade over you and We sent to you manna and quails. Eat of the good things that We have given you. And they did not do Us any harm, but they wronged their own souls.

2:58 And when We said: Enter this city, then eat from it a plenteous (food) whence you wish, and enter the gate submissively, and make petition for forgiveness. We will forgive you your wrongs and increase the reward of those who do good (to others).

2:59 But those who were unjust changed the word which had been spoken to them, for another saying, so We sent upon the wrongdoers a pestilence from heaven, because they transgressed.

2:60 And when Moses prayed for water for his people, We said: March on to the rock with thy staff. So there flowed from it twelve springs. Each tribe knew their drinking-place. Eat and drink of the provisions of God, and act not corruptly, making mischief in the land.

2:61 And when you said: O Moses, we cannot endure one food, so pray thy Lord on our behalf to bring forth for us out of what the earth grows, of its herbs and its cucumbers and its garlic and its lentils and its onions. He said: Would you exchange that which is better for that which is worse? Enter a city, so you will have what you ask for. And abasement and humiliation were stamped upon them, and they incurred God's wrath. That was so because they disbelieved in the messages of God and would kill the prophets unjustly. That was so because they disobeyed and exceeded the limits.

2:62 Surely those who believe, and those who are Jews, and the Christians, and the Sabians, whoever believes in God and the Last Day and does good, they have their reward with their Lord, and there is no fear for them, nor shall they grieve.

2:63 And when We made a covenant with you and raised the mountain above you: Hold fast that which We have given you, and bear in mind what is in it, so that you may guard against evil.

2:64 Then after that you turned back; and had it not been for the grace of God and His mercy on you, you had certainly been among the losers.

2:65 And indeed you know those among you who violated the Sabbath, so We said to them: Be (as) apes, despised and hated.

2:66 So We made them an example to those who witnessed it and those who came after it and an admonition to those who guard against evil.

2:67 And when Moses said to his people: Surely God commands you to sacrifice a cow. They said: Dost thou ridicule us? He said: I seek refuge with God from being one of the ignorant.

2:68 They said: Call on thy Lord for our sake to make it plain to us what she is. (Moses) said: He says, Surely she is a cow neither advanced in age nor too young, of middle age between these (two); so do what you are commanded.

2:69 They said: Call on thy Lord for our sake to make it clear to us what her colour is. (Moses) said: He says, She is a yellow cow; her colour is intensely yellow delighting the beholders.

2:70 They said: Call on thy Lord for our sake to make it dear to us what she is, for surely to us the cows are all alike, and if God please we shall surely be guided aright.

2:71 (Moses) said: He says: She is a cow not made submissive to plough the land, nor does she water the tilth, sound, without a blemish in her. They said: Now thou hast brought the truth. So they slaughtered her, though they had not the mind to do (it).

2:72 And when you (almost) killed a man, then you disagreed about it. And God was to bring forth that which you were going to hide.

2:73 So We said: Smite him with it partially. Thus God brings the dead to life, and He shows you His signs that you may understand.

2:74 Then your hearts hardened after that, so that they were like rocks, rather worse in hardness. And surely there are some rocks from which streams burst forth; and there are some of them which split asunder so water flows from them; and there are some of them which fall down for the fear of God. And God is not heedless of what you do.

2:75 Do you then hope that they would believe in you, and a party from among them indeed used to hear the word of God, then altered it after they had understood it, and they know (this).

2:76 And when they meet those who believe they say, We believe, and when they are apart one with another they say: Do you talk to them of what God has disclosed to you that they may contend with you by this before your Lord? Do you not understand?

2:77 Do they not know that God knows what they keep secret and what they make known?

2:78 And some of them are illiterate; they know not the Book but only (from) hearsay, and they do but conjecture.

2:79 Woe! then to those who write the Book with their hands then say, This is from God; so that they may take for it a small price. So woe! to them for what their hands write and woe! to them for what they earn.

2:80 And they say: Fire will not touch us but for a few days. Say Have you received a promise from God? Then God will not fail to perform His promise. Or do you speak against God. what you know not?

2:81 Yea, whoever earns evil and his sins beset him on every side, those are the companions of the Fire therein they abide."

2:82 And those who believe and do good deeds, these are the owners of the Garden; therein they abide.

2:83 And when We made a covenant with the Children of Israel. You shall serve none but God. And do good to (your) parents, and to the near of kin and to orphans and the needy, and speak good (words) to (all) men, and keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate. Then you turned back except a few of you, and you are averse.

2:84 And when We made a covenant with you: You shall not shed your blood, nor turn your people out of your cities; then you promised and you bear witness.

2:85 Yet you it is who would slay your people and turn a party from among you out of their homes, backing each other up against them unlawfully and exceeding the limits. And if they should come to you as captives you would ransom them, whereas their turning out itself was unlawful for you. Do you then believe in a part of the Book and disbelieve in the other? What then is the reward of such among you as do this but disgrace in the life of this world, and on the day of Resurrection they shall be sent back to the most grievous chastisement. And God is not heedless of what you do.

2:86 These are they who buy the life of this world for the Hereafter, so their chastisement shall not be lightened, nor shall they be helped.

2:87 And We indeed gave Moses the Book and We sent messengers after him one after another and We gave Jesus, son of Mary, clear arguments and strengthened him with the Holy Spirit. Is it then that whenever there came to you a messenger with what your souls desired not, you were arrogant? And some you gave the lie to and others you would slay.

2:88 And they say: Our hearts are repositories. Nay, God has cursed them on account of their unbelief so little it is that they believe.

2:89 And when there came to them a Book from God verifying that which they have, and aforesaid they used to pray for victory against those who disbelieved — but when there came to them that which they recognized, they disbelieved in it; so God's curse is on the disbelievers.

2:90 Evil is that for which they sell their souls — that they should deny that which God has revealed, out of envy that God should send down of His grace on whomsoever of His servants He pleases; so they incur wrath upon wrath. And there is an abasing chastisement for the disbelievers.

2:91 And when it is said to them, Believe in that which God has revealed, they say: We believe in that which was revealed to us. And they deny what is besides that, while it is the Truth verifying that which they have. Say: Why then did you kill God's prophets before (this) if you were believers?

2:92 And Moses indeed came to you with clear arguments, then you took the calf (for a god) in his absence and you were wrongdoers.

2:93 And when We made a covenant with you and raised the mountain above you: Take hold of that which We have given you with firmness and obey. They said: We hear and disobey. And they were made to imbibe (the love of) the calf into their hearts on account of their disbelief. Say: Evil is that which your faith bids you if you are believers.

2:94 Say: If the abode of the Here-after with God is specially for you to the exclusion of the people, then invoke death if you are truthful.

2:95 And they will never invoke it on account of what their hands have sent on before, and God knows the wrongdoers.

2:96 And thou wilt certainly find them the greediest of men for life (greedier) even than those who set gods (with God). One of them love to be granted a life of a thousand years, and his being granted a long life will in no way remove him further off from the chastisement. And God is Seer of what they do.

2:97 Say: Whoever is an enemy to Gabriel for surely he revealed it to thy heart by God's command, verifying the which is before it and a guidance and glad tidings for the believers.

2:98 Whoever is an enemy to God and His angels and His messengers and Gabriel and Michael, then surely God is an enemy to disbelievers.

2:99 And We indeed have revealed to thee clear messages, and none disbelieve in them except the transgressors.

2:100 Is it that whenever they make a covenant, a party of them cast it aside? Nay, most of them have no faith.

2:101 And when there came to them a messenger from God verifying that which they have, a party of those who were given the Book threw the Book of God behind their backs as if they knew nothing.

2:102 And they follow what the devils fabricated against the kingdom of Solomon. And Solomon disbelieved not, but the devils disbelieved, teaching men enchantment. And it was not revealed to the two angels in Babel, Harut and Marut. Nor did they teach (it to) anyone, so that they should have said, We are only a trial, so disbelieve not. But they learn from these two (sources) that by which they make a distinction between a man and his wife. And they cannot hurt with it anyone except with God's permission. And they learn that which harms them and profits them nor. And certainly they know that he who buys it has no share of good in the Hereafter. And surely evil is the price for which they have sold their souls, did they but know!

2:103 And if they had believed and kept their duty, reward from God would certainly have been better; did they but know!

2:104 O you who believe, say not Ral-na and say Unzur-na, and listen. And for the disbelievers there is a painful chastisement.

2:105 Neither those who disbelieve from among the people of the Book nor the polytheists, like that any good should be sent down to you from your Lord. And God chooses whom He pleases for His Mercy; and God is the Lord of mighty grace.

2:106 Whatever message We abrogate or cause to be forgotten, We bring one better than it or one like it. Knowest thou not that God is Possessor of power over all things?

2:107 Knowest thou not that God's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth, and that besides God you have not any friend or helper?

2:108 Rather you wish to put questions to your Messenger, as Moses was questioned before. And whoever adopts disbelief instead of faith he indeed has lost the right direction of the way.

2:109 Many of the people of the Book wish that they could turn you back into disbelievers after you have believed, out of envy from themselves, after truth has become manifest to them. But pardon and forgive till God bring about His command. Surely God is Possessor of power over all things.

2:110 And keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate. And whatever good you send before for yourselves, you will find it with God. Surely God is Seer of what you do.

2:111 And they say: None shall enter the Garden except he who is a Jew, or the Christians. These are their vain desires. Say: Bring your proof if you are truthful.

2:112 Nay, whoever submits himself entirely to God and he is the doer of good (to others); he has his reward from his Lord, and there is no fear for such nor shall they grieve.

2:113 And the Jews say, The Christians follow nothing (good), and the Christians say, The Jews follow nothing (good), while they recite the (same) Book. Even thus say those who have no knowledge, like what they say. So God will judge between them on the day of Resurrection in that wherein they differ.

2:114 And who is more unjust than he who prevents (men) from the mosques of God, from His name being remembered therein, and strives to ruin them? (As for) these, it was not proper for them to enter them except in fear. For them is disgrace in this world, and theirs is a grievous chastisement in the Hereafter.

2:115 And God's is the East and the West, so whither you turn thither is God's purpose. Surely God is Ample-giving, Knowing.

2:116 And they say: God has taken to Himself a son — glory be to Him! Rather, whatever is in the heavens and the earth is His. All are obedient to Him.

2:117 Wonderful Originator of the heavens and the earth! And when He decrees an affair, He says to it only, Be, and it is.

2:118 And those who have no knowledge say: Why does not God speak to us or a sign come to us? Even thus said those before them, the like of what they say. Their hearts are all alike. Indeed We have made the messages clear for a people who are sure.

2:119 Surely We have sent thee with the Truth as a bearer of good news and as a warner, and thou wilt not be called upon to answer for the companions of the flaming Fire.

2:120 And the Jews will not be pleased with thee, nor the Christians, unless thou follow their religion. Say Surely God's guidance, that is the (perfect) guidance. And if thou follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to thee thou shalt have from God no friend, nor helper.

2:121 Those to whom We have given the Book follow it as it ought to be followed. These believe in it. And whoever disbelieves in it, these it is that are the losers.

2:122 O Children of Israel, call to mind My favour which I bestowed on you and that I made you excel the nations.

2:123 And be on your guard against a day when no soul will avail another in the least, neither will any compensation be accepted from it, nor will intercession profit it, nor will they be helped.

2:124 And when his Lord tried Abraham with certain commands he fulfilled them. He said: Surely I will make thee a leader of men. (Abraham) said: And of my offspring? My covenant does not include the wrongdoers, said He.

2:125 And when We made The House a resort for men and a (place of) security. And: Take ye the place of Abraham for a place of prayer. And We enjoined Abraham and Ishmael, saying: Purify My House for those who visit (it) and those who abide (in it) for devotion and those who bow down (and) those who prostrate themselves.

2:126 And when Abraham said: My Lord, make this a secure town and provide its people with fruits, such of them as believe in God and the Last Day. He said: And whoever disbelieves, I shall grant him enjoyment for a short while, then I shall drive him to the chastisement of the Fire. And it is an evil destination.

2:127 And when Abraham and Ishmael raised the foundations of the House: Our Lord, accept from us surely Thou art the Hearing, the Knowing.

2:128 Our Lord, and make us both submissive to Thee, and (raise) from out offspring, a nation submissive to Thee, and show us our ways of devotion and turn to us (mercifully); surely Thou art the Oft-returning (to mercy), the Merciful.

2:129 Our Lord, and raise up in them a Messenger from among them who shall recite to them Thy messages and teach them the Book and the Wisdom, and purify them Surely Thou art the Mighty, the Wise.

2:130 And who forsakes the religion of Abraham but he who makes a fool of himself. And certainly We made him pure in this world and in the Hereafter he is surely among the righteous.

2:131 When his Lord said to him, Submit, he said: I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds.

2:132 And the same did Abraham enjoin on his sons, and (so did) Jacob: O my sons, surely God has chosen for you (this) religion, so die not unless you are submitting ones.

2:133 Or were you witnesses when death visited Jacob, when he said to his sons: What will you serve after me? They said: We shall serve thy God and the God of thy fathers, Abraham and Ishmael and Isaac, one God only, and to Him do we submit.

2:134 Those are a people that have passed away; for them is what they earned and for you what you earn and you will not be asked of what they did.

2:135 And they say: Be Jews or Christians, you will be on the right course. Say: Nay, (we follow) the religion of Abraham, the upright one, and he was not one of the polytheists.

2:136 Say: We believe in God and (in) that which has been revealed to us, and (in) that which was revealed to Abraham, and Ishmael and Isaac and Jacob and the tribes, and (in) that which was given to Moses and Jesus, and (in) that which was given to the prophets from their Lord, we do not make any distinction between any of them and to Him do we submit.

2:137 So if they believe as you believe, they are indeed on the right course; and if they turn back, then they are only in opposition. But God will suffice thee against them and He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

2:138 (We take) God's colour, and who is better than God at colouring, and we are His worshippers.

2:139 Say: Do you dispute with us about God, and He is our Lord and your Lord, and for us are our deeds and for you your deeds; and we are sincere to Him?

2:140 Or do you say that Abraham and Ishmael and Isaac and Jacob and the tribes were Jews or Christians? Say: Do you know better or God? And who is more unjust than he who conceals a testimony that he has from God? And God is not heedless of what you do.

2:141 Those are a people that have passed away; and for them is what they earned and for You what you earn and you. will not be asked of what they did.

* * *

2:142 The fools among the people will say: "What has turned them from their qiblah which they had?" Say: The East and the West belong only to God; He guides whom He pleases to the right path.

2:143 And thus We have made you an exalted nation that you may be the bearers of witness to the people and (that) the Messenger may be a bearer of witness to you. And We did not make that which thou wouldst have to be the qiblah but that We might distinguish him who follows the Messenger from him who turns back upon his heels. And it was indeed a hard test except for those whom God has guided. Nor was God going to make your faith to be fruitless. Surely God is Compassionate, Merciful, to the people.

2:144 Indeed We see the turning of thy face to heaven, so We shall surely make thee master of the qiblah which thou likest; turn then thy face towards the Sacred Mosque. And wherever you are turn your faces towards it. And those who have been given the Book certainly know that it is the truth from their Lord. And God is not heedless of what they do.

2:145 And even if thou shouldst bring to those who have been given the Book every sign they would not follow thy qiblah, nor canst thou be a follower of their qiblah, neither are they the followers of each other's qiblah. And if thou shouldst follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to thee, then thou wouldst indeed be of the wrongdoers.

2:146 Those whom We have given the Book recognize him as they recognize their sons. And a party of them surely conceal the truth they while know.

2:147 The truth is from thy Lord, so be thou not of the doubters.

* * *

2:148 And every one has a goal to which he turns (himself), so vie with one another in good works. Wherever you are, God will bring you all together. Surely God is Possessor of power over all things.

2:149 And from whatsoever place thou comest forth, turn thy face towards the Sacred Mosque. And surely it is the truth from thy Lord. And God is not heedless of what you do.

2:150 And from whatsoever place thou comest forth turn thy face towards the Sacred Mosque. And wherever you are turn your faces towards it, so that people may have no plea against you except such of them as are unjust — so fear them not and fear Me — and that I may complete My favour to you and that you may go aright.'

2:151 Even as We have sent among you a Messenger from among you, who recites to you Our messages and purifies you and teaches you the Book and the Wisdom and teaches you that which you did not know.

2:152 Therefore glorify Me, I will make you eminent, and give thanks to Me and be not ungrateful to Me.

* * *

2:153 O you who believe, seek assistance through patience and prayer; surely God is with the patient.

2:154 And speak not of those who are slain in God's way as dead. Nay, (they are) alive, but you perceive not.

2:155 And We shall certainly try you with something of fear and hunger and loss of property and lives and fruits. And give good news to the patient,

2:156 Who, when a misfortune befalls them say " Surely we are God's, and to Him we shall return."

2:157 Those are they on whom are blessings and mercy from their Lord and those are the followers of the right course.

2:158 The Safa and the Marwah are truly among the signs of God; so whoever makes a pilgrimage to the House or pays a visit (to it), there is no blame on him if he goes round them. And whoever does good spontaneously surely God is Bountiful in rewarding, Knowing.

2:159 Those who conceal the clear proofs and the guidance that We revealed after We have made it clear in the Book for men, these it is whom God curses, and those who curse, curse them (too),

2:160 Except those who repent and amend and make manifest (the truth), these it is to whom I turn (mercifully); and I am the Oft-returning (to mercy), the Merciful.

2:161 Those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers, these it is on whom is the curse of God and the angels and men, of all (of them):

2:162 Abiding therein; their chastisement shall not be lightened nor shall they be given respite.

2:163 And your God is one God, there is no God but He! He is the Beneficent, the Merciful.

* * *

2:164 In the creation of the heavens and the earth, and the alternation of night and day, and the ships that run in the sea with that which profits men, and the water that God sends down from the sky, then gives life therewith to the earth after its death and spreads in it all (kinds of) animals, and the changing of the winds and the clouds made subservient between heaven and earth, there are surely signs for a people who understand.

2:165 Yet there are some men who take for themselves objects of worship besides God, whom they love as they should love God. And those who believe are stronger in (their) love for God. And O that the wrongdoers had seen, when they see the chastisement, that power is wholly God's, and that God is severe in chastising!

2:166 When those who were followed renounce those who followed (them), and they see the chastisement and their ties are cut asunder.

2:167 And those who followed will say: If we could but return, we would renounce them as they have renounced us. Thus will God show them their deeds to be intense regret to them, and they will not escape from the Fire.

* * *

2:168 O men, eat the lawful and good things from what is in the earth, and follow not the footsteps of the devil. Surely he is an open enemy to you.

2:169 He enjoins on you only evil and indecency, and that you speak against God what you know not.

2:170 And when it is said to them, 'Follow what God has revealed,' they say: "Nay, we follow that wherein we found our fathers. What! Even though their fathers had no sense at all, nor did they follow the right way.

2:171 And the parable of those who disbelieve is as the parable of one who calls out to that which hears no more than a call and a cry. Deaf, dumb, blind, so they have no sense.

2:172 O you who believe, eat of the good things that We have provided you with, and give thanks to God if He it is Whom you serve.

2:173 He has forbidden you only what dies of itself, and blood, and the flesh of swine, and that over which any other (name) than (that of) God has been invoked. Then whoever is driven by necessity, not desiring, nor exceeding the limit, no sin is upon him. Surely God is Forgiving, Merciful.

2:174 Those who conceal aught of the Book that God has revealed and take for it a small price, they eat nothing but fire into their bellies, and God will not speak to them on the day of Resurrection, nor will He purify them; and for them is a painful chastisement.

2:175 Those are they who buy error for guidance and chastisement for forgiveness; how bold they are to challenge the Fire!

2:176 That is because God has revealed the Book with truth. And surely those who disagree about the Book go far in opposition.

2:177 It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards the East and the West, but righteous is the one who believes in God, and the Last Day, and the angels and the Book and the prophets, and gives away wealth out of love for Him to the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the wayfarer and to those who ask and to set slaves free and keeps up prayer and pays the poor-rate and the performers of their promise when they make a promise, and the patient in distress and affliction and in the time of conflict. These are they who are truthful; and these are they who keep their duty.

2:178 O you who believe, retaliation is prescribed for you in the matter of the slain the free for the free, and the slave for the slave, and the female for the female. But if remission is made to one by his (aggrieved) brother, prosecution (for blood-wit) should be according to usage, and payment to him in a good manner. This is an alleviation from your Lord and a mercy. Whoever exceeds the limit after this, will have a painful chastisement. And there is life for you in retaliation, O men of understanding, that you may guard yourselves.

2:180 It is prescribed for you, when death approaches one of you, if he leaves behind wealth for parents and near relatives, to make a bequest in a kindly manner; it is incumbent upon the dutiful.

2:181 Then whoever changes it after he has heard it, the sin of it is only upon those who change it. Surely God is Hearing, Knowing.

2:182 But if one fears a wrong or a sinful course on the part of the testator, and effects an agreement between the parties, there is no blame on him. Surely God is Forgiving, Merciful.

* * *

2:183 O you who believe, fasting is prescribed for you, as it was prescribed for those before you, so that you may guard against evil.

2:184 For a certain number of days. But whoever among you is sick or on a journey, (he shall fast) a (like) number of other days. And those who find it extremely hard may effect redemption by feeding a poor man. So whoever does good spontaneously, it is better for him; and that you fast is better for you if you know.

2:185 The month of Ramadan is that in which the Koran was revealed, a guidance to men and clear proofs of the guidance and the Criterion. So whoever of you is present in the month, he shall fast therein, and whoever is sick or on a journey, (he shall fast) a (like) number of other days. God desires ease for you, and He desires not hardship for you, and (He desires) that you should complete the number and that you should exalt the greatness of God for having guided you and that you may give thanks.

2:186 And when My servants ask thee concerning Me, surely I am nigh. I answer the prayer of the suppliant when he calls on Me, so they should hear My call and believe in Me that they may walk in the right way.

2:187 It is made lawful for you to go in to your wives on the night of the fast. They are an apparel for you and you are an apparel for them. God knows that you acted unjustly to yourselves, so He turned to you in mercy and removed (the burden) from you. So now be in contact with them and seek what God has ordained for you, and eat and drink until the whiteness of the day becomes distinct from the blackness of the night at dawn, then complete the fast till nightfall, and touch them not while you keep to the mosques. These are the limits of God, so go not near them. Thus does God make clear His messages for men that they may keep their duty.

2:188 And swallow not up your property among yourselves by false means, nor seek to gain access thereby to the judges, so that you may swallow up a part of the property of men wrongfully while you know.

2:189 They ask thee of the new moons. Say: They are times appointed for men, and (for) the pilgrimage. And it is not righteousness that you enter the houses by their backs, but he is righteous who keeps his duty. And go into the houses by their doors: and keep your duty to God, that you may be successful.

2:190 And fight in the way of God against those who fight against you but be not aggressive. Surely God loves not the aggressors.

2:191 And kill them wherever you find them, and drive them out from where they drove you out, and persecution is worse than slaughter. And fight not with them at the Sacred Mosque until they fight with you in so if they fight you (in it), slay them. Such is the recompense of the disbelievers.

2:192 But if they desist, then surely God is Forgiving, Merciful.

2:193 And fight them until there is no persecution, and religion is only for Allah. But if they desist, then there should be no hostility except against the oppressors.

2:194 The sacred month for the sacred month, and retaliation (is allowed) in sacred things. Whoever then acts aggressively against you, inflict injury on him according to the injury he has inflicted on you and keep your duty to God, and know that God is with those who keep their duty.

2:195 And spend in the way of God and cast not yourselves to perdition with your own hands and do good (to others). Surely God loves the doers of good.

2:196 And accomplish the pilgrimage and the visit for God. But if you are prevented, (send) whatever offering is easy to obtain; and shave not your heads until the offering reaches its destination. Then whoever among you is sick or has an ailment of the head, he (may effect) a compensation by fasting or alms or sacrificing. And when you are secure, whoever profits by combining the visit with the pilgrimage (should take) whatever offering is easy to obtain. But he who cannot find (an offering) should fast for three days during the pilgrimage and for seven days when you return. These are ten (days) complete. This is for him whose family is not present in the Sacred Mosque. And keep your duty to God, and know that God is severe in requiting (evil).

2:197 The months of the pilgrimage are well known; so whoever determines to perform pilgrimage therein there shall be no immodest speech, nor abusing, nor altercation in the pilgrimage. And whatever good you do, God knows it. And make provision for yourselves, the best provision being to keep one's duty. And keep your duty to Me, O men of understanding.

2:198 It is no sin for you that you seek the bounty of your Lord. So when you press on from Arafat, remember God near the Holy Monument, and remember Him as He has guided you, though before that you were certainly of the erring ones.

2:199 Then hasten on from where the people hasten on, and ask the forgiveness of God. Surely God is Forgiving, Merciful.

2:200 And when you have performed your devotions, laud God as you lauded your fathers, rather a more hearty lauding. But there are some people who say, Our Lord, give us in the world. And for such there is no portion in the Hereafter.

2:201 And there are some among them who say: Our Lord, grant us good in this world and good in the Hereafter, and save us from the chastisement of the Fire.

2:202 For those there is a portion on account of what they have earned. And God is Swift in reckoning.

2:203 And remember God during the appointed days. Then whoever hastens off in two days, it is no sin for him and whoever stays behind, it is no sin for him, for one who keeps his duty. And keep your duty to God, and know that you will be gathered together to Him.

2:204 And of men is he whose speech about the life of this world pleases thee, and he calls God to witness as to that which is in his heart, yet he is the most violent of adversaries.

2:205 And when he holds authority, he makes effort in the land to cause mischief in it and destroy tilth and offspring; and God loves not mischief.

2:206 And when it is said to him, Be careful of thy duty to God, pride carries him off to sin — so hell is sufficient for him. And certainly evil is the resting-place.

2:207 And of men is he who sells himself to seek the pleasure of God. And God is Compassionate to the servants.

2:208 O you who believe, enter into complete peace and follow not the footsteps of the devil. Surely he is your open enemy.

2:209 But if you slip after clear arguments have come to you, then know that God is Mighty, Wise.

2:210 They wait for naught but that God should come to them in the shadows of the clouds with angels, and the matter has (already) been decided. And to God are (all) matters returned.

2:211 Ask of the Children of Israel how many a clear sign We gave them! And whoever changes the favour of God after it has come to him, then surely God is Severe in requiting (evil).

2:212 The life of this world is made to seem fair to those who disbelieve, and they mock those who believe. And those who keep their duty will be above them on the Day of Resurrection. And God gives to whom He pleases without measure.

2:213 Mankind is a single nation. So God raised prophets as bearers of good news and as warners, and He revealed with them the Book with truth, that it might judge between people concerning that in which they differed. And none but the very people who were given it differed of about it after clear arguments had come to them, envying one another. So God has guided by His will those who believe to the truth about which they differed. And God guides whom He pleases to the right path.

2:214 Or do you think that you will enter the Garden, while there has not yet befallen you the like of what befell those who have passed away before you. Distress and affliction befell them and they were shaken violently, so that the Messenger and those who believed with him said: When will the help of God come? Now surely the help of God is nigh!

2:215 They ask thee as to what they should spend. Say: Whatever wealth you spend, it is for the parents and the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the wayfarer. And whatever good you do, God surely is Knower of it.

2:216 Fighting is enjoined on you, though it is disliked by you and it may be that you dislike a thing while it is good for you, and it may be that you love a thing while it is evil for you; and God knows while you know not.

2:217 They ask thee about fighting in the sacred month. Say: Fighting in it is a grave (offence). And hindering (men) from God's way and denying Him and the Sacred Mosque and turning its people out of it, are still graver with God and persecution is graver than slaughter. And they will not cease fighting you until they turn you back from your religion, if they can. And whoever of you turns back from his religion, then he dies while an unbeliever — these it is whose works go for nothing in this world and the Hereafter. And they are the companions of the Fire: therein they will abide.

2:218 Those who believed and those who fled (their homes) and strove hard in God's way — these surely hope for the mercy of God. And God is Forgiving, Merciful.

2:219 They ask thee about intoxicants and games of chance. Say: In both of them is a great sin and (some) advantage for men, and their sin is greater than their advantage. And they ask thee as to what they should spend. Say: What you can spare. Thus does God make clear to you the messages that you may ponder,

2:220 On this world and the Hereafter. And they ask thee concerning the orphans. Say: To set right their (affairs) is good; and if you mix with them, they are your brethren. And God knows him who makes mischief from him who sets right. And if God pleased, He would have made matters difficult for you. Surely God is Mighty, Wise.

2:221 And marry not the idolatresses until they believe; and certainly a believing maid is better than an idolatress even though she please you. Nor give (believing women) in marriage to idolaters until they believe, and certainly a believing slave is better than an idolater, even though he please you. These invite to the Fire and God invites to the Garden and to forgiveness by His will and He makes clear His messages to men that they may be mindful.

2:222 And they ask thee about menstruation. Say: It is harmful, so keep aloof from women during menstrual discharge and go not near them until they are clean. But when they have cleansed themselves, go in to them as God has commanded you. Surely God loves those who turn much (to Him), and He loves those who purify themselves.

2:223 Your wives are a tilth for you, so go in to your tilth when you like, and send (good) beforehand for yourselves. And keep your duty to God, and know that you will meet Him. And give good news to the believers.

2:224 And make not God by your oaths a hindrance to your doing good and keeping your duty and making peace between men. And God is Hearing, Knowing.

2:225 God will not call you to account for what is vain in your oaths, but He will call you to account for what your hearts have earned. And God is Forgiving, Forbearing.

2:226 Those who swear that they will not go in to their wives should wait four months; then if they go back, God is surely Forgiving, Merciful.

2:227 And if they resolve on a divorce, God is surely Hearing, Knowing.

2:228 And the divorced women should keep themselves in waiting for three courses. And it is not lawful for them to conceal that which God has created in their wombs, if they believe in God and the Last Day. And their husbands have a better right to take them back in the meanwhile if they wish for reconciliation. And women have rights similar to those against them in a just manner, and men are a degree above them. And God is Mighty, Wise.

2:229 Divorce may be (pronounced) twice; then keep (them) in good fellowship or let (them) go with kindness. And it is not lawful for you to take any part of what you have given them, unless both fear that they cannot keep within the limits of God. Then if you fear that they cannot keep within the limits of God there is no blame on them for what she gives up to become free thereby. These are the limits of God, so exceed them not and whoever exceeds the limits of God, these are the wrongdoers.

2:230 So if he divorces her (the third time), she shall not be lawful to him afterwards until she marries another husband. If he divorces her, there is no blame on them both if they return to each other (by marriage), if they think that they can keep within the limits of God. And these are the limits of God which He makes clear for a people who know.

2:231 And when you divorce women and they reach their prescribed time, then retain them in kindness or set them free with kindness and retain them not for injury so that you exceed the limits. And whoever does this, he indeed wrongs his own soul. And take not God's messages for a mockery, and remember God's favour to you, and that which He has revealed to you of the Book and the Wisdom, admonishing you thereby. And keep your duty to God, and know that God is the Knower of all things.

2:232 And when you divorce women and they end their term, prevent them not from marrying their husbands if they agree among themselves in a lawful manner. With this is admonished he among you who believes in God and the Last Day. This is more profitable for you and purer. And God knows while you know not.

2:233 And mothers shall suckle their children for two whole years, for him who desires to complete the time of suckling. And their maintenance. and their clothing must be borne by the father according to usage. No soul shall be burdened beyond its capacity. Neither shall a mother be made to suffer harm on account of her child, nor a father on account of his child and a similar duty (devolves) on the (father's) heir. But if both desire weaning by mutual consent and counsel, there is no blame on them. And if you wish to engage a wet-nurse for your children, there is no blame on you so long as you pay what you promised according to usage. And keep your duty to God and know that God is Seer of what you do.

2:234 And (as for) those of you who die and leave wives behind, such women should keep themselves in waiting for four months and ten days; when they reach their term, there is no blame on you for what they do for themselves in a lawful manner. And God is Aware of what you do.

2:235 And there is no blame on you respecting that which you speak indirectly in the asking of (such) women in marriage or keep (the proposal) concealed within your minds. God knows that you will have them in your minds, but give them not a promise in secret unless you speak in a lawful manner. And confirm not the marriage tie until the prescribed period reaches its end. And know that God knows what is in your minds, so beware of Him; and know that God is Forgiving, Forbearing.

2:236 There is no blame on you if you divorce women while yet you have not touched them, nor appointed for them a portion. And provide for them, the wealthy according to his means and the strained according to his means, a provision according to usage. (This is) a duty on the doers of good.

2:237 And if you divorce them before you have touched them and you have appointed for them a portion, (pay) half of what you have appointed unless they forgo or he forgoes in whose hand is the marriage tie. And it is nearer to dutifulness that you forgo. Nor neglect the giving of free gifts between you. Surely God is Seer of what you do.

2:238 Guard the prayers and the most excellent prayer, and stand up truly obedient to God.

2:239 But if you are in danger (say your prayers) on foot or on horseback. And when you are secure, remember God as He has taught you what you knew not.

2:240 And those of you who die and leave wives behind, should make a bequest in favour of their wives of maintenance for a year without turning (them) out. Then if they themselves go away, there is no blame on you for what they do of lawful deeds concerning themselves. And God is Mighty, Wise.

2:241 And for the divorced women, provision (must be made) in kindness, This is incumbent on those who have regard for duty.

2:242 God thus makes clear to you His messages that you may understand.

2:243 Hast thou not considered those who went forth from their homes, and they were thousands, for fear of death. Then God said to them, Die. Then He gave them life. Surely God is Gracious to people, but most people are not grateful.

2:244 And fight in the way of God, and know that God is Hearing Knowing.

2:245 Who is it that will offer to God a goodly gift, so He multiplies it to him manifold? And God receives and amplifies, and to Him you shall be returned.

2:246 Hast thou not thought of the leaders of the Children of Israel after Moses? When they said to a prophet of theirs: Raise up for us a king, that we may fight in the way of God. He said: May it not be that you will not fight if fighting is ordained for you? They said: And what reason have we that we should not fight in God's way and we have indeed been deprived of our homes and our children? But when fighting was ordained for them, they tamed back, except a few of them. And God is Knower of the wrongdoers.

2:247 And their prophet said to them: Surely God has raised Saul to be a king over you. They said: How can he have kingdom over us while we have a greater right to kingdom than he, and he has not been granted abundance of wealth? He said: Surely God has chosen him above you, and has increased him abundantly in knowledge and physique. And God grants His kingdom to whom He pleases. And God is Ample-giving, Knowing.

2:248 And their prophet said to them: Surely the sign of his kingdom is that there shall come to you the hearts in which there is tranquillity from your Lord and the best of what the followers of Moses and the followers of Aaron have left, the angels bearing it. Surely there is a sign in this for you if you are believers.

2:249 So when Saul set out with the forces, he said: Surely God will try you with a river. Whoever drinks from it, he is not of me, and whoever tastes it not, he is surely of me, except he who takes a handful with his hand, but they drank of it save a few of them. So when he had crossed it, he and those who believed with him, they said: We have to-day no power against Goliath and his forces. Those who were sure that they would meet their Lord said: How often has a small party vanquished a numerous host by God's permission! And God is with the steadfast.

2:250 And when they went out against Goliath and his forces, they said: Our Lord, pour out patience on us and make our steps firm and help us against the disbelieving people.

2:251 So they put them to flight by God's permission. And David slew Goliath, and God gave him kingdom and wisdom, and taught him of what He pleased. And were it not for God's repelling some men by others, the earth would certainly be in a state of disorder: but God is Full of grace to the worlds.

2:252 These are the messages of God — We recite them to thee with truth; and surely thou art of the messengers.

2:253 We have made some of these messengers to excel others. Among them are they to whom God spoke, and some of them He exalted by (many) degrees of rank. And We gave clear arguments to Jesus son of Mary, and strengthened him with the Holy Spirit. And if God had pleased, those after them would not have fought one with another after clear arguments had come to them, but they disagreed; so some of them believed and some of them denied. And if God had pleased they would nor have fought one with another, but God does what He intends.

2:254 O you who believe, spend out of what We have given you before the day comes in which there is no bargaining, nor friendship, nor intercession. And the disbelievers — they are the wrongdoers.

2:255 God — there is no god but He, the Ever-living, the Self-subsisting by Whom all subsist. Slumber overtakes Him not, nor sleep. To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. Who is he that can intercede with Him but by His permission? He knows what is before them and what is behind them. And they encompass nothing of His knowledge except what He pleases. His knowledge extends over the heavens and the earth, and the preservation of them both tires Him not. And He is the Most High, the Great.

2:256 There is no compulsion in religion — the right way is indeed dearly distinct from error. So whoever disbelieves in the devil and believes in God, he indeed lays hold on the firmest handle which shall never break. And God is Hearing, Knowing.

2:257 God is the Friend of those who believe — He brings them out of darkness into light. And those who disbelieve, their friends are the devils who take them out of light into darkness. They are the companions of the Fire; therein they abide.

2:258 Hast thou not thought of him who disputed with Abraham about his Lord, because God had given him kingdom? When Abraham said, My Lord is He who gives life and causes to die, he said: I give life and cause death. Abraham said: Surely God causes the sun to rise from the East, so do thou make it rise from the West. Thus he who disbelieved was confounded. And God guides not the unjust people.

2:259 Or like him who passed by a town, and it had fallen in upon its roofs. He said: When will God give it life after its death? So God caused him to die for a hundred years, then raised him. He said: How long hast thou tarried? He said: I have tarried a day, or part of a day. He said: Nay, thou hast tarried a hundred years; but look at thy food and drink — years have not passed over it! And look at thy ass! And that We may make thee a sign to men. And look at the bones, how We set them together then clothe them with flesh. So when it became dear to him, he said: I know that God is Possessor of power over all things.

2:260 And when Abraham said, My Lord, show me how Thou givest life to the dead, He said: Dost thou not believe? He said: Yes, but that my heart may be at ease. He said: Then take four birds, then tame them to incline to thee, then place on every mountain a part of them, then call them, they will come to thee flying and know that God is Mighty, Wise.

2:261 The parable of those who spend their wealth in the way of God is as the parable of a grain growing seven ears, in every ear a hundred grains. And God multiplies (further) for whom He pleases. And God is Ample-giving, Knowing.

2:262 Those who spend their wealth in the way of God, then follow not up what they have spent with reproach or injury, their reward is with their Lord, and they shall have no fear nor shall they grieve.

2:263 A kind word with forgiveness is better than charity followed by injury. And God is Self-sufficient, Forbearing.

2:264 O you who believe, make not your charity worthless by reproach and injury, like him who spends his wealth to be seen of men and believes not in God and the Last Day. So His parable is as the parable of a smooth rock with earth upon it, then heavy rain falls upon it, so it leaves it bare. They are not able to gain anything of that which they earn. And God guides not the disbelieving people.

2:265 And the parable of those who spend their wealth to seek God's pleasure and for the strengthening of their so it is as the parable of a garden on elevated ground, upon which heavy rain falls, so it brings forth its fruit twofold; but if heavy rain falls not on it, light rain (suffices). And God is Seer of what you do.

2:266 Does one of you like to have a garden of palms and vines with streams flowing in it — he has therein all kinds of fruits — and old age has overtaken him and he has weak offspring; when (lo!) a whirlwind with fire in it smites it so it becomes blasted. Thus God makes the messages clear to you that you may reflect.
* * *

2:267 O you who believe, spend of the good things that you earn and of that which We bring forth for you out of the earth, and aim not at the bad to spend thereof, while you would not take it yourselves unless you connive at it. And know that God is Self-sufficient, Praiseworthy.

2:268 The devil threatens you with poverty and enjoins you to be niggardly, and God promises you forgiveness from Himself and abundance. And God is Ample-giving, Knowing:

2:269 He grants wisdom to whom He pleases. And whoever is granted wisdom, he indeed is given a great good. And none mind but men of understanding.

2:270 And whatever alms you give or (whatever) vow you vow, God surely knows it. And the wrongdoers shall have no helpers.

2:271 If you manifest charity, how excellent it is! And if you hide it and give it to the poor, it is good for you. And it will do away with some of your evil deeds; and God is Aware of what you do.

2:272 Their guidance is not thy duty, but God guides whom He pleases. And whatever good thing you spend, it is to your good. And you spend nor but to seek God's pleasure. And whatever good thing you spend, it will be paid back to you in full, and you will not be wronged.

2:273 (Charity) is for the poor who are confined in the way of God, they cannot go about in the land; the ignorant man thinks them to be rich on account of (their) abstaining (from begging) Thou canst recognize them by their mark — they beg not of men unfortunately. And whatever good thing you spend, surely God is Knower of it.
* * *

2:274 Those who spend their wealth by night and day, privately and publicly, their reward is with their Lord and they have no fear, nor shall they grieve.

2:275 Those who swallow usury cannot arise except as he arises whom the devil prostrates by (his) touch. That is because they say, Trading is only like usury. And Allah has allowed trading and forbidden usury. To whomsoever then the admonition has come from his Lord, and he desists, he shall have what has already passed. And his affair is in the hands of Allah. And whoever returns (to it) — these are the companions of the Fire: therein they will abide.

2:276 God will blot our usury, and He causes charity to prosper. And God loves not any ungrateful sinner.

2:277 Those who believe and do good deeds and keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate — their reward is with their Lord; and they have no fear, nor shall they grieve.

2:278 O you who believe, keep your duty to God and relinquish what remains (due) from usury, if you are believers.

2:279 But if you do (it) not, then be apprised of war from God and His Messenger; and if you repent, then you shall have your capital. Wrong not, and you shall not be wronged.

2:280 And if (the debtor) is in straitness, let there be postponement till (he is in) ease. And that you remit (it) as alms is better for you, if you only knew.

2:281 [ of the last Hajj] And guard yourselves against a day in which you will be returned to God. Then every soul will be paid in full what it has earned, and they will not be wronged.
* * *

2:282 O you who believe, when you contract a debt for a fixed time, write it down. And let a scribe write it down between you with fairness; nor should the scribe refuse to write as God has taught him, so let him write. And let him who owes the debt dictate, and he should observe his duty to God, his Lord, and not diminish any thing from it. But if he who owes the debt is unsound in understanding or weak, or (if) he is not able to dictate himself, let his guardian dictate with fairness. And call to witness from among your men two witnesses; but if there are not two men, then one man and two women from among those whom you choose to be witnesses, so that if one of the two errs, the one may remind the other. And the witnesses must not refuse when they are summoned. And be not averse to writing it whether it is small or large along with the time of its falling due. This is more equitable in the sight of God and makes testimony surer and the best way to keep away from doubts. But when it is ready merchandise which you give and take among yourselves from hand to hand, there is no blame on you in not writing it down. And have witnesses when you sell one to another. And let no harm be done to the scribe or to the witnesses. And if you do (it), then surely it is a transgression on your part. And keep your duty to God. And God teaches you. And God is Knower of all things.

2:283 And if you are on a journey and you cannot find a scribe, a security may be taken into possession. But if one of you trusts another, then he who is trusted should deliver his trust, and let him keep his duty to God, his Lord. And conceal not testimony. And whoever conceals it, his heart is surely sinful. And God is Knower of what you do.
* * *

2:284 To God belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And whether you manifest what is in your minds or hide it, God will call you to account according to it. So He forgives whom He pleases and chastises whom He pleases. And God is Possessor of power over all things.

2:285 The Messenger believes in what has been revealed to him from his Lord, and (so do) the believers. They all believe in God and His angels and His Books and His messengers. We make no difference between any of His messengers. And they say: We hear and obey; our Lord, Thy forgiveness (do we crave), and to Thee is the eventual course.

2:286 God imposes not on any soul a duty beyond its scope. For it is that which it earns (of good) and against it that which it works (of evil). Our Lord, punish us not if we forget or make a mistake. Our Lord, do not lay on us a burden as Thou didst lay on those before us. Our Lord, impose not on us (afflictions) which we have not the strength to bear. And pardon us! And grant us protection! And have mercy on us! Thou art our Patron, so grant us victory over the disbelieving people.

CHAPTER 92 / Sura 98

The Clear Evidence / Al-Bayyinah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

98:1 Those who disbelieve from among the People of the Book and the idolaters could not have been freed till clear evidence came to them —

98:2 A Messenger from Allah, reciting pure pages,

98:3 Wherein are (all) right books.

98:4 Nor did those to whom the Book was given become divided till clear evidence came to them.

98:5 And they are enjoined naught but to serve Allah, being sincere to Him in obedience, upright, and to keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate, and that is the right religion.

98:6 Those who disbelieve from among the People of the Book and the idolaters will be in the Fire of hell, abiding therein. They are the worst of creatures.

98:7 Those who believe and do good, they are the best of creatures.

98:8 Their reward is with their Lord Gardens of perpetuity wherein flow rivers, abiding therein for ever. Allah is well pleased with them and they are well pleased with Him. That is for him who fears his Lord.

KORAN CHAPTER 93 / Sura 64

The Manifestation of Losses / Al-Taghabun

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

64:1 Whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth glorifies Allah. His is the kingdom, and His the praise; and He is Possessor of power over all things.

64:2 He it is Who created you, but one of you is a disbeliever and one of you is a believer. And Allah is Seer of what you do.

64:3 He created the heavens and the earth with truth, and He shaped you, then made goodly your shapes; and to Him is the resort.

64:4 He knows what is in the heavens and the earth, and He knows what you hide and what you manifest. And Allah is Knower of what is in the hearts.

64:5 Has there not come to you the story of those who disbelieved before, then tasted the evil consequences of their conduct, and they had a painful chastisement?

64:6 That is because there came to them their messengers with clear arguments, but they said: Shall mortals guide us? So they disbelieved and turned away, and Allah is above all need. And Allah is Self-Sufficient, Praised.

64:7 Those who disbelieve think that they will not be raised. Say: Aye, by my Lord you will certainly be raised; then you will certainly be informed of what you did. And that is easy to Allah.

64:8 So believe in Allah and His Messenger and the Light which We have revealed. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

64:9 The day when He will gather you for the day of Gathering, that is the day of the Manifestation of losses. And whoever believes in Allah and does good, He will remove from him his evil and cause him to enter Gardens wherein rivers flow, to abide therein for ever. That is the great achievement.

64:10 And those who disbelieve and reject Our messages, they are the companions of the Fire, abiding therein and evil is the resort.
* * *

64:11 No calamity befalls but by Allah's permission. And whoever believes in Allah, He guides his heart. And Allah is Knower of all things.

64:12 And obey Allah and obey the Messenger; but if you turn away, the duty of Our Messenger is only to deliver (the message) clearly.

64:13 Allah, there is no God but He. And on Allah let the believers rely.

64:14 O you who believe, surely of your wives and your children there are enemies to you, so beware of them. And if you pardon and forbear and forgive, surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

64:15 Your wealth and your children are only a trial, and Allah with Him is a great reward.

64:16 So keep your duty to Allah as much as you can, and hear and obey and spend; it is better for your souls. And whoever is saved from the greediness of his soul, these it is that are the successful.

64:17 If you set apart for Allah a goodly portion, He will double it for you and forgive you. And Allah is the Multiplier (of rewards), Forbearing, 64:18 The Knower of the unseen and the seen, the Mighty, the Wise.

CHAPTER 94 / Sura 62

The Congregation / Al-Jumu'ah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

62:1 Whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth glorifies Allah, the King, the Holy, the Mighty, the Wise.

62:2 He it is. Who raised among the illiterates a Messenger from among themselves, who recites to them His messages and purifies them, and teaches them the Book and the Wisdom — although they were before certainly in manifest error —

62:3 And others from among them who have not yet joined them. And He is the Mighty, the Wise.

62:4 That is Allah's grace; He grants it to whom He pleases. And Allah is the Lord of mighty grace.

62:5 The likeness of those who were charged with the Torah, then they observed it not, is as the likeness of the ass carrying books. Evil is the likeness of the people who reject the messages of Allah. And Allah guides not the iniquitous people.

62:6 Say: O you who are Jews, if you think that you are the favourites of Allah to the exclusion of other people, then invoke death, if you are truthful.

62:7 But they will never invoke it because of what their hands have sent before. And Allah is Knower of the wrongdoers.

62:8 Say: The death from which you flee, that will surely overtake you; then you will be sent back to the Knower of the unseen and the seen, so He will inform you of that which you did.

62:9 O you who believe, when the call is sounded for prayer on Friday, hasten to the remembrance of Allah and leave off traffic. That is better for you, if you know.

62:10 But when the prayer is ended, disperse abroad in the land and seek of Allah's grace, and remember Allah much, that you may be successful.

62:11 And when they see merchandise or sport, they break away to it, and leave thee stranding. Say: What is with Allah is better than sport and merchandise. And Allah is the Best of Providers.

KORAN CHAPTER 95 / Sura 8

Voluntary Gifts / Al-Anfal

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

8:1 They ask thee about voluntary gifts. Say Voluntary gifts are for Allah and the Messenger. So keep your duty to Allah and set aright your differences, and obey Allah and His Messenger, if you are believers.

8:2 They only are believers whose hearts are full of fear when Allah is mentioned, and when His messages are recited to them they increase them in faith, and in their Lord do they trust,

8:3 Those who keep up prayer and spend out of what We have given them.

8:4 These are the believers in truth. For them are with their Lord exalted grades and protection and an honourable sustenance.

8:5 Even as thy Lord caused thee to go forth from thy house with truth, though a party of the believers were surely averse,

8:6 Disputing with thee about the truth after it had become clear — as if they were being driven to death while they saw (it).

8:7 And when Allah promised you one of the two parties that it should be yours, and you loved that the one not armed should be yours, and Allah desired to establish the Truth by His words, and to cut off the root of the disbelievers —

8:8 That He might cause the Truth to triumph and bring the falsehood to naught though the guilty disliked.

8:9 When you sought the aid of your Lord, so He answered you I will assist you with a thousand of the angels following one another.

8:10 And Allah gave it only as good news, and that your hearts might be at ease thereby. And victory is only from Allah surely Allah is Mighty, Wise.

8:11 When He made slumber fall on you as a security from Him, and sent down upon you water from the clouds that He might thereby purify you, and take away from you the uncleanness of the devil, and that He might fortify your hearts and make firm (your) feet thereby.

8:12 When thy Lord revealed to the angels; I am with you, so make firm those who believe I will cast terror into the hearts of those who disbelieve. So smite above the necks (strike off their heads) and smite (chop off) every finger-tip of them.

8:13 This is because they opposed Allah and His Messenger. And whoever opposes Allah and His Messenger — then surely Allah is Severe in requiting.

8:14 This — taste it, and (know) that for the disbelievers is the chastisement of the Fire.

8:15 O you who believe, when you meet those who disbelieve marching for war, turn not your backs to them.

8:16 And whoever turns his back to them on that day unless manoeuvring for battle or turning to join a company — he, indeed, incurs Allah's wrath and his refuge is hell. And an evil destination it is.

8:17 So you slew them not but Allah slew them, and thou smotest not when thou didst smite (slay the enemy), but Allah smote (him), and that He might confer upon the believers a benefit from Himself. Surely Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

8:18 This — and (know) that Allah will weaken the struggle of the disbelievers.

8:19 If you sought a judgement, the judgement has indeed come to you and if you desist, it is better for you. And if you return (to fight), We (too) shall return and your forces will avail you nothing, though they may be many; and (know) that Allah is with the believers.

8:20 O you who believe, obey Allah and His Messenger and turn not away from Him while you hear.

8:21 And be not like those who say, We hear; and they hear not.

8:22 Surely the vilest of beasts, in Allah's sight, are the deaf, the dumb, who understand not.

8:23 And if Allah had known any good in them, He would have made them hear. And if He makes them hear, they would turn away while they are averse.

8:24 O you who believe, respond to Allah and His Messenger, when he calls you to that which gives you life. And know that Allah comes in between a man and his heart, and that to Him you will be gathered.

8:25 And guard yourselves against an affliction which may not smite those of you exclusively who are unjust; and know that Allah is Severe in requiting.

8:26 And remember when you were few, deemed weak in the land, fearing lest people should carry you off by force, He sheltered you and strengthened you with His help, and gave you of the good things that you might give thanks.

8:27 O you who believe, be not unfaithful to Allah and the Messenger, nor be unfaithful to your trusts, while you know.

8:28 And know that your wealth and your children are a temptation, and that Allah is He with Whom there is a mighty reward

8:29 O you who believe, if you keep your duty to Allah, He will grant you a distinction and do away with your evils and protect you. And Allah is the Lord of mighty grace.

8:30 And when those who disbelieved devised plans against thee that they might confine thee or slay thee or drive thee away and they devised plans and Allah, too, had arranged a plan; and Allah is the best of planners —

8:31 And when Our messages are recited to them, they say: We have heard. If we wished, we could say the like of it; this is nothing but the stories of the ancients.

8:32 And when they said: O Allah, if this is indeed the truth from Thee, then rain down on us stones from heaven or inflict on us a painful chastisement.

8:33 And Allah would not chastise them while thou wast among them; nor would Allah chastise them while they seek forgiveness.

8:34 And what excuse have they that Allah should not chastise them while they hinder (men) from the Sacred Mosque and they are not its (true) guardians? Its guardians are only those who keep their duty, but most of them know not.

8:35 And their prayer at the House is nothing but whistling and clapping of hands. Taste, then, the chastisement, because you disbelieved.

8:36 Surely those who disbelieve spend their wealth to hinder (people) from the way of Allah. So they will go on spending it, then it will be to them a regret, then they will be overcome. And those who disbelieve will be gathered together to hell,

8:37 That Allah may separate the wicked from the good, and put the wicked one upon another, then heap them together, then cast them into hell. These indeed are the losers.

8:38 Say to those who disbelieve, if they desist, that which is past will be forgiven them; and if they return, then the example of those of old has already gone.

8:39 And fight with them until there is no more persecution, and all religions are for Allah. But if they desist, then surely Allah is Seer of what they do.

8:40 And if they turn back, then know that Allah is your Patron. Most excellent the Patron and most excellent the Helper!

8:41 And know that whatever you acquire in war, a fifth of it is for Allah and for the Messenger and for the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the wayfarer, if you believe in Allah and in that which We revealed to Our servant, on the day of Discrimination, the day on which the two patties met. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

8:42 When you were on the nearer side (of the valley) and they were on the farther side, while the caravan was in a lower place than you. And if you had tried to make a mutual appointment, you would certainly have broken away from the appointment, — but in order that Allah might bring about a matter which had to be done; that he who perished by clear argument might perish, and he who lived by clear argument might live. And surely Allah is Hearing, Knowing

8:43 When Allah showed them to thee in thy dream as few and if He had shown them to thee as many, you would certainly have become weak hearted and you would have disputed about the matter, but Allah saved (you). Surely He is Knower of what is in the breasts.

8:44 And when He showed them to you, when you met, as few in your eyes, and He made you to appear few in their eyes, in order that Allah might bring about a matter which had to be done. And to Allah are all affairs returned.

8:45 O you who believe, when you meet an army, be firm, and remember Allah much, that you may be successful.

8:46 And obey Allah and His Messenger and dispute not one with another, lest you get weak-hearted and your power depart; and be steadfast. Surely Allah is with the steadfast.

8:47 And be not like those who came forth from their homes exultingly and to be seen of men, and they hinder (people) from the way of Allah. And Allah encompasses what they do.

8:48 And when the devil made their works fair-seeming to them, and said: None among men can overcome you this day, and I am your protector. But when the two armies came in sight of one another, he turned upon his heels, and said: Surely I am clear of you, I see what you see not; surely I fear Allah. And Allah is Severe in requiting.

8:49 And when the hypocrites and those in whose hearts is a disease said Their religion has deluded them. And whoever trusts in Allah, then surely Allah is Mighty, Wise.

8:50 And if thou couldst see when the angels cause to die those who disbelieve, smiting their faces and their backs, and (saying): Taste the punishment of burning.

8:51 This is for that which your own hands have sent on before, and because Allah is not in the least unjust to the servants —

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

8:52 In the manner of the people of Pharaoh and those before them, they disbelieved in Allah's messages, so Allah punished them for their sins. Surely Allah is Strong, Severe in requiting.

8:53 This is because Allah never changes a favour which He has conferred upon a people until they change their own condition and because Allah is Hearing, Knowing —

8:54 In the manner of the people of pharaoh, and those before them. They rejected the messages of their Lord, so We destroyed them for their sins. And We drowned Pharaoh's people and they were all wrongdoers.

8:55 Surely the vilest of beasts in Allah's sight are those who disbelieve, then they would not believe.

8:56 Those with whom thou makest an agreement, then they break their agreement every time, and they keep not their duty.

8:57 So if thou overtake them in war, scatter by them those who are behind them, that they may be mindful.

8:58 And if thou fear treachery on the part of a people, throw back to them (their treaty) on terms of equality. Surely Allah loves not the treacherous.

8:59 And let not those who disbelieve think that they can outstrip (Us). Surely they cannot escape.

8:60 And make ready for them whatever force you can and horses tied at the frontier, to frighten thereby the enemy of Allah and your enemy and others besides them, whom you know not Allah knows them. And whatever you spend in Allah's way, it will be paid back to you fully and you will not be wronged.

8:61 And if they incline to peace, incline thou also to it, and trust in Allah. Surely He is the Hearer, the Knower.

8:62 And if they intend to deceive thee, then surely Allah is sufficient for thee. He it is Who strengthened thee with His help and with the believers, 8:63 And He has united their hearts. If thou hadst spent all that is in the earth, thou couldst not have united their hearts, but Allah united them. Surely He is Mighty, Wise.

8:64 O Prophet, Allah is sufficient for thee and those who follow thee of the believers.

8:65 O Prophet, urge the believers to fight. If there be of you twenty steadfast, they shall overcome two hundred; and if there be of you a hundred, they shall overcome a thousand of those who disbelieve, because they are a people who do not understand.

8:66 Now Allah has lightened your burden and He knows that there is weakness in you. So if there be of you a hundred steadfast, they shall overcome two hundred; and if there be of you a thousand, they shall overcome two thousand by Allah's permission. And Allah is with the steadfast.

8:67 It is not fit for a prophet to take captives unless he has fought and triumphed in the land. You desire the frail goods of this world, while Allah desires (for you) the Hereafter. And Allah is Mighty, Wise.

8:68 Were it not for an ordinance from Allah that had gone before, surely there would have befallen you a great chastisement for what you were going to do.

8:69 Eat then of the lawful and good (things) which you have acquired in war, and keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

8:70 O Prophet, say to those of the captives who are in your hands: If Allah knows anything good in your hearts, He will give you better than that which has been taken from you, and will forgive you. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

8:71 And if they intend to be treacherous to thee, so indeed they have been treacherous to Allah before, but He gave (you) mastery over them. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

8:72 Surely those who believed and fled (their homes) and struggled hard in Allah's way with their wealth and their lives, and those who gave shelter and helped — these are friends one of another. And those who believed and did not flee, you are not responsible for their protection until they flee. And if they seek help from you in the matter of religion, it is your duty to help (them) except against a people between whom and you there is a treaty. And Allah is Seer of what you do.

8:73 And those who disbelieve are friends one of another. If you do it not, there will be persecution in the land and great mischief.

8:74 And those who believed and fled and struggled hard in Allah's way, and those who gave shelter and helped — these are the believers truly. For them is forgiveness and an honourable provision.

8:75 And those who believed after wards and fled and struggled hard along with you, they are of you. And the relatives are nearer one to another in the ordinance of Allah. Surely Allah is Knower of all things.

KORAN CHAPTER 96 / Sura 47

Muhammad

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

47:1 Those who disbelieve and turn (men) from Allah's way, He will destroy their works.

47:2 And those who believe and do good, and believe in that which has been revealed to Muhammad — and it is the Truth from their Lord — He will remove their evil from them and improve their condition.

47:3 That is because those who disbelieve follow falsehood, and those who believe follow the Truth from their Lord. Thus does Allah set forth their descriptions for men.

47:4 So when you meet in battle those who disbelieve, smite the necks (strike off their heads); then, when you have overcome them, make (them) prisoners, and afterwards (set them free) as a favour or for ransom till the war lay down its burdens. That (shall be so). And if Allah please, He would certainly exact retribution from them, but that He may try some of you by means of others. And those who are slain in the way of Allah, He will never allow their deeds to perish.

47:5 He will guide them and improve their condition.

47:6 And make them enter the Garden, which He has made known to them.

47:7 O you who believe, if you help Allah, He will help you and make firm your feet.

47:8 And those who disbelieve, for them is destruction, and He will destroy their works.

47:9 That is because they hate that which Allah reveals, so He has rendered their deeds fruitless.

47:10 Have they not travelled in the land and seen what was the end of those before them? Allah destroyed them. And for the disbelievers is the like thereof.

47:11 That is because Allah is the patron of those who believe, and because the disbelievers have no patron.

47:12 Surely Allah will make those who believe and do good enter Gardens wherein flow rivers. And those who disbelieve enjoy themselves and eat as the cattle eat, and the Fire is their abode.

47:13 [* in the time of the Hijra] And how many a town, more powerful than thy town which has driven thee out — We destroyed them, so there was no helper for them.

47:14 Is then he who has a clear argument from his Lord like him to whom his evil conduct is made fair-seeming; and they follow their low desires.

47:15 A parable of the Garden which the dutiful are promised: Therein are rivers of water not altering for the worse, and rivers of milk whereof the taste changes not, and rivers of wine delicious to the drinkers, and rivers of honey clarified; and for them therein are all fruits and protection from their Lord. (Are these) like those who abide in the Fire and who are made to drink boiling water, so it tends their bowels asunder?

47:16 And there are those of them who seek to listen to thee, till, when they go forth from thee, they say to those who have been given knowledge: What was it that he said just now? These are they whose hearts Allah has sealed and they follow their low desires.

47:17 And those who follow guidance, He increases them in guidance and grants them their observance of duty.

47:18 Wait they for aught but the Hour that it should come upon them of a sudden? Now tokens thereof have already come. For how will they have their reminder, when it comes on them?

47:19 So know that there is no God but Allah and ask protection for thy sin and for the believing men and the believing women. And Allah knows your moving about and your staying (in a place).

47:20 And those who believe say: Why is not a chapter revealed? But when a decisive chapter is revealed, and fighting is mentioned therein, thou seest those in whose hearts is a disease look to thee with the look of one fainting at death So woe to them!

47:21 Obedience and a gentle word (was proper). Then when the affair is settled, it is better for them if they remain true to Allah.

47:22 But if you turn away, you are sure to make mischief in the land and cut off the ties of kinship!

47:23 Those it is whom Allah has cursed, so He has made them deaf and blinded their eyes.

47:24 Do they not reflect on the Koran? Or, are there locks on the hearts?

47:25 Surely those who turn back after guidance is manifest to them, the devil embellishes it for them and lengthens false hopes for them.

47:26 That is because they say to those who hate what Allah has revealed We will obey you in some matters. And Allah knows their secrets.

47:27 But how will it be when the angels cause them to die, smiting their faces and their hacks?

47:28 That is because they follow that which displeases Allah and are averse to His pleasure, so He makes their deeds fruitless.

47:29 Or do those in whose hearts is a disease think that Allah will nor bring forth their spite?

47:30 And if We please, We could show them to thee so that thou shouldst know them by their marks. And certainly thou canst recognize them by the tone of (their) speech. And Allah knows your deeds.

47:31 And certainly We shall try you, till We know those among you who strive hard, and the steadfast, and manifest your news.

47:32 Surely those who disbelieve and hinder (men) from Allah's way and oppose the Messenger after guidance is quite clear to them, cannot harm Allah in any way, and He will make their deeds fruitless.

47:33 O you who believe, obey Allah and obey the Messenger and make not your deeds vain.

47:34 Surely those who disbelieve and hinder (men) from Allah's way, then die disbelievers, Allah will not forgive them.

47:35 And be nor slack so as to cry for peace — and you are the uppermost — and Allah is with you, and He will not bring your deeds to naught.

47:36 The life of this world is but idle sport and play, and, if you believe and keep your duty, He will give you your reward, and He does not ask of you your wealth.

47:37 If He should ask you for it and press you, you will be niggardly, and He will bring forth your malice.

47:38 Behold! you are those who are called to spend in Allah's way, but among you are those who are niggardly; and whoever is niggardly, is niggardly against his own soul. And Allah is Self-Sufficient and you are needy. And if you turn back He will bring in your place another people, then they will not be like you.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

KORAN CHAPTER 97 / Sura 3

The Family of Amran / Al-Imran

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

3:1 I, Allah, am the best Knower,

3:2 Allah, (there is) no god but He, the Ever-living, the Self-subsisting, by Whom all subsist.

3:3 He has revealed to thee the Book with truth, verifying that which is before it, and He revealed the Torah and the Gospel aforetime, a guidance for the people, and He sent the Discrimination. Those who disbelieve in the messages of Allah for them is a severe chastisement. And Allah is Mighty, the Lord of retribution.

3:4 Surely nothing in the earth or in the heaven is hidden from Allah.

3:5 He it is Who shapes you in the wombs as He pleases. There is no god but He, the Mighty, the Wise.

3:6 He it is Who has revealed the Book to thee; some of its verses are decisive — they are the basis of the Book — and others are allegorical. Then those in whose hearts is perversity follow the part of it which is allegorical, seeking to mislead, and seeking to give it (their own) interpretation. And none knows its interpretation save Allah, and those firmly rooted in knowledge. They say We believe in it, it is all from our Lord. And none mind except men of understanding.

3:7 Our Lord, make not our hearts to deviate after Thou hast guided us and grant us mercy from Thee; surely Thou art the most liberal Giver.

3:8 Our Lord, surely Thou art the Gatherer of men on a day about which there is no doubt. Surely Allah will not fail in (His) promise.

3:9 Those who disbelieve, neither their wealth nor their children will avail them aught against Allah. And they will be fuel for fire —

3:10 As was the case of the people of Pharaoh, and those before them They rejected Our messages, so Allah destroyed them on account of their sins. And Allah is Severe in requiting (evil).

3:11 Say to those who disbelieve You shall be vanquished, and driven together to hell; and evil is the resting-place.

3:12 Indeed there was a sign for you in the two hosts (which) met together in encounter — one party fighting in the way of Allah and the other disbelieving, whom they saw twice as many as themselves with the sight of the eye. And Allah strengthens with His aid whom He pleases. There is a lesson in this for those who have eyes.

3:13 Fair-seeming to men is made the love of desires, of women and sons and hoarded treasures of gold and silver and well-bred horses and cattle and tilth (fields). This is the provision of the life of this world. And Allah — with Him is the good goal (of life).

3:14 Say: Shall I tell you of what is better than these? For those who guard against evil are Gardens with their Lord, in which rivers flow, to abide in them, and pure companions and Allah's goodly pleasure. And Allah is Seer of the servants.

3:15 Those who say: Our Lord, we believe, so forgive our sins and save us from the chastisement of the fire.

3:16 The patient and the truthful, and the obedient, and those who spend and those who ask Divine protection in the morning times.

3:17 Allah bears witness that there is no god but He, and (so do) the angels and those possessed of knowledge, maintaining justice. There is no god but He, the Mighty, the Wise.

3:18 Surely the (true) religion with Allah is Islam. And those who were given the Book differed only after knowledge had come to them, out of envy among themselves. And whoever disbelieves in the messages of Allah — Allah indeed is Quick at reckoning.

3:19 But if they dispute with thee say: I submit myself entirely to Allah and (so does) he who follows me. And say to those who have been given the Book and the Unlearned (people) Do you submit yourselves?

If they submit, then indeed they follow the right way; and if they turn back, thy duty is only to deliver the message. And Allah is Seer of the servants.

3:20 Those who disbelieve in the messages of Allah and would slay the prophets unjustly and slay those among men who enjoin justice, announce to them a painful chastisement.

3:21 Those are they whose works will be of no avail in this world and the Hereafter, and they will have no helpers.

3:22 Hast thou not seen those who are given a portion of the Book? They are invited to the Book of Allah that it may decide between them, then a party of them turn back and they withdraw.

3:23 This is because they say: The Fire shall not touch us but for a few days; and that which they forge deceives them regarding their religion.

3:24 Then how will it be when We gather them together on a day about which there is no doubt. And every soul shall be fully paid what it has earned, and they shall not be wronged?

3:25 Say O Allah, Owner of the Kingdom, Thou givest the kingdom to whom Thou pleasest, and takest away the kingdom from whom Thou pleasest, and Thou exaltest whom Thou pleasest and abasest whom Thou pleasest. In Thine hand is the good. Surely, Thou art Possessor of power over all things.

3:26 Thou makest the night to pass into the day and Thou makest the day to pass into the night; and Thou bringest forth the living from the dead and Thou bringest forth the dead from the living; and Thou givest sustenance to whom Thou pleasest without measure.

3:27 Let not the believers take the disbelievers for friends rather than believers. And whoever does this has no connection with Allah — except that you guard yourselves against them, guarding carefully. And Allah cautions you against His retribution. And to Allah is the eventual coming.

3:28 Say: Whether you hide what is in your hearts or manifest it, Allah knows it. And He knows whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

3:29 On the day when every soul will find present that which it has done of good; and that which it has done of evil — it will wish that between it and that (evil) there were a long distance. And Allah cautions you against His retribution. And Allah is Compassionate to the servants.

3:30 Say: If you love Allah, follow me: Allah will love you, and grant you protection from your sins. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

3:31 Say: Obey Allah and the Messenger; but if they turn back, Allah surely loves not the disbelievers.

3:32 Truly Allah chose Adam and Noah and the descendants of Abraham and the descendants of Amran above the nations,

3:33 Offspring, one of the other. And Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

3:34 When a woman of Amran said: My Lord, I vow to Thee what is in my womb, to be devoted (to Thy service), so accept (it) from me surely Thou, only Thou, art the Hearing, the Knowing.

3:35 So when she brought it forth, she said: My Lord, I have brought it forth a female — and Allah knew best what she brought forth — and the male is not like the female, and I have named it Mary, and I commend her and her offspring into Thy protection from the accursed devil.

3:36 So her Lord accepted her with a goodly acceptance and made her grow up a goodly growing, and gave her into the charge of Zacharias. Whenever Zacharias entered the sanctuary to (see) her, he found food with her. He said: O Mary, whence comes this to thee? She said: It is from Allah. Surely Allah gives to whom He pleases without measure.

3:37 There did Zacharias pray to his Lord. He said: My Lord, grant me from Thee goodly offspring: surely Thou art the Hearer of prayer.

3:38 So the angels called to him as he stood praying in the sanctuary Allah gives thee the good news of John, verifying a word from Allah, and honourable and chaste and a prophet from among the good ones.

3:39 He said: My Lord, how can I have a son when old age has already come upon me, and my wife is barren? He said: Even thus does Allah do what He pleases.

3:40 He said: My Lord, appoint a sign for me. Said He: Thy sign is that thou speak not to men for three days except by signs. And remember thy Lord much and glorify (Him) in the evening and early morning.

3:41 And when the angels said: O Mary, surely Allah has chosen thee and purified thee and chosen thee above the women of the world.

3:42 O Mary, be obedient to thy Lord and humble thyself and bow down with those who bow.

3:43 This is of the tidings of things unseen which We reveal to thee. And thou wast not with them when they cast their pens (to decide) which of them should have Mary in his charge, and thou wast not with them when they contended one with another.

3:44 When the angels said: O Mary, surely Allah gives thee good news with a word from Him (of one) whose name is the Messiah, Jesus, son of Mary, worthy of regard in this world and the Hereafter, and of those who are drawn nigh (to Allah),

3:45 And he will speak to the people when in the cradle and when of old age, and (he will be) one of the good ones.

3:46 She said: My Lord, how can I have a son and man has not yet touched me? He said: Even so; Allah creates what He pleases. When He decrees a matter, He only says to it, Be, and it is.

3:47 And He will teach him the Book and the Wisdom and the Torah and the Gospel:

3:48 And (make him) a messenger to the Children of Israel (saying) I have come to you with a sign from your Lord, that I determine for you out of dust the form of a bird, then I breathe into it and it becomes a bird with Allah's permission, and I heal the blind and the leprosy, and bring the dead to life with Allah's permission; and I inform you of what you should eat and what you should store in your houses. Surely there is a sign in this for you, if you are believers.

3:49 And (I am) a verifier of that which is before me of the Torah, and I allow you part of that which was forbidden to you; and I have come to you with a sign from your Lord, so keep your duty to Allah and obey me.

3:50 Surely Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so serve Him. This is the right path.

3:51 But when Jesus perceived disbelief on their part, he said Who will be my helpers in Allah's way? The disciples said We are Allah's helpers: we believe in Allah, and bear thou witness that we are submitting ones.

3:52 Our Lord, we believe in that which Thou hast revealed and we follow the messenger, so write us down with those who bear witness.

3:53 And (the Jews) planned and Allah (also) planned. And Allah is the best of planners.

3:54 When Allah said: O Jesus, I will cause thee to die and exalt thee in My presence and clear thee of those who disbelieve and make those who follow thee above those who disbelieve to the day of Resurrection. Then to Me is your return, so I shall decide between you concerning that wherein you differ.

3:55 Then as to those who disbelieve, I shall chastise them with severe chastisement in this world and the Hereafter, and they will have no helpers.

3:56 And as to those who believe and do good deeds, He will pay them fully their rewards. And Allah loves not the unjust.

3:57 This We recite to thee of the messages and the Reminder full of wisdom.

3:58 The likeness of Jesus with Allah is truly as the likeness of Adam. He created him from dust, then said to him, Be, and he was.

3:59 (This is) the truth from thy Lord, so be not of the disputers.

3:60 Whoever then disputes with thee in this matter after the knowledge that has come to thee, say: Come Let us call our sons and your sons and our women and your women and our people and your people, then let us be earnest in prayer, and invoke the curse of Allah on the liars.

3:61 Surely this is the true account, and there is no god but Allah. And Allah He surely is the Mighty, the Wise.

3:62 But if they turn away, then surely Allah knows the mischief-makers.

3:63 Say: O People of the Book, come to an equitable word between us and you, that we shall serve none but Allah and that we shall not associate aught with Him, and that some of us shall not take others for lords besides Allah. But if they turn away, then say: Bear witness, we are Muslims.

3:64 O People of the Book, why do you dispute about Abraham, when the Torah and the Gospel were not revealed till after him? Do you not understand?

3:65 Behold! You are they who disputed about that of which you had knowledge; why then do you dispute about that of which you have no knowledge? And Allah knows while you know not.

3:66 Abraham was not a Jew nor a Christian, but he was (an) upright (man), a Muslim; and he was not one of the polytheists.

3:67 The nearest of people to Abraham are surely those who follow him and this Prophet and those who believe. And Allah is the Friend of the believers.

3:68 A party of the People of the Book desire that they should lead you astray; and they lead not astray but themselves, and they perceive not.

3:69 O People of the Book, why do you disbelieve in the messages of Allah while you witness (their truth)?

3:70 O People of the Book, why do you confound the truth with falsehood, and hide the truth while you know?

3:71 And a party of the People of the Book say: Avow belief in that which has been revealed to those who believe, in the first part of the day, and disbelieve in the latter part of it, perhaps they may turn back.

3:72 And believe not but in him who follows your religion. Say True guidance — Allah's guidance — is that one may be given the like of what you were given; or they would prevail on you in argument before your Lord. Say Grace is surely in Allah's hand. He gives it to whom He pleases. And Allah is Ample-giving, Knowing.

3:73 He specially chooses for His mercy whom He pleases. And Allah is the Lord of mighty grace.

3:74 And among the People of the Book there is he who, if thou entrust him with a heap of wealth, would pay it back to thee; and among them is he who, if thou entrust him with a dinar would not pay it back to thee, unless thou kept on demanding it. This is because they say there is no blame on us in the matter of the unlearned people and they forge a lie against Allah while they know.

3:75 Yea, whoever fulfils his promise and keeps his duty — then Allah surely loves the dutiful.

3:76 Those who take a small price for the covenant of Allah and their own oaths — they have no portion in the Hereafter, and Allah will not speak to them, nor will He look upon them on the day of Resurrection, nor will He purify them, and for them is a painful chastisement.

3:77 And there is certainly a party of them who lie about the Book that you may consider it to be (a part) of the Book while it is not (a part) of the Book; and they say, It is from Allah, while it is not from Allah; and they forge a lie against Allah whilst they know.

3:78 It is not meet for a mortal that Allah should give him the Book and the judgement and the prophethood, then he should say to men: Be my servants besides Allah's; but (he would say): Be worshippers of the Lord because you teach the Book and because you study (it);

3:79 Nor would he enjoin you to take the angels and the prophets for lords. Would he enjoin you to disbelieve after you submit?

3:80 And when Allah made a covenant through the prophets Certainly what I have given you of Book and Wisdom — then a Messenger comes to you verifying that which is with you, you shall believe in him, and you shall aid him. He said: Do you affirm and accept My compact in this (matter)? They said We do affirm. He said Then bear witness, and I (too) am of the bearers of witness with you.

3:81 Whoever then turns back after this, these are the transgressors.

3:82 Seek they then other than Allah's religion? And to Him submits whoever is in the heavens and the earth, willingly or unwillingly, and to Him they will be returned.

3:83 Say We believe in Allah and that which is revealed to us, and that which was revealed to Abraham and Ishmael and Isaac and Jacob and the tribes, and that which was given to Moses and Jesus and to the prophets from their Lord; we make no distinction between any of them, and to Him we submit.

3:84 And whoever seeks a religion other than Islam, it will not be accepted from him, and in the Hereafter he will be one of the losers.

3:85 How shall Allah guide a people who disbelieved after their believing, and (after) they had borne witness that the Messenger was true, and clear arguments had come to them? And Allah guides not the unjust people.

3:86 As for these their reward is that on them is the curse of Allah and the angels and of men, all together —

3:87 Abiding therein. Their chastisement shall not be lightened, nor shall they be respited —

3:88 Except those who repent after that and amend, for surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

3:89 Those who disbelieve after their believing, then increase in disbelief, their repentance is not accepted, and these are they that go astray.

3:90 Those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers, the earth full of gold will not be accepted from one of them, though he should offer it as ransom. This is for whom is a painful chastisement, and they shall have no helpers.

3:91 You cannot attain to righteousness unless you spend out of what you love. And what you spend, Allah surely knows it.

3:92 All food was lawful to the Children of Israel, before the Torah was revealed. — except that which Israel forbade himself. Say Bring the Torah and read it, if you are truthful.

3:93 So whoever forges a lie against Allah after this, these are the wrong-doers.

3:94 Say Allah speaks the truth; so follow the religion of Abraham, the upright one. And he was not one of the polytheists.

3:95 Certainly the first house appointed for men is the one at Bakkah, blessed and a guidance for the nations.

3:96 In it are clear signs: (It is) the Place of Abraham; and whoever enters it is safe; and pilgrimage to the House is a duty which men owe to Allah — whoever can find a way to it. And whoever disbelieves, surely Allah is above need of the worlds.

3:97 Say: O People of the Book, why do you disbelieve in the messages of Allah? And Allah is a witness of what you do.

3:98 Say: O People of the Book, why do you hinder those who believe from the way of Allah, seeking (to make) it crooked, while you are witnesses? And Allah is not heedless of what you do.

3:99 O you who believe, if you obey a party from among those who have been given the Book, they will turn you back as disbelievers after your belief.

3:100 And how can you disbelieve while to you are recited the messages of Allah, and among you is His Messenger? And whoever holds fast to Allah, he indeed is guided to a right path.

3:101 O you who believe, keep your duty to Allah, as it ought to be kept, and die not unless you are Muslims.

3:102 And hold fast by the covenant of Allah all together and be not disunited. And remember Allah's favour to you when you were enemies, then He united your hearts so by His favour you became brethren. And you were on the brink of a pit of fire, then He saved you from it. Thus Allah makes clear to you His messages that you may be guided.

3:103 And from among you there should be a party who invite to good and enjoin the right and forbid the wrong. And these are they who are successful.

3:104 And be not like those who became divided and disagreed after clear arguments had come to them. And for them is a grievous chastisement.

3:105 On the day when (some) faces turn white and (some) faces turn black. Then as to those whose faces are black: Did you disbelieve after your belief? So taste the chastisement because you disbelieved.

3:106 And as to those whose faces are white, they shall be in Allah's mercy. Therein they shall abide.

3:107 These are the messages of Allah which We recite to thee with truth. And Allah desires no injustice to (His) creatures.

3:108 And to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And to Allah are all affairs returned.

3:109 You are the best nation raised up for men; you enjoin good and forbid evil and you believe in Allah. And if the People of the Book had believed, it would have been better for them. Some of them are believers but most of them are transgressors.

3:110 They will not harm you save a slight hurt. And if they fight you, they will turn (their) backs to you. Then they will not be helped.

3:111 Abasement will be their lot wherever they are found, except under a covenant with Allah and a covenant with men, and they shall incur the wrath of Allah, and humiliation will be made to cling to them. This is because they disbelieved in the messages of Allah and killed the prophets unjustly. This is because they disobeyed and exceeded the limits.

3:112 They are not all alike. Of the People of the Book there is an upright party who recite Allah's messages in the night time and they adore (Him).

3:113 They believe in Allah and the Last Day, and they enjoin good and forbid evil and vie one with another in good deeds. And those are among the righteous.

3:114 And whatever good they do, they will not be denied it, And Allah knows those who keep their duty.

3:115 Those who disbelieve, neither their wealth nor their children will avail them aught against Allah. And these are the companions of the Fire therein they abide.

3:116 The likeness of that which they spend in the life of this world is as the likeness of wind in which is intense cold it smites the harvest of a people who are unjust to themselves and destroys it. And Allah wronged them not but they wronged themselves.

3:117 O you who believe, take not for intimate friends others than your own people; they spare no pains to cause you loss. They love that which distresses you: Vehement hatred has already appeared from out of their mouths, and that which their hearts conceal is greater still. Indeed We have made the messages clear to you if you understand.

3:118 Lo! you are they who will love them while they love you not, and you believe in the Book, (in) the whole of it. And when they meet you they say, We believe, and when they are alone, they bite (their) finger tips in rage against you. Say Die in your rage. Surely Allah is Knower of what is in the hearts.

3:119 If good befalls you, it grieves them, and if an evil afflicts you, they rejoice at it. And if you are patient and keep your duty, their struggle will not injure you in any way. Surely Allah encompasses what they do.

3:120 And when thou didst go forth early in the morning from thy family, to assign to the believers their positions for the battle. And Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

3:121 When two parties from among you thought of showing cowardice, and Allah was the Guardian of them both. And in Allah should the believers trust.

3:122 And Allah certainly helped you at Badr when you were weak. So keep your duty to Allah that you may give thanks.

3:123 When thou didst say to the believers: Does it not suffice you that your Lord should help you with three thousand angels sent down?

3:124 Yea, if you are steadfast and keep your duty, and they come upon you in a headlong manner, your Lord will assist you with five thousand of havoc-making angels.

3:125 And Allah made it only as good news for you, and that your hearts might be at ease thereby. And help comes only from Allah, the Mighty, the Wise,

3:126 That He may cut off a part of those who disbelieve or abase them so that they should return in failure.

3:127 Thou hast no concern in the matter whether He turns to them (mercifully) or chastises them; surely they are wrongdoers.

3:128 And to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. He forgives whom He pleases and chastises whom He pleases. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

3:129 O you who believe, devour not usury, doubling and redoubling, and keep your duty to Allah, that you may be successful.

3:130 And guard yourselves against the fire which has been prepared for the disbelievers.

3:131 And obey Allah and the Messenger, that you may be shown mercy.

3:132 And hasten to forgiveness from your Lord and a Garden, as wide as the heavens and the earth it is prepared for those who keep their duty.

3:133 Those who spend in ease as well as in adversity and those who restrain (their) anger and pardon men. And Allah loves the doers of good (to others).

3:134 And those who, when they commit an indecency or wrong their souls, remember Allah and ask forgiveness for their sins. And who forgives sins but Allah? And they persist not knowingly in what they do.

3:135 Their reward is protection from their Lord, and Gardens wherein flow rivers, to abide in them. And excellent is the reward of the workers!

3:136 Indeed there have been examples before you; so travel in the earth and see what was the end of the deniers.

3:137 This is a clear statement for men, and a guidance and an admonition to those who would keep their duty.

3:138 And be not weak-hearted, nor grieve, and you will have the upper hand if you are believers.

3:139 If a wound has afflicted you, a wound like it has also afflicted the (disbelieving) people. And We bring these days to men by turns, that Allah may know those who believe and take witnesses from among you. And Allah loves not the wrongdoers, 3:140 And that He may purge those who believe and deprive the disbelievers of blessings.

3:141 Do you think that you will enter the Garden while Allah has nor yet known those from among you who strive hard (nor) known the steadfast?

3:142 And certainly you desired death before you met it. So indeed you have seen it now while you look (at it).

3:143 And Muhammad is but a messenger — messengers have already passed away before him. If then he dies or is killed, will you turn back upon your heels? And he who turns back upon his heels will do no harm at all to Allah. And Allah will reward the grateful.

3:144 And no soul can die but with Allah's permission — the term is fixed. And whoever desires the reward of this world, We give him of it, and whoever desires the reward of the Hereafter, We give him of it. And We shall reward the grateful.

3:145 And how many a prophet has fought, with whom were many worshippers of the Lord. So they did not lose heart on account of that which befell them in Allah's way, nor did they weaken, nor did they abase themselves. And Allah loves the steadfast.

3:146 And their cry was only that they said: Our Lord, grant us protection from our sins and our extravagance in our affair, and make firm our feet and grant us victory over the disbelieving people.

3:147 So Allah gave them the reward of the world and a good reward of the Hereafter. And Allah loves the doers of good (to others).

3:148 O you who believe, if you obey those who disbelieve, they will make you turn back upon your heels, so you will turn back losers.

3:149 Nay, Allah is your Patron, and He is the Best of the helpers.

3:150 We will cast terror into the hearts of those who disbelieve because they set up with Allah that for which He has sent down no authority, and their abode is the Fire. And evil is the abode of the wrong-doers.

3:151 And Allah certainly made good His promise to you when you slew them by His permission, until you: became weak-hearted and disputed about the affair and disobeyed after He had shown you that which you loved. Of you were some who desired this world, and of you were some who desired the Hereafter. Then He turned you away from them that He might try you: and He has indeed pardoned you. And Allah is Gracious to the believers.

3:152 When you went away far, and paid no heed to anyone, and the Messenger was calling you in your rear. So He gave you (another) grief for (your) first grief that you might not grieve at what escaped you, nor (at) what befell you. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

3:153 Then after grief He sent down security on you, slumber overcoming a party of you, while (there was) another party whom their own souls had rendered anxious they entertained about Allah thoughts of ignorance quite unjustly. They said: Have we any hand in the affair? Say: The affair is wholly (in the hands) of Allah. They bide within their souls that which they would not reveal to thee. They say: Had we any hand in the affair. we would not have been slain here. Say Had you remained in your houses, those for whom slaughter was ordained would have gone forth to the places where they would be slain. And (this happened) that Allah might test what was in your breasts and that He might purge what was in your hearts. And Allah is Knower of what is in the breasts.

3:154 Those of you who turned back on the day when the two armies met, only the devil sought to cause them to make a slip on account of some deeds they had done, and certainly Allah has pardoned them. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Forbearing.

3:155 O you who believe, be not like those who disbelieve and say of their brethren when they travel in the earth or engage in fighting: Had they been with us, they would not have died, or been slain; that Allah may make it to be a regret in their hearts. And Allah gives life and causes death. And Allah is Seer of what you, do.

3:156 And if you are slain in Allah's way or you die, surely Allah's protection and (His) mercy are better than what they amass.

3:157 And if you die or you are slain, to Allah you are gathered.

3:158 Thus it is by Allah's mercy that thou art gentle to them. And hadst thou been rough, hard-hearted, they would certainly have dispersed from around thee. So pardon them and ask protection for them, and consult them in (important) matters. But when thou hast determined, put thy trust in Allah. Surely Allah loves those who trust (in Him).

3:159 If Allah helps you, there is none that can overcome you; and if He forsakes you, who is there that can help you after Him? And in Allah should the believers put their trust.

3:160 And it is not for a prophet to act dishonestly. And whoever acts dishonestly will bring his dishonesty on the day of Resurrection. Then shall every soul be paid back fully what it has earned, and they will not be wronged.

3:161 Is then he who follows the pleasure of Allah like him who incurs Allah's displeasure, and his abode is hell? And it is an evil destination.

3:162 There are grades with Allah. And Allah is Seer of what they do.

3:163 Certainly Allah conferred a favour on the believers when He raised among them a Messenger from among themselves, reciting to them His messages and purifying them, and teaching them the Book and the Wisdom, although before that they were surely in manifest error.

3:164 What! When a misfortune befell you, and you had inflicted twice as much, you say: Whence is this? Say It is from yourselves. Surely Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

3:165 And that which befell you on the day when the two armies met was by Allah's permission, that He might know the believers,

3:166 And that He might know the hypocrites. And it was said to them Come, fight in Allah's way, or defend yourselves. They said: If we knew fighting, we would have followed you. They were on that day nearer to disbelief than to belief: they say with their mouths what is not in their hearts. And Allah best knows what they conceal.

3:167 Those who said of their brethren whilst they (themselves) held back: Had they obeyed us, they would not have been killed. Say: Avert death from yourselves, if you are truthful.

3:168 And think not of those who are killed in Allah's way as dead. Nay, they are alive being provided sustenance from their Lord,

3:169 Rejoicing in what Allah has given them out of His grace, and they rejoice for the sake of those who, (being left) behind them, have not yet joined them, that they have no fear, nor shall they grieve.

3:170 They rejoice for Allah's favour and (His) grace, and that Allah wastes not the reward of the believers.

3:171 Those who responded to the call of Allah and the Messenger after the misfortune had befallen them — for such among them who do good and keep their duty is a great reward.

3:172 Those to whom men said: Surely people have gathered against you, so fear them; but this increased their faith, and they said: Allah is sufficient for us and He is an excellent Guardian.

3:173 So they returned with favour from Allah and (His) grace; no evil touched them, and they followed the pleasure of Allah. And Allah is the Lord of mighty grace.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

3:174 It is the devil who only frightens his friends, but fear them not, and fear Me, if you are believers.

3:175 And let not those grieve thee who run into disbelief precipitately surely they can do no harm to Allah. Allah intends not to assign them any portion in the Hereafter; and for them is a grievous chastisement.

3:176 Those who buy disbelief at the price of faith can do no harm to Allah, and for them is a painful chastisement.

3:177 And let not those who disbelieve think that our granting them respite is good for themselves. We grant them respite only that they may add to their sins; and for them is an humiliating chastisement.

3:178 Allah will not leave the believers in the condition in which you are until He separates the evil from the good. Nor is Allah going to make you acquainted with the unseen, but Allah chooses of His Messengers whom He pleases. So believe in Allah and His Messengers. And if you believe and keep your duty, you will have a great reward.

3:179 And let not those who are niggardly in spending that which Allah has granted them out of His grace, think that it is good for them. Nay, it is evil for them. They shall have a collar of their niggardliness on their necks on the Resurrection day. And Allah's is the heritage of the heavens and the earth. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

3:180 Allah has certainly heard the saying of those who said: Allah is poor and we are rich. We shall record what they say, and their killing the prophets unjustly, and We shall say: Taste the chastisement of burning.

3:181 This is for that which your own hands have sent before, and because Allah is not in the least unjust to the servants.

3:182 Those who say: Allah has enjoined us that we should not believe in any messenger until he brings us an offering which is consumed by the fire. Say: Indeed there came to you messengers before me with clear arguments and with that which you demand. Why then did you try to kill them, if you are truthful?

3:183 But if they reject thee, so indeed were rejected before thee messengers who came with clear arguments and scriptures and the illuminating Book.

3:184 Every soul will taste of death. And you will be paid your reward fully only on the Resurrection day. Then whoever is removed far from the Fire and is made to enter the Garden, he indeed attains the object. And the life of this world is nothing but a provision of vanities.

3:185 You will certainly be tried in your property and your persons. And you will certainly hear from those who have been given the Book before you and from the idolaters much abuse. And if you are patient and keep your duty, surely this is an affair of great resolution.

3:186 And when Allah took a covenant from those who were given the Book You shall explain it to men and shall not hide it. But they cast it behind their backs and took a small price for it. So evil is that which they buy.

3:187 Think not that those who exult in what they have done, and love to be praised. for what they have not done — think not them to be safe from the chastisement; and for them is a painful chastisement.

3:188 And Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

3:189 In the creation of the heavens and the earth and the alternation of the night and the day, there are surely signs for men of understanding.

3:190 Those who remember Allah standing and sitting and (lying) on their sides, and reflect on the creation of the heavens and the earth: Our Lord, Thou hast not created this in vain! Glory be to Thee! Save us from the chastisement of the Fire.

3:191 Our Lord, whomsoever Thou makest enter the Fire, him Thou indeed bringest to disgrace. And there will be no helpers for the wrongdoers.

3:192 Our Lord, surely we have heard a Crier calling to the faith, saying Believe in your Lord. So we do believe. Our Lord, grant us protection from our sins and remove our evils and make us die with the righteous.

3:193 Our Lord, grant us what Thou hast promised us by Thy messengers and disgrace us not on the day of Resurrection. Surely Thou never failest in (Thy) promise!

3:194 So their Lord accepted their prayer, (saying) I will not suffer the work of any worker among you to be lost whether male or female, the one of you being from the other. So those who fled and were driven forth from their homes and persecuted in My way and who fought and were slain, I shall truly remove their evil and make them enter Gardens wherein flow rivers — a reward from Allah. And with Allah is the best reward.

3:195 Let not control in the land, of those who disbelieve, deceive thee.

3:196 A brief enjoyment! Then their abode is hell. And evil is the resting-place.

3:197 But those who keep their duty to their Lord, for them are Gardens wherein flow rivers, to abide therein; an entertainment from their Lord. And that which Allah has in store for the righteous is best.

3:198 And of the People of the Book there are those who believe in Allah and (in) that which has been revealed to you and (in) that which has been revealed to them, humbling themselves before Allah — they take not a small price for the messages of Allah. These it is that have their reward with their Lord. Surely Allah is Swift to take account

3:199 O you who believe, be steadfast and try to excel in steadfastness and guard (the frontiers). And keep your duty to Allah that you may be successful.

CHAPTER 98 / Sura 61

The Ranks Al-Saff

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

61:1 Whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth glorifies Allah; and He is the Mighty, the Wise.

61:2 O you who believe, why say you that which you do not?

61:3 It is most hateful in the sight of Allah that you say that which you do not.

61:4 Surely Allah loves those who fight in His way in ranks, as if they were a solid wall.

61:5 And when Moses said to his people O my people, why do you malign me, when you know that I am Allah's messenger to you? But when they deviated, Allah made their hearts deviate. And Allah guides not the transgressing people.

61:6 And when Jesus, son of Mary, said O Children of Israel, surely I am the messenger of Allah to you, verifying that which is before me of the Torah and giving the good news of a Messenger who will come after me, his name being Ahmad. But when he came to them with clear arguments, they said: This is clear enchantment.

61:7 And who is more unjust than he who forges a lie against Allah and he is invited to Islam. And Allah guides not the unjust people.

61:8 They desire to put out the light of Allah with their mouths, but Allah will perfect His light, though the disbelievers may be averse.

61:9 He it is Who sent His Messenger with the guidance and the true religion, that He may make it overcome the religions, all of them, though the polytheists may be averse.

61:10 O you who believe, shall I lead you to a merchandise which will deliver you from a painful chastisement?

61:11 You should believe in Allah and His Messenger, and strive hard in Allah's way with your wealth and your lives. That is better for you, did you but know!

61:12 He will forgive you your sins and cause you to enter Gardens wherein rivers flow, and goodly dwellings in Gardens of perpetuity that is the mighty achievement —

61:13 And yet another (blessing) that you love: help from Allah and a victory near at hand; and give good news to the believers.

61:14 O you who believe, be helpers (in the cause) of Allah, as Jesus, son of Mary, said to the disciples: Who are my helpers in the cause of Allah? The disciples said: We are helpers (in the cause) of Allah. So a party of the Children of Israel believed and another party disbelieved; then We aided those who believed against their enemy, and they became predominant.

KORAN CHAPTER 99 / Sura 57

Iron / Al-Hadid

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

57:1 Whatever is in the heavens and the earth declares the glory of Allah, and He is the Mighty, the Wise.

57:2 His is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He gives life and causes death; and He is Possessor of power over all things.

57:3 He is the First and the Last and the Manifest and the Hidden, and He is Knower of all things.

57:4 He it is Who created the heavens and the earth in six periods, and He is established on the Throne of Power. He knows that which goes down into the earth and that which comes forth out of it, and that which comes down from heaven and that which goes up to it. And He is with you wherever you are. And Allah is Seer of what you do.

57:5 His is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth; and to Allah are (all) affairs returned.

57:6 He causes the night to pass into the day, and causes the day to pass into the night. And He is Knower of what is in the hearts.

57:7 Believe in Allah and His Messenger, and spend of that whereof He has made you heirs. So those of you who believe and spend for them is a great reward.

57:8 And what reason have you that you believe not in Allah? And the Messenger invites you to believe in your Lord, and He has indeed accepted your covenant, if you are believers.

57:9 He it is Who sends down clear messages to His servant, that he may bring you forth from darkness into light. And surely Allah is Kind, Merciful to you.

57:10 And what reason have you that you spend not in Allah's way? And Allah's is the inheritance of the heavens and the earth. Those of you who spent before the Victory and fought are not on a level (with others). They are greater in rank than those who spent and fought afterwards. And Allah has promised good to all. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

57:11 Who is he that will offer to Allah a good gift, so He will double it for him, and he will have a generous reward.

57:12 On that day thou wilt see the faithful men and the faithful women, their light gleaming before them and on their right hand. Good news for you this day — Gardens wherein rivers flow, to abide therein! That is the grand achievement.

57:13 On the day when the hypocrites? men and women, will say to those who believe: Wait for us, that we may borrow from your light. It will be said: Turn back and seek a light. Then a wall, with a door in it, will be raised between them. Within it shall be mercy, and outside of it chastisement.

57:14 They will cry out to them: Were we not with you? They will say: Yea, but you caused yourselves to fall into temptation, and you waited and doubted, and vain desire deceived you, till the threatened punishment of Allah came, and the arch-deceiver deceived you about Allah.

57:15 So this day no ransom will be accepted from you, nor from those who disbelieved. Your abode is the Fire it is your patron and evil is the resort.

57:16 Has not the time yet come for the believers that their hearts should be humble for the remembrance of Allah and the Truth that is revealed, and (that) they should not be like those who were given the Book before, but time was prolonged for them, so their hearts hardened. And most of them are transgressors.

57:17 Know that Allah gives life to the earth after its death. Indeed, We have made the signs clear for you that you may understand.

57:18 The men who give in charity and the women who give in charity and set apart for Allah a goodly portion, it will be doubled for them, and theirs is a generous reward.

57:19 And those who believe in Allah and His messengers, they are the truthful and the faithful ones with their Lord. They have their reward and their light. And those who disbelieve and reject Our messages, they are the inmates of hell.

57:20 Know that this world's life is only sport and play and gaiety and boasting among yourselves and a vying in the multiplication of wealth and children. It is as rain, whose causing the vegetation to grow pleases the husbandmen, then it withers away so that thou seest it turning yellow, then it becomes chaff. And in the Hereafter is a severe chastisement, and (also) forgiveness from Allah and (His) pleasure. And this world's life is naught but a source of vanity.

57:21 Vie one with another for forgiveness from your Lord and a Garden the extensiveness of which is as the extensiveness of the heaven and the earth — it is prepared for those who believe in Allah and His messengers. That is the grace of Allah; He gives it to whom He pleases. And Allah is the Lord of mighty grace.

57:22 No disaster befalls in the earth, or in yourselves, but it is in a book before We bring it into existence — surely that is easy to Allah —

57:23 So that you grieve not for what has escaped you, nor exult in that which He has given you. And Allah loves not any arrogant boaster:

57:24 Such as are niggardly and enjoin niggardliness on men. And whoever turns back, then surely Allah is the Self-Sufficient, the Praised.

57:25 Certainly We sent Our messengers with clear arguments, and sent down with them the Book and the measure, that men may conduct themselves with equity. And We sent down iron, wherein is great violence and advantages to men, and that Allah may know who helps Him and His messengers, unseen. Surely Allah is Strong, Mighty.

57:26 And certainly We sent Noah and Abraham, and We gave prophethood and the Book to their offspring; so among them is he who goes aright, but most of them are transgressors.

57:27 Then We made Out messengers to follow in their footsteps, and We made Jesus son of Mary to follow, and We gave him the Gospel. And We put compassion and mercy in the hearts of those who followed him. And (as for) monkey, they innovated it — We did not prescribe it to them — only to seek Allah's pleasure, but they did not observe it with its due observance. So We gave those of them who believed their reward, but most of them are transgressors.

57:28 O you who believe, keep your duty, to Allah and believe in His Messenger — He will give you two portions of His mercy, and give you a light in which you shall walk, and forgive you. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful —

57:29 That the People of the Book may know that they control naught of the grace of Allah, and that grace is in Allah's hand. He gives it to whom He pleases. And Allah is the Lord of mighty grace.

KORAN CHAPTER 100 / Sura 4

The Women / Al-Nisa

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

4:1 O people, keep your duty to your Lord, Who created you from a single being and created its mate of the same (kind), and spread from these two many men and women. And keep your duty to Allah, by Whom you demand one of another (your rights), and (to) the ties of relationship. Surely Allah is ever a Watcher over you.

4:2 And give to the orphans their property, and substitute not worthless (things) for (their) good (ones), and devour not their property (adding) to your own property. This is surely a great sin.

4:3 And if you fear that you cannot do justice to orphans, marry such women as seem good to you, two, or three, or four; but if you fear that you will not do justice, then (marry) only one or that which your right hands possess. This is more proper that you may not do injustice.

4:4 And give women their dowries as a free gift. But if they of themselves be pleased to give you a portion thereof, consume it with enjoyment and pleasure.

4:5 And make not over your property, which Allah has made a (means of) support for you, to the weak of understanding, and maintain them out of it, and clothe them and give them a good education.

4:6 And test the orphans until they reach the age of marriage. Then if you find in them maturity of intellect, make over to them their property, and consume it not extravagantly and hastily against their growing up. And whoever is rich, let him abstain, and whoever is poor let him consume reasonably. And when you make over to them their property, call witnesses in their presence. And Allah is enough as a Reckoner.

4:7 For men is a share of what the parents and the near relatives leave, and for women a share of what the parents and the near relatives leave, whether it be little or much — an appointed share.

4:8 And when relatives and the orphans and the needy are present at the division, give them out of it and speak to them kind words.

4:9 And let those fear who, should they leave behind them weakly off-spring, would fear on their account; so let them observe their duty to Allah and let them speak right words.

4:10 Those who swallow the property of the orphans unjustly, they swallow only fire into their bellies. And they will burn in blazing fire.

4:11 Allah enjoins you concerning your children: for the male is the equal of the portion of two females but it there be more than two females, two-thirds of what the deceased leaves is theirs; and if there be one, for her is the half. And as for his parents, for each of them is the sixth of what he leaves, if he has a child; but if he has no child and (only) his two parents inherit him, for his mother is the third; but if he has brothers, for his mother is the sixth, after (payment of) a bequest he may have bequeathed or a debt. Your parents and your children, you know not which of them is the nearer to you in benefit. This is an ordinance from Allah. Allah is surely ever Knowing, Wise.

4:12 And yours is half of what your wives leave if they have no child; but if they have a child, your share is a fourth of what they leave after (payment of) any bequest they may have bequeathed or a debt; and theirs is the fourth of what you leave if you have no child, but if you have a child, their share is the eighth of what you leave after (payment of) a bequest You may have bequeathed or a debt.

%And if a man or a woman, having no children leaves property to be inherited and he (or she) has a brother or a sister, then for each of them is the sixth; but if they are more than that, they shall be sharers in the third after (payment of) a bequest that may have been bequeathed or a debt not injuring (others). This is an ordinance from Allah and Allah is Knowing, Forbearing.

4:13 These are Allah's limits. And whoever obeys Allah and His Messenger, He will admit him to Gardens wherein flow rivers, to abide in them. And this is the great achievement.

4:14 And whoever disobey Allah and His Messenger and goes beyond His limits, He will make him enter fire to abide in it, and for him is an abasing chastisement.

4:15 And as for those of your women who are guilty of an indecency, call to witness against them four (witnesses) from among you; so if they bear witness, confine them to the houses until death takes them away or Allah opens a way for them.

4:16 And as for the two of you who are guilty of it, give them both a slight punishment; then if they repent and amend, turn aside from them. Surely Allah is ever Oft-returning (to mercy), the Merciful.

4:17 Repentance with Allah is only for those who do evil in ignorance, then turn (to Allah) soon, so these it is to whom Allah turns (mercifully). And Allah is ever Knowing, Wise.

4:18 And repentance is not for those who go on doing evil deeds, until when death comes to one of them, he says Now I repent; nor (for) those who die while they are disbelievers. For such We have prepared a painful chastisement.

4:19 O you who believe, it is not lawful for you to take women as heritage against (their) will. Nor should you straiten them by taking part of what you have given them, unless they are guilty of manifest indecency. And treat them kindly. Then if you hate them, it may be that you dislike a thing while Allah has placed abundant good in it.

4:20 And if you wish to have (one) wife in the place of another and you have given one of them a heap of gold, take nothing from it. Would you take it by slandering (her) and (doing her) manifest wrong?

4:21 And how can you take it when one of you has already gone in to the other and they have taken from you a strong covenant?

4:22 And marry not women whom your fathers married, except what has already passed. This surely is indecent and hateful; and it is an evil way.

4:23 Forbidden to you are your mothers, and your daughters, and your sisters, and your paternal aunts, and your maternal aunts, and brother's daughters and sister's daughters, and your mothers that have suckled you, and your foster-sisters, and mothers of your wives, and your stepdaughters who are in your guardianship (born) of your wives to whom you have gone in — but if you have not gone in to them, there is no blame on you — and the wives of your sons who are of your own loins; and that you should have two sisters together, except what has already passed. Surely Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

4:24 And all married women except those whom your right hands possess (are forbidden); (this is) Allah's ordinance to you. And lawful for you are (all women) besides those, provided that you seek (them) with your property, taking (them) in marriage, not committing fornication. Then as to those whom you profit by (by marrying), give them their dowries as appointed. And there is no blame on you about what you mutually agree after what is appointed (of dowry). Surely Allah is ever Knowing, Wise.

4:25 And whoever among you cannot afford to marry free believing women, (let him marry) such of your believing maidens as your right hands possess. And Allah knows best your faith — you are (sprung) the one from the other. So marry them with the permission of their masters, and give them their dowries justly, they being chaste, not fornicating, nor receiving paramours; then if they are guilty of adultery when they are taken in marriage, they shall suffer half the punishment for free married women. This is for him among you who fears falling into evil. And that you abstain is better for you. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

4:26 Allah desires to explain to you, and to guide you into the ways of those before you, and to turn to you (mercifully). And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

4:27 And Allah desires to turn to you (mercifully). And those who follow (their) lusts desire that you should deviate (with) a great deviation.

4:28 Allah desires to make light your burdens, and man is created weak.

4:29 O you who believe, devour not your property among yourselves by illegal methods except that it be trading by your mutual consent. And kill not your people. Surely Allah is ever Merciful to you.

4:30 And whoso does this aggressively and unjustly, We shall soon cast him into fire. And this is ever easy for Allah.

4:31 If you shun the great things which you are forbidden, We shall do away with your evil (inclinations) and cause you to enter an honourable place of entering.

4:32 And covet not that by which Allah has made some of you excel others. For men is the benefit of what they earn. And for women is the benefit of what they earn. And ask Allah of His grace. Surely Allah is ever Knower of all things.

4:33 And to every one We have appointed heirs of that which parents and near relatives leave. And as to those with whom your right hands have ratified agreements, give them their due. Surely Allah is ever Witness over all things.

4:34 Men are the maintainers of women, with what Allah has made some of them to excel others and with what they spend out of their wealth. So the good women are obedient, guarding the unseen as Allah has guarded. And (as to) those on whose part you fear desertion, admonish them, and leave them alone in the beds and chastise them. So if they obey you, seek not a way against them Surely Allah is ever Exalted, Great.

4:35 And if you fear a breach between the two, appoint an arbiter from his people and an arbiter from her people. If they both desire agreement, Allah will effect harmony between them. Surely Allah is ever Knowing, Aware.

4:36 And serve Allah, and associate naught with Him, and be good to the parents and to the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the neighbour of (your) kin and the alien neighbour, and the companion in a journey and the wayfarer and those whom your right hands possess. Surely Allah loves not such as are proud, boastful,

4:37 Who are niggardly and hide that which Allah has given them out of His grace. And We have prepared for the disbelievers an abasing chastisement — And those who spend their wealth to be seen of men and believe not in Allah nor in the Last Day. And as for him whose companion is the devil, an evil companion is he!

4:39 And what (harm) would it do them if they believe in Allah and the Last Day and spend of that which Allah has given them? And Allah is ever Knower of them.

4:40 Surely Allah wrongs not the weight of an atom; and if it is a good deed, He multiplies it and gives from Himself a great reward.

4:41 But how will it be when We bring from every people a witness and bring thee as a witness against these?

4:42 On that day will those who disbelieved and disobeyed the Messenger desire that the earth were levelled with them. And they can hide no fact from Allah.

4:43 O you who believe, go not neat prayer when you are intoxicated till you know what you say, nor after sexual intercourse — except you are merely passing by — until you have bathed. And if you are sick, or on a journey, or one of you come from the privy, or you have touched the women, and you cannot find water, betake yourselves to pure earth, then wipe your faces and your hands. Surely Allah is ever Pardoning, Forgiving.

4:44 Seest thou not those to whom a portion of the Book was given? They buy error and desire to make you err from the (right) way.

4:45 And Allah best knows your enemies. And Allah is sufficient as a Friend and Allah is sufficient as a Helper.

4:46 Some of those who are Jews alter words from their places and say, We have heard and we disobey and (say), Hear without being made to hear, and (say), Ralna, distorting with their tongues and slandering religion. And if they had said, We hear and we obey, and hearken, and unzurna; it would have been better for them and more upright; but Allah has cursed them on account of their disbelief, so they believe not but a little.

4:47 O you who have been given the Book, believe in what We have revealed, verifying that which you have, before We destroy the leaders and turn them on their backs, or curse them as We cursed the Sabbath-breakers. And the command of Allah is ever executed.

4:48 Surely Allah forgives not that a partner should be set up with Him, and forgives all besides that to whom He pleases. And whoever sets up a partner with Allah, he devises indeed a great sin.

4:49 Hast thou not seen those who attribute purity to themselves? Nay, Allah purifies whom He pleases, and they will not be wronged a whit.

4:50 See how they forge lies against Allah! And sufficient is this as a manifest sin.

4:51 Hast thou not seen those to whom a portion of the Book was given? They believe in sorcery and diviners and say of those who disbelieve: These are better guided in the path than those who believe.

4:52 Those are they whom Allah has cursed. And whomever Allah curses, thou wilt not find a helper for him.

4:53 Or have they a share in the kingdom? But then they would nor give to people even the speck on a date-stone.

4:54 Or do they envy the people for that which Allah has given them of His grace? But indeed We have given to Abraham's children the Book and the Wisdom, and We have given them a grand kingdom.

4:55 So of them is he who believes in him, and of them is he who turns away from him. And Hell is sufficient to burn.

4:56 Those who disbelieve in Our Messages, we shall make them enter Fire. As often as their skins are burned, We shall change them for other skins, that they may taste the chastisement. Surely Allah is ever Mighty, Wise.

4:57 And those who believe and do good deeds, We shall make them enter Gardens wherein flow rivers, to abide in them for ever. For them therein are pure companions and We shall make them enter a pleasant shade.

4:58 Surely Allah commands you to make over trusts to those worthy of them, and that when you judge between people, you judge with justice. Surely Allah admonishes you with what is excellent. Surely Allah is ever Hearing, Seeing.

4:59 O you who believe, obey Allah and obey the Messenger and those in authority from among you; then if you quarrel about any thing, refer it to Allah and the Messenger, if you believe in Allah and the Last Day. This is best and more suitable to (achieve) the end.

4:60 Hast thou not seen those who assert that they believe in that which has been revealed to thee and that which was revealed before thee? They desire to seek the judgement of the devil, though they have been commanded to deny him. And the devil desires to lead them far astray.

4:61 And when it is said to them, Come to that which Allah has revealed and to the Messenger, thou seest the hypocrites turning away from thee with aversion.

4:62 But how is it that when a misfortune befalls them on account of that which their hands have sent before, they come to thee sweating by Allah: We desired naught but good and concord?

4:63 These are they, the secrets of whose hearts Allah knows; so turn aside from them and admonish them and speak to them effective words concerning themselves.

4:64 And We sent no messenger but that he should be obeyed by Allah's command. And had they, when they wronged themselves, come to thee and asked forgiveness of Allah, and the Messenger had (also) asked forgiveness for them, they would have found Allah Oft-returning (to mercy), Merciful.

4:65 But no, by thy Lord! they believe not until they make thee a judge of what is in dispute between them, then find not any straitness in their hearts as to that which thou decidest and submit with full submission.

4:66 And if We had enjoined them, Lay down your lives or go forth from your homes, they would not have done it except a few of them. And if they had done what they are exhorted to do, it would certainly have been better for them and more strengthening:

4:67 And then We would certainly have given them from Ourselves a great reward,

4:68 And We would certainly have guided them in the right path.

4:69 And whoever obeys Allah and the Messenger, they are with those upon whom Allah has bestowed favours from among the prophets and the truthful and the faithful and the righteous, and a goodly company are they!

4:70 Such is the grace from Allah, and Allah is sufficient as Knower.

4:71 O you who believe, take your precautions, then go forth in detachments or go forth in a body.

4:72 And among you is he who would hang back. Then if a misfortune befalls you he says: Allah indeed bestowed a favour on me as I was not present with them.

4:73 And if bounty from Allah comes to you, he would cry, as if there were no friendship between you and him: Would that I had been with them, then I should have achieved a mighty success

4:74 So let those fight in the way of Allah who sell this world's life for the Hereafter. And whoever fights in the way of Allah, be he slain or be he victorious, We shall grant him a mighty reward.

4:75 And what reason have you not to fight in the way of Allah, and of the weak among the men and the women and the children, who say: Our Lord, take us out of this town, whose people are oppressors, and grant us from Thee a friend, and grant us from Thee a helper!

4:76 Those who believe fight in the way of Allah, and those who disbelieve fight in the way of the devil: So fight against the friends of the devil; surely the struggle of the devil is ever weak.

4:77 Hast thou not seen those to whom it was said: Withhold your hands, and keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate. But when fighting is prescribed for them, lo! a party of them fear men as they ought to fear Allah, or with a greater fear, and say: Our Lord, why hast Thou ordained fighting for us? Wouldst Thou not grant us respite to a near term? Say: The enjoyment of this world is short, and the Hereafter is better for him who keeps his duty. And you shall not be wronged a whit.

4:78 Wherever you are, death will overtake you, though you are in towers, raised high. And if good befalls them, they say: This is from Allah; and if a misfortune befalls them, they say: This is from thee. Say: All is from Allah. But what is the matter with these people that they make no effort to understand anything?

4:79 Whatever good befalls thee (O man), it is from Allah, and whatever misfortune befalls thee, it is from thyself. And We have sent thee (O Prophet) to mankind as a Messenger. And Allah is sufficient as a witness.

4:80 Whoever obeys the Messenger, he indeed obeys Allah. And whoever turns away, We have not sent thee as a keeper over them.

4:81 And they say: Obedience. But when they go out from thy presence, a party of them plan by night doing otherwise than what thou sayest." And Allah writes down what they plan by night, so turn aside from them and trust in Allah. And Allah is sufficient as having charge of affairs.

4:82 Will they not then meditate on the Koran? And if it were from any other than Allah, they would have found in it many a discrepancy.

4:83 But if any news of security or fear comes to them, they spread it abroad. And if they had referred it to the Messenger and to those in authority among them, those of them who can search out knowledge of it would have known it. And were it not for the grace of Allah upon you and His mercy, you would certainly have followed the devil save a few.

4:84 Fight then in Allah's way — thou art not responsible except for thyself; and urge on the believers. It may be that Allah will restrain the fighting of those who disbelieve. And Allah is stronger in prowess and stronger to give exemplary punishment.

4:85 Whoever intercedes in a good cause has a share of it, and whoever intercedes in an evil cause has a portion of it. And Allah is ever Keeper over all things.

4:86 And when you are greeted with a greeting, greet with one better than it, or return it. Surely Allah ever takes account of all things.

4:87 Allah, there is no god but He — He will certainly gather you together on the Resurrection day, there is no doubt in it. And who is more true in word than Allah?

4:88 Why should you, then, be two parties in relation to the hypocrites while Allah has made them return (to disbelief) for what they have earned? Do you desire to guide him whom Allah leaves in error? And whomsoever Allah leaves in error thou canst not find a way for him.

4:89 They long that you should disbelieve as they have disbelieved so that you might be on the same level; so take not from among them friends until they flee (their homes) in Allah's way. Then if they turn back (to hostility), seize them and kill them wherever you find them, and take no friend nor helper from among them,

4:90 Except those who join a people between whom and you there is an alliance, or who come to you, their hearts shrinking from fighting you or fighting their own people. And if Allah had pleased, He would have given them power over you, so that they would have fought you. So if they withdraw from you and fight you not and offer you peace, then Allah allows you no way against them.

4:91 You will find others who desire to be secure from you and secure from their own people. Whenever they are made to return to hostility, they are plunged into it. So if they withdraw not from you, nor offer you peace and restrain their hands, then seize them and kill them wherever you find them. And against these We have given you a dear authority.

4:92 And a believer would not kill a believer except by mistake. And he who kills a believer by mistake should free a believing slave, and blood-money should be paid to his people unless they remit it as alms. But if he be from a tribe hostile to you and he is a believer, the freeing of a believing slave (suffices) And if he be from a tribe between whom and you there is a covenant, the blood-money should be paid to his people along with the freeing of a believing slave but he who has nor the means should fast for two months successively: a penance from Allah. And Allah is ever Knowing, Wise.

4:93 And whoever kills a believer intentionally, his punishment is hell, abiding therein: and Allah is wroth with him and He has cursed him and prepared for him a grievous chastisement.

4:94 O you who believe, when you go forth (to fight) in Allah's way, make investigation, and say not to any one who offers you salutation, Thou art not a believer, seeking the good of this world's life. But with Allah there are abundant gains. You too were such before, then Allah conferred a benefit on you; so make investigation. Surely Allah is ever Aware of what you do.

4:95 The holders back from among the believers, not disabled by injury, and those who strive hard in Allah's way with their property and their persons, are not equal. Allah has made the strivers with their property and their persons to excel the holders-back a (high) degree. And to each Allah has promised good. And Allah has granted to the strivers above the holders-back a mighty reward — (High) degrees from Him and protection and mercy. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

4:97 (As for) those whom the angels cause to die while they are unjust to themselves, (the angels) will say What were you doing? They will say We were weak in the earth (They will) say: Was not Allah's earth spacious, so that you could have migrated therein? So these it is whose refuge is hell and it is an evil resort.

4:98 Except the weak from among the men and the women and the children who have not the means, nor can they find a way (to escape);

4:99 So these, it may be that Allah will pardon them. And Allah is ever Pardoning, Forgiving.

4:100 And whoever flees in Allah's way, he will find in the earth many a place of escape and abundant resources. And whoever goes forth from his home fleeing to Allah and His Messenger, then death overtakes him, his reward is indeed with Allah. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

4:101 And when you journey in the earth, there is no blame on you if you shorten the prayer, if you fear that those who disbelieve will give you trouble. Surely the disbelievers are an open enemy to you.

4:102 And when thou art among them and leadest the prayer for them, let a party of them stand up with thee, and let them take their arms; Then when they have performed their prostration, let them go to your rear, and let another party who have not prayed come forward and pray with thee, and let them take their precautions and their arms. Those who disbelieve long that you may neglect your arms and your baggage, that they may attack you with a sudden united attack. And there is no blame on you, if you are inconvenient on account of rain or if you are sick, to put away your arms; and take your precautions. Surely Allah has prepared abasing chastisement for the disbelievers.

4:103 So when you have finished the prayer, remember Allah standing and sitting and reclining. But when you are secure, from danger, keep up (regular) prayer. Prayer indeed has been enjoined on the believers at fixed times.

4:104 And be not weak-hearted in pursuit of the enemy. If you suffer they (too) suffer as you suffer, and you hope from Allah what they hope not. And Allah is ever Knowing, Wise

4:105 Surely We have revealed the Book to thee with truth that thou mayest judge between people by means of what Allah has taught thee. And be not one pleading the cause of the dishonest, 4:106 And ask the forgiveness of Allah. Surely Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

4:107 And contend not on behalf of those who act unfaithfully to their souls. Surely Allah loves not him who is treacherous, sinful:

4:108 They seek to hide from men and they cannot hide from Allah, and He is with them when they counsel by night matters which please Him not. And Allah ever encompasses what they do.

4:109 Behold! You are they who may contend on their behalf in this world's life, but who will contend with Allah on their behalf on the Resurrection day, or who will have charge of their affairs?

4:110 And whoever does evil or wrongs his soul, then asks forgiveness of Allah, will find Allah Forgiving, Merciful.

4:111 And whoever commits a sin, commits it only against himself. And Allah is ever Knowing, Wise.

4:112 And whoever commits a fault or a sin, then accuses of it one innocent, he indeed takes upon himself the burden of a calumny and a manifest sin.

4:113 And were it not for Allah's grace upon thee and His mercy, a party of them had certainly designed to ruin thee. And they ruin only themselves, and they cannot harm thee in any way. And Allah has revealed to thee the Book and the Wisdom, and taught thee what thou knewest not, and Allah's grace on thee is very great.

4:114 There is no good in most of their secret counsels except (in) him who enjoins charity or goodness or reconciliation between people. And whoever does this, seeking Allah's pleasure, We shall give him a mighty reward.

4:115 And whoever acts hostilely to the Messenger after guidance has become manifest to him and follows other than the way of the believers, We turn him to that to which he (himself) turns and make him enter hell and it is an evil resort.

4:116 Surely Allah forgives not setting up partners with Him, and He forgives all besides this to whom He pleases. And whoever sets up a partner with Allah, he indeed goes far astray

4:117 Besides Him they call on nothing but female divinities and they call on nothing but a rebellious devil,

4:118 Whom Allah has cursed. And he said: Certainly I will take of Thy servants an appointed portion;

4:119 And certainly I will lead them astray and excite in them vain desires and bid them so that they will slit the ears of the cattle, and bid them so that they will alter Allah's creation. And whoever takes the devil for a friend, forsaking Allah, he indeed suffers a manifest loss.

4:120 He promises them and excites vain desires in them. And the devil promises them only to deceive.

4:121 These — their refuge is hell, and they will find no way of escape from it.

4:122 And those who believe and do good, We shall make them enter Gardens in which rivers flow, to abide therein for ever. It is Allah's promise, in truth. And who is more truthful in word than Allah?

4:123 It will not be in accordance with your vain desires nor the vain desires of the People of the Book. Whoever does evil, will be requited for it and will not find for himself besides Allah a friend or a helper.

4:124 And whoever does good deeds, whether male or female, and he (or she) is a believer these will enter the Garden, and they will not be dealt with a whit unjustly.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

4:125 And who is better in religion than he who submits himself entirely to Allah while doing good (to others) and follows the faith of Abraham, the upright one? And Allah took Abraham for a friend

4:126 And to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And Allah ever encompasses all things.

4:127 And they ask thee a decision about women. Say Allah makes known to you His decision concerning them; and that which is recited to you in the Book is concerning widowed women, whom you give not what is appointed for them, while you are not inclined to marry them, nor to the weak among children, and that you should deal justly with orphans and whatever good you do, Allah is surely ever Knower of it.

4:128 And if a woman fears ill-usage from her husband or desertion no blame is on them if they effect a reconciliation between them. And reconciliation is better. And avarice is met with in (men's) minds. And if you do good (to others) and keep your duty, surely Allah is ever Aware of what you do.

4:129 And you cannot do justice between wives, even though you wish (it), but be not disinclined (from one) with total disinclination, so that you leave her in suspense. And if you are reconciled and keep your duty, surely Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

4:130 And if they separate, Allah will render them both free from want out of His amplexness. And Allah is ever Ample-giving, Wise.

4:131 And to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And certainly We enjoined those who were given the Book before you and (We enjoin) you too to keep your duty to Allah. And if you disbelieve, surely to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And Allah is ever Self-sufficient, Praiseworthy.

4:132 And to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And Allah suffices as having charge of affairs.

4:133 If He please, He will take you away, O people, and bring others. And Allah is ever Powerful to do that.

4:134 Whoever desires the reward of this world — then with Allah is the reward of this world and the Hereafter. And Allah is ever Hearing Seeing.

4:135 O you who believe, be maintainers of justice, bearers of witness for Allah, even though it be against your own selves or (your) parents or near relatives whether he be rich or poor, Allah has a better right over them both. So follow not (your) low desires, lest you deviate. And if you distort or turn away from (truth), surely Allah is ever Aware of what you do.

4:136 O you who believe, believe in Allah and His Messenger and the Book which He has revealed to His Messenger and the Book which He revealed before. And whoever disbelieves in Allah and His angels and His Books and His messengers and the Last Day, he indeed strays far away.

4:137 Those who believe then disbelieve, again believe and again disbelieve, then increase in disbelief, Allah will never forgive them nor guide them in the (right) way.

4:138 Give news to the hypocrites that for them is a painful chastisement —

4:139 Those who take disbelievers for friends rather than believers. Do they seek for might from them? Might surely belongs wholly to Allah.

4:140 And indeed He has revealed to you in the Book that when you hear Allah's messages disbelieved in and mocked at, sit not with them until they enter into some other discourse, for then indeed you would be like them. Surely Allah will gather together the hypocrites and the disbelievers all in hell —

4:141 Those who wait (for misfortunes) for you. Then if you have a victory from Allah they say Were we not with you? And if there is a chance for the disbelievers, they say Did we not prevail over you and defend you from the believers? So Allah will judge between you on the day of Resurrection. And Allah will by no means give the disbelievers a way against the believers.

4:142 The hypocrites seek to deceive Allah, and He will requite their deceit to them. And when they stand up for prayer, they stand up sluggishly — they do it only to be seen of men and remember Allah but little,

4:143 Wavering between that (and this) (belonging) neither to these nor to those. And whomsoever Allah leaves in error, thou wilt not a way for him.

4:144 O you who believe, take not the disbelievers for friends rather than the believers. Do you desire to give Allah a manifest proof against yourselves?

4:145. The hypocrites are surely in the lowest depths of the Fire, and thou wilt find no helper for them,

4:146 Save those who repent and amend and hold fast to Allah and are sincere in their obedience to Allah — these are with the believers. And Allah will soon grant the believers a mighty reward.

4:147 Why should Allah chastise you if you are grateful and believe? And Allah is ever Multiplier of rewards, Knowing.

4:148 Allah loves not the public utterance of hurtful speech, except by one who has been wronged. And Allah is ever Hearing, Knowing.

4:149 If you do good openly or keep it secret or pardon an evil, Allah surely is ever Pardoning, Powerful.

4:150 Those who disbelieve in Allah and His messengers and desire to make a distinction between Allah and His messengers and say: We believe in some and disbelieve in others; and desire to take a course in between —

4:151 These are truly disbelievers and We have prepared for the disbelievers an abasing chastisement.

4:152 And those who believe in Allah and His messengers and make no distinction between any of them, to them He will grant their rewards. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

4:153 The People of the Book ask thee to bring down to them a Book from heaven; indeed they demanded of Moses a greater thing than that, for they said: Show us Allah manifestly. So destructive punishment overtook them on account of their wrongdoing. Then they took the calf (for a god), after dear signs had come to them, but We pardoned this. And We gave Moses dear authority.

4:154 And We raised the mountain above them at their covenant. And We said to them: Enter the door making obeisance. And We said to them: Violate not the Sabbath; and We took from them a firm covenant.

4:155 Then for their breaking their covenant and their disbelief in the messages of Allah and their killing the prophets wrongfully and their saying, Our hearts are covered; nay, Allah has sealed them owing to their disbelief, so they believe not but a little:

4:156 And for their disbelief and for their uttering against Mary a grievous calumny:

4:157 And for their saying: We have killed the Messiah, Jesus, son of Mary, the messenger of Allah, and they killed him not, nor did they cause his death on the cross, but he was made to appear to them as such. And certainly those who differ therein are in doubt about it. They have no knowledge about it, but only follow a conjecture, and they killed him not for certain:

4:158 Nay, Allah exalted him in His presence. And Allah is ever Mighty, Wise.

4:159 And there is none of the People of the Book but will believe in this before his death; and on the day of Resurrection he will be a witness against them.

4:160 So for the iniquity of the Jews, We forbade them the good things which had been made lawful for them, and for their hindering many (people) from Allah's way.

4:161 And for their taking usury though indeed they were forbidden it and their devouring the property of people falsely. And We have prepared for the disbelievers from among them a painful chastisement.

4:162 But the firm in knowledge among them and the believers believe in that which has been revealed to thee and that which was revealed before thee, and those who keep up prayer and give the poor-rate and the believers in Allah and the Last Day — these it is to whom We shall give a mighty reward.

4:163 Surely We have revealed to thee as We revealed to Noah and the prophets after him, and We revealed to Abraham and Ishmael and Isaac and Jacob and the tribes, and Jesus and Job and Jonah and Aaron and Solomon, and We gave to David a scripture.

4:164 And (We sent) messengers We have mentioned to thee before and messengers We have not mentioned to thee. And to Moses Allah addressed His word, speaking (to him) —

4:165 Messengers, bearers of good news and warners, so that the people may have no plea against Allah after the (coming of) messengers. And Allah is ever Mighty, Wise.

4:166 But Allah bears witness by that which He has revealed to thee that He has revealed it with His knowledge, and the angels (also) bear witness. And Allah is sufficient as a witness.

4:167 Those who disbelieve and hinder (others) from Allah's way, they indeed have erred, going far astray.

4:168 Those who disbelieve and act unjustly, Allah will never forgive them, nor guide them to a path,

4:169 Except the path of hell, to abide in it for a long time. And that is easy to Allah.

4:170 O mankind, the Messenger has indeed come to you with truth from your Lord, so believe, it is better for you. And if you disbelieve, then surely to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and the earth. And Allah is ever Knowing, Wise.

4:171 O People of the Book, exceed not the limits in your religion nor speak anything about Allah, but the truth. The Messiah, Jesus, son of Mary, is only a messenger of Allah and His word which He communicated to Mary and a mercy from Him. So believe in Allah and His messengers. And say not, Three. Desist, it is better for you. Allah is only one God. Far be it from His glory to have a son. To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And sufficient is Allah as having charge of affairs.

4:172 The Messiah disdains not to be a servant of Allah, not do the angels who are near to Him. And whoever disdains His service and is proud, He will gather them all together to Himself.

4:173 Then as for those who believe and do good, He will pay them fully their rewards and give them more out of His grace. And as for those who disdain and are proud, He will chastise them with a painful chastisement, 4:174 And they will find for themselves besides Allah no friend nor helper.

4:175 O people, manifest proof has indeed come to you from your Lord and We have sent down to you a clear light.

4:176 Then as for those who believe in Allah and hold fast by Him, He will admit them to His mercy and grace, and guide them to Himself on a right path.

4:177 They ask thee for a decision. Say: Allah gives you a decision concerning the person who has neither parents nor children. If a man dies (and) he has no son and he has a sister, hers is half of what he leaves, and he shall be her heir if she has no son. But if there be two (sisters), they shall have two-thirds of what he leaves. And if there are brethren, men and women, then for the male is the like of the portion of two females. Allah makes dear to you, lest you err. And Allah is Knower of all things.

CHAPTER 101 / Sura 65

Divorce / Al-Talaq

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

65:1. O Prophet, when you divorce women, divorce them for their prescribed period, and calculate the period; and keep your duty to Allah, your Lord. Turn them nor out of their houses — nor should they themselves go forth — unless they commit an open indecency. And these are the limits of Allah. And whoever goes beyond the limits of Allah, he indeed wrongs his own soul. Thou knowest not that Allah may after that bring about an event.

65:2 So when they have reached their prescribed time, retain them with kindness or dismiss them with kindness, and call to witness two just ones from among you, and give upright testimony for Allah. With that is admonished he who believes in Allah and the Latter Day. And whoever keeps his duty to Allah, He ordains a way out for him,

65:3 And gives him sustenance from whence he imagines not. And whoever trusts in Allah, He is sufficient for him. Surely Allah attains His purpose. Allah indeed has appointed a measure for everything.

65:4 And those of your women who despair of menstruation, if you have a doubt, their prescribed time is three months, and of those, too, who have not had their courses. And the pregnant women, their prescribed time is that they lay down their burden. And whoever keeps his duty to Allah, He makes his affair easy for him.

65:5 That is the command of Allah, which He has revealed to you. And whoever keeps his duty to Allah, He will remove from him his evils and give him a big reward.

65:6 Lodge them where you live according to your means, and injure them not to straiten them. And if they are pregnant, spend on them until they lay down their burden. Then if they suckle for you, give them their recompense, and enjoin one another to do good and if you disagree, another will suckle for him.

65:7 Let him who has abundance spend out of his abundance, and whoever has his means of subsistence straitened to him, let him spend out of that which Allah has given him. Allah lays not on any soul a burden beyond that which He has given it. Allah brings about ease after difficulty.

65:8 And how many a town which rebelled against the commandment of its Lord and His messengers, so We called it to severe account and We chastised it with a stern chastisement!

65:9 So it tasted the evil consequences of its conduct, and the end of its affair was perdition.

65:10 Allah has prepared for them severe chastisement, so keep your duty to Allah, O men of understanding, who believe. Allah has indeed sent down to you a Reminder —

65:11 A Messenger who recites to you the clear messages of Allah, so that he may bring forth those who believe and do good deeds from darkness into light. And whoever believes in Allah and does good deeds, He will cause him to enter Gardens wherein rivers flow, to abide therein for ever. Allah has indeed given him a goodly sustenance.

65:12 Allah is He who created seven heavens, and of the earth the like thereof. The command descends among them, that you may know that Allah is Possessor of power over all things, and that Allah encompasses all things in (His) knowledge.

KORAN CHAPTER 102 / Sura 59

The Banishment / Al-Hashr

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

59:1 Whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth glorifies Allah; and He is the Mighty, the Wise;

59:2 He it is Who caused those who disbelieved of the People of the Book to go forth from their homes at the first banishment. You deemed not that they would go forth, while they thought that their fortresses would defend them against Allah. But Allah came to them from a place they expected not and cast terror into their hearts they demolished their houses with their own hands and the hands of the believers. So take a lesson, O you who have eyes!

59:3 And had it not been that Allah had decreed for them the exile, He would certainly have chastised them in this world; and for them in the Hereafter is the chastisement of Fire.

59:4 That is because they were opposed to Allah and His Messenger, and whoever is opposed to Allah, surely Allah is Severe in retribution.

59:5 Whatever palm-tree you cut down or leave it standing upon its roots, it is by Allah's permission, and that He may abase the transgressors.

59:6 And whatever Allah restored to His Messenger from them, you did not press forward against it any horse or any riding-camel, but Allah gives authority to His messengers against whom He pleases. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

59:7 Whatever Allah restored to His Messenger from the people of the towns, it is for Allah and for the Messenger, and for the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the wayfarer, so that it be not taken by turns by the rich among you. And whatever the Messenger gives you, accept it, and whatever he forbids you, abstain (therefrom); and keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is Severe in retribution.—

59:8 (It is) for the poor who fled, who were driven from their homes and their possessions, seeking grace of Allah and (His) pleasure, and helping Allah and His Messenger. These it is that are the truthful.—

59:9 And those who made their abode in the City and in faith before them love those who have fled to them, and find in their hearts no need of what they are given, and prefer (them) before themselves, though poverty may afflict them. And whoever is saved from the niggardliness of his soul, these it is that are the successful.

59:10 And those who come after them say Our Lord, forgive us and our brethren who had precedence of us in faith, and leave no spite in our hearts towards those who believe. Our Lord, surely Thou art Kind, Merciful.

59:11 Hast thou not seen the hypocrites? They say to their brethren who disbelieve from among the People of the Book: If you are expelled, we certainly will go forth with you, and we will never obey any one concerning you; and if you are fought against, we will certainly help you. And Allah bears witness that they surely are liars.

59:12 If they are expelled, they will not go forth with them, and if they are fought against, they will not help them; and even if they help them, they will certainly turn (their) backs then they shall not be helped.

59:13 Your fear in their hearts is indeed greater than Allah's. That is because they are a people who understand not.

59:14 They will not fight against you in a body save in fortified towns or from behind walls. Their fighting between them is severe. Thou wouldst think them united, but their hearts are divided. That is because they are a people who have no sense.

59:15 Like those before them shortly: they taste the evil consequences of their conduct, and for them is a painful chastisement, 59:16 Like the devil when he says to man: Disbelieve. But when he disbelieves, he says: I am free of thee surely I fear Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

59:17 So the end of both of them is that they are both in the Fire to abide therein. And that is the reward of the wrong-doers.

59:18 O you who believe, keep your duty to Allah, and let every soul consider that which it sends forth for the morrow, and keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is Aware of what you do.

59:19 And be not like those who forget Allah, so He makes them forget their own souls. These are the transgressors.

59:20 Not alike are the companions of the Fire and the owners of the Garden. The owners of the Garden are the achievers.

59:21 Had We sent down this Koran on a mountain, thou wouldst certainly have seen it falling down, splitting asunder because of the fear of Allah. And We set forth these parables to men that they may reflect.

59:22 He is Allah besides Whom there is no God: The Knower of the unseen and the seen; He is the Beneficent, the Merciful.

59:23 He is Allah, besides Whom there is no God: the King, the Holy, the Author of Peace, the Granter of Security, Guardian over all, the Mighty, the Supreme, the Possessor of greatness. Glory be to Allah from that which they set up (with Him)!

59:24 He is Allah; the Creator, the Maker, the Fashioner His are the most beautiful names. Whatever is in the heavens and the earth declares His glory; and He is the Mighty, the Wise.

KORAN CHAPTER 103 / Sura 33

The Allies / Al-Ahzab

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

33:1 O Prophet, keep thy duty to Allah and obey not the disbelievers and the hypocrites. Surely Allah is ever Knowing, Wise;

33:2 And follow that which is revealed to thee from thy Lord. Surely Allah is ever Aware of what you do;

33:3 And trust in Allah. And Allah is enough as having charge (of affairs).

33:4 Allah has not made for any man two hearts within him nor has He made your wives whom you desert by Zihar, your mothers, nor has He made those whom you assert (to be your sons) your sons. These are the words of your mouths. And Allah speaks the truth and He shows the way.

33:5 Call them by (the names of) their fathers; this is more equitable with Allah; but if you know not their fathers, then they are your brethren in faith and your friends. And there is no blame on you in that wherein you make a mistake, but (you are answerable for) that which your hearts purpose. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

33:6 The Prophet is closer to the faithful than their own selves, and his wives are (as) their mothers. And the possessors of relationship are closer one to another in the ordinance of Allah than (other) believers, and those who fled (their homes), except that you do some good to your friends. This is written in the Book.

33:7 And when We took a covenant from the prophets and from thee, and from Noah and Abraham and Moses and Jesus, son of Mary, and We took from them a solemn covenant, 33:8 That He may question the truthful of their truth, and He has prepared for the disbelievers a painful chastisement.

33:9 O you who believe, call to mind the favour of Allah to you when there came against you hosts, so We sent against them a strong wind and hosts that you saw not. And Allah is ever Seer of what you do.

33:10 When they came upon you from above you and from below you, and when the eyes turned dull and the hearts rose up to the throats, and you began to think diverse thoughts about Allah.

33:11 There were the believers tried and they were shaken with a severe shaking.

33:12 And when the hypocrites and those in whose hearts was a disease began to say: Allah and His Messenger did not promise us (victory) but only to deceive.

33:13 And when a party of them said: O people of Yathrib, you cannot make a stand, so go back. And a party of them asked permission of the Prophet, saying, Our houses are exposed. And they were not exposed. They only desired to run away.

33:14 And if an entry were made upon them from the outlying parts of it, then they were asked to wage war (against the Muslims), they would certainly have done it, and they would not have stayed in it but a little while.

33:15 And they had indeed made a covenant with Allah before, (that) they would not turn (their) backs. And a covenant with Allah must be answered for.

33:16 Say: Flight will not profit you, if you flee from death or slaughter, and then you will not be allowed to enjoy yourselves but a little.

33:17 Say: Who is it that can protect you from Allah, if He intends harm for you or He intends to show you mercy? And they will not find for themselves a guardian or a helper besides Allah.

33:18 Allah indeed knows those among you who hinder others and those who say to their brethren, Come to us. And they come not to the fight but a little,

33:19 Being niggardly with respect to you. But when fear comes, thou wilt see them looking to thee, their eyes rolling like one swooning because of death. But when fear is gone they smite you with sharp tongues, being covetous of wealth. These have not believed, so Allah makes their deeds naught. And that is easy for Allah.

33:20 They think the allies are not gone, and if the allies should come (again), they would fain be in the deserts with the desert Arabs, asking for news about you. And if they were among you, they would not fight save a little.

33:21 Certainly you have in the Messenger of Allah an excellent exemplar for him who hopes in Allah and the Latter day, and remembers Allah much.

33:22 And when the believers saw the allies, they said: This is what Allah and His Messenger promised us, and Allah and His Messenger spoke the truth. And it only added to their faith and submission.

33:23 Of the believers are men who are true to the covenant they made with Allah so of them is he who has accomplished his vow, and of them is he who yet waits, and they have not changed in the least —

33:24 That Allah may reward the truthful for their truth, and chastise the hypocrites if He please, or turn to them (mercifully). Surely Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

33:25 And Allah turned back the disbelievers in their rage — they gained no advantage. And Allah sufficed the believers in fighting. And Allah is ever Strong, Mighty.

33:26 And He drove down those of the People of the Book who backed them from their fortresses and He cast awe into their hearts; some you killed and you took captive some.

33:27 And He made you heirs to their land and their dwellings and their property, and (to) a land which you have not yet trodden. And Allah is ever Possessor of power over all things.

33:28 O Prophet, say to thy wives If you desire this world's life and its adornment, come, I will give you a provision and allow you to depart a goodly departing.

33:29 And if you desire Allah and His Messenger and the abode of the Hereafter, then surely Allah has prepared for the doers of good among you a mighty reward.

33:30 O wives of the Prophet, whoever of you is guilty of manifestly improper conduct, the chastisement will be doubled for her. And this is easy for Allah.

33:31 And whoever of you is obedient to Allah and His Messenger and does good, We shall give her a double reward, and We have prepared for her an honourable sustenance.

33:32 O wives of the Prophet, you are not like any other women. If you would keep your duty, be nor soft in speech, lest he in whose heart is a disease yearn; and speak a word of goodness.

33:33 And stay in your houses and display not your beauty like the displaying of the ignorance of yore; and keep up prayer, and pay the poor-rate, and obey Allah and His Messenger Allah only desires to take away uncleanness from you, O people of the household, and to purify you a (thorough) purifying.

33:34 And remember that which is recited in your houses of the messages of Allah and the Wisdom. Surely Allah is ever Knower of subtilities, Aware.

33:35 Surely the men who submit and the women who submit, and the believing men and the believing women, and the obeying men and the obeying women, and the truthful men and the truthful women, and the patient men and the patient women, and the humble men and the humble women, and the charitable men and the charitable women, and the fasting men and the fasting women, and the men who guard their chastity and the women who guard, and the men who remember Allah much and the women who remember — Allah has prepared for them forgiveness and a mighty reward.

33:36 And it behoves not a believing man or a believing woman, when Allah and His Messenger have decided an affair to exercise a choice in their matter. And whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger, he surely strays off to manifest error.

33:37 And when thou saidst to him to whom Allah had shown favour and to whom thou hadst shown a favour: Keep thy wife to thyself and keep thy duty to Allah and thou concealedst in thy heart what Allah would bring to light, and thou fearedst men, and Allah has a greater right that thou shouldst fear Him. So when Zaid dissolved her marriage-tie, We gave her to thee as a wife, so that there should be no difficulty for the believers about the wives of their adopted sons, when they have dissolved their marriage-tie. And Allah's command is ever performed.

33:38 There is no harm for the prophet in that which Allah has ordained for him. Such has been the way of Allah with those who have gone before. And the command of Allah is a decree that is made absolute —

33:39 Those who deliver the messages of Allah and fear Him, and fear none but Allah. And Allah is Sufficient to take account.

33:40 Muhammad is not the father of any of your men, but he is the Messenger of Allah and the Seal of the prophets And Allah is ever Knower of all things.

33:41 O you who believe, remember Allah with much remembrance,

33:42 And glorify Him morning and evening.

33:43 He it is Who sends blessings on you, and (so do) His angels, that He may bring you forth out of darkness into light. And He is ever Merciful to the believers.

33:44 Their salutation on the day they meet Him will be, Peace! and He has prepared for them an honourable reward.

33:45 O Prophet, surely We have sent thee as a witness, and a bearer of good news and a warner, 33:46 And as an inviter to Allah by His permission, and as a light-giving sun.

33:47 And give the believers the good news that they will have great grace from Allah.

33:48 And obey not the disbelievers and the hypocrites, and disregard their annoying talk, and rely on Allah. And Allah is enough as having charge (of affairs).

33:49 O you who believe, when you marry believing women, then divorce them before you touch them, you have in their case no term which you should reckon.

But make provision for them and set them free in a goodly manner.

33:50 O Prophet, We have made lawful to thee thy wives whom thou hast given their dowries, and those whom thy right hand possesses, out of those whom Allah has given thee as prisoners of war, and the daughters of thy paternal uncle and the daughters of thy paternal aunts, and the daughters of thy maternal uncle and the daughters of thy maternal aunts who fled with thee; and a believing woman, if she gives herself to the Prophet, if the Prophet desires to marry her. (It is) especially for thee, not for the believers — We know what We have ordained for them concerning their wives and those whom their right hands possess in order that no blame may attach to thee. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

33:51 Thou mayest put off whom thou pleasest of them, and take to thee whom thou pleasest. And whom thou desirest of those whom thou hadst separated provisionally, no blame attaches to thee. This is most proper so that their eyes may be cool and they may not grieve, and that they should be pleased, all of them, with what thou givest them. And Allah knows what is in your hearts. And Allah is ever Knowing, Forbearing.

33:52 It is riot allowed to thee to take wives after this, nor to change them for other wives, though their beauty be pleasing to thee, except those whom thy right hand possesses. And Allah is ever Watchful over all things.

33:53 O you who believe, enter not the houses of the Prophet unless permission is given to you for a meal, not waiting for its cooking being finished but when you are invited, enter, and when you have taken food, disperse not seeking to listen to talk. Surely this gives the Prophet trouble, but he forbears from you, and Allah forbears not from the truth. And when you ask of them any goods, ask of them from behind a curtain. This is purer for your hearts and their hearts. And it behoves you not to give trouble to the Messenger of Allah, nor to marry his wives after him ever. Surely this is grievous in the sight of Allah.

33:54 If you do a thing openly or do it in secret, then surely Allah is ever Knower of all things.

33:68 Our Lord, give them a double chastisement and curse them with a great curse.

33:69 O you who believe, be not like those who maligned Moses, but Allah cleared him of what they said. And he was worthy of regard with Allah.

33:70 O you who believe, keep your duty to Allah and speak straight words:

33:71 He will put your deeds into a right state for you, and forgive you your sins. And whoever obeys Allah and His Messenger, he indeed achieves a mighty success.

33:72 Surely We offered the trust to the heavens and the earth and the mountains, but they refused to be unfaithful to it and feared from it, and man has turned unfaithful to it. Surely he is ever unjust, ignorant —

33:73 That Allah may chastise the hypocritical men and the hypocritical women and the polytheistic men and the polytheistic women, and Allah will turn (mercifully) to the believing men and the believing women. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

KORAN CHAPTER 104 / Sura 63

The Hypocrites / Al-Munafiqun

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

63:1 When the hypocrites come to thee, they say: We bear witness that thou art indeed Allah's Messenger. And Allah knows thou art indeed His Messenger. And Allah bears witness that the hypocrites are surely liars.

63:2 They take shelter under their oaths, thus turning (men) from Allah's way. Surely evil is that which they do.

63:3 That is because they believed, then disbelieved; thus their hearts are sealed, so they understand not.

63:4 And when thou seest them, their persons please thee; and if they speak, thou listenest to their speech. They are like pieces of wood, clad with garments. They think every cry to be against them. They are the enemy, so beware of them, May Allah destroy them How they are turned back!

63:5 And when it is said to them Come, the Messenger of Allah will ask forgiveness for you, they turn away their heads and thou seest them hindering (others), and they are big with pride.

63:6 It is alike to them whether thou ask forgiveness for them or ask not forgiveness for them — Allah will never forgive them. Surely Allah guides not the transgressing people.

63:7 They it is who sa-: Spend not on those who are with the Messenger of Allah that they may disperse. And Allah's are the treasures of the heavens and the earth, but the hypocrites understand not.

63:8 They say: If we return to Madinah, the mightier will surely drive out the meaner therefrom. And might belongs to Allah and His Messenger and the believers, but the hypocrites know not.

63:9 O you who believe, let not your wealth nor your children divert you from the remembrance of Allah; and whoever does that, these are the losers.

63:10 And spend our of that which We have given you before death comes to one of you, and he says: My Lord, why didst Thou not respire me to a near term, so that I should have given alms and been of the doers of good deeds?

63:11 But Allah respites not a soul, when its term comes. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

KORAN CHAPTER 105 / Sura 24

The Light / Al-Nur

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

24:1 (This is) a chapter which We have revealed and made obligatory and wherein We have revealed clear messages that you may be mindful.

24:2 The adulteress and the adulterer, flog each of them (with) a hundred stripes, and let not pity for them detain you from obedience to Allah, if you believe in Allah and the Last Day, and let a party of believers wit ness their chastisement.

24:3 The adulterer cannot have sexual relations with any but an adulteress or an idolatress, and the adulteress, none can have sexual relations with her but an adulterer or an idolater; and it is forbidden to believers.

24:4 And those who accuse free women and bring not four witnesses, flog them (with) eighty stripes and never accept their evidence, and these are the transgressors —

24:5 Except those who afterwards repent and act aright; surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

24:6 And those who accuse their wives and have no witnesses except themselves, let one of them testify four times, bearing Allah to witness, that he is of those who speak the truth.

24:7 And the fifth (time) that the curse of Allah be on him, if he is of those who lie.

24:8 And it shall avert the chastisement from her, if she testify four times, bearing Allah to witness that he is of those who lie.

24:9 And the fifth (time) that the wrath of Allah to be on her, if he is of those who speak the truth.

24:10 And were it not for Allah's grace upon you and His mercy — and that Allah is Oft-returning (to mercy) Wise

24:11 Surely they who concocted the lie are a party from among you. Deem it not an evil to you. Nay, it is good for you. For every man of them is what he has earned of sin and as for him among them who took upon himself the main part thereof, he shall have a grievous punishment.

24:12 Why did not the believing men and the believing women, when you heard it, think well of their own people, and say: This is an evident falsehood?

24:13 Why did they not bring four witnesses of it? So, as they have not brought witnesses, they are liars in the sight of Allah.

24:14 And were it not for Allah's grace upon you and His mercy in this world and the Hereafter, a grievous chastisement would certainly have touched you on account of the talk you indulged in.

24:15 When you received it on your tongues and spoke with your mouths that of which you had no knowledge, and you deemed it a trifle, while with Allah it was serious. —

24:16 And why did you not, when you heard it, say: It befalls us not to talk of it. Glory be to Thee 'This is a great calumny.

24:17 Allah admonishes you that you return not to the like of it ever again, if you are believers.

24:18 And Allah makes clear to you the messages; and Allah is Knowing, Wise.

24:19 Those who love that scandal should circulate respecting those who believe, for them is a grievous chastisement in this world and the Hereafter. And Allah knows, while you know not.

24:20 And were it not for Allah's grace on you and His mercy — and that Allah is Compassionate, Merciful.

24:21 O you who believe, follow not the footsteps of the devil. And whoever follows the footsteps of the devil, surely he commands indecency and evil. And were it not for Allah's grace on you and His mercy, not one of you would ever have been pure, but Allah purifies whom He pleases. And Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

24:22 And let not possessors of grace and abundance among you swear against giving to the near of kin and the poor and those who have fled in Allah's way; and pardon and overlook. Do you not love that Allah should forgive you? And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

24:23 Surely those who accuse chaste believing women, unaware (of the evil), are cursed in this world and the Hereafter, arid for them is a grievous chastisement,

24:24 On the day when their tongues and their hands and their feet bear witness against them as to what they did,

24:25 On that day Allah will pay back to them in full their just reward, and they will know that Allah, He is the Evident Truth.

24:26 Unclean things are for unclean ones and unclean ones are for unclean things, and good things are for good ones and good ones are for good things; these are free from what they say. For them is forgiveness and an honourable sustenance.

24:27 O you who believe, enter not houses other than your own houses, until you have asked permission and saluted their inmates. This is better for you that you may be mindful.

24:28 But if you find no one therein, enter them not, until permission is given to you; — and if it is said to you, Go back, then go back; this is purer for you. And Allah is Knower of what you do.

24:29 It is no sin for you to enter uninhabited houses wherein you have your necessities. And Allah knows what you do openly and what you hide.

24:30 Say to the believing men that they lower their gaze and restrain their sexual passions. That is purer for them. Surely Allah is Aware of what they do.

24:31 And say to the believing women that they lower their gaze and restrain their sexual passions and do not display their adornment except what appears thereof. — And let them wear their head-coverings over their bosoms. And they should not display their adornment except to their husbands or their fathers, or the fathers of their husbands, or their sons, or the sons of their husbands, or their brothers, or their brothers' sons, or their sisters' sons, or their women, or those whom their — right hands possess, or guileless male servants, or the children who know not women's nakedness. And let them not strike their feet so that the adornment that they hide may be known. And turn to Allah all, O believers, so that you may be successful.

24:32 And marry those among you who are single, and those who are fit among your male slaves and your female slaves. If they are needy, Allah will make them free from want out of His grace. And Allah is Ample-giving, Knowing.

24:33 And let those who cannot find a match keep chaste, until Allah makes them free from want out of His grace. And those of your slaves who ask for a writing (of freedom), give them the writing, if you know any good in them, and give them of the wealth of Allah which He has given you. And compel not your slave-girls to prostitution when they desire to keep chaste, in order to seek the frail goods of this world's life. And whoever compels them, then surely after their compulsion Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

24:34 And certainly We have sent to you clear messages and a description of those who passed away before you, and an admonition to those who guard against evil.

24:35 Allah is the light of the heavens and the earth. A likeness of His light is as a pillar on which is a lamp — the lamp is in a glass, the glass is as it were a brightly shining star — lit from a blessed olive-tree, neither eastern nor western, the oil whereof gives light, though fire touch it not — light upon light. Allah guides to His light whom He pleases. And Allah sets forth parables for men, and Allah is Knower of all things —

24:36 (It is) in houses which Allah has permitted to be exalted and His name to be remembered therein. Therein do glorify Him, in the mornings and the evenings,

24:37 Men whom neither merchandise nor selling diverts — from the remembrance of Allah and the keeping up — of prayer and the paying of the poor-rate — they fear a day in which the hearts and the eyes will turn about,

24:38 That Allah may give them the best reward for what they did, and give them more out of His grace. And Allah provides without measure for whom He pleases.

24:39 And those who disbelieve, their deeds are as a mirage in a desert, which the thirsty man deems to be water, until, when he comes to it, he finds it naught, and he finds Allah with him, so He pays him his due. And Allah is Swift at reckoning —

24:40 Or like darkness in the deep sea there covers him a wave, above which is a wave, above which is a cloud — (layers of) darkness one above another — when he holds out his hand, he is almost unable to see it. And to whom Allah gives not light, he has no light.

24:41 Seest thou not that Allah is He, Whom do glorify all those who are in the heavens and the earth, and the birds with wings outspread? Each one knows its prayer and its glorification. And Allah is Knower of what they do.

24:42 And Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth, and to Allah is the eventual coming.

24:43 Seest thou not that Allah drives along the clouds, then gathers them together, then piles them up, so that thou seest the rain coming forth from their midst? And He sends down from the heaven (clouds like) mountains, wherein is hail, afflicting therewith whom He pleases and turning it away from whom He pleases. The flash of His lightning almost takes away the sight.

24:44 Allah causes the night and the day to succeed one another. Surely there is a lesson in this for those who have sight.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

24:45 And Allah has created every animal of water. So of them is that which crawls upon its belly, and of them is that which walks upon two feet, and of them is that which walks upon four. Allah creates what He pleases. Surely Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

24:46 We have indeed revealed clear messages. And Allah guides whom He pleases to the right way.

24:47 And they say: We believe in Allah and in the Messenger and we obey then a party of them turn away after this, and they are not believers.

24:48 And when they are invited to Allah and His Messenger that he may judge between them, lo a party of them turn aside.

24:49 And if the right is on their side, they hasten to him in submission.

24:50 Is there in their hearts a disease, or are they in doubt, or fear they that Allah and His Messenger will deal with them unjustly? Nay! they themselves are; the wrongdoers.

24:51 The response of the believers, when they are invited to Allah and His Messenger that he may judge between them, is only that they say: We hear and we obey. And these it is that are successful.

24:52 And he who obeys Allah and His Messenger, and fears Allah and keeps duty to Him, these it is that are the achievers.

24:53 And they swear by Allah with their strongest oaths that, if thou command them, they would certainly go forth. Say: Swear not; reasonable obedience (is desired). Surely Allah is Aware of what you do.

24:54 Say: Obey Allah and obey the Messenger. But if you turn away, he is responsible for the duty imposed on him, and you are responsible for the duty imposed on you. And if you obey him, you go aright. And the Messenger's duty is only to deliver (the message) plainly.

24:55 Allah has promised to those of you who believe and do good that He will surely make them rulers in the earth as He made those before them rulers and that He will surely establish for them their religion, which He has chosen for them, and that He will surely give them security in exchange after their fear. They will serve Me, not associating aught with Me. And whoever is ungrateful after this, they are the transgressors.

24:56 And keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and obey the Messenger, so that mercy may be shown to you.

24:57 Think not that those who disbelieve will weaken (the Truth) in the earth; and their abode is the Fire. And it is indeed an evil resort

24:58 O you who believe, let those whom your right hands possess and those of you who have not attained to puberty ask permission of you three times: Before the morning prayer, and when you put off your clothes for the heat of noon, and after the prayer of night. These are three times of privacy for you; besides these it is no sin for you nor for them — some of you go round about (waiting) upon others. Thus does Allah make clear to you the messages. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

24:59 And when the children among you attain to puberty, let them seek permission as those before them sought permission. Thus does Allah make clear to you His messages. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

24:60 And (as for) women past childbearing, who hope not for marriage, it is no sin for them if they put off their clothes without displaying their adornment. And if they are modest, it is better for them. And Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

24:61 There is no blame on the blind man, nor any blame on the lame, nor blame on the sick, nor on yourselves that you eat in your own houses, or your fathers' houses, or your mothers' houses, or your brothers' houses, or your sisters' houses; or your paternal uncles' houses, or your paternal aunts' houses, or your maternal uncles' houses, or your maternal aunts' houses, or (houses) whereof you possess the keys, or your friends' (houses). It is no sin in you that you eat together or separately. So when you enter houses, greet your people with a salutation from Allah, blessed (and) goodly. Thus does Allah make clear to you the messages that you may understand.

24:62 Only those are believers who believe in Allah and His Messenger, and when they are with him on a momentous affair, they go not away until they have asked leave of him. Surely they who ask leave of thee, are they who believe in Allah and His Messenger; so when they ask leave of thee for some affair of theirs, give leave to whom thou wilt of them, and ask forgiveness for them from Allah. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

24:63 Make not the calling among you of the Messenger as your calling one of another. Allah indeed knows those who steal away from among you, concealing themselves. So let those who go against his order beware, lest a trial afflict them or there befall them a painful chastisement.

24:64 Now surely Allah's is whatever is in the heavens and the earth. He knows indeed your condition. And on the day when they are returned to Him, He will inform them of what they did. And Allah is Knower of all things.

KORAN CHAPTER 106 / Sura 58

The Pleading Woman / Al-Mujadilah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

58:1 Allah indeed has heard the plea of her who pleads with thee about her husband and complains to Allah and Allah hears the contentions of both of you. Surely Allah is Hearing, Seeing.

58:2 Those of you who put away their wives by calling them their mothers — they are not their mothers. None are their mothers save those who gave them birth, and they utter indeed a hateful word and a lie. And surely Allah is Pardoning, Forgiving.

58:3 And those who put away their wives by calling them their mothers, then go back on that which they said, must free a captive before they touch one another. To this you are exhorted; and Allah is Aware of what you do.

58:4 But he who has not the means, should fast for two months successively before they touch one another, and he who is unable to do so should feed sixty needy ones. That is in order that you may have faith in Allah and His Messenger. And these are Allah's limits. And for the disbelievers is a painful chastisement.

58:5 Surely those who oppose Allah and His Messenger will be humbled as those before them were humbled; and indeed We have revealed clear messages. And for the disbelievers is an abasing chastisement.

58:6 On the day when Allah will raise them all together, then inform them of what they did. Allah records it, while they forget it. And Allah is Witness over all things.

58:7 Seest thou not that Allah knows whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth? There is no secret counsel between, three but He is the fourth of them, nor between five but He is the sixth of them, nor between less than that nor more but He is with them wheresoever they are; then He will inform them of what they did on the day of Resurrection. Surely Allah is Knower of all things.

58:8 Seest thou not those who are forbidden secret counsels, then they return to that which they are forbidden, and hold secret counsels for sin and revolt and disobedience to the Messenger. And when they come to thee they greet thee with a greeting with which Allah greets thee not, and say within themselves: Why does not Allah punish us for what we say? Hell is enough for them; they will burn in it, and evil is the resort!

58:9 O you who believe, when you confer together in private, give not to each other counsel of sin and revolt and disobedience to the Messenger, but give to each other counsel of goodness and observance of duty. And keep your duty to Allah, to Whom you will be gathered together.

58:10 Secret counsels are only of the devil that he may cause to grieve those who believe, and he can hurt them naught except with Allah's permission. And on Allah let the believers rely.

58:11 O you who believe, when it is said to you, Make room in assemblies, make room. Allah will give you ample. And when it is said, Rise up, rise up. Allah will exalt those of you who believe, and those who are given knowledge, to high ranks. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

58:12 O you who believe, when you consult the Messenger, offer something in charity before your consultation. That is better for you and purer. But if you have not (the means), then surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

58:13 Do you fear that you will not (be able to) give in charity before your consultation? So when you do it not, and Allah has turned to you (mercifully), keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and obey Allah and His Messenger. And Allah is Aware of what you do.

58:14 Hast thou not seen those who take for friends a people with whom Allah is wroth? They are neither of you nor of them, and they swear falsely, while they know.

58:15 Allah has prepared for them a severe chastisement. Evil indeed is that which they do!

58:16 They take shelter under their oaths, so they turn (men) from Allah's way for them is an abasing chastisement.

58:17 Of no avail against Allah, will be to them their wealth or their children. They are the companions of the Fire therein they will abide.

58:18 On the day when Allah will raise them all up, they will swear to Him as they swear to you, and they think that they have some (excuse). Now surely they are the liars.

58:19 The devil has gained the mastery over them, so he has made them forget the remembrance of Allah. They are the devil's party. Now surely the devil's party are the losers.

58:20 Those who oppose Allah and His Messenger, they shall be among the most abased.

58:21 Allah has written down: I shall certainly prevail, I and My messengers. Surely Allah is Strong, Mighty.

58:22 Thou wilt not find a people who believe in Allah and the latter day loving those who oppose Allah and His Messenger, even though they be their fathers, or their sons, or their brothers, or their kinsfolk. These are they into whose hearts He has impressed faith, and strengthened them with a Spirit from Himself, and He will cause them to enter Gardens wherein flow rivers, abiding therein. Allah is well-pleased with them and they are well-pleased with Him. These are Allah's party. Now surely it is Allah's party who are the successful!

KORAN CHAPTER 107 / Sura 22

The Pilgrimage / Al-Hajj

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

22:1 O people, keep your duty to your Lord; surely the shock of the Hour is a grievous thing.

22:2 The day you see it, every woman giving suck will forget her suckling and every pregnant one will lay down her burden, and thou wilt see men as drunken, yet they will not be drunken, but the chastisement of Allah will be severe.

22:3 And among men is he who disputes about Allah without knowledge, and follows every rebellious devil

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

22:4 For him it is written that whoever takes him for a friend, he will lead him astray and conduct him to the chastisement of the burning Fire.

22:5 O people, if you are in doubt about the Resurrection, then surely We created you from dust, then from a small life-germ, then from a clot, then from a lump of flesh, complete in make and incomplete, that We may make clear to you. And We cause what We please to remain in the wombs till an appointed time, then We bring you forth as babies, then that you may attain your maturity. And of you is he who is caused to die, and of you is he who is brought back to the worst part of life, so that after knowledge he knows nothing. And thou seest the earth barren, but when We send down thereon water, it stirs and swells and brings forth a beautiful (growth) of every kind.

22:6 That is because Allah, He is the Truth, and He gives life to the dead, and He is Possessor of power over all things, 22:7 And the Hour is coming, there is no doubt about it; and Allah will raise up those who are in the graves.

22:8 And among men is he who disputes about Allah without knowledge, and without guidance, and without an illuminating Book.

22:9 Turning away haughtily to lead men astray from the way of Allah. For him is disgrace in this world, and on the day of Resurrection We shall make him taste the punishment of burning.

22:10 This is for that which thy two hands have sent before, and Allah is not in the least unjust to the servants.

22:11 And among men is he who serves Allah, (standing) on the verge, so that if good befalls him he is satisfied therewith, but if a trial afflicts him he turns back headlong. He loses this world and the Hereafter. That is a manifest loss.

22:12 He calls besides Allah on that which harms him not, nor benefits him; that is straying far.

22:13 He calls on him whose harm is nearer than his benefit. Certainly an evil guardian and an evil associate 22:14 Surely Allah causes those who believe and do good deeds to enter Gardens wherein flow rivers. Allah indeed does what He pleases.

22:15 Whoever thinks that Allah will not assist him in this life and the Hereafter, let him raise (himself) by some means to the heaven, then let him cut (it) off, then let him see if his plan will take away that at which he is enraged.

22:16 And thus have We revealed it, clear arguments, and Allah guides whom He will.

22:17 Those who believe and those who are Jews and the Sabaeans and the Christians and the Magians and the polytheists — surely Allah will decide between them on the day of Resurrection. Surely Allah is Witness over all things.

22:18 Seest thou not that to Allah makes submission whoever is in the heavens and whoever is in the earth, and the sun and the moon and the stars, and the mountains and the trees, and the animals and many of the people? And many there are to whom chastisement is due. And he whom Allah abases, none can give him honour. Surely Allah does what He pleases.

22:19 These are two adversaries who dispute about their Lord. So those who disbelieve, for them are cut out garments of lire. Boiling water will be poured out over their heads.

22:20 With it will be melted what is in their bellies and (their) skins as well.

22:21 And for them are whips of iron.

22:22 Whenever they desire to go forth from it, from grief, they are turned back into it, and (it is said) Taste the chastisement of burning.

22:23 Surely Allah will make those who believe and do good deeds enter Gardens wherein flow rivers they are adorned therein with bracelets of gold and (with) pearls. And their garments therein are of silk.

22:24 And they are guided to pure words, and they are guided to the path of the Praised One.

22:25 Those who disbelieve and hinder (men) from Allah's way and from the Sacred Mosque, which We have made equally for all men, (for) the dweller therein and the visitor. And whoever inclines therein. to wrong, unjustly, We shall make him taste of painful chastisement.

22:26 And when We pointed to Abraham the place of the House, saying: Associate naught with Me; and purify My House for those who make circuits and stand to pray and bow and prostrate themselves.

22:27 And proclaim to men the Pilgrimage: they will come to thee on foot and on every lean camel, coming from every remote path:

22:28 That they may witness benefits (provided) for them, and mention the name of Allah on appointed days over what He has given them of the cattle quadrupeds; then eat of them and feed the distressed one, the needy.

22:29 Then let them accomplish their needful acts of cleansing, and let them fulfil their vows and go round the Ancient House.

22:30 That (shall be so). And who ever respects the sacred ordinances of Allah, it is good for him with his Lord. And the cattle are made lawful for you, except that which is recited to you, so shun the filth of the idols and shun false words, 22:31 Being upright for Allah, not associating aught with Him. And whoever associates (aught) with Allah, it is as if he had fallen from on high, then the birds had snatched him away, or the wind had carried him off to a distant place.

22:32 That (shall be so). And whoever respects the ordinances of Allah, this is surely from the piety of hearts.

22:33 Therein are benefits for you for a term appointed, then their place of sacrifice is the Ancient House.

22:34 And for every nation We appointed acts of devotion that they might mention the name of Allah on what He has given them of the cattle quadrupeds. So your God is One God, therefore to Him should you submit. And give good news to the humble, 22:35 Whose hearts tremble when Allah is mentioned, and who are patient in their afflictions, and who keep up prayer, and spend of what We have given them.

22:36 And the camels, We have made them of the signs appointed by Allah for you — for you therein is much good. So mention the name of Allah on them standing in a row. Then when they fall down on their sides, eat of them and feed the contented one and the beggar. Thus have We made them subservient to you that you may be grateful.

22:37 Not their flesh, nor their blood, reaches Allah, but to Him is acceptable observance of duty on your part. Thus has He made them subservient to you, that you may magnify Allah for guiding you aright. And give good news to those who do good (to others).

22:38 Surely Allah defends those who believe. Surely Allah loves not anyone who is unfaithful, ungrateful.

22:39 Permission (to fight) is given to those on whom war is made, because they are oppressed. And surely Allah is Able to assist them —

22:40 Those who are driven from their homes without a just cause except that they say Our Lord is Allah. And if Allah did not repel some people by others, cloisters, and churches, and synagogues, and mosques in which Allah's name is much remembered, would have been pulled down. And surely Allah will help him who helps Him. Surely Allah is Strong, Mighty.

22:41 Those who, if We establish them in the land, will keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and enjoin good and forbid evil. And Allah's is the end of affairs.

22:42 And if they reject thee, already before them did the people of Noah and Ad and Thamud reject (prophets),

22:43 And the people of Abraham and the people of Lot,

22:44 And the dwellers of Midian. And Moses (too) was rejected. But I gave respite to the disbelievers, then I seized them; so how (severe) was My disapproval!

22:45 How many a town We destroyed while it was iniquitous, so it is fallen down upon its roofs; and (how many) a deserted well and palace raised high!

22:46 Have they not travelled in the land so that they should have hearts with which to understand, or ears with which to hear? For surely it is not the eyes that are blind, but blind are the hearts which are in the breasts.

22:47 And they ask thee to hasten on the chastisement, and Allah by no means fails in His promise. And surely a day with thy Lord is as a thousand years of what you reckon.

22:48 And how many a town to which I gave respite while it was unjust, then I seized it! And to Me is the return.

22:49 Say: O people, I am only a plain warner to you.

22:50 So those who believe and do good, for them is forgiveness and an honourable sustenance.

22:51 And those who strive to oppose Our messages, they are the inmates of the flaming Fire.

22:52 [* at the time of the Hijra] And We never sent a messenger or a prophet before thee but when he desired, the devil made a suggestion respecting his desire; but Allah annuls that which the devil casts, then does Allah establish His messages. And Allah is Knowing, Wise —

22:53 [* at the time of the Hijra] That He may make what the devil casts a trial for those in whose hearts is a disease and the hardhearted. And surely the wrongdoers are in severe opposition, 22:54 [* at the time of the Hijra] And that those who have been given knowledge may know that it is the Truth from thy Lord, so they should believe in it that their hearts may be lowly before Him. And surely Allah is the Guide of those who believe, into a right path.

22:55 [* at the time of the Hijra] And those who disbelieve will not cease to be in doubt concerning it, until the Hour overtakes them suddenly, or there comes to them the chastisement of a destructive day.

22:56 The kingdom on that day is Allah's. He will judge between them. So those who believe and do good will be in Gardens of bliss.

22:57 And those who disbelieve and reject Our messages, for them is an abasing chastisement.

22:58 And those who flee in Allah's way and are then slain or die, Allah will certainly grant them a goodly sustenance. And surely Allah is the Best of providers.

22:59 He will certainly cause them to enter a place which they are pleased with. And surely Allah is Knowing, Forbearing.

22:60 That (is so). And whoever retaliates with the like of that with which he is afflicted and he is oppressed, Allah will certainly help him. Surely Allah is Pardoning, For giving.

22:61 That is because Allah causes the night to enter into the day and causes the day to enter into the night, and because Allah is Hearing, Seeing.

22:62 That is because Allah is the Truth, and that which they call upon besides Him that is the falsehood, and because Allah — He is the High, the Great.

22:63 Seest thou not that Allah sends down water from the cloud, then the earth becomes green? Surely Allah is Knower of subtleties, Aware.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

22:64 To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth. And surely Allah — He is the Self-Sufficient, the Praised.

22:65 Seest thou not that Allah has made subservient to you all that is in the earth, and the ships gliding in the sea by His command? And He withholds the heaven from falling on the earth except with His permission. Surely Allah is Compassionate, Merciful to men.

22:66 And He it is Who brings you to life, then He causes you to die, then He will bring you to life. Surely man is ungrateful.

22:67 To every nation We appointed acts of devotion, which they observe, so let them not dispute with thee in the matter, and call to thy Lord. Surely thou art on a right guidance.

22:68 And if they contend with thee, say: Allah best knows what you do.

22:69 Allah will judge between you on the day of Resurrection respecting that in which you differ.

22:70 Knowest thou not that Allah knows what is in the heaven and the earth? Surely this is in a book. That is surely easy to Allah.

22:71 And they serve besides Allah that for which He has not sent any authority, and of which they have no knowledge. And for the unjust there is no helper.

22:72 And when Our clear messages are recited to them, thou wilt notice a denial on the faces of those who disbelieve — they almost attack those who recite to them Our messages. Say: Shall I inform you of what is worse than this? The Fire. Allah has promised it to those who disbelieve. And evil is the resort.

22:73 O people, a parable is set forth, so listen to it. Surely those whom you call upon besides Allah cannot create a fly, though they should all gather for it. And if the fly carry off aught from them, they cannot take it back from it. Weak are (both) the invoker and the invoked.

22:74 They estimate not Allah with His due estimation. Surely Allah is Strong, Mighty.

22:75 Allah chooses messengers from angels and from men. Surely Allah is Hearing, Seeing.

22:76 He knows what is before them and what is behind them. And to Allah are all affairs returned.

22:77 O you who believe, bow down and prostrate yourselves and serve your Lord, and do good that you may succeed.

22:78 And strive hard for Allah with due striving. He has chosen you and has not laid upon you any hardship in religion — the faith of your father Abraham. He named you Muslims before and in this, that the Messenger may be a bearer of witness to you, and you may be bearers of witness to the people; so keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and hold fast to Allah. He is your Protector excellent the Protector and excellent the Helper!

KORAN CHAPTER 108 / 48

The Victory / Al-Fath

[relealed at the time of the return from Hudaybiyya]

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

48:1 Surely We have granted thee a clear victory,

48:2 That Allah may cover for thee thy (alleged) shortcomings in the past and those to come, and complete His favour to thee and guide thee on a right path, 48:3 And that Allah might help thee with a mighty help.

48:4 He it is who sent down tranquillity into the hearts of the believers that they might add faith to their faith. And Allah's are the hosts of the heavens and the earth, and Allah is ever Knowing, Wise —

48:5 That He may cause the believing men and the believing women to enter Gardens wherein flow rivers to abide therein and remove from them their evil. And that is a grand achievement with Allah, 48:6 And (that) He may chastise the hypocritical men and the hypocritical women, and the polytheistic men and the polytheistic women, the entertainers of evil thoughts about Allah. On them is the evil turn, and Allah is wroth with them and has cursed them and prepared hell for them and evil is the resort.

48:7 And Allah's are the hosts of the heavens and the earth; and Allah is ever Mighty, Wise.

48:8 Surely We have sent thee as a witness and as a bearer of good news and as a warner, 48:9 That you may believe in Allah and His Messenger and may aid him and revere him. And (that) you may declare His glory, morning and evening.

48:10 Those who swear allegiance to thee do but swear allegiance to Allah. The hand of Allah is above their hands. So whoever breaks (his faith), he breaks it only to his soul's injury. And whoever fulfils his covenant with Allah, He will grant him a mighty reward.

48:11 Those of the dwellers of the desert who lagged behind will say to thee: Our property and our families kept us busy, so ask forgiveness for us. They say with their tongues what is not in their hearts. Say: Then who can control aught for you from Allah, if He intends to do you harm or if He intends to do you good. Nay, Allah is ever Aware of what you do.

48:12 Nay, you thought that the Messenger and the believers would never return to their families, and that was made fair-seeming in your hearts, and you thought an evil thought, and you are a people doomed to perish.

48:13 And whoever believes not in Allah and His Messenger — then surely We have prepared burning Fire for the disbelievers.

48:14 And Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He forgives whom He pleases and chastises whom He pleases. And Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful.

48:15 Those who lagged behind will say, when you set forth to acquire gains: Allow us to follow you. They desire to change the word of Allah. Say: You shall not follow us. Thus did Allah say before. But they will say: Nay, you are jealous of us. Nay, they understand not but a little.

48:16 Say to those of the dwellers of the desert who lagged behind: You will soon be called against a people of mighty prowess to fight against them until they submit. Then if you obey, Allah will grant you a good reward; but, if you turn back as you turned back before, He will chastise you with a painful chastisement.

48:17 There is no blame on the blind, nor is there blame on the lame, nor is there blame on the sick. And whoever obeys Allah and His Messenger, He will cause him to enter Gardens wherein flow rivers. And whoever turns back, He will chastise him with a painful chastisement.

48:18 Allah indeed was well pleased with the believers, when they swore allegiance to thee under the tree, and He knew what was in their hearts, so He sent down tranquillity on them and rewarded them with a near victory, 48:19 And many gains which they will acquire. And Allah is ever Mighty, Wise.

48:20 Allah promised you many gains which you will acquire, then He hastened this on for you, and held back the hands of men from you; and that it may be a sign for the believers and that He may guide you on a right path, 48:21 And others which you have not yet been able to achieve Allah has surely encompassed them. And Allah is ever Powerful over all things.

48:22 And if those who disbelieve fight with you, they will certainly turn (their) backs, then they will find no protector nor helper.

48:23 (Such has been) the course of Allah that has run before, and thou wilt not find a change in Allah's course.

48:24 And He it is Who held back their hands from you and your hands from them in the valley of Makkah after He had given you victory over them. And Allah is ever Seer of what you do.

48:25 It is they who disbelieved and debarred you from the Sacred Mosque — and the offering withheld from reaching its goal. And were it not for the believing men and the believing women, whom, not having known, you might have trodden down, and thus something hateful might have afflicted you on their account without knowledge — so that Allah may admit to His mercy whom He pleases. Had they been apart, We would surely have chastised those who disbelieved from among them with a painful chastisement.

48:26 When those who disbelieved harboured disdain in their hearts, the disdain of Ignorance, but Allah sent down His tranquillity on His Messenger and on the believers and made them keep the word of observance of duty, and they were entitled to it and worthy of it. And Allah is ever Knower of all things.

48:27 Allah indeed fulfilled the vision for His Messenger with truth. You shall certainly enter the Sacred Mosque, if Allah please, in security, your heads shaved and hair cut short, not fearing. But He knows what you know not, so He has ordained a near victory before that.

48:28 He it is Who has sent His Messenger with the guidance and the religion of Truth that He may make it prevail over all religions. And Allah is enough for a witness.

48:29 Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah, and those with him are firm of heart against the disbelievers, compassionate among themselves. Thou seest them bowing down, prostrating themselves, seeking Allah's grace and pleasure. Their marks are on their faces in consequence of prostration. That is their description in the Torah — and their description in the Gospel — like seed-produce that puts forth its sprout, then strengthens it, so it becomes stout and stands firmly on its stem, delighting the sowers that He may enrage the disbelievers on account of them. Allah has promised such of them as believe and do good, forgiveness and a great reward.

KORAN CHAPTER 109 / Sura 66

The Prohibition / Al-Tahrim

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

66:1 O Prophet, why dost thou forbid (thyself) that which Allah has made lawful for thee? Seekest thou to please thy wives? And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

66:2 Allah indeed has sanctioned for you the expiation of your oaths; and Allah is your Patron, and He is the Knowing, the Wise.

66:3 And when the Prophet confided an information to one of his wives — but when she informed (others) of it, and Allah informed him of it, he made known part of it and passed over part. So when he told her of it, she said Who informed thee of this? He said The Knowing, the One Aware, informed me.

66:4 If you both turn to Allah, then indeed your hearts are inclined (to this); and if you back up one another against him, then surely Allah is his Patron, and Gabriel and the righteous believers, and the angels after that are the aiders.

66:5 Maybe, his Lord, if he divorce you, will give him in your place wives better than you, submissive, faithful, obedient, penitent, adorers, fasters, widows, and virgins.

66:6 O you who believe, save yourselves and your families from a Fire whose fuel is men and stones; over it are angels, stern and strong. They do not disobey Allah in that which He commands them, but do as they are commanded.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

66:7 O you who disbelieve, make no excuses this day. You are rewarded only as you did.

66:8 O you who believe, turn to Allah with sincere repentance. It may be your Lord will remove from you your evil and cause you to enter Gardens wherein flow rivers, on the day on which Allah will not abase the Prophet and those who believe with him. Their light will gleam before them and on their right hands — they will say: Our Lord, make perfect for us our light, and grant us protection surely Thou art Possessor of power over all things.

66:9 O Prophet, strive against the disbelievers and the hypocrites, and remain firm against them, and their abode is hell; and evil is the resort.

66:10 Allah sets forth an example for those who disbelieve — the wife of Noah and the wife of Lot. They were both under two of Our righteous servants, but they acted treacherously towards them, so they availed them naught against Allah, and it was said Enter the Fire with those who enter.

66:11 And Allah sets forth an example for those who believe — the wife of Pharaoh, when she said: My Lord, build for me a house with Thee in the Garden and deliver me from Pharaoh and his work, and deliver me from the iniquitous people.

66:12 And Mary, the daughter of Amran, who guarded her chastity, so We breathed into him Our inspiration, and she accepted the truth of the words of her Lord and His Books, and she was of the obedient ones.

KORAN CHAPTER 110 / Sura 60

The Woman Who is Examined / Al-Mumtahanah
In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

60:1 O you who believe, take not My enemy and your enemy for friends. Would you offer them love, while they deny the Truth that has come to you, driving out the Messenger and yourselves because you believe in Allah, your Lord? If you have come forth to strive in My way and to seek My pleasure, would you love them in secret? And I know what you conceal and what you manifest. And whoever of you does this, he indeed strays from the straight path.

60:2 If they overcome you, they will be your enemies, and will stretch forth their hands and their tongues towards you with evil, and they desire that you may disbelieve.

60:3 Your relationships and your children would not profit you, on the day of Resurrection — He will decide between you. And Allah is Seer of what you do.

60:4 Indeed, there is for you a good example in Abraham and those with him, when they said to their people: We are clear of you and of that which you serve besides Allah. We disbelieve in you and there has arisen enmity and hatred between us and you forever until you believe in Allah alone — except Abraham's saying to his sire I would ask forgiveness for thee, and I control naught for thee from Allah. Our Lord, on Thee do we rely, and to Thee do we turn, and to Thee is the eventual coming.

60:5 Our Lord, make us not a trial for those who disbelieve, and forgive us, our Lord. Surely Thou art the Mighty, the Wise.

60:6 Certainly there is for you in them a good example, for him who hopes for Allah and the Last Day. And who-ever turns away, surely Allah is the Self-Sufficient, the Praised.

60:7 It may be that Allah will bring about friendship between you and those of them whom you hold as enemies. And Allah is Powerful and Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

60:8 Allah forbids you not respecting those who fight you not for religion, nor drive you forth from your homes, that you show them kindness and deal with them justly. Surely Allah loves the doers of justice.

60:9 Allah forbids you only respecting those who fight you for religion, and drive you forth from your homes and help (others) in your expulsion, that you make friends of them; and whoever makes friends of them, these are the wrongdoers.

60:10 O you who believe, when believing women come to you fleeing, examine them. Allah knows best their faith. Then if you know them to be believers send them not back to the disbelievers. Neither are these (women) lawful for them, nor are those (men) lawful for them. And give them what they have spent; and there is no blame on you in marrying them, when you give them their dowries. And hold not to the ties of marriage of disbelieving women, and ask for what you have spent, and let them ask for what they have spent. That is Allah's judgement; He judges between you. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

60:11 And if any part (of the dowries) of your wives has passed away from you to the disbelievers, then your turn comes, give to those whose wives have gone away the like of what they have spent, and keep your duty to Allah in Whom you believe.

60:12 O Prophet, when believing women come to thee giving thee a pledge that they will not associate aught with Allah, and will not steal, nor commit adultery; nor kill their children, nor bring a calumny which they have forged of themselves, nor disobey thee in what is good, accept their pledge, and ask forgiveness for them from Allah. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

60:13 O you who believe, take not for friends a people with whom Allah is wroth they indeed despair of the Hereafter, as the disbelievers despair of those in the graves.

KORAN CHAPTER 111 / Sura 110

The Help / An-Nasr

[Revealed at Mina on the Last Hajj, but regarded as Medinan sura]

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

110:1 When Allah's help and victory comes,

110:2 And thou seest men entering the religion of Allah in companies, 110:3 Celebrate the praise of thy Lord and ask His protection. Surely He is ever Returning (to mercy).

KORAN CHAPTER 112 / Sura 49

The Apartments / Al-Hujurat

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

49:1 O you who believe, be not forward in the presence of Allah and His Messenger, and keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

49:2 O you who believe, raise not your voices above the Prophet's voice, nor speak loudly to him as you speak loudly one to another, lest your deeds become null, while you perceive not.

49:3 Surely those who lower their voices before Allah's Messenger are they whose hearts Allah has proved for dutifulness. For them is forgiveness and a great reward.

49:4 Those who call out to thee from behind the private apartments, most of them have no sense:

49:5 And if they had patience till thou come out to them, it would be better for them. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

49:6 O you who believe, if an unrighteous man brings you news, look carefully into it, lest you harm a people in ignorance, then be sorry for what you did.

49:7 And know that among you is Allah's Messenger. Were he to obey you in many a matter, you would surely fall into distress but Allah has endeared the faith to you and has made it seemly in your hearts, and He has made hateful to you disbelief and transgression and disobedience. Such are those who are rightly guided —

49:8 A grace from Allah and a favour. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

49:9 And if two parties of the believers quarrel, make peace between them. Then if one of them does wrong to the other, fight that which does wrong, till it return to Allah's command. Then, if it returns, make peace between them with justice and act equitably. Surely Allah loves the equitable.

49:10 The believers are brethren so make peace between your brethren, and keep your duty to Allah that mercy may be had on you.

49:11 O you who believe, let not people laugh at people, perchance they may be better than they; nor let women (laugh) at women, perchance they may be better than they. Neither find fault with your own people, nor call one another by nick-names. Evil is a bad name after faith; and whoso turns not, these it is that are the iniquitous.

49:12 O you who believe, avoid most of suspicion, for surely suspicion in some cases is sin and spy not nor let some of you backbite others. Does one of you like to eat the flesh of his dead brother? You abhor it! And keep your duty to Allah, surely Allah is Oft-returning (to mercy), Merciful.

49:13 O mankind, surely We have created you from a male and a female, and made you tribes and families that you may know each other. Surely the noblest of you with Allah is the most dutiful of you. Surely Allah is Knowing, Aware.

49:14 The dwellers of the desert say We believe. Say: You believe not, but say, We submit; and faith has not yet entered into your hearts. And if you obey Allah and His Messenger, He will not diminish aught of your deeds. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

49:15 The believers are those only who believe in Allah and His Messenger, then they doubt not, and struggle hard with their wealth and their lives in the way of Allah. Such are the truthful ones.

49:16 Say: Would you apprise Allah of your religion? and Allah knows what is in the heavens and what is in the earth And Allah is Knower of all things.

49:17 They presume to lay thee under an obligation by becoming Muslims. Say: Lay me not under an obligation by your Islam; rather Allah lays you under an obligation by guiding you to the faith, if you are truthful.

49:18 Surely Allah knows the unseen of the heavens and the earth. And Allah is Seer of what you do.

KORAN CHAPTER 113 / Sura 9

The Immunity / Al-Bara'at

[The Bismillah-phrase "In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful" is not used here; perhaps because the whole chapter is not merciful!]

9:1 A declaration of immunity from Allah and His Messenger to those of the idolaters with whom you made an agreement.

9:2 So go about in the land for four months and know that you cannot escape Allah and that Allah will disgrace the disbelievers.

9:3 And an announcement from Allah and His Messenger to the people on the day of the greater pilgrimage that Allah is free from liability to the idolaters, and so is His Messenger. So if you repent, it will be better for you and if you turn away, then know that you will not escape Allah. And announce painful chastisement to those who disbelieve —

9:4 Except those of the idolaters with whom you made an agreement, then they have not failed you in anything and have not backed up any one against you so fulfil their agreement to the end of their term. Surely Allah loves those who keep their duty.

9:5 So when the sacred months have passed, slay the idolaters, wherever you find them, and take them captive and besiege them and lie in wait for them in every ambush. But if they repent and keep up prayer and pay the jizya (poll tax), leave their way free. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

9:6 And if anyone of the idolaters seek thy protection, protect him till he hears the word of Allah, then convey him to his place of safety. This is because they are a people who know not.

9:7 How can there be an agreement for the idolaters with Allah and with His Messenger, except those with whom you made an agreement at the Sacred Mosque? So as long as they are true to you, be true to them. Surely Allah loves those who keep their duty.

9:8 How (can it be)? And if they prevail against you, they respect neither ties of relationship nor covenant in your case. They would please you with their mouths while their hearts refuse and most of them are transgressors.

9:9 They have taken a small price for the messages of Allah, so they hinder (men) from His way. Surely evil is that which they do.

9:10 They respect neither ties of relationship nor covenant, in the case of a believer. And these are they who go beyond the limits.

9:11 But if they repent and keep up prayer and pay the poor-rare, they are your brethren in faith. And We make the messages clear for a people who know.

9:12 And if they break their oaths after their agreement and revile your religion, then fight the leaders of disbelief — surely their oaths are nothing — so that they may desist.

9:13 Will you not fight a people who broke their oaths and aimed at the expulsion of the Messenger, and they attacked you first? Do you fear them? But Allah has more right that you should fear Him, if you are believers.

9:14 Fight them; Allah will chastise them at your hands and bring them to disgrace, and assist you against them and relieve the hearts of a believing people,

9:15 And remove the rage of their hearts. And Allah turns (mercifully) to whom He pleases. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

9:16 Do you think that you would be left alone while Allah has not yet known those of you who struggle hard and take not anyone as an intimate friend besides Allah and His Messenger and the believers? And Allah is Aware of what you do.

9:17 The idolaters have no right to maintain the mosques of Allah, while bearing witness to disbelief against themselves. These it is whose works are vain; and in the Fire will they abide.

9:18 Only he can maintain the mosques of Allah who believes in Allah and the Last Day, and keeps up prayer and pays the poor-rate and fears none but Allah. So these it is who may be of the guided ones.

9:19 Do you hold the giving of drink to the pilgrims and the maintenance of the Sacred Mosque equal to (the service of) one who believes in Allah and the Last Day and strives hard in Allah's way? They are not equal in the sight of Allah. And Allah guides not the iniquitous people.

9:20 Those who believed and fled (their homes), and strove hard in Allah's way with their wealth and their lives, are much higher in rank with Allah. And it is these that shall triumph.

9:21 Their Lord gives them good news of mercy and pleasure, from Himself, and Gardens wherein lasting blessings will be theirs, 9:22 Abiding therein for ever. Surely Allah has a mighty reward with Him.

9:23 O you who believe, take not your fathers and your brothers for friends if they love disbelief above faith. And whoever of you takes them for friends, such are the wrongdoers.

9:24 Say If your fathers and your sons and your brethren and your wives and your kinsfolk and the wealth you have acquired, and trade whose dullness you fear, and dwellings you love, are dearer to you than Allah and His Messenger and striving in His way, then wait till Allah brings His command to pass. And Allah guides nor the transgressing people.

9:25 Certainly Allah helped you in many battlefields, and on the day of Hunain, when your great numbers made you proud, but they availed you nothing, and the earth with all its spaciousness was straitened for you, then you turned back retreating.

9:26 Then Allah sent down His calm upon His Messenger and upon the believers, and sent hosts which you saw not, and chastised those who disbelieved. And such is the reward of the disbelievers.

9:27 Then will Allah after this turn mercifully to whom He pleases. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

9:28 O you who believe, the idolaters are surely unclean, so they shall not approach the Sacred Mosque after this year of theirs. And if you fear poverty, then Allah will enrich you out of His grace, if He please. Surely Allah is Knowing, Wise.

9:29 Fight those who believe not in Allah, nor in the Last Day, nor forbid that which Allah and His Messenger have forbidden, nor follow the Religion of Truth (Islam), out of those who have been given the Book (Zoroastrians, Jews, Christians, Gnostics), until they pay the jizya (poll tax) in acknowledgment of (Islam's) superiority and they are in a state of subjection (or: and feel themselves subdued).

9:30 And the Jews say: Ezra is the son of Allah; and the Christians say The Messiah is the son of Allah. These are the words of their mouths. They imitate the saying of those who disbelieved before. Allah's curse be on them! How they are turned away!

9:31 They take their doctors of law and their monks for Lords besides Allah, and (also) the Messiah, son of Mary, And they were enjoined that they should serve one God only — there is no god but He. Be He glorified from what they set up (with Him)!

9:32 They desire to put out the light of Allah with their mouths, and Allah will allow nothing save the perfection of His light, though the disbelievers are averse.

9:33 He it is Who sent His Messenger with guidance and the Religion of Truth, that He may cause it to prevail over all religions, though the polytheists are averse.

9:34 O you who believe, surely many of the doctors of law and the monks eat away the property of men falsely, and hinder (them) from Allah's way. And those who hoard up gold and silver and spend it not in Allah's way — announce to them a painful chastisement, 9:35 On the day when it will be heated in the Fire of hell, then their foreheads and their sides and their backs will be branded with it: This is what you hoarded up for yourselves, so taste what you used to hoard.

9:36 Surely the number of months with Allah is twelve months by Allah's ordinance, since the day when He created the heavens and the earth — of these four are sacred. That is the right religion; so wrong not yourselves therein. And fight the polytheists all together as they fight you all together. And know that Allah is with those who keep their duty.

9:37 Postponing (of the sacred month) is only an addition in disbelief, whereby those who disbelieve are led astray. They allow it one year and forbid it (another) year, that they may agree in the number (of months) which Allah has made sacred, and thus make lawful what Allah has forbidden. The evil of their doings is made fair-seeming to them. And Allah guides not the disbelieving people.

9:38 O you who believe, what (excuse) have you that when it is said to you, Go forth in Allah's way, you should incline heavily to earth? Are you contented with this world's life instead of the Hereafter? The provision of this world's life is but little as compared with the Hereafter.

9:39 If you go not forth, He will chastise you with a painful chastisement, and bring in your place a people other than you, and you can do Him no harm. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

9:40 If you help him not, Allah certainly helped him when those who disbelieved expelled him — he being the second of the two; when they were both in the cave, when he said to his companion Grieve not, surely Allah is with us. So Allah sent down His tranquillity on him and strengthened him with hosts which you saw not, and made lowest the word of those who disbelieved. And the word of Allah, that is the uppermost. And Allah is Mighty, Wise.

9:41 Go forth, light and heavy, and strive hard in Allah's way with your wealth and your lives. This is better for you, if you know.

9:42 Had it been a near gain and a short journey, they would certainly have followed thee, but the hard journey was too long for them. And they wilt swear by Allah: If we had been able, we would have gone forth with you. They cause their own souls to perish; and Allah knows that they are liars.

9:43 Allah pardon thee! Why didst thou permit them until those who spoke the truth had become manifest to thee and thou hadst known the liars?

9:44 Those who believe in Allah and the Last Day ask not leave of thee (to stay away) from striving hard with their wealth and their persons. And Allah is Knower of those who keep their duty.

9:45 They alone ask leave of thee who believe not in Allah and the Last Day, and their hearts are in doubt, so in their doubt they waver.

9:46 And if they had intended to go forth, they would certainly have provided equipment for it; but Allah did not like their going forth. So He withheld them, and it was said: Hold back with those who hold back.

9:47 Had they gone forth with you, they would have added to you naught but trouble, and would have hurried to and fro among you seeking (to sow) dissension among you. And among you there are those who would listen to them. And Allah well knows the wrongdoers.

9:48 Certainly they sought (to sow) dissension before, and they devised plots against thee till the Truth came, and Allah's command prevailed, though they did not like (it).

9:49 And among them is he who says: Excuse me and try me not. Surely into trial have they already fallen, and truly hell encompasses the disbelievers.

9:50 If good befalls thee, it grieves them; and if hardship afflicts thee, they say: Indeed we had taken care of our affair before. And they turn away rejoicing.

9:51 Say: Nothing will afflict us save that which Allah has ordained for us. He is our Patron; and on Allah let the believers rely.

9:52 Say: Do you await for us but one of two most excellent things? And we await for you that Allah will afflict you with chastisement from Himself or by our hands. So wait; we too are waiting with you.

9:53 Say: Spend willingly or unwillingly, it will not be accepted from you. Surely you are a transgressing people.

9:54 And nothing hinders their contributions being accepted from them, except that they disbelieve in Allah and in His Messenger and they come not to prayer except as lazy people, and they spend not but while they are reluctant.

9:55 Let not then their wealth nor their children excite thine admiration. Allah only wishes to chastise them therewith in this world's life and (that) their souls may depart while they are disbelievers.

9:56 And they swear by Allah that they are truly of you. And they are not of you, but they are a people who are afraid.

9:57 If they could find a refuge or caves or a place to enter, they would certainly have turned thereto, running away in all haste.

9:58 And of them are those who blame thee in the matter of the alms. So if they are given thereof, they are pleased, and if they are not given thereof, lo! they are enraged.

9:59 And if they were content with that which Allah and His Messenger gave them, and had said: Allah is sufficient for us; Allah will soon give us (more) out of His grace and His Messenger too: surely to Allah we make petition.

9:60 (Zakat) charity is only for the poor and the needy, and those employed to administer it, and those whose hearts are made to incline (to truth), and (to free) the captives, and those in debt, and in the way of Allah and for the wayfarer — an ordinance from Allah. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.'

9:61 And of them are those who molest the Prophet and say, He is (all) ear. Say: A hearer of good for you — he believes in Allah and believes the faithful, and is a mercy for those of you who believe. And those who molest the Messenger of Allah, for them is a painful chastisement.

9:62 They swear by Allah to you to please you; and Allah as well as His Messenger has a greater right that they should please Him, if they are believers.

9:63 Know they not that whoever opposes Allah and His Messenger, for him is the Fire of hell to abide in it? That is the grievous abasement.

9:64 The hypocrites fear lest a chapter should be sent down concerning them, telling them plainly of what is in their hearts. Say: Go on mocking, surely Allah will bring to light what you fear.

9:65 And if thou ask them, would certainly say: We were only talking idly and sporting. Say: Was it Allah and His messages and His Messenger that you mocked?

9:66 Make no excuse, you disbelieved after your believing. If We pardon a party of you, We shall chastise a party, because they are guilty.

9:67 The hypocrites, men and women, are all alike. They enjoin evil and forbid good and withhold their hands. They have forsaken Allah, so He has forsaken them. Surely the hypocrites are the transgressors.

9:68 Allah promises the hypocrites, men and women, and the disbelievers, the Fire of hell to abide therein. It is enough for them. And Allah curses them, and for them is a lasting chastisement.

9:69 Like those before you they were stronger than you in power and had more wealth and children. So they enjoyed their portion thus have you enjoyed your portion as those before you enjoyed their portion, and you indulge in idle talk as they did. These are they whose works are null in this world and the Hereafter, and these are they who are the losers.

9:70 Has not the story reached them of those before them — of the people of Noah and Ad and Thamud, and the people of Abraham and the dwellers of Midian and the overthrown cities? Their messengers came to them with clear arguments. So Allah wronged them not but they wronged themselves.

9:71 And the believers, men and women, are friends one of another. They enjoin good and forbid evil and keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate, and obey Allah and His Messenger. As for these, Allah will have mercy on them. Surely Allah is Mighty, Wise.

9:72 Allah has promised to the believers, men and women, Gardens, wherein flow rivers, to abide therein, and goodly dwellings in Gardens of perpetual abode. And greatest of all is Allah's goodly pleasure. That is the grand achievement.

9:73 O Prophet, strive hard against the disbelievers and the hypocrites and be firm against them. And their abode is hell, and evil is the destination.

9:74 They swear by Allah that they said nothing. And certainly they did speak the word of disbelief, and disbelieved after their Islam, and they purposed that which they could not attain. And they sought revenge only because Allah — as well as His Messenger — had enriched them out of His grace. So if they repent, it will be good for them and if they turn away, Allah will chastise them with a painful chastisement in this world and the Hereafter and they shall have in the earth neither a friend nor a helper.

9:75 And of them are those who made a covenant with Allah: If He give us out of His grace, we will certainly give alms and be of the righteous.

9:76 But when He gave them out of His grace, they became niggardly of it and they turned away and they are averse.

9:77 So He requited them with hypocrisy in their hearts till the day when they meet Him, because they broke their promise with Allah and because they lied.

9:78 Know they not that Allah knows their hidden thoughts and their secret counsels, and that Allah is the great Knower of the unseen things?

9:79 Those who taunt the free givers of alms among the believers as well as those who cannot find anything (to give) but with their hard labour they scoff at them. Allah will pay them back their mockery and for them is a painful chastisement.

9:80 Ask forgiveness for them or ask not forgiveness for them. Even if thou ask forgiveness for them seventy times Allah will not forgive them. This is because they disbelieve in Allah and His Messenger. And Allah guides not the transgressing people.

9:81 Those who were left behind were glad on account of their sitting behind Allah's Messenger, and they were averse to striving in Allah's way with their property and their persons, and said: Go not forth in the heat. Say: The Fire of hell is fiercer in heat. If only they could understand!

9:82 Then let them laugh a little and weep much a recompense for what they earned.

9:83 So if Allah bring thee back to a party of them, then they ask thy permission to go forth, say: Never shall you go forth with me and never shall you fight an enemy with me. You chose to sit (at home) the first time so sit (now) with those who remain behind.

9:84 And never offer prayer for any one of them who dies, nor stand by his grave. Surely they disbelieved in Allah and His Messenger and they died in transgression.

9:85 And let not their wealth and their children excite thy admiration. Allah only intends to chastise them thereby in this world, and (that) their souls may depart while they are disbelievers.

9:86 And when a chapter is revealed, saying, Believe in Allah and strive hard along with His Messenger, the wealthy among them ask permission of thee and say: Leave us (behind), that we may be with those who sit (at home).

9:87 They prefer to be with those who remain behind, and their hearts are sealed so they understand not.

9:88 But the Messenger and those who believe with him strive hard with their property and their persons. And these it is for whom are the good things and these it is who are successful.

9:89 Allah has prepared for them Gardens wherein flow rivers, to abide therein. That is the great achievement.

9:90 And the defaulters from among the dwellers of the desert came that permission might be given to them, and they sat (at home) who lied to Allah and His Messenger. A painful chastisement will afflict those of them who disbelieve.

9:91 No blame lies on the weak, nor on the sick, nor on those who can find nothing to spend, if they are sincere to Allah and His Messenger. There is no way (to blame) against the doers of good. And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful —

9:92 Nor on those to whom, when they came to thee that thou shouldst mount them, thou didst say: I cannot find that on which to mount you. They went back while their eyes overflowed with tears of grief that they could not find aught to spend.

9:93 The way (to blame) is only against those who ask permission of thee, though they are rich. They have chosen to be with those who remained behind; and Allah has sealed their hearts, so they know not.

9:94 They will make excuses to you when you return to them. Say: Make no excuse, we shall not believe you; Allah has informed us of matters relating to you. And Allah and His Messenger will now see your actions, then you will be brought back to the Knower of the unseen and the seen, then He will inform you of what you did.

9:95 They will swear by Allah to you, when you return to them, so that you may leave them alone. So leave them alone. Surely they are unclean and their refuge is hell a recompense for what they earned.

9:96 They will swear to you that you may be pleased with them. But if you are pleased with them, yet surely Allah is not pleased with the transgressing people.

9:97 The dwellers of the desert are hardest in disbelief and hypocrisy, and most disposed not to know the limits of what Allah has revealed to His Messenger. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

9:98 And of the dwellers of the desert are those who take what they spend to be a fine, and they wait for an evil turn of fortune for you. On them is the evil turn. And Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

9:99 And of the desert Arabs are those who believe in Allah and the Last Day, and consider what they spend and the prayers of the Messenger, as bringing them nearer to Allah. Surely they bring them nearer (to Allah). Allah will bring them into His mercy. Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

9:100 And the foremost, the first of the Emigrants and the Helpers, and those who followed them in goodness — Allah is well pleased with them and they are well pleased with Him, and He has prepared for them Gardens wherein flow rivers, abiding therein for ever. That is the mighty achievement.

9:101 And of those around you of the desert Arabs, there are hypocrites and of the people of Madinah (also) — they persist in hypocrisy. Thou knowest them not; We know them. We will chastise them twice, then they will be turned back to a grievous chastisement.

9:102 And others have acknowledged their faults, — they mixed a good deed with another that was evil. It may be that Allah will turn to them (mercifully). Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

9:103 Take alms out of their property — thou wouldst cleanse them and purify them thereby — and pray for them. Surely thy prayer is a relief to them. And Allah is Hearing, Knowing.

9:104 Know they not that Allah is He Who accepts repentance from His servants and takes the alms, and that Allah — He is the Oft-returning (to mercy), the Merciful?

9:105 And say, Work so Allah will see your work and (so will) His Messenger and the believers. And you will be brought back to the Knower of the unseen and the seen, then He will inform you of what you did.

9:106 And others are made to await Allah's command, whether He chastise them or turn to them (mercifully). And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

9:107 And those who built a mosque to cause harm (to Islam) and (to help) disbelief, and to cause disunion among the believers, and a refuge for him who made war against Allah and His Messenger before. And they will certainly swear: We desired naught but good. And Allah bears witness that they are certainly liars.

9:108 Never stand in it. Certainly a mosque founded on observance of duty from the first day is more deserving that thou shouldst stand in it. In it are men who love to purify themselves. And Allah loves those who purify themselves.

9:109 Is he, then, who lays his foundation on duty to Allah and (His) good pleasure better, or he who lays his foundation on the edge of a cracking hollowed bank, so it broke down with him into the Fire of hell? And Allah guides not the unjust people.

9:110 The building which they have built will ever continue to be a source of disquiet in their hearts, unless their hearts be torn to pieces. And Allah is Knowing, Wise.

9:111 Surely Allah has bought from the believers their persons and their property — theirs (in return) is the Garden. They fight in Allah's way, so they slay and are slain. It is a promise which is binding on Him in the Torah and the Gospel and the Koran. And who is more faithful to his promise than Allah? Rejoice therefore in your bargain which you have made. And that is the mighty achievement.

9:112 They who turn (to Allah), who serve (Him), who praise (Him), who fast, who bow down, who prostrate themselves, who enjoy what is good and forbid what is evil, and who keep the limits of Allah and give good news to the believers.

9:113 It is not for the Prophet and those who believe to ask forgiveness for the polytheists, even though they should be near relatives, after it has become clear to them that they are companions of the flaming fire.'

9:114 And Abraham's asking forgiveness for his sire was only owing to a promise which he had made to him but when it became clear to him that he was an enemy of Allah, he dissociated himself from him. Surely Abraham was tender-hearted, forbearing.

9:115 And it is not (attributable to) Allah that He should lead a people astray after He has guided them, so far so that He makes clear to them what they should guard against. Surely Allah is Knower of all things.

9:116 Surely Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He gives life and causes death. And besides Allah you have no friend nor helper.

9:117 Certainly Allah has turned in mercy to the Prophet and the Emigrants and the Helpers who followed him in the hour of hardship, after the hearts of a part of them were about to deviate then He turned to them in mercy. Surely to them He is Compassionate, Merciful;

9:118 And (He turned in mercy) to the three who were left behind; until the earth, vast as it is, became strait to them and their souls were also straitened to them; and they knew that there was no refuge from Allah but in Him. Then He turned to them in mercy that they might turn (to Him). Surely Allah — He is the Oft-returning to mercy, the Merciful.

9:119 O you who believe, keep your duty to Allah and be with the truthful.

9:120 It was not proper for the people of Madinah and those round about them of the desert Arabs to remain behind the Messenger of Allah, not to prefer their own lives to his life. That is because there afflicts them neither thirst nor fatigue nor hunger in Allah's way nor tread they a path which enrages the disbelievers nor cause they any harm to an enemy, but a good work is written down for them on account of it. Surely Allah wastes not the reward of the doers of good;

9:121 Nor spend they any thing, small or great, nor do they traverse a valley but it is written down for them, that Allah may reward them for the best of what they did.

9:122 And the believers should not go forth all together. Why, then, does not a company from every party from among them go forth that they may apply themselves to obtain understanding in religion, 1104 and that they may warn their people, when they come back to them, that they may be cautious?

9:123 O you who believe, fight those of the disbelievers who are near to you and let them find firmness in you. And know that Allah is with those who keep their duty.

9:124 And whenever a chapter is revealed, there are some of them who say: Which of you has it strengthened in faith? So as for those who believe, it strengthens them in faith and they rejoice.

9:125 And as for those in whose hearts is a disease, it adds uncleanness to their uncleanness, and they die while they are disbelievers.

9:126 See they not that they are tried once or twice in every year, yet they repent not, nor do they mind.

9:127 And whenever a chapter is revealed, they look one at another: Does any one see you? Then they turn away. Allah has turned away their hearts because they are a people who understand not.

9:128 Certainly a Messenger has come to you from among yourselves grievous to him is your falling into distress, most solicitous for you, to the believers (he is) compassionate, merciful.

9:129 But if they turn away, say: Allah is sufficient for me — there is no god but He. On Him do I rely, and He is the Lord of the mighty Throne.

KORAN CHAPTER 114 / Sura 5

The Food / Al-Maidah

In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.

5:1 O you who believe, fulfil the obligations. The cattle quadrupeds are allowed to you except that which is recited to you, not violating the prohibition against game when you are on the pilgrimage. Surely Allah orders what He pleases.

5:2 O you who believe, violate not the signs of Allah, nor the Sacred Month, nor the offerings, nor the victims with garlands, nor those repairing to the Sacred House seeking the grace and pleasure of their Lord. And when you are free from pilgrimage obligations, then hunt. And let not hatred of a people — because they hindered you from the Sacred Mosque incite you to transgress. And help one another in righteousness and piety, and help not one another in sin and aggression, and keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is severe in requiting (evil).

5:3 [* revealed at Arafat on Last Hajj] Forbidden to you is that which dies of itself, and blood, and flesh of swine, and that on which any other name than that of Allah has been invoked, and the strangled (animal), and that beaten to death, and that killed by a fall, and that killed by goring with the horn, and that which wild beasts have eaten — except what you slaughter; and that which is sacrificed on scones set up (for idols), and that you seek to divide by arrows; that is a transgression. This day have those who disbelieve despaired of your religion, so fear them not, and fear Me. This day have I perfected for you your religion and completed My favour to you and chosen for you Islam as a religion. But whoever is compelled by hunger, not inclining wilfully to sin, then surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

5:4 They ask thee as to what is allowed them. Say: The good things are allowed to you, and what you have taught the beasts and birds of prey, training them to hunt — you teach them of what Allah has taught you; so eat of that which they catch for you and mention the name of Allah over it; and keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is Swift in reckoning.

5:5 This day (all) good things are made lawful for you. And the food of those who have been given the Book is lawful for you and your food is lawful for them. And so are the chaste from among the believing women and the chaste from among those who have been given the Book before you, when you give them their dowries, taking (them) in marriage, not fornicating nor taking them for paramours in secret. And whoever denies faith, his work indeed is vain; and in the Hereafter he is of the losers.

5:6 O you who believe, when you rise up for prayer, wash your faces, and your hands up to the elbows, and wipe your heads, and (wash) your feet up to the ankles. And if you are under an obligation, then wash (yourselves). And if you are sick or on a journey, or one of you comes from the privy, or you have had contact with women and you cannot find water, betake yourselves to pure earth and wipe your faces and your hands therewith. Allah desires not to place a burden on you but He wishes to purify you, and that He may complete His favour on you, so that you may give thanks.

5:7 And remember Allah's favour on you and His covenant with which He bound you when you said: We have heard and we obey. And keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah knows what is in the breasts.

5:8 O you who believe, be upright for Allah, bearers of witness with justice; and let not hatred of a people incite you not to act equitably. Be just; that is nearer to observance of duty. And keep your duty to Allah. Surely Allah is Aware of what you do.

5:9 Allah has promised to those who believe and do good deeds: For them is forgiveness and a mighty reward.

5:10 And those who disbelieve and reject Our messages, such are the companions of the flaming fire.

5:11 O you who believe, remember Allah's favour on you when a people had determined to stretch out their hands against you, but He withheld their hands from you; and keep your duty to Allah. And on Allah let the believers rely.

5:12 And certainly Allah made a covenant with the Children of Israel, and We raised up among them twelve chieftains. And Allah said: Surely I am with you. If you keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate and believe in My messengers and assist them and offer to Allah a goodly gift, I will certainly cover your evil deeds, and cause you to enter Gardens wherein rivers flow. But whoever among you disbelieves after that, he indeed strays from the right way.

5:13 But on account of their breaking their covenant We cursed them and hardened their hearts. They alter the words from their places and neglect a portion of that whereof they were reminded. And thou wilt always discover treachery in them excepting a few of them so pardon them and forgive. Surely Allah loves those who do good (to others).

5:14 And with those who say, We are Christians, We made a covenant, but they neglected a portion of that whereof they were reminded so We stirred up enmity and hatred among them to the day of Resurrection. And Allah will soon inform them of what they did.

5:15 O People of the Book, indeed Our Messenger has come to you, making clear to you much of that which you concealed of the Book and passing over much. Indeed, there has come to you from Allah, a Light and a clear Book, 5:16 Whereby Allah guides such as follow His pleasure into the ways of peace, and brings them out of darkness into light by His will, and guides them to the right path.

5:17 They indeed disbelieve who say: Surely, Allah He is the Messiah, son of Mary. Say: Who then could control anything as against Allah when He wished to destroy the Messiah, son of Mary, and his mother and all those on the earth? And Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and what is between them. He creates what He pleases. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

5:18 And the Jews and the Christians say: We are the sons of Allah and His beloved ones. Say: Why does He then chastise you for your sins? Nay, you are mortals from among those whom He has created. He forgives whom He pleases and chastises whom He pleases. And Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, and to Him is the eventual coming.

5:19 O People of the Book, indeed our Messenger has come to you explaining to you after a cessation of the messengers, lest you say: There came not to us a bearer of good news nor a warner. So indeed a bearer of good news and a warner has come to you. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

5:20 And when Moses said to his people: O my people, remember the favour of Allah to you when He raised prophets among you and made you kings and gave you what He gave not to any other of the nations.

5:21 O my people, enter the Holy Land which Allah has ordained for you and turn not your backs, for then you will turn back losers.

5:22 They said: O Moses, therein are a powerful people, and we shall not enter it until they go out from it; if they go out from it, then surely we will enter.

5:23 Two men of those who feared, on whom Allah had bestowed a favour, said: Enter upon them by the gate, for when you enter it you will surely be victorious; and put your trust in Allah, if you are believers.

5:24 They said: O Moses, we will never enter it so long as they are in it; go therefore thou and thy Lord, and fight; surely here we sit.

5:25 He said: My Lord, I have control of none but my own self and my brother; so distinguish between us and the transgressing people.

5:26 He said: It will surely be forbidden to them for forty years — they will wander about in the land. So grieve not for the transgressing people.

5:27 And relate to them with truth the story of the two sons of Adam, when they offered an offering, but it was accepted from one of them and was not accepted from the other. He said: I will certainly kill thee. (The other) said: Allah accepts only from the dutiful.

5:28 If thou stretch out thy hand against me to kill me I shall not stretch out my hand against thee to kill thee. Surely I fear Allah, the Lord of the worlds:

5:29 I would rather that thou shouldst bear the sin against me and thine own sin, thus thou wouldst be of the companions of the Fire; and that is the recompense of the unjust.

5:30 At length his mind made it easy for him to kill his brother, so he killed him; so he became one of the losers.

5:31 Then Allah sent a crow scratching the ground to show him how to cover the dead body of his brother. He said: Woe is me! Am I not able to be as this crow and cover the dead body of my brother? So he became of those who regret.

5:32 For this reason We prescribed for the Children of Israel that whoever kills a person, unless it be for man-slaughter or for mischief in the land, it is as though he had killed all men. And whoever saves a life, it is as though he had saved the lives of all men. And certainly Our messengers came to them with clear arguments, but even after that many of them commit excesses in the land.

5:33 The only punishment of those who wage war against Allah and His Messenger and strive to make mischief in the land is that they should be murdered, or crucified, or their hands and their feet should be cut off on opposite sides, or they should be imprisoned. This shall be a disgrace for them in this world, and in the Hereafter they shall have a grievous chastisement, 5:34 Except those who repent before you overpower them; so know that Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

5:35 O you who believe, keep your duty to Allah, and seek means of nearness to Him, and strive hard in His way that you may be successful.

5:36 Those who disbelieve, even if they had all that is in the earth, and the like of it with it, to ransom themselves therewith from the chastisement of the day of Resurrection, it would not be accepted from them and theirs is a painful chastisement.

5:37 They would desire to come forth from the Fire, and they will not come forth from it, and theirs is a lasting chastisement

5:38 And (as for) the man and the woman addicted to theft, cut off their hands as a punishment for what they have earned, an exemplary punishment from Allah. And Allah is Mighty, Wise.

5:39 But whoever repents after his wrongdoing and reforms, Allah will turn to him (mercifully). Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

5:40 Knowest thou not that Allah is He to Whom belongs the kingdom of the heavens and the earth? He chastises whom He pleases, and forgives whom He pleases. And Allah is Possessor of power over all things.

5:41 O Messenger, let not those grieve thee who hasten to disbelief, from among those who say with their mouths, We believe, and their hearts believe not, and from among those who are Jews they are listeners for the Sake of a lie, listeners for another people who have not come to thee. They alter the words after they are put in their (proper) places, saying: If you are given this, take it, and if you are not given this, be cautious. And he for whom Allah intends temptation, thou controllest naught for him against Allah. Those are they whose hearts Allah intends not to purify. For them is disgrace in this world, and for them a grievous chastisement in the Hereafter.

5:42 Listeners for the sake of a lie, devourers of forbidden things, so if they come to thee, judge between them or turn away from them. And if thou turn away from them, they cannot harm thee at all. And if thou judge, judge between them with equity. Surely Allah loves the equitable.

5:43 And how do they make thee a judge and they have the Torah wherein is Allah's judgement? Yet they turn away after that! And these are not believers.

5:44 Surely We revealed the Torah, having guidance and Light. By it did the prophets who submitted themselves (to Allah) judge for the Jews, and the rabbis and the doctors of law, because they were required to guard the Book of Allah, and they were witnesses thereof. So fear not the people and fear Me, and take not a small price for My messages. And whoever judges not by what Allah has revealed, those are the disbelievers.

5:45 And We prescribed to them in it that life is for life, and eye for eye, and nose for nose, and ear for ear, and tooth for tooth, and for wounds retaliation. But whoso forgoes it, it shall be an expiation for him. And whoever judges not by what Allah has revealed, those are the wrongdoers.

5:46 And We sent after them in their footsteps Jesus, son of Mary, verifying that which was before him of the Torah; and We gave him the Gospel containing guidance and light, and verifying that which was before it of the Torah, and a guidance and an admonition for the dutiful.

5:47 And let the People of the Gospel judge by that which Allah has revealed in it. And whoever judges not by what Allah has revealed, those are the transgressors.

5:48 And We have revealed to thee the Book with the truth, verifying that which is before it of the Book and a guardian over it, so judge between them by what Allah has revealed, and follow not their low desires (turning away) from the truth that has come to thee. For every one of you We appointed a law and a way. And if Allah had pleased He would have made you a single people, but that He might try you in what He gave you. So vie one with another in virtuous deeds. To Allah you will all return, so He will inform you of that wherein you differed;

5:49 And that thou shouldst judge between them by what Allah has revealed, and follow not their low desires, and be cautious of them lest they seduce thee from part of what Allah has revealed to thee. Then if they turn away, know that Allah desires to afflict them for some of their sins. And surely many of the people are transgressors.

5:50 Is it then the judgement of ignorance that they desire? And who is better than Allah to judge for a people who are sure?

5:51 O you who believe, take not the Jews and the Christians for friends. They are friends of each other. And whoever amongst you takes them for friends he is indeed one of them. Surely Allah guides not the unjust people.

5:52 But thou seest those in whose hearts is a disease, hastening towards them, saying: We fear lest a calamity should befall us. Maybe Allah will bring the victory or a commandment from Himself, so they will regret what they hid in their souls.

5:53 And those who believe will say: Are these they who swore by Allah with their most forcible oaths that they were surely with you? Their deeds will bear no fruit, so they will be losers.

5:54 O you who believe, should any one of you turn back from his religion, then Allah will bring a people, whom He loves and who love Him, humble towards believers, mighty against the disbelievers, striving hard in Allah's way and not fearing the censure of any censurer. This is Allah's grace He gives it to whom He pleases. And Allah is Ample-giving, Knowing.

5:55 Only Allah is your Friend and His Messenger and those who believe, those who keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate, and they bow down.

5:56 And whoever takes Allah and His Messenger and those who believe for friend surely the party of Allah they shall triumph.

5:57 O you who believe, take not for friends those who take your religion as a mockery and a sport, from among those who were given the Book before you and the disbelievers; and keep your duty to Allah if you are believers.

5:58 And when you call to prayer they take it as a mockery and a sport. That is because they are a people who understand not.

5:59 Say: O People of the Book, do you find fault with us for aught except that we believe in Allah and in that which has been revealed to us and that which was revealed before, while most of you are transgressors?

5:60 Say Shall I inform you of those worse than this in retribution from Allah? They are those whom Allah has cursed and upon whom He brought His wrath and of whom He made apes and swine, and who serve the devil. These are in a worse plight and further astray from the straight path.

5:61 And when they come to you, they say, We believe, and surely they come in unbelief and they go forth in it. And Allah knows best what they conceal.

5:62 And thou seest many of them vying one with another in sin and transgression, and their devouring illegal gain. Certainly evil is that which they do.

5:63 Why do not the rabbis and the doctors of law prohibit them from their sinful utterances and their devouring unlawful gain? Certainly evil are the works they do.

5:64 And the Jews say: The hand of Allah is tied up. Their own hands are shackled and they are cursed for what they say. Nay, both His hands are spread out. He disburses as He pleases. And that which has been revealed to thee from thy Lord will certainly make many of them increase in inordinacy and disbelief. And We have cast among them enmity and hatred till the day of Resurrection. Whenever they kindle a fire for war Allah puts it out, and they strive to make mischief in the land. And Allah loves not the mischief-makers.

5:65 And if the People of the Book had believed and kept their duty We would certainly have removed from them their evils, and made them enter gardens of bliss.

5:66 And if they had observed the Torah and the Gospel and that which is revealed to them from their Lord, they would certainly have eaten from above them and from beneath their feet. There is a party of them keeping to the moderate course; and most of them — evil is that which they do.

5:67 O Messenger, deliver that which has been revealed to thee from thy Lord; and if thou do (it) not, thou hast not delivered His message. And Allah will protect thee from men. Surely Allah guides not the disbelieving people.

5:68 Say: O People of the Book, you follow no good till you observe the Torah and the Gospel and that which is revealed to you from your Lord. And surely that which has been revealed to thee from thy Lord will make many of them increase in inordinacy and disbelief: so grieve not for the disbelieving people.

5:69 Surely those who believe and those who are Jews and the Sabaeans and the Christians — whoever believes in Allah and the Last Day and does good — they shall have no fear nor shall they grieve.

5:70 Certainly We made a covenant with the Children of Israel and We sent to them messengers. Whenever a messenger came to them with that which their souls desired not, some (of them) they called liars and some they (even) sought to kill.

5:71 And they thought that there would be no affliction, so they became blind and deaf; then Allah turned to them mercifully but many of them (again) became blind and deaf. And Allah is Seer of what they do.

5:72 Certainly they disbelieve who say: Allah, He is the Messiah, son of Mary. And the Messiah said: O Children of Israel, serve Allah, my Lord and your Lord. Surely who ever associates (others) with Allah, Allah has forbidden to him the Garden and his abode is the Fire. And for the wrongdoers there will be no helpers.

5:73 Certainly they disbelieve who say: Allah is the third of the three. And there is no God but One God. And if they desist not from what they say, a painful chastisement will surely befall such of them as disbelieve.

5:74 Will they not then turn to Allah and ask His forgiveness? And Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

5:75 The Messiah, son of Mary, was only a messenger; messengers before him had indeed passed away. And his mother was a truthful woman. They both used to eat food. See how We make the messages clear to them! then behold, how they are turned away!

5:76 Say: Do you serve besides Allah that which controls for you neither harm nor good? And Allah — He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

5:77 Say: O People of the Book, exaggerate not in the matter of your religion unjustly, and follow not the low desires of people who went astray before and led many astray, and went astray from the right path.

5:78 Those who disbelieved from among the Children of Israel were cursed by the tongue of David and Jesus, son of Mary. This was because they disobeyed and exceeded the limits.

5:79 They forbade not one another the hateful things they did. Evil indeed was what they did.

5:80 Thou seest many of them befriending those who disbelieve. Certainly evil is that which their souls send before for them, so that Allah is displeased with them, and in chastisement will they abide.

5:81 And if they believed in Allah and the Prophet and that which is revealed to him, they would not take them for friends, but most of them are transgressors.

5:82 Thou wilt certainly find the most violent of people in enmity against the believers to be the Jews and the idolaters; and thou wilt find the nearest in friendship to the believers to be those who say, We are Christians. That is because there are priests and monks among them and because they are not proud.

5:83 And when they hear that which has been revealed to the Messenger thou seest their eyes overflow with tears because of the truth they recognize. They say: Our Lord, we believe, so write us down with the witnesses.

5:84 And what (reason) have we that we should not believe in Allah and in the Truth that has come to us, while we earnestly desire that our Lord should cause us to enter with the righteous people?

5:85 So Allah rewarded them for what they said; with Gardens wherein rivers flow to abide in them. And that is the reward of the doers of good.

5:86 And those who disbelieve and reject Our messages, such are the companions of the flaming fire.

5:87 O you who believe, forbid not the good things which Allah has made lawful for you and exceed not the limits. Surely Allah loves not those who exceed the limits.

5:88 And eat of the lawful and good (things) that Allah has given you, and keep your duty to Allah, in Whom you believe.

5:89 Allah will not call you to account for that which is vain in your oaths, but He will call you to account for the making of deliberate oaths so its expiation is the feeding of ten poor men with the average (food) you feed your families with, or their clothing, or the freeing of a neck. But whoso finds not (means) should fast for three days. This is the expiation of your oaths when you swear. And keep your oaths. Thus does Allah make clear to you His messages that you may give thanks.

5:90 O you who believe, intoxicants and games of chance and (sacrificing to) stones set up and (dividing by) arrows are only an uncleanness, the devils work; so shun it that you may succeed.

5:91 The devil desires only to create enmity and hatred among you by means of intoxicants and games of chance, and to keep you back from the remembrance of Allah and from prayer. Will you then keep back?

5:92 And obey Allah and obey the Messenger and be cautious. But if you turn back then know that the duty of Our Messenger is only a clear deliverance of the message.

5:93 On those who believe and do good there is no blame for what they eat, when they keep their duty and believe and do good deeds, then keep their duty and believe, then keep their duty and do good (to others). And Allah loves the doers of good.

5:94 O you who believe, Allah will certainly try you in respect of some game which your hands and your lances can reach, that Allah may know who fears Him in secret. Whoever exceeds the limit after this, for him is a painful chastisement.

5:95 O you who believe, kill not game while you are on pilgrimage. And whoever among you kills it intentionally, the compensation thereof is the like of what he killed, from the cattle, as two just persons among you judge, as an offering to be brought to the Ka'bah, or the expiation thereof is the feeding of the poor or equivalent of it in fasting, that he may taste the unwholesome result of his deed. Allah pardons what happened in the past. And whoever returns (to it), Allah will punish him. And Allah is Mighty; Lord of Retribution.

5:96 Lawful to you is the game of the sea and its food, a provision for you and for the travellers, and the game of the land is forbidden to you so long as you are on pilgrimage, and keep your duty to Allah, to Whom you shall be gathered.

5:97 Allah has made the Ka'bah, the Sacred House, a means of support for the people, and the sacred month and the offerings and the victims with garlands. That is that you may know that Allah knows whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth, and that Allah is Knower of all things.

5:98 Know that Allah is severe in requiting (evil) and that Allah is Forgiving, Merciful.

5:99 The duty of the Messenger is only to deliver (the message). And Allah knows what you do openly and what you hide.

5:100 Say: The bad and the good are not equal, though the abundance of the bad may please thee. So keep your duty to Allah, O men of understanding, that you may succeed.

5:101 O you who believe, ask not about things which if made known to you would give you trouble; and if you ask about them when the Koran is being revealed, they will be made known to you. Allah pardons this; and Allah is Forgiving, Forbearing.

5:102 A people before you indeed asked such questions, then became disbelievers therein.

5:103 Allah has not ordained a bahirah or a salbah or a wasilah or a hami, but those who disbelieve fabricate a lie against Allah. And most of them understand not.

5:104 And when it is said to them, Come to that which Allah has revealed and to the Messenger, they say Sufficient for us is that wherein we found our fathers. What! even though their fathers knew nothing and had no guidance!

5:105 O you who believe, take care of your souls — he who errs cannot harm you when you are on the right way. To Allah you will all return, so He will inform you of what you did.

5:106 O you who believe, call to witness between you, when death draws nigh to one of you, at the time of making the will, two just persons from among you, or two others from among others than you, if you are travelling in the land and the calamity of death befalls you. You should detain them after the prayer. Then if you doubt (them), they shall both swear by Allah (saying): We will not take for it a price, though there be a relative nor will we hide the testimony of Allah, for then certainly we shall be sinners.

5:107 If it be discovered that they are guilty of a sin, two others shall stand up in their place from among those against whom the first two have been guilty of a sin; so they shall swear by Allah: Certainly our testimony is truer than the testimony of those two, and we have not exceeded the limit, for then surely we should be unjust.

5:108 Thus it is more probable that they will give true testimony or fear that other oaths will be taken after their oaths. And keep your duty to Allah and hearken. And Allah guides not the transgressing people.

5:109 On the day when Allah will gather together the messengers and say: What was the response you received? They will say We have no knowledge. Surely Thou art the great Knower of the unseen.

5:110 When Allah will say: O Jesus, son of Mary, remember My favour to thee and to thy mother, when I strengthened thee with the Holy Spirit; thou spokest to people in the cradle and in old age, and when I taught thee the Book and the Wisdom and the Torah and the Gospel, and when thou didst determine out of clay a thing like the form of a bird by My permission, then thou didst breathe into it and it became a bird by My permission; and thou didst heal the blind and the leprosy by My permission; and when thou didst raise the dead by My permission; and when I withheld the Children of Israel from thee when thou camest to them with clear arguments — but those of them who disbelieved said: This is nothing but clear enchantment.

5:111 And when I revealed to the disciples, saying, Believe in Me and My messenger, they said: We believe and bear witness that we submit.

5:112 When the disciples said: O Jesus, son of Mary, is thy Lord able to send down food to us from heaven? He said: Keep your duty to Allah if you are believers.

5:113 They said: We desire to eat of it, and that our hearts should be at rest, and that we may know that thou hast indeed spoken truth to us, and that we may be witnesses thereof.

5:114 Jesus, son of Mary, said: O Allah, our Lord, send down to us food from heaven which should be to us an ever-recurring happiness to the first of us and the last of us, and a sign from Thee, and give us sustenance and Thou art the Best of the sustainers.

5:115 Allah said: Surely I will send it down to you, but whoever disbelieves afterwards from among you, I will chastise him with a chastisement with which I will not chastise any one among the nations.

* * *

5:116 And when Allah will say: O Jesus, son of Mary, didst thou say to men, Take me and my mother for two gods besides Allah? He will say: Glory be to Thee! it was not for me to say what I had no right to (say). If I had said it, Thou wouldst indeed have known it. Thou knowest what is in my mind, and I know not what is in Thy mind. Surely Thou art the great Knower of the unseen.

5:117 I said to them naught save as Thou didst command me: Serve Allah, my Lord and your Lord; and I was a witness of them so long as I was among them, but when Thou didst cause me to die Thou wast the Watcher over them. And Thou art Witness of all things.

5:118 If Thou chastise them, surely they are Thy servants; and if Thou protect them, surely Thou art the Mighty, the Wise.

5:119 Allah will say: This is a day when their truth will profit the truthful ones. For them are Gardens wherein flow rivers abiding therein forever. Allah is well pleased with them and they are well pleased with Allah. That is the mighty achievement.

5:120 Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and whatever is in them; and He is Possessor of power over all things.

THE CHRONOLOGICAL KORAN

THE HADITH
or The Sahih Al-Bukhari
or The Bukhari Sharif

Translation: Dr M. Muhsin Khan
Estimated Range of Dating: c. 810–870 A.D.

(The Hadith are many volumes of Koranic traditions (the so-called Sunna) created by scholars in the 8th century, roughly 200 or more years after Mohammed's death. The Hadith are necessary to make any sense of the Koran because when Allah addresses Mohammed and they talk about incidents in Mohammed's life, we will not find any narrative details in the Koran. So we have to go to the Hadith in order to understand what has been said in the Koran and why.

The most authoritative Hadith is the Sahih al-Bukhari, a nine-volume work written by Mohammed al-Bukhari (810–870 AD.), and published in c. 846 AD. It makes about 60% of the entire Islamic Trilogy, the other parts of the Trilogy are the Sira (also part of the Sunna) with about 26%, and the Koran itself with only 14%. This makes clear why the Koran alone is almost incomprehensible. Sahih al-Bukhari, also known as Bukhari Sharif, or simply "The Hadith", is one of the Kutub al-Sittah (six major Hadith collections) of Sunni Islam. Bukhari's collection of Hadith is recognised by the overwhelming majority of the Muslim world to be the most authentic collection (after the Koran). It contains over 7500 Hadith (with repetitions) in 93 books.)

SAHIH AL-BUKHARI, BOOK 1: Revelation

Volume 1, Book 1, Number 1:

Narrated Umar bin Al-Khattab:

I heard Allah's Apostle saying, "The reward of deeds depends upon the intentions and every person will get the reward according to what he has intended. So whoever emigrated for worldly benefits or for a woman to marry, his emigration was for what he emigrated for."

Volume 1, Book 1, Number 2:

Narrated Aisha:

(the mother of the faithful believers) Al-Harith bin Hisham asked Allah's Apostle "O Allah's Apostle! How is the Divine Inspiration revealed to you?" Allah's Apostle replied, "Sometimes it is (revealed) like the ringing of a bell, this form of Inspiration is the hardest of all and then this state passes ' off after I have grasped what is inspired. Sometimes the Angel comes in the form of a man and talks to me and I grasp whatever he says." Aisha added: Verily I saw the Prophet being inspired Divinely on a very cold day and noticed the Sweat dropping from his forehead (as the Inspiration was over).

Volume 1, Book 1, Number 3:

Narrated Aisha:

(the mother of the faithful believers) The commencement of the Divine Inspiration to Allah's Apostle was in the form of good dreams which came true like bright day light, and then the love of seclusion was bestowed upon him. He used to go in seclusion in the cave of Hira where he used to worship (Allah alone) continuously for many days before his desire to see his family. He used to take with him the journey food for the stay and then come back to (his wife) Khadija to take his food like-wise again till suddenly the Truth descended upon him while he was in the cave of Hira. The angel came to him and asked him to read. The Prophet replied, "I do not know how to read.

The Prophet added, "The angel caught me (forcefully) and pressed me so hard that I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read and I replied, 'I do not know how to read.' Thereupon he caught me again and pressed me a second time till I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read but again I replied, 'I do not know how to read (or what shall I read)?' Thereupon he caught me for the third time and pressed me, and then released me and said, 'Read in the name of your Lord, who has created (all that exists) has created man from a clot. Read! And your Lord is the Most Generous.'" (96.1, 96.2, 96.3) Then Allah's Apostle returned with the Inspiration and with his heart beating severely. Then he went to Khadija bint Khuwailid and said, "Cover me! Cover me!" They covered him till his fear was over and after that he told her everything that had happened and said, "I fear that something may happen to me." Khadija replied, "Never! By Allah, Allah will never disgrace you. You keep good relations with your Kith and kin, help the poor and the destitute, serve your guests generously and assist the deserving calamity-afflicted ones."

Khadija then accompanied him to her cousin Waraqa bin Naufal bin Asad bin Abdul Uzza, who, during the Pre-Islamic Period became a Christian and used to write the writing with Hebrew letters. He would write from the Gospel in Hebrew as much as Allah wished him to write. He was an old man and had lost his eyesight. Khadija said to Waraqa, "Listen to the story of your nephew, O my cousin!" Waraqa asked, "O my nephew! What have you seen?" Allah's Apostle described whatever he had seen. Waraqa said, "This is the same one who keeps the secrets (angel Gabriel) whom Allah had sent to Moses. I wish I were young and could live up to the time when your people would turn you out." Allah's Apostle asked, "Will they drive me out?" Waraqa replied in the affirmative and said, "Anyone (man) who came with something similar to what you have brought was treated with hostility: and if I should remain alive till the day when you will be turned out then I would support you strongly." But after a few days Waraqa died and the Divine Inspiration was also paused for a while.

Narrated Jabir bin Abdullah Al-Ansari while talking about the period of pause in revelation reporting the speech of the Prophet "While I was walking, all of a sudden I heard a voice from the sky. I looked up and saw the same angel who had visited me at the cave of Hira' sitting on a chair between the sky and the earth. I got afraid of him and came back home and said, 'Wrap me (in blankets).' And then Allah revealed the following Holy Verses (of Koran):

'O you (i.e. Mohammed)! wrapped up in garments! Arise and warn (the people against Allah's Punishment)... up to And desert the idols.' (74.1-5) After this the revelation started coming strongly, frequently and regularly."

Volume 1, Book 1, Number 4:

Narrated Said bin Jubair:

Ibn Abbas in the explanation of the Statement of Allah. 'Move not your tongue concerning (the Koran) to make haste therewith.' (75.16) Said "Allah's Apostle used to bear the revelation with great trouble and used to move his lips (quickly) with the Inspiration." Ibn Abbas moved his lips saying, "I am moving my lips in front of you as Allah's Apostle used to move his." Said moved his lips saying: "I am moving my lips, as I saw Ibn Abbas moving his." Ibn Abbas added, "So Allah revealed 'Move not your tongue concerning (the Koran) to make haste therewith. It is for us to collect it and to give you (O Mohammed) the ability to recite it (the Koran) (75.16-17) which means that Allah will make him (the Prophet) remember the portion of the Koran which was revealed at that time by heart and recite it. The Statement of Allah: And 'When we have recited it to you (O Mohammed through Gabriel) then you follow its (Koran) recital' (75.18) means 'listen to it and be silent.' Then it is for Us (Allah) to make It clear to you' (75.19) means 'Then it is (for Allah) to make you recite it (and its meaning will be clear by itself through your tongue). Afterwards, Allah's Apostle used to listen to Gabriel whenever he came and after his departure he used to recite it as Gabriel had recited it."

Volume 1, Book 1, Number 5:

Narrated Ibn Abbas:

Allah's Apostle was the most generous of all the people, and he used to reach the peak in generosity in the month of Ramadan when Gabriel met him. Gabriel used to meet him every night of Ramadan to teach him the Koran. Allah's Apostle was the most generous person, even more generous than the strong uncontrollable wind (in readiness and haste to do charitable deeds).

Volume 1, Book 1, Number 6:

Narrated Abdullah bin Abbas:

Abu Sufyan bin Harb informed me that Heraclius had sent a messenger to him while he had been accompanying a caravan from Quraish. They were merchants doing business in Sham (Syria, Palestine, Lebanon and Jordan), at the time when Allah's Apostle had truce with Abu Sufyan and Quraish infidels. So Abu Sufyan and his companions went to Heraclius at Ilya (Jerusalem). Heraclius called them in the court and he had all the senior Roman dignitaries around him. He called for his translator who, translating Heraclius's question said to them, "Who amongst you is closely related to that man who claims to be a Prophet?" Abu Sufyan replied, "I am the nearest relative to him (amongst the group)."

Heraclius said, "Bring him (Abu Sufyan) close to me and make his companions stand behind him." Abu Sufyan added, Heraclius told his translator to tell my companions that he wanted to put some questions to me regarding that man (The Prophet) and that if I told a lie they (my companions) should contradict me." Abu Sufyan added, "By Allah! Had I not been afraid of my companions labeling me a liar, I would not have spoken the truth about the Prophet. The first question he asked me about him was:

'What is his family status amongst you?'

I replied, 'He belongs to a good (noble) family amongst us.'

Heraclius further asked, 'Has anybody amongst you ever claimed the same (i.e. to be a Prophet) before him?'

I replied, 'No.'

He said, 'Was anybody amongst his ancestors a king?'

I replied, 'No.'

Heraclius asked, 'Do the nobles or the poor follow him?'

I replied, 'It is the poor who follow him.'

He said, 'Are his followers increasing decreasing (day by day)?'

I replied, 'They are increasing.'

He then asked, 'Does anybody amongst those who embrace his religion become displeased and renounce the religion afterwards?'

I replied, 'No.'

Heraclius said, 'Have you ever accused him of telling lies before his claim (to be a Prophet)?'

I replied, 'No.'

Heraclius said, 'Does he break his promises?'

I replied, 'No. We are at truce with him but we do not know what he will do in it.' I could not find opportunity to say anything against him except that.

Heraclius asked, 'Have you ever had a war with him?'

I replied, 'Yes.'

Then he said, 'What was the outcome of the battles?'

I replied, 'Sometimes he was victorious and sometimes we.'

Heraclius said, 'What does he order you to do?'

I said, 'He tells us to worship Allah and Allah alone and not to worship anything along with Him, and to renounce all that our ancestors had said. He orders us to pray, to speak the truth, to be chaste and to keep good relations with our Kith and kin.'

Heraclius asked the translator to convey to me the following, I asked you about his family and your reply was that he belonged to a very noble family. In fact all the Apostles come from noble families amongst their respective peoples. I questioned you whether anybody else amongst you claimed such a thing, your reply was in the negative. If the answer had been in the affirmative, I would have thought that this man was following the previous man's statement. Then I asked you whether anyone of his ancestors was a king. Your reply was in the negative, and if it had been in the affirmative, I would have thought that this man wanted to take back his ancestral kingdom.

I further asked whether he was ever accused of telling lies before he said what he said, and your reply was in the negative. So I wondered how a person who does not tell a lie about others could ever tell a lie about Allah. I, then asked you whether the rich people followed him or the poor. You replied that it was the poor who followed him. And in fact all the Apostle have been followed by this very class of people. Then I asked you whether his followers were increasing or decreasing. You replied that they were increasing, and in fact this is the way of true faith, till it is complete in all respects. I further asked you whether there was anybody, who, after embracing his religion, became displeased and discarded his religion. Your reply was in the negative, and in fact this is (the sign of) true faith, when its delight enters the hearts and mixes with them completely. I asked you whether he had ever betrayed. You replied in the negative and likewise the Apostles never betray. Then I asked you what he ordered you to do. You replied that he ordered you to worship Allah and Allah alone and not to worship anything along with Him and forbade you to worship idols and ordered you to pray, to speak the truth and to be chaste. If what you have said is true, he will very soon occupy this place underneath my feet and I knew it (from the scriptures) that he was going to appear but I did not know that he would be from you, and if I could reach him definitely, I would go immediately to meet him and if I were with him, I would certainly wash his feet.' Heraclius then asked for the letter addressed by Allah's Apostle which was delivered by Dihya to the Governor of Busra, who forwarded it to Heraclius to read. The contents of the letter were as follows: "In the name of Allah the Beneficent, the Merciful (This letter is) from Mohammed the slave of Allah and His Apostle to Heraclius the ruler of Byzantine. Peace be upon him, who follows the right path. Furthermore I invite you to Islam, and if you become a Muslim you will be safe, and Allah will double your reward, and if you reject this invitation of Islam you will be committing a sin by misguiding your Arisiyin (peasants). (And I recite to you Allah's Statement):

'O people of the scripture! Come to a word common to you and us that we worship none but Allah and that we associate nothing in worship with Him, and that none of us shall take others as Lords beside Allah. Then, if they turn away, say: Bear witness that we are Muslims (those who have surrendered to Allah).' (3:64).

Abu Sufyan then added, "When Heraclius had finished his speech and had read the letter, there was a great hue and cry in the Royal Court. So we were turned out of the court. I told my companions that the question of Ibn-Abi-Kabsha) (the Prophet Mohammed) has become so prominent that even the King of Bani Al-Asfar (Byzantine) is afraid of him. Then I started to become sure that he (the Prophet) would be the conqueror in the near future till I embraced Islam (i.e. Allah guided me to it)."

The sub narrator adds, "Ibn An-Natur was the Governor of Ilya' (Jerusalem) and Heraclius was the head of the Christians of Sham. Ibn An-Natur narrates that once while Heraclius was visiting Ilya' (Jerusalem), he got up in the morning with a sad mood. Some of his priests asked him why he was in that mood? Heraclius was a foreteller and an astrologer. He replied, At night when I looked at the stars, I saw that the leader of those who practice circumcision had appeared (become the conqueror). Who are they who practice circumcision? The people replied, 'Except the Jews nobody practices circumcision, so you should not be afraid of them (Jews).'

'Just Issue orders to kill every Jew present in the country.'

While they were discussing it, a messenger sent by the king of Ghassan to convey the news of Allah's Apostle to Heraclius was brought in. Having heard the news, he (Heraclius) ordered the people to go and see whether the messenger of Ghassan was circumcised. The people, after seeing him, told Heraclius that he was circumcised. Heraclius then asked him about the Arabs. The messenger replied, Arabs also practice circumcision.'

(After hearing that) Heraclius remarked that sovereignty of the Arabs had appeared. Heraclius then wrote a letter to his friend in Rome who was as good as Heraclius in knowledge. Heraclius then left for Homs. (a town in Syrian and stayed there till he received the reply of his letter from his friend who agreed with him in his opinion about the emergence of the Prophet and the fact that he was a Prophet. On that Heraclius invited all the heads of the Byzantines to assemble in his palace at Homs. When they assembled, he ordered that all the doors of his palace be closed. Then he came out and said, 'O Byzantines! If success is your desire and if you seek right guidance and want your empire to remain then give a pledge of allegiance to this Prophet (i.e. embrace Islam).'

(On hearing the views of Heraclius) the people ran towards the gates of the palace like onagers but found the doors closed. Heraclius realized their hatred towards Islam and when he lost the hope of their embracing Islam, he ordered that they should be brought back in audience.

(When they returned) he said, 'What already said was just to test the strength of your conviction and I have seen it.' The people prostrated before him and became pleased with him, and this was the end of Heraclius's story (in connection with his faith).

So Allah made the fish as a sign for him and he was told that when the fish was lost, he should return (to the place where he had lost it) and there he would meet him (Al-Khadir). So Moses went on looking for the sign of the fish in the sea. The servant-boy of Moses said to him: Do you remember when we betook ourselves to the rock, I indeed forgot the fish, none but Satan made me forget to remember it. On that Moses said: 'That is what we have been seeking?' (18.64) So they went back retracing their foot-steps, and found Khadir. (And) what happened further to them is narrated in the Holy Koran by Allah. (18.54 up to 18.82)

Have you heard Allah's Apostle mentioning something about him? Ubai bin Ka'b said: "Yes, I heard the Prophet mentioning something about him (saying) while Moses was sitting in the company of some Israelites, a man came and asked him: "Do you know anyone who is more learned than you? Moses replied: "No." So Allah sent the Divine Inspiration to Moses: "--Yes, Our slave Khadir is more learned than you. Moses asked Allah how to meet him (Al-Khadir). So Allah made the fish a sign for him and he was told when the fish was lost, he should return (to the place where he had lost it) and there he would meet him (Al-Khadir). So Moses went on looking for the sign of the fish in the sea. The servant-boy of Moses said: "Do you remember when we betook ourselves to the rock, I indeed forgot the fish, none but Satan made me forget to remember it. On that Moses said, 'That is what we have been seeking.' So they went back retracing their footsteps, and found Kha,dir. Volume 1, Book 3, Number 79:
Narrated Abu Musa:

The Prophet said, "The example of guidance and knowledge with which Allah has sent me is like abundant rain falling on the earth, some of which was fertile soil that absorbed rain water and brought forth vegetation and grass in abundance. (And) another portion of it was hard and held the rain water and Allah benefited the people with it and they utilized it for drinking, making their animals drink from it and for irrigation of the land for cultivation. (And) a portion of it was barren which could neither hold the water nor bring forth vegetation (then that land gave no benefits). The first is the example of the person who comprehends Allah's religion and gets benefit (from the knowledge) which Allah has revealed through me (the Prophets and learns and then teaches others. The last example is that of a person who does not care for it and does not take Allah's guidance revealed through me (He is like that barren land.)"

I, too, then stood (for the prayer of eclipse) till I became (nearly) unconscious and later on I poured water on my head. After the prayer, the Prophet praised and glorified Allah and then said,

"Just now at this place I have seen what I have never seen before, including Paradise and Hell. No doubt it has been inspired to me that you will be put to trials in your graves and these trials will be like the trials of Masiah-ad-Dajjal or nearly like it (the sub narrator is not sure which expression Asma' used). You will be asked, 'What do you know about this man (the Prophet Mohammed)?' Then the faithful believer (or Asma' said a similar word) will reply, 'He is Mohammed Allah's Apostle who had come to us with clear evidences and guidance and so we accepted his teachings and followed him. And he is Mohammed.' And he will repeat it thrice. Then the angels will say to him, 'Sleep in peace as we have come to know that you were a faithful believer.' Neither will you have disgrace nor will you regret." They said, "We have come to you from a distant place and there is the tribe of the infidels of Mudar intervening between you and us and we cannot come to you except in the sacred month. So please order us to do something good (religious deeds) and that we may also inform our people whom we have left behind (at home) and that we may enter Paradise (by acting on them)." The Prophet ordered them to do four things, and forbade them from four things. He ordered them to believe in Allah Alone, the Honorable the Majestic and said to them, "Do you know what is meant by believing in Allah Alone?" They replied, "Allah and His Apostle know better." Thereupon the Prophet said, "(That means to testify that none has the right to be worshipped but Allah and that Mohammed is His Apostle, to offer prayers perfectly, to pay Zakat, to observe fasts during the month of Ramadan, (and) to pay Al-Khumus (one fifth of the booty to be given in Allah's cause).") Then he forbade them four things, namely Ad-Dubba.' Hantam, Muzaffat (and) An-Naqir or Muqaiyar (These were the names of pots in which alcoholic drinks used to be prepared). Once my Ansari friend, in his turn (on returning from the Prophet), knocked violently at my door and asked if I was there." I became horrified and came out to him. He said, "Today a great thing has happened." I then went to Hafsa and saw her weeping. I asked her, "Did Allah's Apostle divorce you all?" She replied, "I do not know." Volume 1, Book 3, Number 98:

The luckiest person who will have my intercession on the Day of Resurrection will be the one who said sincerely from the bottom of his heart "None has the right to be worshipped but Allah."

And Umar bin Abdul Aziz wrote to Abu Bakr bin Hazm, "Look for the knowledge of Hadith and get it written, as I am afraid that religious knowledge will vanish and the religious learned men will pass away (die). Allow me to tell you what the Prophet said on the day following the conquests of Mecca. My ears heard and my heart comprehended, and I saw him with my own eyes, when he said it. He glorified and praised Allah and then said, "Allah and not the people has made Mecca a sanctuary. So anybody who has belief in Allah and the Last Day (i.e. a Muslim) should neither shed blood in it nor cut down its trees. If anybody argues that fighting is allowed in Mecca as Allah's Apostle did fight (in Mecca), tell him that Allah gave permission to His Apostle, but He did not give it to you. The Prophet added: Allah allowed me only for a few hours on that day (of the conquest) and today (now) its sanctity is the same (valid) as it was before. So it is incumbent upon those who are present to convey it (this information) to those who are absent." Abu- Shuraih was asked, "What did Amr reply?" He said Amr said, "O Abu Shuraih! I know better than you (in this respect). Mecca does not give protection to one who disobeys (Allah) or runs after committing murder, or theft (and takes refuge in Mecca)."

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 105:

Narrated Abu Bakra:

The Prophet said. No doubt your blood, property, the sub-narrator Mohammed thought that Abu Bakra had also mentioned and your honor (chastity), are sacred to one another as is the sanctity of this day of yours in this month of yours. Ali replied, 'No, except Allah's Book or the power of understanding which has been bestowed (by Allah) upon a Muslim or what is (written) in this sheet of paper (with me).' Abu Juhaifa said, "I asked, 'What is (written) in this sheet of paper?' Ali replied, it deals with The Diyya (compensation (blood money) paid by the killer to the relatives of the victim), the ransom for the releasing of the captives from the hands of the enemies, and the law that no Muslim should be killed in Qisas (equality in punishment) for the killing of (a disbeliever).

So he rode his Rahila (she-camel for riding) and addressed the people saying, "Allah held back the killing from Mecca. (The sub-narrator is in doubt whether the Prophet said "elephant or killing," as the Arabic words standing for these words have great similarity in shape), but He (Allah) let His Apostle and the believers over power the infidels of Mecca. Beware! (Mecca is a sanctuary) Verily! Fighting in Mecca was not permitted for anyone before me nor will it be permitted for anyone after me. It (war) in it was made legal for me for few hours or so on that day. No doubt it is at this moment a sanctuary, it is not allowed to uproot its thorny shrubs or to uproot its trees or to pick up its Luqatt (fallen things) except by a person who will look for its owner (announce it publicly). And if somebody is killed, then his closest relative has the right to choose one of the two-- the blood money (Diyya) or retaliation having the killer killed. In the meantime a man from Yemen came and said, "O Allah's Apostle! Get that written for me." The Prophet ordered his companions to write that for him. Then a man from Quraish said, "Except Al-Ikhkir (a type of grass that has good smell) O Allah's Apostle, as we use it in our houses and graves." The Prophet said, "Except Al-Ikhkiri.e. Al-Ikhkir is allowed to be plucked."

Ibn Abbas said, "When the ailment of the Prophet became worse, he said, 'Bring for me (writing) paper and I will write for you a statement after which you will not go astray.' But Umar said, 'The Prophet is seriously ill, and we have got Allah's Book with us and that is sufficient for us.' But the companions of the Prophet differed about this and there was a hue and cry. On that the Prophet said to them, 'Go away (and leave me alone). It is not right that you should quarrel in front of me.'" Ibn Abbas came out saying, "It was most unfortunate (a great disaster) that Allah's Apostle was prevented from writing that statement for them because of their disagreement and noise. (Note: It is apparent from this Hadith that Ibn Abbas had witnessed the event and came out saying this statement. The truth is not so, for Ibn Abbas used to say this statement on narrating the Hadith and he had not witnessed the event personally. See Fath Al-Bari Vol. 1, p.220 footnote.) (See Hadith No. 228, Vol. 4).

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 116:

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 117:

I stayed overnight in the house of my aunt Maimuna bint Al-Harith (the wife of the Prophet) while the Prophet was there with her during her night turn. The Prophet offered the Isha' prayer (in the mosque), returned home and after having prayed four Rakat, he slept. Later on he got up at night and then asked whether the boy (or he used a similar word) had slept? Then he got up for the prayer and I stood up by his left side but he made me stand to his right and offered five Rakat followed by two more Rakat. Then he slept and I heard him snoring and then (after a while) he left for the (Fajr) prayer.

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 118:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

People say that I have narrated many Hadiths (The Prophet's narrations). Had it not been for two verses in the Koran, I would not have narrated a single Hadith, and the verses are:

"Verily those who conceal the clear sign and the guidance which We have sent down . . . (up to) Most Merciful." (2:159-160). And no doubt our Muhajir (emigrant) brothers used to be busy in the market with their business (bargains) and our Ansari brothers used to be busy with their property (agriculture). But I (Abu Huraira) used to stick to Allah's Apostle contented with what will fill my stomach and I used to attend that which they used not to attend and I used to memorize that which they used not to memorize.

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 119:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

I said to Allah's Apostle "I hear many narrations (Hadiths) from you but I forget them." Allah's Apostle said, "Spread your Rida' (garment)." I did accordingly and then he moved his hands as if filling them with something (and emptied them in my Rida') and then said, "Take and wrap this sheet over your body." I did it and after that I never forgot anything.

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 120:

Narrated Ibrahim bin Al-Mundhir:

Ibn Abi Fudaik narrated the same as above (Hadith...119) but added that the Prophet had moved his hands as if filling them with something and then he emptied them in the Rida' of Abu Huraira.

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 122:

Narrated Jarir:

The Prophet said to me during Hajjat-al-Wida': Let the people keep quiet and listen. Then he said (addressing the people), "Do not (become infidels) revert to disbelief after me by striking the necks (cutting the throats) of one another (killing each other)."

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 123:

Narrated Said bin Jubair:

I said to Ibn Abbas, "Nauf-Al-Bakali claims that Moses (the companion of Khadir) was not the Moses of Bani Israel but he was another Moses." Ibn Abbas remarked that the enemy of Allah (Nauf) was a liar.

Volume 1, Book 3, Number 124:

Narrated Ubai bin Ka'b:

The Prophet said, "Once the Prophet Moses stood up and addressed Bani Israel. He was asked, "Who is the most learned man amongst the people. He said, "I am the most learned." Allah admonished Moses as he did not attribute absolute knowledge to Him (Allah). So Allah inspired to him "At the junction of the two seas there is a slave amongst my slaves who is more learned than you." Moses said, "O my Lord! How can I meet him?" Allah said: Take a fish in a large basket (and proceed) and you will find him at the place where you will lose the fish. So Moses set out along with his (servant) boy, Yusha' bin Nuin and carried a fish in a large basket till they reached a rock, where they laid their heads (i.e. lay down) and slept. The fish came out of the basket and it took its way into the sea as in a tunnel. So it was an amazing thing for both Moses and his (servant) boy. They proceeded for the rest of that night and the following day. When the day broke, Moses said to his (servant) boy: "Bring us our early meal. No doubt, we have suffered much fatigue in this journey." Moses did not get tired till he passed the place about which he was told. There the (servant) boy told Moses, "Do you remember when we betook ourselves to the rock, I indeed forgot the fish." Moses remarked, "That is what we have been seeking. So they went back retracing their foot-steps, till they reached the rock. There they saw a man covered with a garment (or covering himself with his own garment). Moses greeted him. Al-Khadir replied saying, "How do people greet each other in your land?" Moses said, "I am Moses." He asked, "The Moses of Bani Israel?" Moses replied in the affirmative and added, "May I follow you so that you teach me of that knowledge which you have been taught." Al-Khadir replied, "Verily! You will not be able to remain patient with me, O Moses! I have some of the knowledge of Allah which He has taught me and which you do not know, while you have some knowledge which Allah has taught you which I do not know." Moses said, "Allah willing, you will find me patient and I will not disobey you in aught. So both of them set out walking along the sea-shore, as they did not have a boat. In the meantime a boat passed by them and they requested the crew of the boat to take them on board. The crew recognized Al-Khadir and took them on board without fare. Then a sparrow came and stood on the edge of the boat and dipped its beak once or twice in the sea. Al-Khadir said: "O Moses! My knowledge and your knowledge have not decreased Allah's knowledge except as much as this sparrow has decreased the water of the sea with its beak." Al-Khadir went to one of the planks of the boat and plucked it out. Moses said, "These people gave us a free lift but you have broken their boat and scuttled it so as to drown its people." Al-Khadir replied, "Didn't I tell you that you will not be able to remain patient with me." Moses said, "Call me not to account for what I forgot." The first (excuse) of Moses was that he had forgotten. Then they proceeded further and found a boy playing with other boys. Al-Khadir took hold of the boy's head from the top and plucked it out with his hands (i.e. killed him). Moses said, "Have you killed an innocent soul who has killed none." Al-Khadir replied, "Did I not tell you that you cannot remain patient with me?" Then they both proceeded till when they came to the people of a town, they asked them for food, but they refused to entertain them. Then they found there a wall on the point of collapsing. Al-Khadir repaired it with his own hands. Moses said, "If you had wished, surely you could have taken wages for it." Al-Khadir replied, "This is the parting between you and me." The Prophet added, "May Allah be Merciful to Moses! Would that he could have been more patient to learn more about his story with Al-Khadir."

After the prayer, Allah's Apostle praised and glorified Allah and said, "Just now I have seen something which I never saw before at this place of mine, including Paradise and Hell. I have been inspired (and have understood) that you will be put to trials in your graves and these trials will be like the trials of Ad-Dajjal, or nearly like it (the sub narrator is not sure of what Asma' said). Angels will come to every one of you and ask, 'What do you know about this man?' A believer will reply, 'He is Mohammed, Allah's Apostle, and he came to us with self-evident truth and guidance. So we accepted his teaching, believed and followed him.' Then the angels will say to him to sleep in peace as they have come to know that he was a believer. On the other hand a hypocrite or a doubtful person will reply, I do not know but heard the people saying something and so I said the same. "

Volume 1, Book 7, Number 340:

Narrated Imran:

Once we were traveling with the Prophet and we carried on traveling till the last part of the night and then we (halted at a place) and slept (deeply). There is nothing sweeter than sleep for a traveler in the last part of the night. So it was only the heat of the sun that made us to wake up and the first to wake up was so and so, then so and so and then so and so (the narrator Auf said that Abu Raja' had told him their names but he had forgotten them) and the fourth person to wake up was Umar bin Al-Khattab. And whenever the Prophet used to sleep, nobody would wake up him till he himself used to get up as we did not know what was happening (being revealed) to him in his sleep. So, Umar got up and saw the condition of the people, and he was a strict man, so he said, "Allahu Akbar" and raised his voice with Takbir, and kept on saying loudly till the Prophet got up because of it. When he got up, the people informed him about what had happened to them. He said, "There is no harm (or it will not be harmful). Depart!" So they departed from that place, and after covering some distance the Prophet stopped and asked for some water to perform the ablution. So he performed the ablution and the call for the prayer was pronounced and he led the people in prayer. After he finished from the prayer, he saw a man sitting aloof who had not prayed with the people. He asked, "O so and so! What has prevented you from praying with us?" He replied, "I am Junub and there is no water." The Prophet said, "Perform Tayammum with (clean) earth and that is sufficient for you."

Then the Prophet proceeded on and the people complained to him of thirst. Thereupon he got down and called a person (the narrator Auf added that Abu Raja' had named him but he had forgotten) and Ali, and ordered them to go and bring water. So they went in search of water and met a woman who was sitting on her camel between two bags of water. They asked, "Where can we find water?" She replied, "I was there (at the place of water) this hour yesterday and my people are behind me." They requested her to accompany them. She asked, "Where?" They said, "To Allah's Apostle." She said, "Do you mean the man who is called the Sabi, (with a new religion)?" They replied, "Yes, the same person. So come along." They brought her to the Prophet and narrated the whole story. He said, "Help her to dismount." The Prophet asked for a pot, then he opened the mouths of the bags and poured some water into the pot. Then he closed the big openings of the bags and opened the small ones and the people were called upon to drink and water their animals. So they all watered their animals and they (too) all quenched their thirst and also gave water to others and last of all the Prophet gave a pot full of water to the person who was Junub and told him to pour it over his body. The woman was standing and watching all that which they were doing with her water. By Allah, when her water bags were returned she looked like as if they were more full (of water) than they had been before (Miracle of Allah's Apostle) Then the Prophet ordered us to collect something for her: so dates, flour and Sawiq were collected which amounted to a good meal that was put in a piece of cloth. She was helped to ride on her camel and that cloth full of food-stuff was also placed in front of her and then the Prophet said to her, "We have not taken your water but Allah has given water to us." She returned home late. Her relatives asked her: "O so and so what has delayed you?" She said, "A strange thing! Two men met me and took me to the man who is called the Sabi' and he did such and such a thing. By Allah, he is either the greatest magician between this and this (gesturing with her index and middle fingers raising them towards the sky indicating the heaven and the earth) or he is Allah's true Apostle."

Afterwards the Muslims used to attack the pagans around her abode but never touched her village. One day she said to her people, "I think that these people leave you purposely. Have you got any inclination to Islam?" They obeyed her and all of them embraced Islam.

Abu Abdultah said: The word SabaA means "The one who has deserted his old religion and embraced a new religion." Abul Ailya said, "The Sabis are a sect of people of the Scripture who recite the Book of Psalms."

Volume 1, Book 7, Number 341:

Narrated Abu Wail:

Abu Musa said, "What about the statement of Ammar to Umar?" Abdullah replied, "Umar was not satisfied by his statement."

Volume 1, Book 7, Number 342:

The Prophet said to him: 'Perform Tayammum and that would be sufficient.'" Abdullah replied, "Don't you see that Umar was not satisfied by Ammar's statement?" Abu- Musa said, "All right, leave Ammar's statement, but what will you say about this verse (of Tayammum)?" Abqiullah kept quiet and then said, "If we allowed it, then they would probably perform Tayammum even if water was available, if one of them found it (water) cold." Shaiq said, "While I was sitting with Abdullah and Abu Musa Al-Ash-Ari, the latter asked the former, 'If a person becomes Junub and does not find water for one month, can he perform Tayammum and offer his prayer?' (He applied in the negative). Abu Musa said, 'What do you say about this verse from Surat "Al-Malda": 'When you do not find water then perform Tayammum with clean earth? Abdullah replied, 'If we allowed it then they would probably perform Tayammum with clean earth even if water were available but cold.' I said to Shaiq, 'You then disliked to perform Tayammum because of this?' Shaiq said, 'Yes.' (Shaiq added), "Abu Musa said, 'Haven't you heard the statement of Ammar to Umar? He said: I was sent out by Allah's Apostle for some job and I became Junub and could not find water so I rolled myself over the dust (clean earth) like an animal does, and when I told the Prophet of that he said, 'Like this would have been sufficient.' The Prophet (saying so) lightly stroked the earth with his hand once and blew it off, then passed his (left) hand over the back of his right hand or his (right) hand over the back of his left hand and then passed them over his face.' So Abdullah said to Abu- Musa, 'Don't you know that Umar was not satisfied with Ammar's statement?'"

Narrated Shaiq: While I was with Abdullah and Abu Musa, the latter said to the former, "Haven't you heard the statement of Ammar to Umar? He said, "Allah's Apostle sent you and me out and I became Junub and rolled myself in the dust (clean earth) (for Tayammum). When we came to Allah's Apostle I told him about it and he said, 'This would have been sufficient,' passing his hands over his face and the backs of his hands once only.'"

Allah's Apostle stayed there to search for it, and so did the people along with him. There was no water at that place, so the people went to Abu-Bakr As-Siddiq and said, "Don't you see what Aisha has done? She has made Allah's Apostle and the people stay where there is no water and they have no water with them." Abu Bakr came while Allah's Apostle was sleeping with his head on my thigh, He said, to me: "You have detained Allah's Apostle and the people where there is no water and they have no water with them.

So he admonished me and said what Allah wished him to say and hit me on my flank with his hand. Nothing prevented me from moving (because of pain) but the position of Allah's Apostle on my thigh. Allah's Apostle got up when dawn broke and there was no water. So Allah revealed the Divine Verses of Tayammum. So they all performed Tayammum. Usaid bin Hudair said, "O the family of Abu Bakr! Prayer (Salat)

Volume 1, Book 8, Number 345 :

Narrated by Abu Dhar

Allah's Apostle said, "While I was at Mecca the roof of my house was opened and Gabriel descended, opened my chest, and washed it with Zam-zam water. Then he brought a golden tray full of wisdom and faith and having poured its contents into my chest, he closed it. Then he took my hand and ascended with me to the nearest heaven, when I reached the nearest heaven, Gabriel said to the gatekeeper of the heaven, 'Open (the gate).' The gatekeeper asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered: 'Gabriel.' He asked, 'Is there anyone with you?' Gabriel replied, 'Yes, Mohammed I is with me.' He asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel said, 'Yes.' So the gate was opened and we went over the nearest heaven and there we saw a man sitting with some people on his right and some on his left. When he looked towards his right, he laughed and when he looked toward his left he wept. Then he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious son.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' He replied, 'He is Adam and the people on his right and left are the souls of his offspring. Those on his right are the people of Paradise and those on his left are the people of Hell and when he looks towards his right he laughs and when he looks towards his left he weeps.' Then he ascended with me till he reached the second heaven and he (Gabriel) said to its gatekeeper, 'Open (the gate).' The gatekeeper said to him the same as the gatekeeper of the first heaven had said and he opened the gate. Anas said: "Abu Dhar added that the Prophet met Adam, Idris, Moses, Jesus and Abraham, he (Abu Dhar) did not mention on which heaven they were but he mentioned that he (the Prophet) met Adarn on the nearest heaven and Abraham on the sixth heaven. Anas said, "When Gabriel along with the Prophet passed by Idris, the latter said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious brother.' The Prophet asked, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Idris.'" The Prophet added, "I passed by Moses and he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious brother.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Moses.' Then I passed by Jesus and he said, 'Welcome! O pious brother and pious Prophet.' I asked, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Jesus. Then I passed by Abraham and he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious son.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Abraham. The Prophet added, 'Then Gabriel ascended with me to a place where I heard the creaking of the pens." Ibn Hazm and Anas bin Malik said: The Prophet said, "Then Allah enjoined fifty prayers on my followers when I returned with this order of Allah, I passed by Moses who asked me, 'What has Allah enjoined on your followers?' I replied, 'He has enjoined fifty prayers on them.' Moses said, 'Go back to your Lord (and appeal for reduction) for your followers will not be able to bear it.' (So I went back to Allah and requested for reduction) and He reduced it to half. When I passed by Moses again and informed him about it, he said, 'Go back to your Lord as your followers will not be able to bear it.' So I returned to Allah and requested for further reduction and half of it was reduced. I again passed by Moses and he said to me: 'Return to your Lord, for your followers will not be able to bear it. So I returned to Allah and He said, 'These are five prayers and they are all (equal to) fifty (in reward) for My Word does not change.' I returned to Moses and he told me to go back once again. I replied, 'Now I feel shy of asking my Lord again.' Then Gabriel took me till we " reached Sidrat-il-Muntaha (Lote tree of; the utmost boundary) which was shrouded in colors, indescribable. Then I was admitted into Paradise where I found small (tents or) walls (made) of pearls and its earth was of musk."

He said, I am afraid that you will sleep and miss the (Fajr) prayer.' Bilal said, I will make you get up.' So all slept and Bilal rested his back against his Rahila and he too was overwhelmed (by sleep) and slept. The Prophet got up when the edge of the sun had risen and said, 'O Bilal! What about your statement?' He replied, I have never slept such a sleep.' The Prophet said, Allah captured your souls when He wished, and released them when He wished. O Bilal! Get up and pronounce the Adhan for the prayer.' The Prophet performed ablution and when the sun came up and became bright, he stood up and prayed."

Volume 1, Book 10, Number 570:

He said, "He used to pray the Zuhr prayer, which you call the first prayer, as the sun declined at noon, the Asr at a time when one of US could go to his family at the farthest place in Medina while the sun was still hot. (The narrator forgot what Abu Barza had said about the Maghrib prayer), and the Prophet preferred to pray the Isha' late and disliked to sleep before it or talk after it. And he used to return after finishing the morning prayer at such a time when it was possible for one to recognize the person sitting by his side and he (the Prophet) used to recite 60 to 100 Ayat' (verses) of the Koran in it."

Volume 1, Book 10, Number 574:

He came and led the prayer, and after finishing it, he addressed us and said, All the people prayed and then slept and you had been in prayer as long as you were waiting for it." Al-Hasan said, "The people are regarded as performing good deeds as long as they are waiting for doing good deeds." Al-Hasan's statement is a portion of Anas's Hadith from the Prophet .

Volume 1, Book 10, Number 575:

Narrated Abdullah bin Umar:

The Prophet prayed one of the Isha' prayer in his last days and after finishing it with Taslim, he stood up and said, "Do you realize (the importance of) this night? Nobody present on the surface of the earth to-night would be living after the completion of one hundred years from this night."

The people made a mistake in grasping the meaning of this statement of Allah's Apostle and they indulged in those things which are said about these narrators (i.e. some said that the Day of Resurrection will be established after 100 years etc.) But the Prophet said, "Nobody present on the surface of earth tonight would be living after the completion of 100 years from this night"; he meant "When that century (people of that century) would pass away."

Volume 1, Book 10, Number 576:

Narrated Abu Uthman:

Abdur Rahman bin Abi Bakr said, "The Suffa Companions were poor people and the Prophet said, 'Whoever has food for two persons should take a third one from them (Suffa companions). And whosoever has food for four persons he should take one or two from them' Abu Bakr took three men and the Prophet took ten of them."

Abdur Rahman added, my father my mother and I were there (in the house). (The sub-narrator is in doubt whether Abdur Rahman also said, 'My wife and our servant who was common for both my house and Abu Bakr's house). Abu Bakr took his supper with the Prophet and remained there till the Isha' prayer was offered. Abu Bakr went back and stayed with the Prophet till the Prophet took his meal and then Abu Bakr returned to his house after a long portion of the night had passed. Abu Bakr's wife said, 'What detained you from your guests (or guest)?' He said, 'Have you not served them yet?' She said, 'They refused to eat until you come. The food was served for them but they refused.' Abdur Rahman added, "I went away and hid myself (being afraid of Abu Bakr) and in the meantime he (Abu Bakr) called me, 'O Ghunthar (a harsh word)!' and also called me bad names and abused me and then said (to his family), 'Eat. No welcome for you.' Then (the supper was served). Abu Bakr took an oath that he would not eat that food. The narrator added: By Allah, whenever any one of us (myself and the guests of Suffa companions) took anything from the food, it increased from underneath. We all ate to our fill and the food was more than it was before its serving.

Abu Bakr looked at it (the food) and found it as it was before serving or even more than that. He addressed his wife (saying) 'O the sister of Bani Firas! What is this?' She said, 'O the pleasure of my eyes! The food is now three times more than it was before.' Abu Bakr ate from it, and said, 'That (oath) was from Satan' meaning his oath (not to eat). Then he again took a morsel (mouthful) from it and then took the rest of it to the Prophet. So that meal was with the Prophet. There was a treaty between us and some people, and when the period of that treaty had elapsed the Prophet divided us into twelve (groups) (the Prophet's companions) each being headed by a man. Allah knows how many men were under the command of each (leader). So all of them (12 groups of men) ate of that meal."

Call to Prayers (Adhaan)

Volume 1, Book 11, Number 577:

Narrated Anas:

The people mentioned the fire and the bell (they suggested those as signals to indicate the starting of prayers), and by that they mentioned the Jews and the Christians. Then Bilal was ordered to pronounce Adhan for the prayer by saying its wordings twice, and for the Iqama (the call for the actual standing for the prayers in rows) by saying its wordings once. (Iqama is pronounced when the people are ready for the prayer).

Volume 1, Book 11, Number 578:

Narrated Ibn Umar:

When the Muslims arrived at Medina, they used to assemble for the prayer, and used to guess the time for it. During those days, the practice of Adhan for the prayers had not been introduced yet. Once they discussed this problem regarding the call for prayer. Some people suggested the use of a bell like the Christians, others proposed a trumpet like the horn used by the Jews, but Umar was the first to suggest that a man should call (the people) for the prayer; so Allah's Apostle ordered Bilal to get up and pronounce the Adhan for prayers.

Volume 1, Book 11, Number 579:

Narrated Anas:

Bilal was ordered to repeat the wording of the Adhan for prayers twice, and to pronounce the wording of the Iqamas once except "Qad-qamat-is-Salat".

When the Adhan is completed he comes back and again takes to his heels when the Iqama is pronounced and after its completion he returns again till he whispers into the heart of the person (to divert his attention from his prayer) and makes him remember things which he does not recall to his mind before the prayer and that causes him to forget how much he has prayed."

Volume 1, Book 11, Number 583:

Narrated Abdul Rahman:

Abu Sald Al-Khudri told my father, "I see you liking sheep and the wilderness. So whenever you are with your sheep or in the wilderness and you want to pronounce Adhan for the prayer raise your voice in doing so, for whoever hears the Adhan, whether a human being, a jinn or any other creature, will be a witness for you on the Day of Resurrection." Abu Said added, "I heard it (this narration) from Allah's Apostle."

Anas added, "We reached Khaibar at night and in the morning when he did not hear the Adhan for the prayer, he (the Prophet) rode and I rode behind Abi Talha and my foot was touching that of the Prophet.

The inhabitants of Khaibar came out with their baskets and spades and when they saw the Prophet they shouted 'Mohammed! By Allah, Mohammed and his army.' Whenever we approach a (hostile) nation (to fight), then evil will be the morning of those who have been warned."

Lord of this perfect call (of not ascribing partners to You) and of the regular prayer which is going to be established! It does not mean that dawn or morning has started." Then he (the Prophet) pointed with his fingers and raised them up (towards the sky) and then lowered them (towards the earth) like this (Ibn Masud imitated the gesture of the Prophet). Az-Zuhri gestured with his two index fingers which he put on each other and then stretched them to the right and left. These gestures illustrate the way real dawn appears. It spreads left and right horizontally. The dawn that appears in the high sky and lowers down is not the real dawn).

Ibn Abbas admonished me and said, "This is the tradition of Abu-I-Qasim." And narrated Abu Huraira: Whenever Allah's Apostle stood for the prayer, he said Takbir on starting the prayer and then on bowing. On rising from bowing he said, "Sami' a-l-lahu liman hamida," and then while standing straight he used to say, "Rabbana laka-l hamd" (Al-Laith said, "(The Prophet said), 'Walaka-l-hamd'." He used to say Takbir on prostrating and on raising his head from prostration; again he would say Takbir on prostrating and raising his head. He would then do the same in the whole of the prayer till it was completed. On rising from the second RakA (after sitting for At-Tahiyyat), he used to say Takbir.

I do not know a better way of praying. Kindly teach Me how to pray." He said, "When you stand for the prayer, say Takbir and then recite from the Koran what you know and then bow with calmness till you feel at ease, then rise from bowing till you stand straight. Afterwards prostrate calmly till you feel at ease and then raise (your head) and sit with Calmness till you feel at ease and then prostrate with calmness till you feel at ease in prostration and do the same in the whole of your prayer."

Then he would say Takbir on prostrating and on raising his head from the prostration, then another Takbir on prostrating (for the second time), and on raising his head from the prostration. He also would say the Takbir on standing from the second RakA. He used to do the same in every RakA till he completed the prayer. On completion of the prayer, he would say, "By Him in Whose Hands my soul is! No doubt my prayer is closer to that of Allah's Apostle than yours, and this was His prayer till he left this world." And Abu Huraira said, "When Allah's Apostle raised his head from (bowing) he used to say "Sami' a-l-lahu Liman hamida, Rabbana walakal-hamd." He Would invoke Allah for some people by naming them: "O Allah! Save Al-Walid bin Al-Walid and Salama bin Hisham and Aiyash bin Abi RabiA and the weak and the helpless people among the faithful believers O Allah! Be hard on the tribe of Mudar and let them suffer from famine years like that of the time of Joseph." In those days the Eastern section of the tribe of Mudar was against the Prophet.

Sufyan narrated the same from Ma'mar. Ibn Jurajid said that his (the Prophet's) right leg had been injured.

Volume 1, Book 12, Number 770:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

The people said, "O Allah's Apostle! Shall we see our Lord on the Day of Resurrection?" He replied, "Do you have any doubt in seeing the full moon on a clear (not cloudy) night?" They replied, "No, O Allah's Apostle!" He said, "Do you have any doubt in seeing the sun when there are no clouds?" They replied in the negative. He said, "You will see Allah (your Lord) in the same way. On the Day of Resurrection, people will be gathered and He will order the people to follow what they used to worship. So some of them will follow the sun, some will follow the moon, and some will follow other deities; and only this nation (Muslims) will be left with its hypocrites. Allah will come to them and say, I am Your Lord.' They will say, 'We shall stay in this place till our Lord comes to us and when our Lord will come, we will recognize Him. Then Allah will come to them again and say, I am your Lord.' They will say, 'You are our Lord.' Allah will call them, and As-Sirat (a bridge) will be laid across Hell and I (Mohammed) shall be the first amongst the Apostles to cross it with my followers. Nobody except the Apostles will then be able to speak and they will be saying then, 'O Allah! Save us. O Allah Save us.'

There will be hooks like the thorns of Sa'dan in Hell. Have you seen the thorns of Sa'dan?" The people said, "Yes." He said, "These hooks will be like the thorns of Sa'dan but nobody except Allah knows their greatness in size and these will entangle the people according to their deeds; some of them will fall and stay in Hell forever; others will receive punishment (torn into small pieces) and will get out of Hell, till when Allah intends mercy on whomever He likes amongst the people of Hell, He will order the angels to take out of Hell those who worshipped none but Him alone. The angels will take them out by recognizing them from the traces of prostrations, for Allah has forbidden the (Hell) fire to eat away those traces. So they will come out of the Fire, it will eat away from the whole of the human body except the marks of the prostrations. At that time they will come out of the Fire as mere skeletons. The Water of Life will be poured on them and as a result they will grow like the seeds growing on the bank of flowing water. Then when Allah had finished from the Judgements amongst his creations, one man will be left between Hell and Paradise and he will be the last man from the people of Hell to enter paradise. He will be facing Hell, and will say, 'O Allah! Turn my face from the fire as its wind has dried me and its steam has burnt me.' Allah will ask him, "Will you ask for anything more in case this favor is granted to you?" He will say, "No by Your (Honor) Power!" And he will give to his Lord (Allah) what he will of the pledges and the covenants. Allah will then turn his face from the Fire. When he will face Paradise and will see its charm, he will remain quiet as long as Allah will. He then will say, 'O my Lord! Let me go to the gate of Paradise.' Allah will ask him, 'Didn't you give pledges and make covenants (to the effect) that you would not ask for anything more than what you requested at first?' He will say, 'O my Lord! Do not make me the most wretched, amongst Your creatures.' Allah will say, 'If this request is granted, will you then ask for anything else?' He will say, 'No! By Your Power! I shall not ask for anything else.' Then he will give to his Lord what He will of the pledges and the covenants. Allah will then let him go to the gate of Paradise. On reaching then and seeing its life, charm, and pleasure, he will remain quiet as long as Allah wills and then will say, 'O my Lord ! Let me enter Paradise.' Allah will say, 'May Allah be merciful unto you, O son of Adam! How treacherous you are! Haven't you made covenants and given pledges that you will not ask for anything more than what you have been given?' He will say, 'O my Lord! Do not make me the most wretched amongst Your creatures.' So Allah will laugh and allow him to enter Paradise and will ask him to request as much as he likes. He will do so till all his desires have been fulfilled . Then Allah will say, 'Request more of such and such things.' Allah will remind him and when all his desires and wishes; have been fulfilled, Allah will say "All this is granted to you and a similar amount besides." Abu Said Al-Khudri, said to Abu Huraira, Allah's Apostle said, "Allah said, 'That is for you and ten times more like it.'" Abu Huraira said, "I do not remember from Allah's Apostle except (his saying), All this is granted to you and a similar amount besides." Abu Sahd said, "I heard him saying, 'That is for you and ten times more the like of it.'"

Abu Said replied, "Once Allah's Apostle performed I'tikaf (seclusion) on the first ten days of the month of Ramadan and we did the same with him. Gabriel came to him and said, 'The night you are looking for is ahead of you.' So the Prophet performed the I'tikaf in the middle (second) ten days of the month of Ramadan and we too performed I'tikaf with him. Gabriel came to him and said, 'The night which you are looking for is ahead of you.' In the morning of the 20th of Ramadan the Prophet delivered a sermon saying, 'Whoever has performed I'tikaf with me should continue it. I have been shown the Night of "Qadr", but have forgotten its date, but it is in the odd nights of the last ten nights. I saw in my dream that I was prostrating in mud and water.' In those days the roof of the mosque was made of branches of date-palm trees. At that time the sky was clear and no cloud was visible, but suddenly a cloud came and it rained. The Prophet led us in the prayer and I saw the traces of mud on the forehead and on the nose of Allah's Apostle. So it was the confirmation of that dream."

By Him in Whose Hands my soul is as soon as he lowered his hands, clouds gathered like mountains, and before he got down from the pulpit, I saw the rain falling on the beard of the Prophet. It rained that day, the next day, the third day, the fourth day till the next Friday. The same Bedouin or another man stood up and said, "O Allah's Apostle! The houses have collapsed, our possessions and livestock have been drowned; Please invoke Allah (to protect us)". So the Prophet I raised both his hands and said, "O Allah! Round about us and not on us". Allah's Apostle (p.b.u.h) turned his face towards him and said, "Leave them." When Abu Bakr became inattentive, I signalled to those girls to go out and they left. It was the day of Id, and the Black people were playing with shields and spears; so either I requested the Prophet (p.b.u.h) or he asked me whether I would like to see the display. I replied in the affirmative. Then the Prophet (p.b.u.h) made me stand behind him and my cheek was touching his cheek and he was saying, "Carry on! O Bani Arfida," till I got tired. And after that if he wished to send an army for an expedition, he would do so; or if he wanted to give an order, he would do so, and then depart. The people followed this tradition till I went out with Marwan, the Governor of Medina, for the prayer of Id-ul-Adha or Id-ul-Fitr.

When we reached the Musalla, there was a pulpit made by Kathir bin As-Salt. Marwan wanted to get up on that pulpit before the prayer. I got hold of his clothes but he pulled them and ascended the pulpit and delivered the Khutba before the prayer. I said to him, "By Allah, you have changed (the Prophet's tradition)." He replied, "O Abu Sald! Gone is that which you know." I said, "By Allah! What I know is better than what I do not know." You order people to obey Allah and to keep good relations with kith and kin. No doubt the people of your tribe are dying, so please pray to Allah for them." Anas added, "A heavy cloud like a shield appeared from behind it (i.e. Sila' Mountain). When it came in the middle of the sky, it spread and then rained." Anas further said, "By Allah! The sun eclipsed in the life-time of the Prophet (p.b.u.h) . Allah's Apostle offered the eclipse prayer and stood for a long period equal to the period in which one could recite Surat-al-Baqara. Then he bowed for a long time and then stood up for a long period which was shorter than that of the first standing, then bowed again for a long time but for a shorter period than the first; then he prostrated twice and then stood up for a long period which was shorter than that of the first standing; then he bowed for a long time which was shorter than the previous one, and then he raised his head and stood up for a long period which was shorter than the first standing, then he bowed for a long time which was shorter than the first bowing, and then prostrated (twice) and finished the prayer. By then, the sun (eclipse) had cleared. The Prophet then said, "The sun and the moon are two of the signs of Allah. They eclipse neither because of the death of somebody nor because of his life (i.e. birth). So when you see them, remember Allah." The people say, "O Allah's Apostle! We saw you taking something from your place and then we saw you retreating." The Prophet replied, "I saw Paradise and stretched my hands towards a bunch (of its fruits) and had I taken it, you would have eaten from it as long as the world remains. I also saw the Hell-fire and I had never seen such a horrible sight. I saw that most of the inhabitants were women." The people asked, "O Allah's Apostle! Why is it so?" The Prophet replied, "Because of their ungratefulness." It was asked whether they are ungrateful to Allah. The Prophet said, "They are ungrateful to their companions of life (husbands) and ungrateful to good deeds. If you are benevolent to one of them throughout the life and if she sees anything (undesirable) in you, she will say, I have never had any good from you."

Volume 2, Book 18, Number 162:

I asked her, 'What has happened to the people?' She pointed out with her hand towards the sky and said, 'Subhan-Allah'. I said, 'Is there a sign?' She pointed out in the affirmative." Asma' further said, "I too then stood up for the prayer till I fainted and then poured water on my head. When Allah's Apostle had finished his prayer, he thanked and praised Allah and said, 'I have seen at this place of mine what I have never seen even Paradise and Hell. No doubt, it has been inspired to me that you will be put to trial in the graves like or nearly like the trial of (Masih) Ad-Dajjal. (I do not know which one of the two Asma' said.) (The angels) will come to everyone of you and will ask what do you know about this man (i.e. Mohammed). The believer or a firm believer (I do not know which word Asma' said) will reply, 'He is Mohammed, Allah's Apostle (p.b.u.h) who came to us with clear evidences and guidance, so we accepted his teachings, believed and followed him.' The angels will then say to him, 'Sleep peacefully as we knew surely that you were a firm believer.' The hypocrite or doubtful person (I do not know which word Asma' said) will say, 'I do not know. I heard the people saying something so I said it (the same).'"

Then one day Allah's Apostle rode (to leave for some place) but the sun eclipsed. He returned on the forenoon and passed through the rear of the dwellings (of his wives) and stood up and started offering the (eclipse) prayer and the people stood behind him.
